aces that were familiar in this city when work was newer are greeted by an appreciative congregation.

A number of familiar faces in Young Men's Christian association work in Omaha during past years were heartily welcomed by about 200 men and women Thursday evening.

Reminiscences of the early work of the local association, congratulations over the present prosperity and the new building, tales of association endeavor in foreign lands and general remarks connected with the conference and the association, comprised the addresses, which were brief and numerous.

President George F. Gilmore of the board of directors of the Omaha association, presided and C. B. Willis of Milwaukee led in the singing of a number of hymns.

Y. M. C. A. Delegates Taken for Pinkerton Men

Bulging Hip Pockets and Hard Faces Signs that Betray the Detectives.

A dozen men were enjoying a luncheon at one table at the Loyal Thursday noon and the story got out some way that the party consisted of the best known detectives and thief and murderer catchers in the country.

The big fellow there at the head of the table is Pinkerton," said one. "He looks like a cold-blooded, calculating fellow that would have no mercy."

"Yes, you can tell by their very appearance that they have to deal with criminals of all classes. Notice that bulging appearance of their hip pockets. I suppose each of them carries one or two guns and a whole bunch of handcuffs and manacles. They must be ready at all times for instant emergencies. What hard looking faces they have. It must be because of their vocation."

Just then a clerical looking man entered and sat down with the Pinkerton group and began chatting with the detectives.

One of the more loquacious guests then beckoned to Manager Targart of the hotel and asked him in a whisper: "How long are the detectives going to remain in the city?"

"What detectives?" "Why, that Pinkerton party over there." "What? Those men Pinkerton detectives? Why bless you, Mr. Pinkerton and his party left Wednesday evening. Those men are delegates to the Young Men's Christian association conference. And the bulging hip pockets instead of containing automatic pistols and handcuffs held merely bibbles."
