HEALTH FARM IN COLORADO

Proposition Enlists Co-Operation of Y. M. C. A. Officers.

CORPORATION TO BE FORMED

Conference Urges Need of Giving Greater Attention to the Men and Boys in Town from the Country.

Following a lively discussion, in which delegates from every section of the continent took part, the Association of Employed Officers of the Young Men's Christian Association at the Saturday morning session of the thirty-fifth conference finally adopted a resolution recommending the formation of a corporation to secure buildings and proper support for a health farm in Colorado.

The Denver association has been conducting this health farm for some time and the president of the Colorado association asked for endorsement of the proposition. The undertaking was now underway, he said, and its success depends upon the approval of the enterprise from the association. An appropriation of $50,000 was talked of, but the Colorado people did not ask for it and no action was taken.

Eastern representatives were inclined to oppose the proposition as not being a part of the association work, one suggesting that if the health farm project was endorsed applications would be received from every section of the country for the establishment of similar enterprises. Several dilatory amendments were offered, but the original resolution of endorsement finally prevailed, a standing vote being required to settle the matter.

The address of the morning was delivered by Rev. Clarence A. Barbour, who was until recently pastor of the largest Baptist church in Buffalo, but who now is connected with the religious work department of the international committee of New York. "A Supreme Grace of Character," was his subject.

Following the receipt and discussion of the commission report on the "Relation of the Association to Young Men and Boys in and from the Country," resolutions were adopted by the directors and secretaries embracing the following:

More attention to the careful housing and handling of country men and boys who come to the city; organization of civic betterment clubs to study city government and to interest in it young men from the country; closer study of rural conditions pertaining to the intellectual, social, physical and religious life of young men, and the taking of such steps deemed advisable to meet country men on their arrival and to guide and guard them especially during their first few months in the city.

The commission reported that 90 per cent of the men and boys on the continent live on farms, in rural communities and villages. Seventy-five per cent of these young men and boys from the farm go to the city to make their home. "From childhood they have lived in an atmosphere of freedom, unshooled in the ways of the city, ignorant of the workings of the municipality and as yet unaware, many of them, of any responsibility," read the report. "We therefore, believe they challenge our best thought and endeavor."

MOGY WANTS PARENTS TO PAY FOR DETENTION HOME BOARD

Probation Officer Says that Some of Them Are Ample Able to Do So.

"There are some parents able to take care of their children financially, but not morally," said Probation Officer Mogy Bernstein to the Board of County Commissioners Saturday morning. "We would like to have the board pass a resolution enabling Judge Estelle to assign parents for the board of their children when these latter are in the Detention school."

Members of the board doubted the authority so to act, and Bernstein was instructed to confer with the county attorney and present a resolution at the next meeting.

Dr. Geo. Heimrod Loses Sight of Both Eyes in East

Result of Explosion While Conducting Chemical Experiment is Total Blindness.

Dr. George Heimrod, Jr., son of the consul to Switzerland, has lost the sight of both eyes through an explosion while conducting a chemical experiment. The injury is now believed to be permanent and life-long blindness will ensue.

The accident to Dr. Heimrod happened two weeks ago in New York City, where he has been an associate in the Rockefeller Institute of Medical Research. The news has been reported in the hope that, before his father heard of it, oculists might save at least one eye, as for a time they hoped to do. This now has been given up.

The tragedy bears the more heavily upon the Heimrod family, well known as Omaha residents for many years, because Mrs. Heimrod, a mother of the blinded man, died only a few weeks ago. George Heimrod, Jr., and his brother, Alfred, had planned to sail for Europe, May 27, to join the father in Switzerland and spend the summer with him. Alfred Heimrod is a younger brother and a college student in the east.

Dr. George Heimrod was born and reared in Omaha and attended the University of Nebraska for two years. Then he went to Harvard and was graduated with unusual distinction. He won a European fellowship and going abroad continued his membership research and received the degree of doctor of philosophy.

NEW U. P. TRAIN TO SEATTLE

Limited Will Enter Gateway Recently Opened, Says Lomax.

ALL PLANS ARE NOW COMPLETE

General Passenger Agent of Union Pacific Returns from Chicago, Where He Arranges to In-vade Hill Territory.

"The Portland gateway is now open and the Union Pacific is preparing to install one of the finest limited trains in the country to run direct from Chicago to Portland through Omaha," said E. L. Lomax, general passenger agent of the Union Pacific, who returned Saturday morning from Chicago where he, with other Harriman officials has been arranging for the new service which will admit the Union Pacific into the Puget sound territory.

A week ago A. L. Mohler, general manager and vice president of the Union Pacific, announced that an agreement had been reached whereby the Union Pacific, the Great Northern and the Northern Pacific tracks from Vancouver across the river from Portland to Tacoma. This announcement meant that the long drawn out fight between Harriman and Hill over the Portland gateway had been settled by these magnates and that the Union Pacific would henceforth have an equal chance at the business of the Puget sound country with the Hill lines.

The agreement includes freight as well as passenger business. For years the Hill lines have had a monopoly of the business of the Puget sound country and held on to the business to the exclusion of the Harriman lines. All sorts of schemes were tried to force an entrance into that country, but all failed until Harriman started out to build his own line. The Milwaukee also built from Tacoma to Seattle and as Hill evidently feared some sort of a combine between the Harriman and the Milwaukee forces and as there was a chance of his losing out in the courts anyway, he decided to settle on the outside and permit the Harriman roads to run their trains into Seattle.

"We will install a separate and distinct train between Chicago and Seattle which will be modern in every way and equal to anything in the country. It will be electric lighted and of steel construction with dynamo cars, diners and observation cars, ten new observation cars, ten new dynamo cars, ten new baggage cars, in fact, all new equipment."

"While it will take considerable time to prepare this train of luxury for the high standard which the Union Pacific will set for this business, we will be running through trains into Seattle within a short time and will be right after the heavy business which is moving to the Seattle exposition."
