GRADUATES HEAR WILLIAMS

Mississippi Senator Has Race Problem Solution.

NORTH SHARE SOUTHERN BURDEN

Following Address by Former Leader of House of Representatives Diplomats Are Presented to Graduates.

(From a Staff Correspondent.)

LINCOLN, June 10.—(Special.)—John Sharp Williams' solution of the race problem in the south as he gave it in his address to the graduates of the State university today, is immigration of the colored people from the congested portions of the south to the north, being so distributed that in no part of the country would the negro be congested.

When the moving day comes around, he said, and the negro is as numerous in Nebraska as he is in Mississippi, Mississippi will be as cool in discussion of the race problem as Nebraska is now.

Senator Williams refuted the oft repeated statements of politicians and others that education is the solution of the colored race, and he denied that education was the panacea of all ills. Some negroes had been helped by education and others had been ruined by it, he declared.

Mr. Williams wanted it distinctly understood that the negro is not a white man with a black skin any more than an ass is a horse with long ears, or a zebra a horse with stripes.

The speaker reached his solution of the race problem by a process of elimination. He first talked of the deportation of the negro race to Africa and dismissed that as impracticable, if not impossible. He then touched on the amalgamation of the two races. Such a solution, he said is unthinkable. "It would destroy both races."

The negro, he asserted, had had the same opportunity that had been given to the white race and the public statements that he had not had the same chance in the world is to be denied. He described the early coming of the white man to this country and of his struggles and compared his progress with the negro's work in Africa. In touching on the slavery of the negro he said it was a result of Yankees selling the black men to southern buyers.

Better Understanding Coming.

He asked no help from the north in the solution of the negro question, but merely that the north accept what is coming.

When the north has the negro in the same proportion that the south has him, the speaker felt sure that the north would better understand the feeling of the south and there would be no difference of opinion regarding him.

At this time he said there are few places in the country where the negro can go and be received like the white man and these places were getting less numerous every year. The negro should go to these places now, because as the north got used to the negro the places will be closed to him.

"The negro had no initiative, but can learn from the white man and from the whites he got his civilization. It is the duty of the white man to teach him. Then the negro may return some day to Africa and teach his brethren there what he has learned. This may be the mission of the race."

Mr. Williams denounced as "intellectually false" the statement of orators and politicians that the white women of the south were compelled to have themselves guarded in their homes from the negro. At least he said, the negro who moves to the south should adopt the southern idea of the negro, though some had set a standard of treatment of the negro which the latter could not live up to. Lynchings in the south in proportion to negro population were not as numerous as in the north.

Some very interesting statistics showing the growth of the south during the last ten years, which he said proved a greater development than any other country on earth save the Argentine Republic and Canada.

Love of South Strong.

The southland he designated as the "sweetest land," for every southerner, he said, loved his southern home. This great love for his south had caused its people to answer its every bidding frequently against the better judgment of the man, and a proper understanding of this great feeling on the part of the people of the north would explain in a great way many of the things which the north now seems not to understand.

The commencement oration was delivered in the auditorium, which was packed to the doors, many being unable to gain admission. As an opening ceremony a quartet sang two selections, "Water Lilies" and "Summer Lullaby." The quartet was composed of Francis Doubt, Preston Ogden, Donald Plumb and Edgar Wachtel.

Prayer was delivered by Rev. John Wesley Jones, after which Mrs. Ina Ensign-Hagenow played two selections on the violin, "Benedictus" and "Oberon."

Chancellor Avery presided and presented the diplomas and degrees to the graduates.

JUST ONE A DAY.

How the Coffee Drinker Compromises His Health.

Some people say: "Coffee don't hurt me" and then add: "Any way I only drink one cup a day."

If coffee really don't hurt why not drink more? There is but one answer and that is coffee does hurt them and they know it. When they drink it once a day they compromise with their enemy. There are people who one cup of coffee a day will put in bed, for I have not only lost my craving for coffee and enjoy my good Postum just as well, but my heart trouble has ceased and I have no more dizzy spells in my head. I feel better in every way, and consider myself a very fortunate woman to have found the truth about Postum.

Look in pkgs. for the famous little book "The Road to Wellville." There's a Reason.

Ever read the above letter? A new one appears from time to time. They are genuine, true, and full of human interest.

NASBYS ELECT OFFICERS

E. B. Sizer of Lincoln Chosen President of Postmasters.

MR. THOMAS MAKES SUGGESTION

Omaha Postmaster Says if Other Departments Will Pay for Use of Mails the Deficit Will Disappear.

(From a Staff Correspondent.)

LINCOLN, June 10.—(Special Telegram.)—After the election of officers and the selection of Lincoln as the next meeting place, the Postmasters' association adjourned, some going to their homes and a delegation headed by President Sizer going to Havlock to eat dinner and spend the evening as guests of A. A. Hiers, Havlock's popular postmaster. They reached Havlock before 8 o'clock.

Following are the officers elected: F. R. Sizer of Lincoln, president; B. F. Thomas of Omaha, C. Hollingsworth of Beatrice, M. Fowler of Sutton and W. B. Cox of Waco, vice presidents; W. J. Cook of Blair, secretary.

One of the interesting talks of the last session was by B. F. Thomas of Omaha, who discussed the "Classification of Mail Matter," and advanced a theory to get rid of the postoffice deficit. He said instead of the department handling the mail of the other departments free a special stamp should be issued for these departments and appropriations made to pay for them. This would wipe out the deficit. He believed the head of the Postoffice department should have more discretionary powers and not have to wade through so much red tape for the answer to a simple question.

P. V. Megraw, fourth assistant postmaster general, talked on rural delivery and advised the farmers to paint their mail boxes white so they could be seen by the carrier.

John Hays of Norfolk, W. E. Andrews, auditor of the treasury; Postmaster Kramer of Columbus and others delivered short talks.

Chancellor and Mrs. Avery held their annual reception tonight. Many hundreds of Lincoln people and others from over the state called to pay their respects.

Questions for Insurance Companies.

Auditor Barton sent out the following list of questions to the insurance companies doing business in Nebraska:

Did your company ever issue what is known as special contracts, advisory board contracts or any other contracts of policy provision promising special returns of profits to policyholders?

If so, how many of these contracts are in force at the present time?

How many originally written?

Give the amount paid each year to these special contract holders?

Please enclose a copy of the special provision as it appears in the contract.

Are you at the present time issuing any of these contracts?

During what years were these contracts written?

When do these contracts mature?

Upon receiving the answers the auditor will probably permit the writing of a limited number of special contracts.

Inchman for Senator Williams.

Furse and John B. Wright. Senator Williams left for the south this afternoon.

BODY HANGING BY ONE ARM

Man Evidently Fell from Train and Was Caught by Fence.

HERMAN, Neb., June 10.—(Special.)—This morning when Charles Arnold took his cow to the pasture he saw a man's coat hanging to the railroad bridge just north of the village limits and he went to the spot and found the body of a man hanging by one arm to the wire fence and lying against the bridge. The man was quite dead and was stiff. He had evidently fallen off a passing train during the night and his head had struck the bridge, crushing the skull. Coroner Pearce came up from Blair on the early train and took charge of the remains and found $1 in money and a card showing that the card belonged to Ed. Donahoe and Mich. Several persons think they saw him around town yesterday afternoon, but cannot identify him positively.

The body was taken to Blair on the early train and will be buried by the county.

Attempt to Rob Mail Carrier.

KEARNEY, Neb., June 10.—(Special.)—The local police are on the lookout for two men who attempted to rob the residence of James Colton. Colton is an invalid and unable to work, he having served for a number of years on the rural mail service out of Kearney. Some time ago Colton received from an insurance company a sum of money amounting to several hundred dollars and ever since that time some one has been straggling around their house at night trying to get entrance. Saturday night his wife was awakened by some one tearing the screen off of the bed room window. She reached out her hand for a stick that was standing near the window and at the same time a man's hand had a hold of the stick. She wrenched it from his hand before she could be hurt and he was gone. Later two men were seen coming out of the Colton yard by a neighbor.

MYSTERY IN DEATH OF GIRL

Ella Boldenow, 15 Years Old, Shot in Home at Bloomfield.

BELIEVED TO BE CASE OF SUICIDE

Girl Had Been Reprimanded and Uncle Dismissed from Place Shortly Before Body is Found.

BLOOMFIELD, Neb., June 10.—(Special.)—Ella Boldenow, the 15-year-old daughter of H. F. Boldenow, a farmer near here, was found dead with a bullet hole in her head and an empty revolver lying by her side. While her death is generally thought to be the result of suicide there are circumstances which have thrown a mystery about the case and the coroner's jury, which met today, has not attempted to say who fired the shot that killed her.

While the parents and brothers of Ella were doing their chores about the farm in the early morning the smallest child, about 3 years old, ran out to the barn and informed the parents that Ella was lying on the floor.

The parents both rushed to the house and found the girl dead on the floor, with a bullet hole in her forehead and a 38-caliber revolver lying by her side. No apparent cause can be given by the parents for the act of the girl.

Girl Had Been Reprimanded.

The coroner was immediately summoned and after holding an inquest, at which members of the family were summoned as witnesses, it developed that the girl had been reprimanded the day before by her father for being too intimate with a neighbor who was boarding at the Boldenow home, and the uncle was told to quit the place. The girl, it was also stated by witnesses, appeared at breakfast apparently "happy, as usual," but it was noticed that she had red marks on her throat and a bruised eye.

When asked where she got those marks the girl answered she did not know. After breakfast the parents, thinking no more about the matter, went to the barn and the boys to the field and the girl was not seen again until 8 o'clock, an hour later, when her body was found.

Coroner's Jury in Doubt.

The coroner's jury postponed its session until a post mortem examination was made and a verdict was rendered as follows: "The deceased came to her death as a result of a bullet wound fired from a revolver by a person or persons unknown. The question now is, Was it suicide or murder? As no one is suspected of the crime it may be some time before any light can be thrown on the subject."

DODGE COUNTY PIONEER DEAD

George F. Heine of Hooper, One of First Residents, Succumbs to Cancer.

HOOPER, Neb., June 10.—(Special.)—George F. Heine, for thirty years a prominent merchant of this place, and up to the time of his death one of the largest stock growers of Cherry county, died at his home in this city at midnight this morning. He ceased to suffer from cancer for the last two years and returned ten days ago from Chicago, where he had been taking treatment, but received no relief. Mr. Heine was one of the very first settlers of Dodge county, coming here in 1868 from Berks county, Pennsylvania, where he was born April 18, 1849. In 1888 he engaged in the hardware business until a year ago. He leaves a widow and eight children. The funeral services will be held from the Catholic church here on Saturday morning.

WATER BLOCKS WAGON ROAD

Nebraska City is Cut Off from East by Rampage of Missouri.

NEBRASKA CITY, Neb., June 10.—(Special.)—Owing to the high water which prevailed in the Missouri river at this point and a big washout in the road leading to the wagon bridge across the river, all teams from the east are unable to reach this city. There are two roads leading to this bridge and one is under water and the other is washed out where the big drainage ditch crosses it. This cuts off all eastern traffic from this city save via train. The river is out of its banks and much of the low lands entirely covered, some of which had crops thereon.

CENTRAL CITY, Neb., June 10.—(Special.)—Something of a marriage record for this city was established yesterday, when three prominent weddings occurred. That is interesting in itself, but additional interest arises from the fact that the three brides were from among the most charming and accomplished of Merrick county's school teachers. The contracting parties were: John N. Brown and Miss Hattie B. Perzel, Joseph E. Hensley and Miss Jessie Brecken and Hayward L. Newlon and Miss Sayde J. Pease.
