FALL ELECTION A BIG ONE

One Hundred and Forty-Two County Officers to Be Chosen.

PRIMARIES FOR ALL BUT TWO

Filing Period Opens June 18 and Runs One Month and Primaries Are Dated for Seventeenth of August.

One judge. One treasurer. One clerk. One register of deeds. One sheriff. One coroner. One surveyor. One superintendent of schools. One commissioner. Two police judges. Thirty-seven justices of the peace. Thirty-seven constables. Twenty road overseers. Forty-five deputy assessors. One hundred and forty-two county officers are to be elected this fall and 140 of them are to be nominated in the primaries. The number is increased forty-five by a change in the state law, which makes the deputy assessors elective, instead of appointive by the county assessor as in the past. In addition to the above county officers, two judges of the supreme bench and two regents of the state university will be elected. Candidates for these offices and for county judge and superintendent of the public instruction will not go on the primary ballot, but will be given until October 1 in which to file.

Date of Primaries. The county primaries will be held August 11. Candidates can file any time between June 18 and July 18.

The new law provides that each assessor district in cities shall cover a territory embracing, as nearly as possible, 4,000 people. The wards and precincts in Omaha and South Omaha are not made according to population and, therefore, the county commissioners will fix these precincts before the time for filing of candidates. One will be accorded twenty-six deputy assessors, South Omaha will have six and the other thirteen will be in the country districts.

Each of the country precincts, fourteen in number, will be given two justices of the peace and two constables, and there will be six justices and six constables in Omaha and three constables and three justices in South Omaha. The twelve road overseers will all be elected for work in the country.

All the present county officers will be candidates for re-election, all these being republicans but the coroner. The present democratic incumbent was elected last fall to fill an unexpired term caused by the death of Harry B. Davis. The republican officeholders who are figuring to run again are:

Frank A. Furay, treasurer, serving his first term; D. M. Haverly, clerk, serving his second term; Frank W. Handie, register of deeds, serving his first term; E. J. Bralley, sheriff, serving his first term; and Herman Beale, surveyor, serving his second term. Coffey Judge Charles Leslie and County Superintendent W. A. Yoder, each serving their second term, will be candidates again in the fall election.

The democrats have not as yet got over the effects of the spring primary and are not saying much about the fall election or the summer primaries. G. Fred El-sasser, who was the democratic candidate for treasurer two years ago, is now superintendent of the county hospital and will not be a candidate again. Harry T. Deuel and Murray Schwartz, democratic candidate two years ago for register of deeds and surveyor, respectively, will not again be candidates.

Lee Bridges, councilman from the second ward, was the democratic candidate the last time for sheriff, but he says he is too busy now with city affairs to give a thought to county politics. Tom Flynn, street commissioner and boss of the local democracy, is looked upon as a positive candidate for sheriff.

In the event that on the average of four men belonging to each of the three parties—republican, democrat and socialist—file for office this summer the primary ballot will contain nearly 1,800 names. Carrying this further, nearly $3,000 would be paid into the county treasury by candidates as filing fees at $5 per candidate.

The mayor and city council may create other offices enumerated in this act and such offices shall be created in the following manner. The necessity of such offices shall be declared by a resolution proposing the salary and duties of such office. After such resolution has been published once each week for three consecutive weeks the council may by ordinance create such office and fix a reasonable salary not exceeding the amount fixed in such resolution. Such offices shall not hereafter be created unless by consent of the mayor and two-thirds vote by city council.

It is the last sentence, "Such offices shall not hereafter be created unless by consent of the mayor and two-thirds vote by the city council," that gives Mayor Dahlman such great joy, for the city legal department advises him that he can refuse to concur in the creating ordinances and the council cannot pass them over his veto.

"I can be just as funny as the council and if it wants to get cute and abolish

MAYOR HAS THE LAUGH NOW

Discovers Power in Charter to Come Back at Council.

CAN BALK ON ORDINANCE OFFICES

And if "Traitors" Try to Sew Him Up He Will Lean Back and Say: They Are.

As has been said before, "The best laid plans of mice and men gang aft agley." Mayor Dahlman has discovered a way out of the difficulty and is laughing in his sleeve over the awful things he will do to the "traitors" councilmen if they attempt to abolish the ordinance offices as a means of severing certain members of his cabinet from the city pay roll. For if the "traitors" try to sew up the mayor in this way the mayor can turn around and refuse to concur in recreating the ordinance offices.

The mayor sat up nearly all night and read the city charter from beginning to end and in that same charter he found a section which gave him peace of mind and rest to his soul. This is section 83 and reads:

"The mayor and city council may create other offices enumerated in this act and such offices shall be created in the following manner. The necessity of such offices shall be declared by a resolution proposing the salary and duties of such office. After such resolution has been published once each week for three consecutive weeks the council may by ordinance create such office and fix a reasonable salary not exceeding the amount fixed in such resolution. Such offices shall not hereafter be created unless by consent of the mayor and two-thirds vote by city council."

It is the last sentence, "Such offices shall not hereafter be created unless by consent of the mayor and two-thirds vote by the city council," that gives Mayor Dahlman such great joy, for the city legal department advises him that he can refuse to concur in the creating ordinances and the council cannot pass them over his veto.

"I can be just as funny as the council and if it wants to get cute and abolish these ordinance offices I can be just as cute and refuse to consent to create them again," said the mayor. "This will put a crimp in them, I think, and it will be a cold day before an attempt is made to abolish these offices."

Councilman Johnson, "traitor," repeats his statement that the fight now centers on Tom Flynn and Dr. Connell; Mayor Dahlman is just as confident that the city prosecutor is the stumbling block, and Boss Flynn says he is so ashamed of the three "traitor" democrats that he would not think of asking them to vote for him.

"I told Johnson the other day that I fully expected six democratic votes for my confirmation of the first night and that I would not baffle them by asking for their votes," said Flynn. "I would like to ask them what kind of democrats they think they are to go against me when as chairman of the committee I did everything possible to elect them."

Ginger Bread on Ginger Block

Free Feeds of Old-Fashioned Loaves Latest Thing of the Five Hundred Club.

"Free ginger on ginger block." This is the latest stunt of the "500 Block Ginger Club" on South 18th street, where one block, on both sides of the street, is showing the other parts of the city what a little real enterprise will do.

In the block are located a few restaurants, and in the windows this sign appears: "Ginger Club Ginger Bread Served Free with Noon Lunches."

Not only have people the privileges of looking on a really cleaned street, where show windows and modern fronts give a block of metropolitan appearance, but now comes the final offer to put up some ginger bread "like mother used to make" or better.

While giving away some of its ginger in the bread, the 500 block club still maintains a street sweeping department, consisting of one muscular man in a white duck suit, who proceeds to keep the pavements clean. This one man works. When he puts a shovel under a pile of dirt, it goes under like the man had eaten ginger pancakes for breakfast and washed them down with ginger ale. Then the shovel is lifted—not like an ordinary street cleaner lifts a shovel. It comes up with a sharp, muscular jerk as though the man wanted to lift the dirt.

CORONER'S JURY SAYS GOULD WAS KILLED BY CHLOROFORM

Probably Took the Poison with Suicidal Intent, Says the Verdict of Inquest.

Chloroform, evidently taken with suicidal intent, caused the death of J. B. Gould, the striking electrician who was found dead Wednesday evening at his room, 322 South Sixteenth street. Coroner Heafey conducted the inquest Friday morning and the jury returned a verdict that conveyed the chloroform suicide theory. Gould is said to have been suing for a divorce from his wife, who is employed at the Koehler hotel at Grand Island and has not come here for the funeral. Gould has a sister, Miss Mabel Gould, living at Kingston, Ontario, Canada. The funeral plans have not been made.

MRS. C. F. HICKMAN DEAD

Former Resident of Omaha, Widely Known in West, Dies at Peekskill.

Word has been received by Omaha relatives of the death of Mrs. C. F. Hickman formerly of this city, which occurred at Peekskill, N. Y., Thursday evening. No particulars were given in the message, which came to a niece, Mrs. N. C. Mitchell of 3319 Harney street, but her death was evidently sudden, as she had not been ill.

Mrs. Hickman was a resident of Omaha for many years, having come here with her husband in 1864. She opened a millinery store and her business grew until it warranted Mr. Hickman's resignation from the government service to assist her with it. Later they extended it to the wholesale field and for years were well known through the west. Mrs. Hickman closed out
