Cowin Buys Big Pratt Mortgage

Omaha Attorney Takes Over $16,000 Obligation Held by Sir Horace Plunkett.

BLAIR, Neb., June 19.—(Special.)—Papers were filed here yesterday in the office of the clerk of the district court recording the sale of a $16,000 mortgage, held by Sir Horace Plunkett of Dublin, Ireland, on the James Pratt ranch at Tyson station, five miles north of this city, on the Omaha railroad. The ranch comprises about 1,000 acres and was recently appraised at $24,000. The sale was made to General John C. Cowin of Omaha and the papers were made out and attested by the United States consul at Dublin, Ireland. The ranch is a fine piece of land, including nearly all of that surrounding Tyson station, and was originally taken up in homestead lots by old pioneers of this county. Two other mortgages are held on this land, one being held by an Omaha bank for $1,500.

General Cowin is Colonel Pratt's lawyer and has represented him in all the litigation between him and his wife. The latter has been suing to collect on an ante-nuptial agreement, whereby she was to get $20,000 and a few other things.

Howell to Orate at Albion. ALBION, Neb., June 19.—(Special.)—Albion is preparing for the largest celebration on July 5 ever held in this part of the state. No other town near here will celebrate. Four ball teams from adjoining towns will be here and the program for the day is something of a novelty. It will be held on the fair grounds of this place, which will deliver the address of the day.

Couple Wed Secretly. NEBRASKA CITY, Neb., June 19.—(Special.)—It has just leaked out that Miss Jessie B. Zellner of Unadilla and Glen H. White of Elmwood slipped over to Des Moines, Ia., and were married a few days ago. Both are well to do young people. They tried to keep their marriage a secret, but it leaked out.

HYMENEAL. Dopt-Ludington. FULLERTON, Neb., June 19.—(Special.)—Last evening Mae, the youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Ludington, and Bob Dopt, editor of the Belgrade Herald, were united in marriage at the bride's home, Rev. A. G. McVay, pastor of the First Methodist Episcopal church, officiating. Miss Edna Weems played Lohengrin's bridal march and Miss Ruby Corbett and H. B. Dopt were the only attendants. After the wedding supper Mr. and Mrs. Dopt left for a short visit with friends in Rockville, after which they will be at home at Belgrade.

OLDEST INHABITANTS MEET. Yankton County Commissioners for Year 1907 Have Reunion. YANKTON, June 19.—(Special.)—An interesting feature of the first day's doing of the Traveling Men's convention was the accidental meeting in the Press and Dakota office of Judge Bucklin Wood of Tyndal, G. W. Kingsbury and Warren Osborn of Yankton, who comprised the Board of County Commissioners for Yankton county in the year 1907. That was the period known as the catfish and cornbread days and the three fathers of the county had a rare old visit and chat over old days. At the conference of the above named it was natural that the absurd claims of one Holsey of Canton to being the oldest continuous resident of South Dakota should be considered and ruled out of order. Mr. Wood settled in the territory in 1860, Mr. Osborn in 1866 and Mr. Kingsbury in 1862. None have ever left the state since. It was also brought out that Major J. R. Hanson, 1858; Henry Bradley, 1864; Charles Wright, 1866; Lon Stone, who was born here, and about 1,000 others are still living on the soil of South Dakota and can give Mr. Holsey of Canton proof that they have him "beaten to a frazzle."

Shickley Wins by a Score. SUTTON, Neb., June 19.—(Special.)—The ball game here today between Sutton and Shickley was won by Shickley by a score of 7 to 1. Batteries: Sutton, Wright and Bender; Shickley, St. John and Thomas. Errors: Shickley, 3; Sutton, 2. Hits: Sutton, 4; Shickley, 7. The feature of the game was Bender's home run in the ninth. Attendance, 500.

Bailey Willing to Delay Vote Offers to Postpone Action on Income Tax Until Tariff Schedules Pass. WASHINGTON, June 19.—Senator Bailey, speaking for himself and most of the democratic and republican income tax advocates, announced at the opening of the senate session today that he would consent to postpone the disposal of the income tax question until after the tariff schedules were disposed of. It became apparent at once that the postponement would be made, but there was nevertheless some debate before a definite conclusion was reached.

of the stricken family of his brother. For some time, it is said, he has been estranged from them because of Mrs. Siegel's activity among the Chinese. In this time of trouble, however, he put aside his resentment and called at the Siegel home today.

Mother Had Been Warned. He said that he warned Mrs. Siegel many times against associating with Chinese, in the hope of converting them to Christianity.

"Speaking as the uncle of Elsie Siegel," he said, "I would warn all women against associating with Chinamen, either in church or otherwise. I do not believe in a thousand of the so-called conversions of Chinamen is genuine. My niece was an innocent girl. She had a few associates outside of those chosen for her by her mother, and she honestly believed it was her mission to Christianize Chinamen."

Too late she realized that the feeling of the Mongolian toward white women is an animal feeling. I believe this Chinaman, Leon, killed Elsie in a spirit of animal revenge."

Telegram an Evident Fake. WASHINGTON, June 19.—Some illiterate person or child, apparently, wrote the telegram signed with the name of Elsie Siegel and sent from here to Paul Siegel in New York City on the evening of June 12, according to a statement made today by Manager Travis of the Postal Telegraph company. The telegraph operator at the branch office of the company in the National hotel, where the message was filed, said he could not recall whether the message had been brought in by a man or a woman. The telegram was not signed except for the initials supposed to be those of the young girl. Detectives have made thorough search through Chinatown in an effort to find some trace of William Leon, whom they have been asked to arrest on the charge of homicide. No information is known to have been received as to whether he is in this city or has been here since the girl was killed.

In any locality, the democratic legislature has given to every municipality in the state the right to elect their own excise boards, which determine matters of license or no license and the regulation and policing within their borders. That is the meaning of the home rule plank in the democratic platform and was so understood by those who framed it and by those who voted for it. I believe in strict regulation of the liquor traffic, and just as we have denied the right to sell liquor to Indians, drunkards, to minors or to sell it upon the Sabbath day or any national holiday, so the democratic party will never deny to the people the right to police the traffic by confining its sale to the hours which common business practice has made the rule of proper hours for the sale of almost everything else sold in our cities and towns.

Governor Shallenberger insisted that he understands the temper and sentiment of the people of Nebraska and that they are all for democracy. He believes there are more democrats today than ever in the history of the country, although in all his life but one democrat had been elected to the presidency. Although defeated in the national election, six states of the north have democratic governors, and in these states democracy is on trial. He expects to have some further fights with "nullifiers and repudiators," but he will be at the state house, upholding the banner of democracy and fighting for the cause of that party.

Think Man Guilty, But Acquit Him

New York Jury Brings in a Remarkable Verdict in Murder Case.

AMSTERDAM, N. Y., June 19.—Frank Denatto, a wealthy Italian saloon keeper on trial at Ponda for the murder of William E. McLachlan of Crane's Hollow, was today acquitted by a jury, which handed in one of the most remarkable verdicts ever rendered in a homicide case. The document reads: "While in our minds and opinion, we, as men, regard the defendant as guilty, yet, after considering our oaths as jurors and carefully considering the evidence as placed before us, we cannot find sufficient evidence to convict and therefore render a verdict of not guilty."

McLachlan, the murdered man, was an eccentric farmer who lived alone and had frequently befriended Denatto by lending him money. For the purpose of stealing unrecorded evidences of indebtedness Denatto, it is alleged, sent five Italians to McLachlan's home with instructions to kill him.

Two of the actual participants in the crime have already been convicted and another was killed by a fellow countryman a few days after the crime.

KEEP DINGLEY RATE ON HIDES

dependent tanners, and he firmly believed that the farmer would receive no benefit from that duty. Referring to a charge that the duty on hides had been placed in the Dingley law while the bill was in conference, Senator Warren in fervent language denounced that statement as wholly false. He was sustained by Senator Aldrich, who recalled that it had been voted into the bill by the subcommittee that had framed the paragraph and agreed to by both senate and house.

Warren Defends Hide Duty. Defending the hide duty, Mr. Warren said: "I don't have to go to Massachusetts or Pennsylvania or to the leather trust to learn whether the farmers want the duty. The farmers are not here asking for free hides." Mr. Warren yielded the floor with the statement that he would renew his discussion Monday. Senator Aldrich then suggested placing a duty of 10 cents a pound and 40 per cent ad valorem on nippers and pliers, except blacksmith tongs, surgical and dental instruments, which he stated was less than the present law. It was agreed to. Another amendment placing a duty of 25 per cent ad valorem on bands and strips of steel, which he explained was less than the current law, also was adopted.
