ADVANCES NERVOUS, UNSTEADY

Corn Inactive and Prices Remain Unchanged, with Receipts Sufficient to Supply Present Demand-Outlook for Lower Prices.

OMAHA, June 22, 1968,

The wheat market is showing a decidedly better tone. With heavy rains over the western states, hot and dry weather in the noithwest and moderately strong cables, values opened higher.

All advances are nervous and unsteady, due to the heavy short selling, as the progress in the wheat fields has been marked.

The corn market is not active and prices remain unchanged. Receipts are sufficient to supply the present demand and the present crop outlook is bearish and should result in a decline. OMAHA, June 22, 1969.

wheat was nervous and higher at the opening on buying induced by the higher Liverpot cables. Pressure was heavy on the bulges, however, prices wavered and the early sdvance was lost toward the Corn was unchanged with values less teady owing to the weaker cash market. Deficiency With the present ideal weather continuing and poor demand corn values should drop day and Same Temperature.

OMAHA. Neb. June 22, 1898.
Showers occured in the northwest within the past twenty-four hours, and rains were general in all sections east of the Bocky mountains, except the middle Atlantic states. The rains were very heavy in Ohio, Indiana, Kentucky Karsas and southeastern Nebraska. The total fall during the night was 1.39 inches. Temperatures are generally higher east of the Rocky mountains, the changes being slight in the central valleys, but very warm weather prevailed in the eastern states Monday. Barometric depressions continue over the extreme upper valleys and the southwest, and while the weather is generally fair throughout the west, it will probably continue unsettled in this vicinity tonight and Wednesday, with local thunder showers tonight or Wednesday, and not much change in temperature.

Record of temperature and precipitation compared with the corresponding day of the last three years:

Minimum temperature for today, 73 degrees. Percepitation in precipitation since March 1, 236 inches.

Deficiency in precipitation since March 1 38 inches.
Deficiency corresponding period in 1908.
Deficiency corresponding period in 1907.

NEW YORK GENERAL MARKET

Final quotations, however, were irregular ranging from $40 above to $40% colors, cats and provisions closed weak.

The wheat market was decidely strong at the start and initial quotations showed gains of $40% c to $40% c compared with the previous close. The upturn was due to additional rains in Ransas and Missoura where prices were builishly affected by continued light visible supply. Demand, which was quite urgent at the opening soon dwindled to small proportions and toward the end of the first hour prices began to sag.

The early reports of wet weather it the harvest belt were found to have been exaggerated as to the probable effect on the first hour prices were the probable effect on the first hand the probable effect on the probable effect on the first which forecasted as to the probable effect on the first which forecasted as to the probable effect on the first which forecasted as to the probable effect on the first was supplemented by declines at the northwest markets and by reported to body fields in OW.

So,000.00 bushels of wheat for that state, was an important fact. This was supplemented by declines at the northwest markets and by reported to body fields in OW.

For the day was between $1.13% and $1.45%.

The market was weak late in the day and closed near the low-point of the season with July at $1.14.

Favoracio crop reports and an unexpected increase in local receipts were the chief reasons for the weakness which prevailed in the oof market was bearishly affect the standard of the weakness which prevailed to the county with the previous close.

SHEEP-The unsettled condition of the sheep market was more apparent this morning than it has been for some time. Receipts were moderate and the assortment better than usual, but buying interests were very coy and as a result, the trade was exceedingly slow. A duller edge to the aiready indifferent demand was caused by the news of a few cars of tardy arrivals, four cars of fed western yearlings not being yarded until 10 o'clock. A couple of cars of Idaho wethers and yearlings, mixed, sold at the opening at a quotably steady price $5.00-although live mutton of Idaho nativity has been scarce at this mart, and of course a comparison of values is impossible. A deck of fed 5.052 apring tambs as well acquitted themselves very creditably at $5.25.

Outside of these opening sales the general market was lower, but just how much would be difficult to say. The few cars of Oregon rearlines and fed westerns payed to be slow sellers, and while there was nothing sold early that would indicate that the market level was lower it was generally conceded that the close would find values at a decline. A conservative guess of the SHEEP-The unsettled condition of the
