HOUSE OF HOPE.

Wishes to sell their old home at 17131715 and 1715½ California St., that they may pay off the mortgage now due on their new home on 27th Ave. There are three small cottages now renting for $41 per month. The lot is one of the finest in the city, being 65x132 and only five blocks from the postoffice, an excellent location for a triple flat or apartment. About a year ago a vacant lot less than 200 feet from this sold for $7.500 and was considered cheap. But this must be sold at once and taking that in consideration the price is set at only $5.000, which surely means a quick sale. Look it over and submit your offer quick to the J. W. RASP CO., Doug. 1653. 689-91 Brandeis Bldg. A-2653.

ASHLAND RANGE A FIXTURE Government Probably Will Decide to Retain it as Target Practice Field.

There is a strong probability that the Ashland target range may be made a pernament range for small arms practice by the United States army.

Colonel Cornelius Gardener of the Sixteenth infantry is now at the Ashland range to make an exhaustive inspection of the range and surroundings with a view to considering its permanent use as a government small arms target range.

It was used as a practice range by the Sixteenth infantry during the present target season with satisfactory results, and there is reason to believe that it may be transposed into a permanent range for all the troops contiguous to Omaha, including Fort Des Moines.

based on it, we will give you a prize. Your parents or friends may help you in the selection of a plot, but the composition must be all your own work. We want stories of not more than 500 words-interesting, clever little stories—the very best you can write. You will not only have a chance to win one of the prizes, butwill get a whole lot of fun out of selecting the plot and writing the story. You may think, right now, that the selection of a plot is going to be hard. It isn't. Of course, you'll have to think and observe and read the advetrisements carefully, if you want to win a prize, but you can win if you will really try. You see, the people use the want ad pages of The Bee for so many different purposes that each little advertisement is really a pulse beat in the life of a city. Some of the advertisements will suggest poverty; some will suggest prosperity; some romance; some comedy; and so on, through the many different phases of life.

mind the story of a young man's struggle to secure a start in life. A horse for sale might suggest the story of a husband who wants to sell the horse in order to present an electric runabout to his wife. Make up your mind, NOW, to win one of these prizes.

A situation wanted advertisement could bring to

You can do it—and at the same time have a lot of fun. It's a fascinating game. There are a score of good stories in this very edition of The Bee. Turn to the want ad pages and dig them out.

You can do it.

STUDY THESE RULES Any boy or girl below the second year in High school can take part in this contest without cost, whether or not you live in Omaha, but you must observe all these conditions or stories will not

Your story must be based on a Want Ad appearing in The Omaha Bee of the week current, and must contain NOT MORE than 500 words. At the top of the first page write plainly your full name and address, your father's or mother's name, the grade and school you attend, your teacher's name and your own age. Next below paste The Bee Want Ad on which your story is based. When the stories are published, any names or addresses in the Want Ads will be left out.

Next write the title you have given your story

You may submit only one story a week.

Write neatly on one side of the sheet only. Stories will ordinarily be judged entirely on their merits AS STORIES, but in cases where two or more are of about equal merit, then penmanship and neatness, according to age, will be considered.

Do not roll your manuscript, fold it and address the envelope: WANT AD STORY EDITOR, OMAHA BEE. If mailed, see carefully that the postage is fully paid, or leave it at the business office of The Bee. Do not enclose stamps for return, as no stories will be returned. Stories must be received at The Bee office not later than Thursday noon of each week. The prizewinners will be announced and the prize stories published in The Bee of the second Sunday following.
