START SHORTS TO COVERING

Suring is General and This Advances Local Market Sharply During the First Trades of the Day.

Liverpool cables came surprisingly strong at the opening and started shorts covering. Buying was general, which advanced the local market sharply during the early trades. Further advances came on builtsh news from Argentina and exporters reported good bids on all offerings.

Corn was steady and firm with wheat, but less active owing to no demand and continued favorable news throughout the corn belt. OMAHA, June 25, 1900.

wheat showed unexpected strength, due to higher cables, which started shorts covering and brought in new buying. The undertone was strong throughout the day and further gains were made near the close. The general crop outlook is unchanged and this bulge may not be sustained.

Wheat Prices Advance More Than Two Cents Per Bushel. CHICAGO, June 25.—Wheat prices advanced more than 2c per bushel today, owing to general demand based on a sharp bulge at Liverpool, and on reports of a big export business. At the close prices were 20721/3c to 25/3c above yesterday's final figures. Corn, oats and provisions also closed strong.

acted on overnight bids at all grain centers in this country. The bulge at Liverpool was said to have been due chiefly to the congested condition of the July delivery which, it was claimed, was brought about by manipulation by Chicago interests.

Another factor that has considerable influence in the strong opening here was the official risport on the winter wheat crop of Crimany, which showed a deterioration of is points in the condition of the crop with last year's crop at the corresponding time. In the final half of the day interest of pit traders was centered in the export situation when it was discovered that a large traders was centered in the export situation when it was discovered that a large amount of business had been done overnight and in fact for several days. Exact figures were not obtainable, but it was learned that today's business exceeded 105 boatloads, and some estimates placed the amount as high as 500 loads. Crop news was entirely ignored. During the day the July delivery sold between $1.14% and $1.16. The market blosed active and strong, with prices almost at the highest point, final quotations on July being at $1.15% (21.16.

OMAHA, June 25, 1809.

Unsettled weather still prevalls over the northwest, the central valleys and the eastern and southern states, and there were showers within the last twenty-four hours throughout the northwest and in all sections east of the Rocky mountains, and rains continue this morning in the extreme northwest and lower Missouri valley. Temperatures continue high throughout the eastern states. No important change in temperature has occurred in the central portion since the preceding report, but a slight and general fall is shown in the extreme upper Missouri valley and throughout the northwest. The weather will remain unsettled in this vicinity tonight and Saturday, with possible showers and not much change in temperature.

Record of temperature and precipitation compared with the corresponding day of the last three years: NEW YORK, June 25.-The action of the stock market today was not lituminating in showing the state of financial settle-ment. The constant backing and filling of prices indicated lack of conviction and Harriman financial plan.

The copper industrials were a center of depression in the market, following the London lead, where there was another sharp decline in these securities after the recent recovery brought about by short covering. The price of the metal turned downward again in London also. The influence of the London market on New York was increased by the rumors current that an operator largely concerned in Americans and coppers there was in trouble. London sold stocks here quite freely during the morning.

The speculative contest that was going Columbus trouble. London sold stocks here quite freely during the morning. The speculative contest that was going on was waged insistently in Reading, and the erratic fluctuations in that stock kept the whole market unsettled. Many thouthe whole market unsettled. Many thousands of shares were taken at last night's prices after an opening in an effort to hold it. A decline of a point and a period of wavering fluctuations were followed by a brisk advance, which placed it more than two points above last night's price. The publication of the preliminary estimates of the week's currency movement was an influence in lifting prices of stocks. The promise of a large cash gain gives assurances of resources to meet the stocks. The promise of a large cash gain gives assurances of resources to meet the demands of the July I settlements, although the enormous inflow of cash from the interior from another point of view, sives little sign of expanding demands for the use of money in business.

The receipts of cash from the interior seemed to have exceeded the shipments by upwards of $10,000,000, the largest movement for any one week of the season. Deductions to be made are the $214,000 absorbed by subtreasury operations and the gold exports—$1,000,000 to South America early in the week and $1,000,000 engaged.

ica early in the week and $1,000,000 engaged today for export to France tomorrow. The Paris cheque on London declined again today, but the London discount rate also

The gold movement from New York to Trance is not clearly understood, but re-cent purchases of United States Steel in connection with the plan to list that stock on the Paris bourse were given as explaon the Faris bourse were given as expanation for the check to the outward gold movement. If the obstacles encountered to that plan should involve a return movement of the stock which passed, the international exchange would be affected in proportion. The expectation that the measurements tre for taxing net earnings of corpora-tions would appear in the senate today had some repressive effect on the dealings in stocks. A few specialties showed iso-lated strength due to particular causes. The price movement was confused to the Wool Market.

BOSTON, June 26.—WOOL—The commercial Bulletin of Boston will say of the wool market today:
Business is a little more quiet this week as a result of the comparatively limited offerings of domestic wools and the fact that the goods manufacturers are now beginning to sell their light weight fabrics for next spring. All wool dealers look for an early resumption of buying in the raw material market at full and rising prices.

The shipments of wool from Boston to June 24. Inclusive, were 124.418.645 lbs., against 71.528.449 lbs., for the same time limits have shown very little if any inclusive, were 128.321.523 lbs., against 76.524. St. LOUIS, June 28.—WOOL—Easy; territory and weatern mediums, 232271/2c; fine mediums, 21226c; fine, 152219c; fine mediums, 21226c; fine, 152219c.

quality and quantity of this week's supplies, as well, is almost a sure indication that the range mutton crop has been started marketward in earnest.

The trend of values this week has been somewhat disappointing to selling talent in view of the fact that live mutton has been selling at a premium for the last few weeks. The decline, however, has not been confined to this market and values at other points have been punished equally severely. The lower prices paid this week is largely a reflection of uncertain sentiment in buying circles. Buyers as a general rule are somewhat at sea as to the proper level of grass mutton when the advance guard puts in its appearance at market, and this year has been no exception to the rule. In order to be on the right side of the fence a decline in values is their only safe and conservative route. The transitory stage between fed stuff and grassers has already been passed and a smoother market may be expected from this time on.
