JUNE MOIST? YES. HERE ARE FIGURES IN PROOF

Only Three Clear Days in Month, Says Local Forecaster
 Summary of Period.
 Yes, June was a wet month. If anyone feels uncertain in the matter, Local Forecaster L. A. Welch is here with the data to prove it.
 Of the thirty days which June hath, just three were clear and the rest cloudy or partly cloudy. The total precipitation for the month was 7.54, an excess of 2.31, compared with the average June rainfall in the last thirty-nine years.
 It was not so hot as the average by a small amount, the deficiency being nine-tenths of 1 degree. The average temperature mentioned is 71 degrees. The highest temperature recorded during the month of June was in 1901, when the mercury climbed to an even 100. The hottest day of the month just over was last Saturday when the temperature was 91.

AFFAIRS AT SOUTH OMAHA

Walter Maxwell is Drowned While Bathing in Missouri River.
BOXING BOUT IS CALLED OFF
Principals Are Unable to Agree on Division of Ticket Money—Police Commissioners Take Oath.
 Walter Maxwell, a South Omaha negro, was drowned in the Missouri last evening and his body has not been recovered. Maxwell, with Fred Adkins, Charles Owen and Cord Bentley, went swimming at a point opposite N street. They had been jumping into the water from the bank and coming safely to land. Maxwell finally jumped in and seemed to strike a deep hole at a point near to where the others had been finding safe footing. He went under and only a hand showed afterward. One of the boys with him dived in to find him, but without success. Maxwell was known around town as "Water Boy."
Boxing Match Called Off.
 The boxing exhibition between Kelly and Faulker, which was to have been given last night by the Shamrock Athletic club, turned out a disappointment to about 200 men who were interested in the boxing. The hitch was in the division of the money received from the sale of tickets. Neither party would agree to the proposition of the other, so the fight was called off and the money returned at the door. One or two preliminary bouts were engaged in, but little skill was exhibited in any of them. They were for three and four rounds each.
Board Members Take Oath.
 The newly appointed members of the Board of Fire and Police commissioners, J. J. Ryan and J. J. Fitzgerald have qualified and taken the oath of office.  "In considering appointment or considering promotion or removals I will not be guided by political motives or influences; but will consider only the interests of the city of South Omaha, and the success and effectiveness of the department concerning which the appointment, promotion or removal is made."
 It is reported that the new board will organize Saturday night. J. J. Fitzgerald and F. W. Faulk are said to be friendly and the board will be conducted as they desire.

CUPID LEADS COUPLE ASTRAY

Lures Chicago Pair to Omaha and Now Man is in Jail.
HELD AS FUGITIVE FROM JUSTICE
He Leaves His Wife for Another Woman and She is Left to Bemoan the Fate of Him, Herself and Babe.
 Dan Cupid is a bad boy. A barber shop flirtation and the purchase by his wife of a $16 hat with her month's alimony, led Ed Pospisil, alias Ed Pospel, alias Ed Linker, to leave his wife in Chicago over a year ago and come to Omaha. Now he is in jail as a fugitive from justice, the Chicago police having telegraphed here that he is wanted there on the charge of wife abandonment.
 Ida Steyding, the 22 year old woman with whom he has been living at 121 South Thirtieth street for a year, is left with her 1 month old baby girl.
 "I would faint dead away if I should see Ed behind the bars," says the Steyding woman. "My father would kill me if he knew."
 Facing a little barber shop two blocks from the home of her father, J. Steyding, on Trumbull avenue, Lawdale, a suburb of Chicago, day after day, Ida Steyding yielded to the darts of Cupid and became much attached to the young barber, Pospisil. He was a married man, but had had trouble with his wife and finally sued for divorce.
 "I lost the case," he says, in telling of the affair, "because one of my witnesses went back on me. I was forced to pay my wife $15 a month alimony and did so the first month. But she blew it all in for a new hat, so I quit the town, coming to Omaha in March, 1908."
 Within three months the girl had arranged to join Pospisil in Omaha. He wrote that he was willing to have her keep house for him here.
 So in June they settled in a little four room apartment at 121 South Thirtieth street, Pospisil under the name of Ed Linker, opening a barber shop in the front room and making a success of the business.
 The man is being held by the police, who await instructions from Chicago. He is 21 years of age. He admits he left his wife in Chicago.
 "She wasn't good enough for Ed," asserts Miss Steyding.

Drowsy Jurors Vex the Bailiffs

One Sleepy Taleman Has to Be Awakened Afresh for Each New Question.
 The courts of law have rather a bedraggled and uncomfortable aspect these sweltering days and lawyers and bailiffs are much beset to keep jurors awake.
 In Judge Sutton's court a jury was being impaneled for the case of William Galbraith, charged with breaking and entering, and one old colored man was peacefully snoring when it came to his turn to be questioned. Major Miller, Galbraith's attorney, had the bailiff shake him into sensibility, but he lapsed after each question. Finally Miller shouted in his ear, "Any prejudice against this defendant because of his color?"
 As the talesman, whose name was Phillips, has a skin of Africa hue and the defendant is a son of ham, the old man sat up, blinked, stared and came completely out of his nap.
 "No, sah," he said, "Ah ain't got nothin' against no nigger just because he's cullud, sah."
CORPORATION TAX PROGRAM HIT BY COMMERCIAL CLUB
 Executive Committee Wires Resolution of Protest to Members of Nebraska Delegation.
 The Omaha Commercial club has joined other organizations of the kind in protesting against the proposed corporation income tax. A resolution unanimously adopted by the executive committee has been wired to Senators Burkett and Brown and to Congressman Hitchcock. Taxation of corporations and not of partnerships in the same line of industry is the chief point of objection. The resolution reads as follows:
 Whereas, A proposition is before congress to tax net incomes of corporations.
 Whereas, Such proposed tax, especially as applied to mercantile, manufacturing and industrial corporations would be a great injustice, as co-partnerships engaged in same business are not so taxed; be it resolved, That the Commercial club of Omaha vigorously protest against such legislation, which places a serious burden upon mercantile, manufacturing and industrial corporations and exempts individuals and co-partnerships engaged in similar or competitive lines of business.

QUESTION FOR CHARLEVOIX
 How to Proceed When Consignee Refuses to Accept Shipment is One Problem.
 Among the questions Omaha shippers hope to have settled their way at the Charlevoix meeting of the Western Classification committee next week is that of procedure when a consignee, for any reason, refuses to accept a shipment.
 At present railroads are more or less apt to let the shipment rest in the freight house of the town where the consignee lives and then storage charges flourish like the proverbial green bay tree.
 The shippers ask a rule that the agent
