NEW YORK STOCKS AND BONDS Market is Dull, Preceding Three-Day

Moderately heavy rains were general throughout the southern states within the last twenty-four hours and lighter showers were scattered over the central valleys, the southwest and the western Canadian provinces. Rains continue in the south Atlantic states and generally cloudy weather prevails over the southern states. It is clear throughout the central valleys and west into the mountains, and it will continue fair in this violnity tonight and Saturday. The weather is generally warmer in the central valleys and the southwest. An area of high pressure, accompanied by cooler weather, has appeared in the extreme northwest, and will move down over the central valleys, causing slightly cooler in this vicinity tonight and cooler Saturday. OMAHA, July 2, 1909. COTTON CROP DETERIORATION

Holiday Interval.

Part it Plays in International Exchanges Makes it Serious Pactor-Money Market Seems Secure Against Disturbance.

NEW YORK, July 1.—The stock market today was a trivial affair, comparatively, both in the volume of the dealings and in the feeble fluctuation of prices. The imminence of a three day's holiday interval left the speculative element indisposed to take chances of accidents happening during that period. News developments received little attention.

Today confirmed the conviction that the money market was secure against even a ripple of disturbance from the passage of the July settlements. Discounts receded in London and Berlin again today. The latimore larger than the gold outgo.

There was a group of stocks of small bankrupt railroads with reorganization plans being worked out, which showed acute weakness and fell rapidly towards the point of extinction of values. Chicago Great Western, for instance, sold as low as 1½.

The degree of deterioration of the cotton

Great Western, for instance, sold as low as 1½.

The degree of deterioration of the cotton crop reported by the government, when the value of this crop is considered and the part it plays in international exchanges, must enforce serious attention. News from the grain fields today, on the contrary, continues highly favorable. The advance in Union Pacific was helped by the report that the company had sold its allotment of the new Southern Pacific convertible bonds to which it was privileged see a Southern Pacific stockholder to subsoribe at 96. These bonds advanced today to 104, a record price. The Lackawanna melon cutting was assigned as the ground for the special strength in Reading.
