WOMAN IN RUSSIAN QUARTERS

Wife of Commandant Uses to Leave Her Husband, and Her House is Exposed of Combatant

TEHRAN, Persia, July 13.—Recent events in Turkey are being repeated in Persia.

The constitutional forces, the advance of which on Tehran for a time was not considered serious, are now in possession of the greater part of the city, which they entered this morning without encountering any organized resistance.

While Sardar-i-Khan and Siphahdar, the leaders in the movement, concentrated the attention of the royalists by demonstrations, a strong body of nationalists and Bakhtiari made their way unnoticed to the north, from which point the capture of the capital was not difficult.

The squads of the garrison were disarmed, and the invaders marched in, the foreign section leaders taking up their quarters in the old Mejlis building. This gives the nationalists command of the city, with the exception of the artillery square and the drill ground adjoining.

Royalists Drilled Ground Situated

The royalists are badly situated to make further resistance, and the Cossacks under command of Russian officers remain outside the city, entirely cut off from their comrades in the artillery square.

The strictest discipline is being maintained by the nationalists, who are placing guards at the gates and other points, as the royalists are disarmed. The nationalist leader is a note to the Russian and British legations, guaranteeing security of life and property to foreigners, adding that nothing is demanded from the shah but a real constitution. Siphahdar already has summoned the members of the Mejlis to witness the opening of parliament.

The invaders are a man who will make their entry into the city. The loss to the royalists is unknown, but cannot be heavy, as the Cossacks were the only defenders to offer resistance. They are keeping up a desultory fire tonight and occasionally are making use of their artillery. There is much feeling against the Russians, and the nationalists are endeavoring to prevent any incident that might justify a Russian force entering the city.

Populace Welcomes Rebels

The populace of the city is enthusiastic over the advent of the nationalist forces, and the streets are wearing red badges and offering encouragement to the revolutionary soldiers.

There was a sharp outbreak of rifle fire in the morning near the British legation, but it did not last long and the casualties among the nationalists were slight. The nationalists are in possession of the central offices of the Persian internal legation system. The Indo-European telegraph line, the outlet to London is still working, but with difficulty. Royalists and nationalists are fighting in the square in front of the offices of the company, which are under fire.

At the time of the filing of this dispatch, 1:30 o'clock in the afternoon, the fighting in the streets continues, but it is mostly at long range, desultory and rather destructive in nature. There have been no attempts to interfere with any of the legations of the British or Russian banks, and the lives and property of Americans and Europeans are not in danger.

The Russian flag is flying from the house of Colonel Liakhoff, the military commander at Tehran, where Mine Liakhoff was found unconscious in bed at the Chicago hotel today, supposedly from the effects of strychnine. Ruggles had been living at the hotel for more than a week. The police are of the opinion that the man attempted to commit suicide, and are making an investigation. Ruggles condition is said to be serious.

"TOM" CARTER PLEADS IN VAIN

Meanwhile House Members, to Whistle Away the Time, Will Meet as Deadly Rivals on Base Ball Diamond.

WASHINGTON, July 13.—An unexpected burst of speed was exhibited by the tariff conferees tonight and the first consideration of the bill was completed. This includes all of the schedules and the free list.

As a result, when tomorrow's session begins, the actual struggle over the important differences between the house and the senate will be opened in earnest. Thus far all of these questions involving raw materials, such as iron ore and other metals, wool, cotton, hides, and numerous other articles which have been the subjects of heated disputes have been put over after very brief discussions held for the purpose of determining the temper of the representatives of the two branches of congress.

Chemical Schedule First.

The bill again will be taken up in the numerical order of the amendments, which means that the chemical schedule will be the first to be acted upon tomorrow. This schedule comprises the various kinds of paints, of which lead is the basis, and these give promise of a stubborn fight.

The session tonight was adjourned at 9:35 that the conferees could get the benefit of a good night's rest so as to be ready for the big battle, the opening gun of which will be fired at 10 o'clock tomorrow morning.

By passing over the cotton and woolen schedules without taking up any of the amended paragraphs, and skipping the disputed points connected with the rates on lumber in the wool schedule, the conferees were able today to dispose of about 400 amendments. This number, however, includes subjects that were settled tentatively on Monday and Saturday.

Many important subjects, such as the house drawback feature of the alcohol paragraph, the rates on oil cloth, and the various items under the heading of lithographs, were submitted to subcommittees. The treasury experts who helped the senate finance committee in its consideration of the bill are assisting the conferees in gathering information about these subjects.

When the night session of the conferees had reached sundown, nearly the last of the schedules. So many matters had been put over for future sessions, however, that it is difficult to tell just how much progress has been made. The conferees are making every effort to prevent the advance publication of decisions reached by the conferees regardless of how unimportant are the questions determined.

Lobbyists There in Force

The corridors about the conference room in the senate office building are about as thickly peopled with representatives of special interests and lobbyists generally, as they were when the bill was in the house and senate committees.

The moment a member of the conference emerges from a session he is surrounded and besieged by representatives of special interests and lobbyists generally, as they were when the bill was in the house and senate committees.

Few of the conferees predict that a report can be made before a week from Saturday and some as far as to forecast August 1 or later for the adjournment of the extra session.

A representative of the Associated Press today interrogated one of the conferees as to the progress that has been made. A list of practically all of the amended paragraphs of public interest was submitted to him. It covered nearly one hundred subjects and not one of them had been settled definitely, it was learned.

No Business But Tariff

The senate was in session twenty minutes today adjourning at 12:30 until Friday. The session was devoted to a discussion of the unanimous consent agreement not to transact any business until the tariff conference was in progress. The discussion arose over the effort of Senator Carter to have passed a bill pertaining to the affairs of the District of Columbia on the ground that the bill was "such a little one" that no harm could result from its passage. But Senators Lodge and Culberson, standing guard over the interests of the two sides of the chamber, objected and thus prevented action. The incident served to emphasize the understanding that no business will be permitted in the senate so long as the conferees are out.

Lincoln Men Sore When Road Won't Check Jug

G. E. Wilson and A. Crouty of Lincoln were two mad men at the Burlington station. They wanted to check a jug of whiskey to Lincoln and the baggage man would not allow them to, so they had to carry it home. They said a few things about the railroads running the whole state and made some statements as to what they were going to do to the corporations.

"We will petition the railroad commission," said Wilson, "to make the railroads check jugs and such other apparatus, in which people want to carry a little whiskey or wine when they are returning from Omaha."

"Down at Lincoln they closed us out of our saloons and we have to take some of the wet goods there from this city. We don't like to carry or ship all the goods and the railroads ought to be forced to check a little brown jug for us."

"You people here probably have noticed that the Omaha railroads are doing a big jug business from Lincoln now. I have several friends who come up here often and return with a few quarts or a gallon. If the railroads could ship the stuff into Lincoln as they should, we would take a whole lot more from Omaha."

SAMMIS IS EXALTED RULER

Iowa Man, After Bitter Contest, Chosen Head of Elks.

DETROIT FOR MEETING PLACE

Much Acrimony Develops in Selection of Grand Officers, and Charges of Unfairness Are Made.

LOS ANGELES, July 13.—The Grand Lodge of Elks today elected the following officers: Exalted Ruler—James U. Sammis, Le Mars, Ia. Lecturing Knight—Warren G. Sayre, Wash, Ind. Lecturing Knight—J. D. Jones, Scranton, Pa. Secretary—Fred C. Robinson, Dubuque, Ia. Treasurer—Edwin R. Leach, New York. Trustee—Perry A. Clay, Denver. Tyler—Charles L. Dicker, Bemidji, Minn. Inner Guard—A. M. Taylor, St. Augustine, Fla.

The balloting for grand exalted ruler knight resulted in no election, four candidates being voted for and no one receiving a majority. J. L. Preston of Wyoming received 22 votes. Another ballot will be taken tomorrow.

The vote for grand exalted ruler was extremely close, Sammis receiving 502 votes and Herrmann 523.

The fight of the session of the grand lodge was over the election of a grand exalted ruler. During the last hour the struggle for votes, led by the Iowa delegation for Herrmann, grew into a bitter one, and into this final struggle many prominent Elks, including Rush L. Holland, the present grand exalted ruler, were drawn.

In a statement regarding the publication of a letter he had written to Sammis, Mr. Holland complained that unfairness had been shown in not giving out the entire contents of the letter, but only such portions as made it appear he had endorsed the candidacy of Sammis.

The only other contest was over the office of grand exalted lecturing knight. Harry Walter of Philadelphia and J. D. Jones of Scranton, Pa., were nominated. Detroit was selected as the place for holding the reunion in 1912.

In the annual report of Grand Exalted Ruler Holland the matter of establishing an orphanage for children of deceased Elks is submitted to the grand lodge without recommendation.

Woman is Blamed for the Tragedy

Husband of Mrs. Saylor Long Ignored Her Friendship for Dr. Miller.

WATSEKA, Ill., July 13.—That J. B. Saylor, the Crescent City banker, who was shot and killed Sunday by Dr. W. R. Miller, remained passive for the sake of his 17-year old daughter, Goldie, while talk of the alleged intimacy of his wife and Dr. Miller was rife, not only in his home town, but in other parts of the country, is asserted by the dependent's closest friends.

On this theory alone are they able to account for the country banker's unaccountable silence during the last two years, during which it is said that Dr. Miller has, with growing frequency, been Mrs. Saylor's guest at her home and her companion on long drives, rambles through the woods, and on hunting expeditions. Mr. Saylor idolized his daughter Goldie, whose luxuriant tresses suggested the name by which she is known. Two years ago she sent her to the neighboring town of Onarga to attend a seminary, in order, it is said, that she might not witness the domestic tangle which was coming into general notice.

That Dr. Miller stood in real danger of being lynched last night is asserted by Mr. Nightingale and many others. More than 100 men thronged the streets of the usually quiet village of Crescent City, trying to organize themselves for an attack on the jail here. One man with a rope was forcibly taken to his home by the cooler heads, whose counsel prevailed.

Go to Limit Area of Free Speech On City Streets

Police Board Will Try to Check Practice that is Now Causing Complaint.

Over the protest, argument and vote of Mayor Dahlman and in spite of his positive declaration that he would veto such an ordinance if it were passed, the Board of Fire and Police Commissioners at their meeting last night adopted a resolution asking the city council to pass an ordinance to keep the retail business section of the city free of the street preachers and speakers who draw crowds which, it is alleged, obstruct the streets and interfere with traffic.

The chief of police and various members of the board stated that they have received many complaints from merchants, especially on Douglas street, between Sixth and Fourteenth streets, that the speakers which collect to hear the street preachers block the sidewalks and on occasions, principally Saturday nights, render the streets almost impassable for vehicles.

The opinion was expressed that itinerant speakers should not be allowed to use the streets in the district bounded by sixteenth, Fourteenth, Capitol avenue and Howard, built was finally decided to put the matter before the city council for an ordinance which would give the police authority in the matter.

PRIMARY LAW NOT TOUCHED

In No Way Affected by Court's Ruling on Nonpartisan Statute.

ONE BALLOT WILL BE USED

Several Party Candidates Will Have Their Names in Parallel Columns on the County Ticket in August.

The decision of the supreme court holding the nonpartisan judiciary law to be unconstitutional does not affect the primary law in any way and the primary will be held under the amended law on August 17, as it would have been, the only difference being that there must be added the names of candidates for offices that would otherwise have been excluded from party nominations.

There is popular confusion of the nonpartisan judiciary law with the new primary law which changes the form of the primary ballot, and instead of having a separate primary ballot there will be but one ballot with the several party candidates in parallel columns, leaving the voter to select his party instead of declaring his party in advance.

Under the amended primary law a voter must either vote a straight republican, democrat, socialist or prohibition ticket or not vote at all, even though the primary is called "non-partisan."

Deputy County Attorney Magney places this interpretation on the law and his ruling is the same as that made by the attorney general of the state, Mr. Magney said.

"The amended primary law is not as open as it looks. It is open as far as allowing a registered republican to vote for democrats in the primary, and vice versa. But that is as far as it goes. 'Scratching' of tickets will not be allowed. The voter must vote a straight ticket and he can not vote for some republicans and some democrats, for if he does his ballot will be thrown out and not counted."

Case in Hand.

"Take for an instance a republican who has a friend running for the nomination on the democratic ticket. Under the new law he can vote for his democratic friend, even though he is a registered republican. But if he votes for his democratic friend he must vote the entire democratic ticket. If he casts one vote in the other column the entire ballot will be thrown out and not counted. The rule will work the same way, of course, with a democrat who might wish to vote for a republican."

Thirty-three candidates have so far had the temerity to file in the big primary, twenty of these being republicans and thirteen democrats. The last two to file are John A. Scott, republican, and Arthur C. Malley, democrat, for county commissioner from the First district. Saturday is the last day for filing.

Another feature of the new law boosts the framing of the platform ahead of the primary. Heretofore party platforms have been made after the primary election. The state committee will designate the appropriation and place for the platform convention, which will be the last Tuesday in July. The county committees will have to meet soon and arrange for selecting delegates to be sent to the state convention to select the new state committee and party make the platform.

(From a Staff Correspondent.)

WASHINGTON, July 13.—(Special Telegram.)—Senator Gamble has secured an increase in the cost of enlargement of public buildings at Sioux Falls, S. D., of $100,000. The secretary of the treasury had awarded the contract for the construction of public buildings at Clarinda, Ia., to the King Lumber company of Charlottesville, Va., at $47,500.

Three hundred and fifty thousand dollars was voted the Omaha water board by the city council last night, $100,000 for a fund for 1910 and $250,000 for judgments in hydrant rentals. The money was voted on the request of the board and will be raised by adding that amount to the general levy in the city.

In a communication to the council the board set out that hydrant rental judgments had been confessed in the sum of $115,367.67, $18,263.70 of this being for the second half of the year of 1904 and $17,603.88 for the first half of the year of 1906. When the Water Board was created it was given a working fund, but this has been exhausted and more money was declared by it to be a necessity. This is the first money voted by the board since the appropriation of the additional fund.

More Money for City Funds.

Another resolution passed by the council fixes the total amount to be raised by taxation for the general sinking fund purposes for the city for 1910 at $1,290,000. The sinking fund, for the payment of interest on bonded indebtedness, is the same as last year—$250,000, but the general fund is increased by $100,000. Last year the amount raised for this fund was $200,000 but the amount to be certified this week to the county authorities as needed for 1910 is $190,000. The increase is due to increases in departmental funds made by the new charter. The fund for the fire department is increased by $50,000, the police, park and street cleaning funds each by $10,000 and the public library fund by $5,000.

The levy for school purposes is yet to be made.

Official City Paper.

The Omaha Evening Bee was designated the official city paper for the ensuing year by unanimous vote of the council. Bids were submitted by two papers, but the committee to which they were referred reported that the bid of The Bee was the lowest and best and it was accepted.

The first step was taken last night in carrying out another of the mayor's recommendations in his annual message to the council. This is the providing of public comfort stations. Councilman Kugel introduced a resolution, which was passed, instructing the city engineer to investigate conditions at public stations and prepare plans for several stations of the kind desired in the downtown business district.

The city engineer's plans and specifications for the proposed viaduct over the Belt line tracks at Forty-fifth and Dodge streets were approved and an ordinance was introduced declaring the necessity of a viaduct at this location.

Creosote Block Paving.

The engineer's specifications for creosote block pavement were also approved. Councilman Bridges objected to the pavement, saying that each block would have to be broken open to ascertain if it was properly treated, but the city engineer combated this statement with a question of the councilman if he could tell whether a paving brick had been vitrified without breaking it.

Councilman Brucker's automobile ordinance regulating rates for carrying passengers and freight and fixing qualifications of chauffeurs was passed. The ordinance creating the office of assistant plumbing inspector was passed. Councilman Schroeder's bill board ordinance was referred to the city attorney.

President Burmeister introduced an ordinance requiring owners of buildings in course of construction or remodeling in the business district, where a portion of the sidewalk or street is used for material, to construct a temporary sidewalk around such material at a distance of not more than ten feet from the curb. When a building is to be raked this sidewalk must be covered so as to protect passersby from harm.

Health Commissioner Connell's ordinance providing for a milk commission to inspect all milk sold in Omaha and to certify as to its quality was introduced.

As to Master Electrician.

Councilman Kugel, at the instance of President Ford of the Central Labor union, introduced a resolution, which was passed, calling upon the city electrician to furnish information regarding the number of licenses taken out by master electricians, how many have passed examination and how many have deposited with the city bonds as required by ordinance.

A resolution was passed permitting owners of property abutting on sixteenth street between Howard and Jackson to erect and maintain light ornamental lighting posts, the increased light to be of no cost to the city.
