Noted Settlement Worker is Guest of Omaha Jewish Societies and Congregations.

Dr. David Blaustein of New York City, Elliott and all live at the same address in the eminent Jewish sociologist who is visiting Omaha, was given a reception at the home of Sol Brodkey, 545 South Twentyfifth avenue, by the representatives of Omaha Jewish societies and congregations. The guests, who numbered about seventyfive, gathered on the lawn under Chinese lanterns, and Dr. Blaustein spoke upon the importance of the settlement work among the Jewish people of New York City. He is making a tour in an effort to get the metropolitan Jews to come west, and predicted that in the next five years there would be heavy emigration out of the congested districts in the east. He was followed by Rabbi Cohn and C. S. Elgutter, after which a musical program was given. Tonight Mr. Blaustein will speak at Creighton institute on settlement

ORPHANS GIVEN OUTING BY THE KNIGHTS OF COLUMBUS

Little Folks Get Automobile Ride and a Big Day at Lake Manawa,

It was a great day for the little folks at the St. James' Orphanage. Their good friends, the Knights of Columbus, took them to Lake Manawa for a day's outing, but before the children reached the lake line interest 15,782.94 found interest 141,718.81 their pleasure began.

The knights took fourteen automobiles to the orphanage near Benson and filled them with children, with here and there a sister to look after them. They brought the total down town and whirled them around through the city for some two hours before starting for the lake. It was a gay treat. The children's happy little faces told of the joy within their souls. They had their autos bedecked with small flags, and as the procession flew through the streets, it was greeted with cheers from grown-up folk impressed by the sight. The little folks, the slaters, Knights of columbus and many of their wives, took street cars at Fourteenth and Farnam treets and went to the lake, where they did everything that could be done there
