

EDWARD HAYDEN IS DEAD

One of West's Biggest Merchants Dies of General Breakdown.

WEAK HEART TROUBLE CENTER

Born in Ireland, He Came to America and with His Brothers Worked His Way to Emment Success.

Edward Hayden of the firm of Hayden Bros. died Saturday morning. He had been critically ill with diabetes, a weak heart and a general breakdown for several weeks...

He was 61 years old and had been in business in this city for twenty-two years. He leaves a wife and two daughters, Mrs. Adolph Storr and Miss Ophele Hayden...

His father was the original merchant of the family, the four sons being taken into partnership as they became of age. It was after all four had become partners that the family moved to Chicago...

He had been the leading factor in the local business since the establishment, and was also president of the Hayden bank, now the Corn Exchange bank.

He belonged to the clubs of the city, was a life member of the Elks lodge and a Knight of Columbus, which organization will have charge of the funeral.

The funeral will take place there Monday morning at 9 o'clock under direction of the Knights of Columbus.

Interment will be in the family lot in Holy Sepulcher cemetery.

DEEP STUDENT, GENEROUS MAN

Looked to Bottom of All Matters and Gave Liberally.

Possessed of sound business sagacity, keen insight into human nature and existing conditions, a seemingly prophetic gift which enabled forecasting future conditions and preparing in advance for them...

Other members of the firm give Edward Hayden the credit for the large share of success met by the firm in this and other cities where branch houses were maintained...

Mr. Hayden, a devout Catholic, was especially interested in the Home of the Good Shepherd and gave upward of $20,000 to that institution.

One of Edward Hayden's closest friends in Omaha is Prof. C. F. Crowley, city chemist, and he says that the leading desire of Mr. Hayden seemed to be to set a good example to his children and to instill in them a spirit of philanthropy.

Jack Johnson Gets a Licking Hotel Champion is Walloped by the Night Clerk in Red Jeffries Style.

The Millard hotel has—rather had—its Jack Johnson. His name is William White and he stands six feet in his stocking feet, weighing 185 pounds.

Until Friday night, though, nobody knew that White was Jack Johnson. That evening he stepped into the ring with August Kraaka, night clerk at the Millard, and made him look like Tommy Burns for one minute.

HOPPER WILL CASE ENDED Judge Kennedy Affirms Ruling of County Court with Respect to Deeds of Testator.

The decision of Judge Leslie on the Hopper will case, which he declared that the deeds which William Hopper attached to his will were properly a part of it, has been confirmed by Judge Kennedy in the district court and the will is admitted to probate under that condition.

According to G. H. Gher of Hlawatha, Kan., college students make the best men for work on the farms during the summer months that the Kansas farmer can get. Mr. Gher owns a large farm in that state, and has considerable experience with student help.

Some from the City. There are 'Arny and 'Arriots, with arms always locked, stopping at the invitation of 'a penny drink' in front of a fruit stand, or lurching from the top of a wagon piled with fried butterfish.

There is a young city man who sets a pace for smart dressing which hundreds of others apparently try to emulate with varying success. He has champagne colored shoes and his rolled up trousers show mauve socks, his shirt with broad mauve stripes is not concealed entirely by the green tie and forms a pleasing contrast to the huge red rose in his buttonhole.
