Selections from the Story Teller's Pack

The Middle Splash. "It is impossible," said Senator Aldrich of a socialistic proposition. He laughed. "In its impossibility," he went on, "it reminds me of Joe Jobson's middle splash."

Ramey county, Minnesota, recently celebrated his golden wedding anniversary, and on the evening preceding he was tendered a banquet by the Ramey County Bar association, which was also attended by the other members of the district bench, the justices of the supreme court, Governor Johnson and higher state officials.

"So many things in the home," he said, "insets a man to—let off steam. There's opening cans, for instance—opening these new-fangled cans with patent openers that are always getting lost."

"What are you opening that can with, dear?" "The can opener, of course," he replied. "Oh," said she, "I thought you were opening it with prayer!"—Detroit Free Press.

"You will admit that doctors sometimes make mistakes, won't you?" "Oh, yes; the same as lawyers," was the cool reply. "And doctors' mistakes are buried six feet under ground," was the lawyer's triumphant reply.

The carelessness of the handlers of ice, their utter disregard of the resting place where it may receive infection, may be partly due to their lack of realization that ice is a food, as real a food as meat. Whatever the cause, few substances which pass through the digestive processes of man receive such treatment. Its surface contaminated by the passage of men and horses in the cutting, its sides and base fouled by muddled platforms and smeared straw, covered with the filth of black ice cars and dust-swept freight stations, your cake of ice resolves its only cleaning just before it enters the ice chest. So far as the ice man is concerned, this is generally a hasty brush with a time-worn whisk-broom well filled with the dust of the street and blackened with constant use. According to the personal testimony of various ice men, not even the precaution of a momentary washing beneath the faucet is ordinarily taken.

"What that name do you give this child?" "Peter Ananias Johnson." "Ananias? I refuse to christen the child in that name. Do you know who Ananias was?" "I don't know who he was; and what's more I don't care."

"Now, perhaps that may not be so," said the judge. "Why do you think so?" "Because," said Mrs. Kelley. "And," added the judge, "on reading the opinion of the supreme court reversing me, I found they had Mrs. Kelley's reasoning."—Minneapolis Journal.
