

JEWELERS FLOCK TO OMAHA

Retailers and Wholesalers Come to the Annual Convention. ALL BIG WATCH FIRMS HERE

Delegates Get to Talking Politic on Their Arrival and Archibald is Boosted for Re-Election as President.

Retail jewellers, wholesale jewelers, presidents and vice presidents of watch companies and officials of other manufacturing companies in the trade all poured into Omaha Monday to attend the fourth annual convention of the American National Retail Jewellers' Association.

In every respect the convention has already proved to be the largest in the history of the organization and the number in attendance will reach the 1,000 mark.

All the officers of the association, including President J. P. Archibald of Blairsville, Pa., are already on the ground, except R. C. Bernard, the official treasurer, who will not be present, for he is traveling in Germany.

Delegates began to talk politics as soon as they arrived and lines were drawn for a lively contest for the presidency.

Many Firms Represented. There are nearly 250 firms already exhibiting wares in the rooms, which is the official headquarters of the convention.

The convention has attracted the president or vice president of every big watch company in the United States, the Waltham, Howard, South Bend, Ingersoll, Rockford, Elgin, Hamilton, Appleton, Dueser and Bannantine companies being represented.

There are, too, agents of chain companies by the dozen and representatives of fine china and other wares. All of these were busy Monday laying out their samples.

The preliminary arrangements have been carried out here in Omaha with great success, said President Archibald.

The local committee in preparing for the 2,000 display that will be made in the hotel dining room to invited guests Thursday evening, has carried out a scheme of gold and silver decoration for the booths, which will harmonize with the metals and gems that will be in the cases.
