

JIMS SIGHT PERIL AHEAD

Go to Extreme of Endorsing Slate, Something New for Them.

REALIZE DANGER OF DEFEAT

Avoid to Trust Rank and File of Democracy to Pick the Men for Fall Election at the Primaries.

Realizing the seriousness of the situation and fearing that the nomination might go to men weaker than others, the Jimocrats have overstepped a rule enforced since the club was organized and have endorsed county candidates.

This has never been done before, except in the case of the mayor. The club has always endorsed Mayor Dahman, for Mayor Dahman owns the club. But in the city campaign of 1908, the county campaign of the fall of 1908, 1907 and 1908, and the city campaign last spring the Jimocrats steadfastly refused to endorse a single candidate, though many of the candidates were members of the Jim club.

The primary election to be held next week the democrats have put up opposing candidates for only three offices—county commissioner from the First district, county judge and police judge for Omaha.

Candidates for two of these offices have been endorsed by the Jim club to the exclusion of the other candidates, heretofore supposed to be as good democrats as those who have been endorsed. Fred W. Anheuser has been endorsed for police judge and George Mertens for county judge.

Anheuser for Police Judge. "Our club has endorsed Anheuser for police judge believing him to be the best man," said Mayor Dahman, "and Mertens has also been endorsed by us for county judge as being without a doubt the strongest candidate in the field."

Anheuser is opposed by W. S. Shoemaker, a member of the last legislature, and by Frank Christian, Shoemaker's record at Lincoln did not stand him in good stead with the Jim and Christian was never considered by them.

But the endorsement of Mertens for county judge against George Holmes was a surprise. Holmes was the first secretary of the Jim club, was secretary of the democratic county committee last year and has for years had an office with John E. Reagan, the new democratic county chairman, elected in the place of Boss Flynn, and L. J. Platt, Mertens, on the other hand, is a new man in the city and county.

None of the candidates for county commissioner affiliates with the Jims and therefore they have not tumbled over themselves to offer any endorsements there.

Hutton Company Sues Anderson for Lost Money

Loan Agents Accuse Their Manager of Appropriating Five Hundred Dollars.

Andrew C. Anderson, manager for J. A. Hutton Loan company, who filed suit against The Bee for $10,000 for publishing the story of how he claimed to have been robbed of $500, has been sued by Hutton for this $500.

Anderson was manager of the J. A. Hutton Loan company in the Faxon block and was found one day in July after what he asserted was an attack by robbers. Five hundred dollars was missing from the safe and Anderson reported to the detectives how he had been assaulted and gagged while the office was rifled. The detectives failed to find any evidence of theft and when that fact was printed in The Bee together with the statement that the alleged robbery occurred just before an examining auditor of the company was to complete his work on Anderson's books, Anderson brought a suit against The Bee for $10,000, alleging that the published articles damaged his character.

A suit was filed in county court Thursday by the J. A. Hutton company against Anderson for the $500 in question which directly accuses him of appropriating the money.

Receiver May Sue Stockholders

Dickinson Given Leave to Bring Action Against Owners of Defunct Railroad.

C. T. Dickinson, receiver for the defunct Nebraska Central railroad, has received permission from the court to bring suit against the stockholders for the liabilities of the company. H. H. Bowers, attorney for Judge Dickinson made application on the grounds that the stockholders are constitutionally liable for a proportionate share of the company's debts and will bring suit immediately to recover in this manner. The liabilities of the company amount to about $200 and its assets from the recent sale of all its property, tangible and imaginary, were $216.

E. STUHT ANSWERS CHARGE

Not Arrested, but Alleged to Have Violated a City Building Ordinance.

The case against Ernest Stuhrt for alleged violation of the city building ordinance was continued to permit the contractor in charge of the work complained against to appear in police court. Mr. Stuhrt appeared to answer the alleged complaint, which charged him with illegal construction of a chimney. He was not arrested, as was originally stated.

do not wait until liquor has broken down your health, brought you to financial ruin, driven away your friends, destroyed your usefulness, broken up your home, lost you the love and respect of your family, destroyed your own self-respect and right now and think the matter over. Call to mind the men who ten or twenty years ago were known as moderate drinkers. How many of them can be considered so today? How many of them are worthless outcasts? How many are in State Prisons? How many have gone to their last resting place as a result of drink? Realize where drink is leading you and see if you cannot make up your mind that it is best to quit it at once. If you find that difficult, if you feel nervous and depressed, if everything in this world is wrong, if you enjoy little or no restful sleep, have a poor and capricious appetite, and find life without the accustomed stimulant is a burden and devoid of comfort and pleasure; that you at times need and must have a drink to overcome these terrible symptoms, you may understand that you are diseased. You have used alcoholic liquor until alcohol has become a necessity to you. Your nerve cells will no longer perform their functions properly and patiently except when under its influence; they therefore demand alcohol and you experience a feeling of necessity for it. The cause of these symptoms is readily overcome and the craving or appetite for liquor destroyed by the Keeley Treatment. This is conclusively proved by thirty years' experience and the cure of thousands. Write now for full particulars. The only place in Omaha or vicinity where the true Keeley Treatment is employed is
