publishing bulletins describing the best practice of the sections already highly developed, and giving plain directions as to how to perform every operation connected with the use of water in irrigation. In addition, our field men devote as much time as possible to giving advice and public talks along these lines. Just now more of our energy is being devoted to the needs of the new settler than to any other line of work.

"Taking the country as a whole, however, and looking at the arid region from a national standpoint, economy in water is more important. The highest estimate of the area which can be served by the available water supply is about 10 per cent of the total area, while the more conservative students of the arid region place it at 5 per cent. All admit that the water supply is the limiting factor in the development of the west. It follows then that every reduction in the quantity used upon a given area makes possible a corresponding increase in the area which can be reclaimed. The quantity of water actually used by plants in the processes of growth is very small as compared with the quantities diverted from streams for use in irrigation, and it may be possible to decrease this quantity by breeding drouth resistant crops, but this does not offer a very large opportunity for saving on account of the small quantity required by any plants. But in order that plants may secure their supply it is necessary to keep in the soil considerably larger quantities of moisture which must be held there against losses by evaporation and percolation. And in order that this amount may be supplied to the soil much larger quantities must be diverted from streams to supply evaporation and seepage losses in transit. Many farmers use much more water than is necessary through mistaken ideas as to the quantities required, while careless and wasteful use is responsible for much loss.

Sources of Waste.

"Seepage, evaporation, excessive use and waste are the great sources of loss, and while this loss is regrettable, there is hope in the fact that most of it is preventable. It will never be possible to limit use to the quantity consumed by growing crops, but experiments and the experience of farmers in regions where water is scarce and high priced have shown that by improved methods of applying water and by intensive cultivation after irrigation the larger part of evaporation can be eliminated; that by careful study of his soil and subsoil conditions, the farmer can apply water in such quantities and at such intervals of time that little will be lost by percolation beyond the reach of plant roots.

"Seepage losses from ditches can be eliminated, but not always within the limits of cost allowed by the value of the crops grown; but they can be checked to a large extent without prohibitive expense. Excessive use under the belief of necessity can be stopped by demonstrating that equally large crops can be grown with less water, while wasteful use must be stopped by such changes in our laws and ditch regulations as will make the cost of water to the farmer depend more largely upon the quantity used. All these things we are trying to bring about, in the belief that in no other way can so much be done to extend the agricultural development of the arid regions.

"As the value of water for use in irrigation increases, increased expenditures for developing water will be justified, but a large part of the losses mentioned can be saved with little or no expense. Estimates of the possible saving vary, but it seems conservative to place it at one-half the water now diverted from streams, making possible a doubling of the irrigated area.

Power in Irrigation.

"Our work along the third line—the use of power in irrigation—relates primarily to pumping. In this field, as in the others, we are working along two lines: Studies of present practice and the supplying of practical information, and technical studies for the purpose of working out improvements in pumping machinery.

Three More Charges Against Victor.

ABERDEEN, S. D., Aug. 12.—(Special.)—Yesterday afternoon Emil Victor was arraigned on three additional murder charges. The charge to which he pleaded not guilty August 10 was for the murder of Mrs. J. W. Christie. State's Attorney Van Slyke has made of each killing a separate offense, and he was arraigned yesterday on the charges of having murdered J. W. Christie, Mildred Christie and Michael Ronayne. To each charge he was given until August 24 to plead.

Four prisoners who pleaded guilty, two to grand larceny and two to assault with a dangerous weapon, were each given six months in the state penitentiary at Sioux Falls by Judge McNulty. They were H. Bryant, John Oster, William Van Dike and David McDonald. The Brown county jail is now completely filled up and the men will probably be taken to the state prison soon to relieve the congestion.

Hot Weather Does Not Affect Sales

Benson and Thorne Company's Half Price Removal Sale Still a Household Topic.

A "bargain" is a "bargain" in torrid as well as temperate weather—genuine reductions of "HALF" will fill a store at any time, irrespective of clime or temperature.

The "Half Off Removal Sale" now in force at The Benson and Thorne company's establishment at 1515-1517 Douglas street, shows no signs of abatement—nor will it until lines have sold down to scattering ends.

Lines such as small women's, girls' and misses' suits and dresses, babes' attire necessities, and boys' and young men's clothing, have sold in exceedingly large quantities, yet, the $100,000 stock was so large in the first place, that there still remains a fair showing of sizes and styles to select from.

The days that will elapse before this concern's removal to the quarters formerly occupied by "Balduff" at 1515-1520 Farnam street can now be numbered on one's two hands—if you've a need for something "seasonable" then look into this selling QUICKLY. There will be no more such values in Omaha when once this selling is a thing of the past.

Place these reductions within memory's easy grasp—"HALF" off on all seasonable lines of attire, etc., and strenuous reductions on misses' and boys' and youths' shoes.

Remember EVERY day counts now.

THAW GOES BACK TO MATTEAWAN

Judge Mills' opinion, in the opinion of lawyers here, is one which declares that Thaw's "delusion had become fixed and established prior to the time of his marriage."

It is pointed ou that this sentence may, if desired, prove grounds for proceedings by Mrs. Evelyn Thaw for the annulment of her marriage.

Thaw was visited late today by his attorney, Charles Morschauser, and by his mother and his sister Alice, the former countess of Yarmouth. Both he and his sister seemed anxious to shield the mother as much as possible. Thaw himself gave the first news of the decision to his mother's companion over the telephone, directing that it be broken to her as gently as possible.

Statement by Mrs. Thaw.

Late tonight Mrs. Thaw, after talking over the situation with her son, wrote out the following statement for the Associated Press:

"Let no one imagine for a moment on reading this opinion of Judge Mills that it means a victory for the district attorney of the county of New York.

"One by one the delusions with which he and his alienists started out were proven, each by the mouths of several witnesses, to be stubborn facts, that would not down at his bidding.

"Every prop has been taken from under that arrogant, vindictive persecutor of a sane, acquitted man.

"So baffled was he that when he rose to make his closing speech (for argument it was not) he had more the appearance of a school boy compelled to say a piece than the sometimes courageous, mature sophist who dominates the courts of his own judicial district, except when wealthy malefactors are under trial.

"It is impossible to fathom the workings of the human mind, and so the reason for this totally unexpected and cruel decision of the trial judge must remain a mystery.

"Meanwhile, my son, my daughter and I have no alternative but to take up again the burden I had every reason to believe was behind us forever. We, exiled from our two homes and our regular flow of life, will remain close to the gate and so help the son and brother to endure an existence which if perpetual would be far worse than death itself, trusting in God's overruling providence in His own good time to vindicate the right.

"MARY COPLEY THAW."

THAW GIVES OUT STATEMENT

Denies He Still Holds Delusions Concerning White.

WHITE PLAINS, N. Y., Aug. 12.—Harry K. Thaw received the news today of the failure of his second attempt to obtain discharge from Matteawan with slight display of emotion. His manner indicated that he had expected an adverse decision. The information was brought him first in his cell in the local jail by the Associated Press representative.

"Have you heard Justice Mills' decision?" he was asked.

"No," said Thaw, without moving from his chair.

A copy of the court's opinion was handed to him. He read it rapidly and without comment until he came to the following sentence: "If those beliefs constituted delusions in his mind when he committed the homicide they are the same now."

"That's not so," he said, and marked the lines with his pencil.

Thaw was smoking a pipe when he got the news and as he read he puffed faster and faster until the air about him was a cloud of smoke. In no other way did he show any perturbation.

As to his future plans he referred questioners to his attorney.

This afternoon a statement from Thaw came indirectly from the jail physician, Dr. William J. Meyers, who testified at the hearing that Thaw was sane. Thaw told him, Dr. Meyers said, that while he was disappointed by Justice Mills' decision he had no intention of giving up the fight. "I am determined to make my final effort to get a trial by jury," said Thaw. "Many things have been done in this case that would not have been done and much has been left undone. But I have been in the hands of my counsel throughout.

"I am more sorry for my mother than for anybody else," Thaw continued. "When I first got the news of Justice Mills' decision I called my sister, Alice, on the telephone and asked her to give my mother the news, but to soften the shock of it as much as possible."

Dr. Meyers said Thaw was taking the decision calmly and seemed in no danger of a breakdown.

RIOTING AT FORT WILLIAM

Twenty-Four Men Injured in Clash Between Strikers and Constables.

CITY UNDER MARTIAL LAW

Fight Said to Have Been Started by Shot Fired by Special Officer After Leaders Had Agreed on Terms.

FORT WILLIAM, Ont., Aug. 12.—Fort William for the first time in its history is under martial law. A thousand dock laborers, principally Greeks, Hungarians and Italians who have been on a strike for a week, enraged by the arrival of the special Canadian Pacific police from Winnipeg, were incited to riot and 200 of them engaged in a fight with the police today around the Canadian Pacific freight sheds on McTavish street. Twenty-four men were injured, three fatally, including Chief Ball of the railway company's local force and two Greeks. Chief Ball was shot in the stomach.

Five of the wounded are Canadian Pacific special policemen, three are Greeks, one is a Times-Journal reporter. Others are Sergeant Taylor of the city police force and John Lane, a butcher. A leg of Constable Carpenter of the Canadian Pacific force was shattered. The Ninth regiment of militia was called out this afternoon after Mayor Pelletier had read the riot call.

The strikers have twenty-five railway constables penned up in the Canadian Pacific railroad bunk house. For an hour this afternoon shots followed each other in quick succession. The strikers after driving the constables into the bunk house fired into the windows and were preparing to storm the house when Police Chief Dodd, backed by Sergeant Taylor and the city police force, prevailed on them to stay away. The strikers retreated back to McTavish street, but further they refused to budge and continued to keep up an intermittent fire under the eyes of the police officials. The strikers threatened tonight to burn the Canadian Pacific mammoth grain elevators. Saloons have been closed by order of the mayor.

Soldiers are guarding the district under the command of Colonel Steele, head of the Canadian permanent force in western Canada. The permanent force in Winnipeg will arrive by special train early in the morning. The city police department is unable to cope with the situation. It was impossible to control either the imported Canadian Pacific constables or the dock strikers. The men seemed to have a thirst for blood and they shot in any direction, regardless of friends and foes. Whether the first shot today was fired by the strikers or the Canadian Pacific constables is not positively known, but it is believed it was fired by one of the imported constables, thirty of whom arrived from Winnipeg and were sworn in as constables. It was evident the constables disobeyed orders of their chief. The sight of the constables seemed to rouse the strikers to a frenzy. As the constables marched through the company yards, shotguns, rifles and scores of revolvers were seen in hands of strikers.

At the city hall the mayor had done what he could to arrange peace. The Canadian Pacific officials had agreed to grant the demands of the men and put them to work under an increased scale. Chief Andrews of the constables was telephoning to his men to stay in the boarding house and not to incite the strikers, pending a confirmation of the report that the company had yielded, when the first shot rang out. An agreement had just been reached at the city hall when the report was telephoned that rioting was in progress. The railroad officials then notified the mayor that they would fight the strike to a finish.

ON FOOD

The Right Foundation of Health.

Proper food is the foundation of health. People can eat improper food for a time until there is a sudden collapse of the digestive organs, then all kinds of trouble follows.

The proper way out of the difficulty is to shift to the pure, scientific food, Grape-Nuts, for it rebuilds from the foundation up. A New Hampshire woman says:

"Last summer I was suddenly taken with indigestion and severe stomach trouble and could not eat food without great pain. My stomach was so sore I could hardly move about. This kept up until I was so miserable life was not worth living.

"Then a friend finally, after much argument, induced me to to quit my former diet and try Grape-Nuts.

"Although I had but little faith I commenced to use it and great was my surprise to find that I could eat it without the usual pain and distress in my stomach.

"So I kept on using Grape-Nuts and soon a marked improvement was shown for my stomach was performing its regular work in a normal way without pain or distress.

"Very soon the yellow coating disappeared from my tongue, the dull, heavy feeling in my head disappeared and my mind felt light and clear; the languid, tired feeling left, and altogether I felt as if I had been rebuilt. Strength and weight came back rapidly and I went back to my work with renewed ambition.

"Today I am a new woman in mind as well as body and I owe it all to this natural food, Grape-Nuts." "There's a Reason."

Arguments in Sutton Inquiry

Expert, After Seeing Illustration by Adams, Says Man Could Not Have Shot Himself.

ANNAPOLIS, Aug. 12.—After an investigation extending over a period of more than three weeks the naval inquiry into the death of Lieutenant James N. Sutton, U. S. M. C., in 1907, finished the taking of testimony today. Tomorrow will be given over to the summing up and it is stated by counsel that the arguments would be completed tomorrow.

The court will then prepare its report and forward it to the Navy department, as required by the precept.

In the closing hours today Major Leonard, judge advocate, furnished a surprise when he stated that he would have no opening address to make in behalf of the government unless something might be said by the attorneys or other parties to the investigation that would require explanation or reply. Commander Hood, president of the board, said tonight that he did not think the court would consume much time in arriving at its conclusions.

The cross-examination of Dr. E. M. Shaeffer of Washington, D. C., called as an expert in gunshot wounds, was finished this morning.

Hypothetical questions figured largely in his examination by Mr. Birney, counsel to Lieutenant Adams, and, although Adams was again called upon to illustrate the movements of Sutton as he lay prostrate on the ground on the fatal night, Dr. Shaeffer's conclusion was that under the conditions given, Lieutenant Sutton could not have shot himself.

Printers Stand by Officials

Attempt to Take Los Angeles Fight Out of Their Hands Fails by Overwhelming Vote.

ST. JOSEPH, Mo., Aug. 12.—Union conditions in Los Angeles were discussed for four hours today at the fifty-fifth convention of the International Typographical union convention. An effort by the local union in Los Angeles to take up the fight against the Los Angeles Times, instead of leaving it to the international executive council, was defeated by a vote of 186 to 8. President Lynch made a speech against the proposed change.

The mortuary benefit committee reported a plan for benefits varying from $75 for first year members to $400 for members of fifteen years' standing and over. To raise funds for this it is proposed to tax the earnings of the members one-half of 1 per cent. This report will be made a special order of business tomorrow afternoon.

The last social feature of the convention was the reception given to the visitors tonight at Krug park by local union No. 40, in celebration of its golden jubilee.

Minneapolis was selected by the International Typographical union convention today as its meeting place next year.

A strong fight for the 1910 gathering was made by Salt Lake City and Atlanta and the ballot resulted: Minneapolis, 129; Salt Lake City, 16; Atlanta, 89.

SCALE FOR CHICAGO CARMEN

the furniture and household effects, but the company, it is said, refused.

"Then I will not allow my deputies to carry out another piece of furniture," declared the sheriff. He then turned over to the superintendent of the car plant possession of the houses.

Man Killed at Schoenville.

More rioting, during which a foreigner was shot and killed, caused intense excitement in the Schoenvill strike zone today. "Major" Smith, a negro, said to be employed at the car plant as a strike breaker, shot and killed Steven Horvat, one of the striking workmen. Smith, it is said, was attacked by several foreigners and declares that he shot in self-defense. The negro is held at the county jail on a charge of murder. Witnesses to the shooting declard Smith only fired when his ilife was endangered and while laying on his back on the ground.

PLEADS GUILTY AND APPEALS

properly phrased and limited as an amendment is followed by three new contentions. It is asserted that it is unconstitutional because it inflicts "cruel and unusual punishments"; because it "denies the right of appeal," and because it "deprives the fire and police board of discretionary powers already granted."

The case was assigned to the docket of Judge Redick. As he is in Europe the hearing may be before Judge Troup, if held this week, as he has been hearing Judge Redick's cases. As court is expected to adjourn within a week the case will more likely go over until the October term and then it will come before Judge Redick.

INCREASE IN ASSESSMENT

Railroad Property, as Well as that of Individuals, is Boosted.

CHEYENNE, Wyo., Aug. 12.—(Special.)—The State Board of Equalization has completed its labors. For many years citizens have complained that they were taxed heavily while the railroads and others were permitted to escape with light assessments. This year the state authorities set out to double the valuations on the property of individuals, or fix the values as close to the actual values as possible. Citizens everywhere objected, but consented to pay taxes on the valuations fixed, provided the assessment of railroad, telephone and telegraph was placed at the true value of the properties.

While the State Board of Equalization has probably not fixed the actual value of railroad property in some instances, the increases over the valuations of past years are such that in all probability the people will be satisfied. In some instances the value of railroad property has been doubled while in others it has been trebled.

The total assessed valuation of all property in the state last year was approximately $65,000,000, while this year the total will exceed $200,000,000, a gain of approximately 235 per cent.

HYMENEAL.

Everett-Barber.

LYONS, Neb., Aug. 12.—(Special.)—At the home of B. W. Everett on August 10, at 8 o'clock p. m., Rev. Junkin of Bancroft officiating, John Everett and Miss Lelia Barber were married. The groom was born and raised at this place and the bride at Bancroft, both belonging to families who are well known pioneers of this part of Nebraska. The ceremony took place in the open air on the front porch of the Everett mansion and was witnessed by a very large host of friends. The young couple will make their home in the western part of South Dakota, where each of them has a homestead, which they filed on several months ago.

Our Ginger Root Comes From Jamaica

Just because ginger ale is imported doesn't mean that it's the best on the market.

We go to Jamaica for our ginger root.

We make the extract in our own factory. So we know it's exactly right. We could use pepper or buy cheap extracts at an enormous saving.

But the ale would lack the flavor of Hydrox.

No imported ginger ale that we know is more expensively made. We couldn't make better ginger ale if we doubled the price to you.

There are many imported ginger ales that were never so good as sparkling Hydrox. You pay a duty on them all and often the brand is inferior.

Hydrox GINGER ALE

Compare Hydrox With Imported Brands

There'll be no doubt about this if you'll compare several brands with Hydrox. Put them all to the test of comparison. Then drink, after that, the ginger ale you like best.

Compare the color, the sparkle, the flavor, the "life" and the smoothness. See which excels. We'll gladly abide by your verdict.

Hydrox's Enticing Flavor

The flavor is the result of a perfect blend from extract of ginger root, fruits, flowers and the sugar.

We make the extracts from the fruits themselves. We buy the most luscious fruits on the market.

Cheap extracts from green and over ripe fruits can be bought for less than it costs to make ours.

We use the best table sugar when we might use saccharine. We use 25 pounds of sugar to do what one ounce of saccharine does.

But sugar is 97% nutriment. It produces more energy than wheat. We even make our own carbonic acid gas. That's where the ale gets its sparkle. We make it from bi-carbonate of soda. This gas stimulates bowel action naturally—just as natural exercise does.

Our water is double distilled and aerated. This water is an excellent solvent.

We Age Our Ginger Ale Six Months

Sparkling Hydrox Ginger Ale is aged for six months in the bottles just as the "importeds" are.

The result is a blend of such smoothness that you'd wonder how we obtain it if you didn't know.

Each bottle is twice inspected before and after filling.

We carry purity to the extreme.

Even the carrying pipes in our factory are made from a special metal and have expensive lock joints instead of the usual soldered joints.

Judge by the Facts

Judge by these facts, as we told them, if you want to try sparkling Hydrox Ginger Ale, Decide if you want to pay higher prices for the imported brands.

Get your first bottle today at any dealer's named below. Then order a case for the home.

Sold only in quart and pint bottles.

IOWA DAY AT SEATTLE SHOW

Speeches, Basket Picnic and Ball Features of Hawkeye Celebration.

SEATTLE, Wash., Aug. 12.—Iowa day at the Alaska-Yukon-Pacific exposition was celebrated with speeches, a basket picnic, reception and ball. Seattle alone has 25,000 former Iowans among its citizens and there are Iowa societies in Spokane, Tacoma, Wenatchee, North Yakima, Everett, Ellensburg and Seattle. At noon residents and former residents of Iowa assembled under different Iowa county banners at the picnic grounds on the lake shore and there registered. Exercises at the Auditorium were held in the afternoon. An Iowa reception also was held in the Washington state building and the festivities closed with a ball in the Washington building.

Another Clue to Viviano Children

Additional Information Indicates that Boy and Girl Are in Chicago.

CHICAGO, Aug. 12.—New energy was given the police here today in the search for the Viviano children of St. Louis, who were kidnaped a week ago and are thought to be kept in hiding in this city. A traveling salesman visited the detective bureau and identified the pictures of the children as those of a boy and girl he had seen on a Wabash train coming from St. Louis August 4 in company with an Italian. This is confirmatory of the identification of the pictures made by the conductor and porter of the train.

The salesman, who made it a condition that his name be kept secret, noticed the children particularly, he said. The man scolded them and slapped them and they appeared too frightened to talk. The children's guardian asked two other passengers concerning a certain Italian district in Chicago. He wanted to know how he could get there from a suburban station. He inquired about a certain car line.

Captain O'Brien will send a number of his best Italian detectives into the district mentioned in the morning and he has strong hopes of finding the children.
