Wheat Again Weak, Support Lacking on Favorable Harvesting. HEAVY MOVEMENT EXPECTED...

Wheat was weak again today, lacking support as conditions in the spring wheat crop are favorable for harvesting and a heavy movement is expected early next week.

There is nothing material to advance prices on except the congestion in the September option and this is speculative. Corn was firm on general buying supported by continued dry weather reports.

Wheat was slow and somewhat lower, with bearish pressure predominating. A large movement of spring wheat is expected for next week and this feature on this outlook. Harvesting is progressing under favorable conditions in the northwest.

Corn was steady to higher on general support on dry weather prevailing in the corn belt. Some of the best material damaged by drought as yet, however, the market has a strong tone and advancing.

Primary corn receipts were 66,000 bu. and shipments were 23,000 bu., against receipts last year of 76,000 bu. and shipments of 29,000 bu.
