AFFAIRS AT SOUTH OMAHA

Council Fixes the Tax Levy for the Ensuing Year.

MIXUP OVER THE PAVING BIDS

second Effort of Police to Convict Saloon Keeper Fails, Police Judge Holding Evidence is Conflicting.

The city council held a special meeting Puesday at 11 a. m. for the purpose of passing the general levy ordinance, which had been before the council for the first and second reading. It is necessary to pass the levy ordinance before August 25. The funds raised by this levy are now available to the extent of 90 per cent of the levy. The rate of taxation is 3 mills One of the special levy ordinances to pay the cost of sidewalks was passed. An ordinance was also passed creating a grading district for the grading of S street from Thirtleth to Thirty-second. The city clerk and the mayor had considerable discussion of the method of proceeding with the tabulation of the bids for the paving contracts, which were received Monday night. The clerk refused to allow the bids out of his hands until he had journalized them and made a complete record. The council desired that the city engineer tabulate the bids and carry out the extensions. The result of the discussion was that the bids remained as they were and will probably not be journalized for several days.

Saloon Case Dismissed. The charge of selling liquor after 8 p. m against Emil Tutsch was dismissed in police court yesterday by Judge Callanan on the ground that the testimony was conflicting and insufficient. Captain Powers testified that twenty or thirty men were in the saloon, and that he saw the proprictor draw beer and sell it to these ustomers after 8 p. m. Officer Gillin testified to seeing the in in the saloon and to the hour of the detection, but did not see the liquor sold. On the part of the defense, Emil Tutsch testified that his beer pump broke and that the men were waiting for beer. He said he could not fix it readily and the time passed the hour of closing before he knew t. He said the arrest was made at seven minutes after 8 p. m., while the officers testified that it was twenty-seven minutes after 8 p. m.

"Tungsten Lamp"

It looks like an ordinary electric incandescent, but it is nearly three times as brilliant. The wire filament inside the bulb is made of Tungsten metal, capable of radiating much more light and less heat than the ordinary carbon filament.

Housewives should try the G E Tungsten 40 watt lamp instead of the 50 watt carbon lamp now in general use. Costs one-fifth less for electricity and gives just twice as much light.
