AFFAIRS AT SOUTH OMAHA

Fire and Police Commission Preparing to Buy New Fire Apparatus.

RECOMMENDATIONS BY CHIEF

Depositions to Be Taken in Case Arising Out of Construction of the Cells in the New City Jail.

The time has arrived for the Board of Fire and Police commissioners of South Omaha to make recommendations to the city council regarding an extensive increase in the city's fire equipment. The last legislature provided for an issue of $25,000 bonds for the erection of a fourth fire hall, and for the purchase of the necessary hose trucks and a hook and ladder truck as equipment, and also a modern fire engine for fire stations.

The chief of the fire department, Dave Garratt, has prepared a report which will be turned in at the next meeting of the board. He states that he attended the national fire chiefs' convention at Grand Rapids, Mich., and while there made a special study of fire apparatus with the view of securing the best for the city of South Omaha. All classes of apparatus were on exhibition and were given a rigid test before the members of the convention.

From a score or more of good types Mr. Garratt decided to recommend a Scott engine and a Seagrave hook and ladder truck. These pieces of apparatus he will ask the board to recommend to the city council for purchase.

As to the location of the new fire hall the chief recommended that it be established as near to E or P streets as possible and between Twenty-seventh and Twenty-ninth street. The northern section of the city has long been complaining of the lack of proper fire protection. The nearest station is situated at Twenty-fifth and L streets, which is considered much too far for safety. The board will probably take up this matter as soon as possible so that the new fire hall may be built this year.

The chief expresses satisfaction in the fact that the fire losses during the entire year have been slight compared with other recent years. The largest loss was the Peter's Alfalfa Food Products mills at Twenty-ninth and B streets. The other fire of importance was the old wooden structure of the Omaha Packing plant. Aside from these two fires have been of little consequence. In this respect the city has been more fortunate than ready considering the lack of fire-fighting apparatus.

Deposition in Cell Case.
W. C. Lambert left last evening for Canton, O., for the purpose of taking depositions in the suit which the Champion Iron company has against the city of South Omaha for the cell work of the city jail. After the city had contracted for the work and had the cells in position, payment was refused on the ground that the company had not erected the cells according to specifications and plans. It was found that a five-ply plate enclosed all the cells, rendering them dark and ill ventilated. It required a new contract to have the grates placed in the panels of the steel plates. Then it was further claimed that the supposed five-ply plate was only three-ply. The Champion Iron company maintained that they had followed the plans and specifications completely and had in addition called attention to the dark cells and asked a change of plans to remedy the fault, but were refused by the architect. On these points has arisen the difference and the pending suit. Mr. Lambert expects to be gone a week or more.

Elopers Are Held Up.
Barely more than 16, Carrie Kane, a girl whose home is a short distance southwest of Fort Crook, spent the first night of her pre-honeymoon in jail. She and her would-be hubby, John Otten, were intercepted last night in South Omaha by the police of that city. The couple admit that they left their homes to get married without the knowledge of their parents. They intended to have the ceremony performed this morning, they said.

A head of curly red hair and a necklace of twenty large rattles from rattlesnakes, proved to be the undoing of the elopement plans. E. T. Miller, at whose hotel, Twenty-sixth and O streets, Otten and Miss Kane stopped, notified the police of the circumstances after he had been prompted by Carrie's appearance and unsophisticated manner to question her.

"She seemed so different from city girls that I asked her where she came from and if she was Otten's wife," says Miller. "Then she explained that they intended to get the license Saturday and be married at once."

Otten is held as a suspicious character by the police, pending the arrival of relatives of the pair. He is over 21 years of age. The girl is merely being cared for at the police station, without being held as a prisoner. They state that their parents will come to South Omaha this morning and give their consent to the match, in which event the police will refrain from further holding up Dan Cupid.

Sunday Services.
Most of the Protestant church of the city will resume the Sunday evening services September 12, these services having been omitted during the hot summer months.

Dr. R. L. Wheeler's Sunday morning topic is the "Diet of Christ." The evening theme is "Paul in the House of Philip." These services will be held at Rushing's hall.

Rev. J. M. Bothwell will conduct the regular morning and evening services at the First Methodist church.

Rev. F. T. Ray announces the regular services of the First Christian church.

Rev. D. A. W. Johnson will preach at the United Presbyterian church Sunday morning and evening. At the former service his topic is "Conscience." The evening topic is "The Rock of Ages."

"The Fate of the Unfruitful" is Rev. George Van Winkle's morning topic. The evening service is evangelistic.

St. Martin's church will hold services Sunday at 8 and 11 a. m. The Sunday school is at 10 a. m. The vesper services will be given at St. Clement's mission. At St. Edward's mission the Sunday school will be convened at 10 a. m.

Magic City Gospel.
H. E. Finney is the assistant manager and acting general manager of the Armour Packing company's local plant, in the absence of Mr. Bowers and Mr. R. C. Howe.

Miss Ella Case of Syracuse, N. Y., is the guest of her sister, Mrs. George Chase. Miss Freda Anderson has returned from a visit of several weeks at Stromberg, Neb.

Floyd Sherwood and Corey Bulla expect to go to Ashland today for a visit of a few days.

Miss Dora Hasburgh is to be the second assistant of the city clerk, and will assume her duties Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. Perry McD. Wheeler entertained the Presbyterian King's Daughters yesterday afternoon.

George Dold and wife of Frontier county are the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Hefflinger. Mr. Dold is county clerk.

Mrs. Erdmut Klauschie, aged 84, died at the home of her daughter, Mrs. William Jonasech, Twenty-sixth and Madison streets, Friday morning. The funeral will be held Sunday at 3 p. m.

The dedication of the synagogue of the Congregation Israel of South Omaha will be celebrated with appropriate ceremonies Sunday at 3 p. m. The synagogue is at Twenty-fifth and J streets.

Attention Eagles—To complete your parade suits it is absolutely necessary that you have a white shirt. This is not included in your uniform. We have a big stock of them now, but we believe there will be a shortage any way in some sizes. Get yours early. We expect to commence delivering the suits Monday afternoon. John Flynn & Co.

It is possible for every wage earner to lay aside 25 per cent of his income. The diligent use of the Household Expense Book will prove it. It is yours for the asking at the savings department of the Live Stock National bank in South Omaha.

Pair of Bills
Get the Cheers
German Societies Sound the Praises of Kaiser and President.

"Rah for Kaiser Bill and President Bill!" such was the trend of the remarks at the banquet of the German Home last night, given in honor of Richard Mueller and Christ Rehahn, high officials of the German War societies of America. Mr. Mueller is the commander-in-chief of all the societies in America, and Mr. Rehahn is commander of the German societies of New York.

The two distinguished officers are in the west to visit the societies of the order in Chicago and Omaha. These are the only two cities which will be visited by the German officers in their official capacity.

They were the guests of honor at the banquet tendered by the Omaha Landwehr, the local branch of the national order.

After the banquet had been disposed of, Charles Eppien, president of the local order, addressed the large audience, and was followed by A. F. Mertens, president of the western branch of German War societies. The guests of honor also spoke, as did Mayor Dahlgren, who highly complimented the society, told several stories, dwelt for a short time upon the matter of personal liberties and their retention by the proper use of the ballot, and closed his address by relating a personal incident at the German Home at his last appearance there, which illustrated his point nicely.

Other well known German citizens addressed the meeting, and several vocal selections were rendered. The Mozart orchestra furnished music for the occasion and accompanied the audience in several patriotic songs.

The audience was made up of veterans of the German revolution, the Danish war, the Austria-Prussia war, the Prussian-French war, and there were also present several who took part in the colonial war in Africa, and the Chinese trouble in 1900. In all more than 200 persons sat down to the banquet.

The function continued until an early hour this morning. The guests of honor will leave for their homes in New York tonight.

HOW HE LOVED THE GAME
War Surgeon from Indiana with a Consuming Passion for Poker.

I was associated through the war with a surgeon of an Indiana regiment. He was a brainy man and an eminent physician. It was his boast that he had veteraged on his sixtieth birthday. His hair was white as snow. He was a widower with two lovely daughters, and mighty well-to-do in this world's plunder. His love for the genuine old-fashioned game of poker was supreme. Goodness alive, how he liked poker! He played with everybody; he played from morning until morning; played on tick and for cash, for small stakes or for high ones. He would play with the stable boy for his personal amusement. It was currently stated in the brigade when he lay in front of Atlanta that while the doctor, colonel, chaplain and sutler were playing a game of straggling bullet killed the sutler before the comparative value of hands had been determined or the proprietorship of the pot turned to the next man. I venerated him for prayers, but the doctor suggested that there should be business before pleasure, and in a spirit of equity toward the dead sutler's estate proposed a show of hands, which resulted, I am told, in a still further increase of the doctor's earthly possessions. I remember a June afternoon in 1862, under the trees, about five miles out from Nashville, I heard him call from his tent and I went in. "Joe," said he, "we have nothing to do this afternoon; what do you say to a game of sevenup for some Sunnyside tobacco?" I told him it was all right, and, raising myself at his desk, reached into a pigeonhole, resurrected a greasy deck of cards, and commenced to sort, abstract, cut and propitly stack them on the old gentleman, while he sat there talking to me in a subdued tone with moistened eyes and quivering lips. "Waters," says he, "I have just got a letter from my girl, and it is full of love and kisses. I venerated when I was 40 years old; the rebellion is ended, the last darling object of my life has been accomplished, and in a few more days the cold clouds of the valley will roll over the pained hulk of—What in blazes are you doing? D—n your soul! Stop stacking them cards!"—Joseph Waters in Kansas City Journal.

Women's Secrets

There is one man in the United States who has perhaps heard more women's secrets than any other man or woman in the country. These secrets are not secrets of guilt or shame, but the secrets of suffering, and they have been confided to Dr. R. V. Pierce in the hope and expectation of advice and help. That few of these women have been disappointed in their expectations is proved by the fact that ninety-eight per cent. of all women treated by Dr. Pierce have been absolutely and altogether cured. Such a record would be remarkable if the cases treated were numbered by hundreds only. But when that record applies to the treatment of more than half-a-million women, in a practice of over 40 years, it is phenomenal, and attests Dr. Pierce to the gratitude accorded him by women, as the first of specialists in the treatment of women's diseases.

Every sick woman may consult Dr. Pierce by letter, absolutely without charge. All replies are mailed, sealed in perfectly plain envelopes, without any printing or advertising whatever, upon them.
