grand worthy vice president was made by Frederick Hughes of Tonkars, N. Y. John A. Cline of Ohio, former candidate for the place, and Theodore A. Bell, who represented Parry, seconded the nomination and no other candidate was mentioned.

Cole of Englewood is a new man for exaltation, that place having been occupied by John A. Cline last year. Mr. Bell in renominating Conrad H. Mann for secretary paid a high tribute to his efficiency as an officer. Finley McTear was also renominated for treasurer. W. A. Ditch of Kansas, named for conductor, is also a new one in the list of grand officers. The ambition of the southern delegates to secure a place was recognized when Edward R. Fuller of Richmond, Va., choice of Dixie land for inside guard, was allowed to have the place without contest. J. G. O'Connor of Thomas, W. Va., was nominated, but he declined to allow his name to be used.

The appearance of eight candidates for trustee when only four places are to be filled complicates the situation as to that office somewhat. Theodore A. Bell, in view of his services as president and past president, is practically conceded one of the places. Harry J. Lea and William Gartland, present members of the board, are also practically sure of re-election. Owen Kane of Cleveland, a fellow towns-

More Eagles Fly High at the Den

Another Big Batch of Recruits See Samson's Oprey and Are Glad of It.

Oh, you Eagles, Flap your wings and crow You may think you're alive But wait 'til you see this show. Thus spoke Grand Worthy Counselor George S. Powell to as fine a line of birds as ever flew the coop. They had gathered, several hundred strong at the den to hear the 'tenth production of that highly entertaining and beautiful oprey, "Paprika Schnitzel," a special performance of which was given last night for the special entertainment of the visiting Eagles.

Eagles are all eager to see the show for its reputation has been spread broadcast all over the land since it has been announced that President Taft will view the show and be initiated into the order of the Knights of Ak-Sar-Ben next Monday night. The board of governors aim to issue as many tickets for the performance as may be room provided for, but the den is large and Samson says, "Come on, you Eagles."

Many of the Eagles are getting wised up to the work and thus try to side step some of the fun, but they wot not what they do. When they see the giant pirate ship with ample room they wish they had been among the few chosen to take a ride.

All the rough spots are being sandpapered off the oprey and Gus Renze was heard to remark that the "regulars" will say that all before has been simply rehearsals for the big show which will be given next Monday night.

Captain John P. Pellatier of Kansas City, past worthy president of the grand aerie of the Eagles' seemed to be especially attractive to the big goat Tuesday night headquarters are located in the Missouri city and the Kansas Cityans are content to allow the convention to be held in some other place. Rollie J. Shugart, advertising manager of the Kansas City Eagle, the official paper of the organization and W. O'Leary, past worthy president of Aerie No. 41 of Kansas City, have been here since Friday to arrange for the coming and headquarters of the delegation.

Auto Ride, but No Barbecue. The automobile ride from the wives and friends of the visiting Eagles which was originally set for Tuesday, but which was called off at that time, will take place at 10 o'clock this morning. The start will be made from the Bee building at that hour, weather permitting. Plenty of autos have been secured and the women will be taken on a trip around the city.

Owing to the refusal of the grand aerie to adjourn Friday afternoon the barbecue which was planned for that day has been abandoned. Secretary Ryder declares the local committee had planned this big event mainly for the visiting delegates an dhat, since these delegates will not adjourn the convention to attend it, the committee will not consent to hold it. He declares the committee is trying to entertain, not the local people, but the visitors.

BARD BOOSTS FOR LOUISVILLE

Kentuckian Carries Convention by Reading Poem Praising State.

Poetry is the long suit of the Louisville (Ky.) boosters. In his speech nominating his city as the next to entertain the 1910 convention, W. H. Southall read a poem, which he said was written by a well known son of Kentucky, whose name he did not give. The verses took the convention by storm and are headed "The Land of Kentucky" and are as follows: "Know'st thou the land where the corn-tassels bloom, Where the mystical cocktail exhales its perfume, Where the highball sparkles with flavor divine, And the schooners sail fast 'neath the shade of the vine? Know'st thou that land, that beautiful land?"

Know'st thou the land where the julep was born, Where the mint yields its breast to the spirit of corn, Where the ice strikes the glass with a musical sound, And the straw shrieks aloud when the bottom is found? Know'st thou that land, that beautiful land?"

Hear'st thou the call of the bluegrass to thee? "Come over the river, come southward to me, Where a welcome awaits from Kentucky's old boys, Oh, come to that southland and taste of her joys?" Oh, come to that land, that beautiful land.

Know'st not that land? Then thou art unlucky, 'Tis gallant, 'tis brave, 'tis hearty Kentucky, That calls from the river that flows to the sea, "Come southward to meet us, cross over and see, Oh, come to that land, that beautiful land."

SARATOGA ROOSTER IS ALIVE

Charles Andrus Fighting Alone for Fafous New York Rooster.

Charles B. Andrus of Saratoga Springs, N. Y., is one of the busiest New Yorkers at the convention. He is the sole booster for his home town, and since his arrival has been pinning badges on delegates and posting placards around the hotel lobbies like an authorized representative of the publicity commission, and while he has been handicapped by a lack of $5,000 guaranty checks, barrels of liquid cheer and brass bands, he has been doing an effective work in advertising the famous summer resort.

Mr. Andrus prides himself in the fact that he has enlisted the hearty support of the only delegate from around the Arctic circle, Berner Goss, of Alaska, who traveled 7,000 miles to attend the convention.

GRANITE GAVEL FOR HERING

Ohio Aerie Gives Unique Souvenir to Incoming President.

When Grand Worthy Vice President Hering is inducted into the office of president Saturday, he will hold in his hand one of the most unique souvenirs that has appeared at the convention so far.

The memento is a granite gavel with a mahogany handle presented to him Wednesday by Dr. M. W. Bland of Bellevue, O., at a meeting of the Indian delegation. On the gavel is the form of an eagle grasping in its claws a streamer bearing the initials, "T. O. E." At one end, inlaid in gold, are the figures 490, the number of the donating camp, and on the other the year of presentation. The handle is highly polished and the figures worked in the granite are in the round.

It was intended to make the presentation Saturday, but Dr. Bland had to re-

Custer Battle Draws Indians

Red Men Will Flock to Pierre for Spectacular Representation of Frontier Fight.

PIERRE, S. D., Sept. 15.—(Special.)—The final arrangements were completed yesterday for the management of the grand spectacular Custer battle representation which is to be pulled off here during the registration for Cheyenne River reservation lands. The show is as much of a drawing card among the red men as it could possibly be among the whites. While from Cherry creek section of the Cheyenne River reservation, the old fellows who were present at the real fight are scattered on all the Sioux reservations and letters show that they are coming from Pine Ridge, Rosebud, Crow Creek and Lower Brule, as well as from Cheyenne River, and it is estimated that the spectacle will not only be a thrilling presentation of the great battle, but will bring who is to be in full command, sends word that he will have 100 warriors here in full war regalia to carry out their part of the show and that everything will be as realistic as it will be possible to make it. Captain Dewell is drilling his men for the show, and there is no reason why the whole presentation should not be spectacular enough to suit the fancy of all, both white and red, in their desire to see a reproduction of the old time days of the frontier, when the warrior and soldier met in the death clash on the western prairies.

While lacking the red fire, powder smoke and warwhoops of the battle scene, of no less interest will be the display of agricultural products from the reservation which the more progressive Indians have

EXCHANGE FOR PARK BONDS

But $50,000 Issue Does Not Look Very Large to Real Estate Dealers.

Park and boulevard improvements were the principal theme of the first fall meeting of the Omaha Real Estate exchange. The exchange went on record as endorsing the proposed $50,000 bond issue, but a motion by C. C. George prevailed that a member of the park board be invited to attend to the exchange to make clear what the board has in mind for the future in the way of a really broad gauge and comprehensive scheme.

The exchange accepted an invitation of the Board of County Commissioners to select a committee to co-operate in inspection of the building of the new court house. The committee will be named by President Robbins at the next meeting. The exchange heard brief remarks by local members of the Woman's Christian Temperance union in behalf of the coming national convention and it was voted to endorse the convention and members pledged themselves to send in checks. It was explained that $5,000 had to be raised, that $2,000 has been raised by the state body and $1,200 by the Commercial club. Of the $2,300 remaining, the local women have now pledged for one-half.

together the greatest crowd of Indians which has been collected in the northwest for a long time. There will be probably fully 1,000 men, women and children of that race here, all interested spectators, not only of the display, but of the white man's sideshow and peanut booths.

Chief Eagle Chasing, one of the grizzled old warriors who was with Sitting Bull on the Little Big Horn when Custer was wiped out of existence, has been here with Giles Tappin, the interpreter, when arrangements were made for looking after the 200 horses which the Indians will use in the "battle" and Chief Iron Lightning.

agreed to bring in for the cash prizes offered.

The first rendition of Mary Queen of Scots will be given tonight at the Boyd theater to a large and appreciative audience. The large class of 250 local talent have been rehearsing for the past ten days and are well prepared to give a very fine dramatization of this interesting bit of Scotland's history. The entertainment will begin at 8:15 sharp and will be complete each evening.

WOMEN HEAR SQUEAL OF THE FIG

Visit Packing Plants at South Omaha and Are Served at Luncheon.

The women visitors heard the pathetic squeals of the dying pig Wednesday. Accompanied by many Eagles' not members of the grand aerie they took cars to South Omaha and did the packing plants thoroughly.

The packing houses did the honors with gusto and served luncheon to all comers. The South Omaha aerie had the visit in general charge, wives of the Magic City aerie men taking the visiting women in hand.

Returning in the afternoon many of the visitors went on a special tour through the bigger retail stores, which were in festive attire. For the evening the card party was in order.

It is possible that an auto ride will be pulled off after all. Secretary J. J. Ryder has taken the matter up again and it is hoped to arrange it for later in the week. The visiting women really wish the trip, so that every effort will be made.

Near Beer Place Dynamited.

LAWTON, Okla., Sept. 15.—John Russell's place, a near-beer establishment in this city, was dynamited early today. The building and fixtures were wrecked, but no one was injured. No clue has been discovered as to the perpetrators.

and little was left of the captain when he had run the gauntlet. Charles O'Malley of Scranton, Pa., chairman of the field committee of the Eagles' tried to kidnap past of Captain Kidd's harem to take back home and was nearly massacred for his effort. Harry Allebaugh of New York, private secretary to Tim Sullivan, fell overboard from the pirate ship, but was rescued with only a good wetting.

Although some of the members of the regular cast were absent, the oprey went swinging along at a clip almost outside the speed limit and encores were numerous, especially to the songs of Clint Miller, S. E. Hamilton and C. L. Vance. Phil McShane was absent and Charles Schuster took his part in the famous quartette and was just as "rotten" as the rest. (That's the way the song goes.)

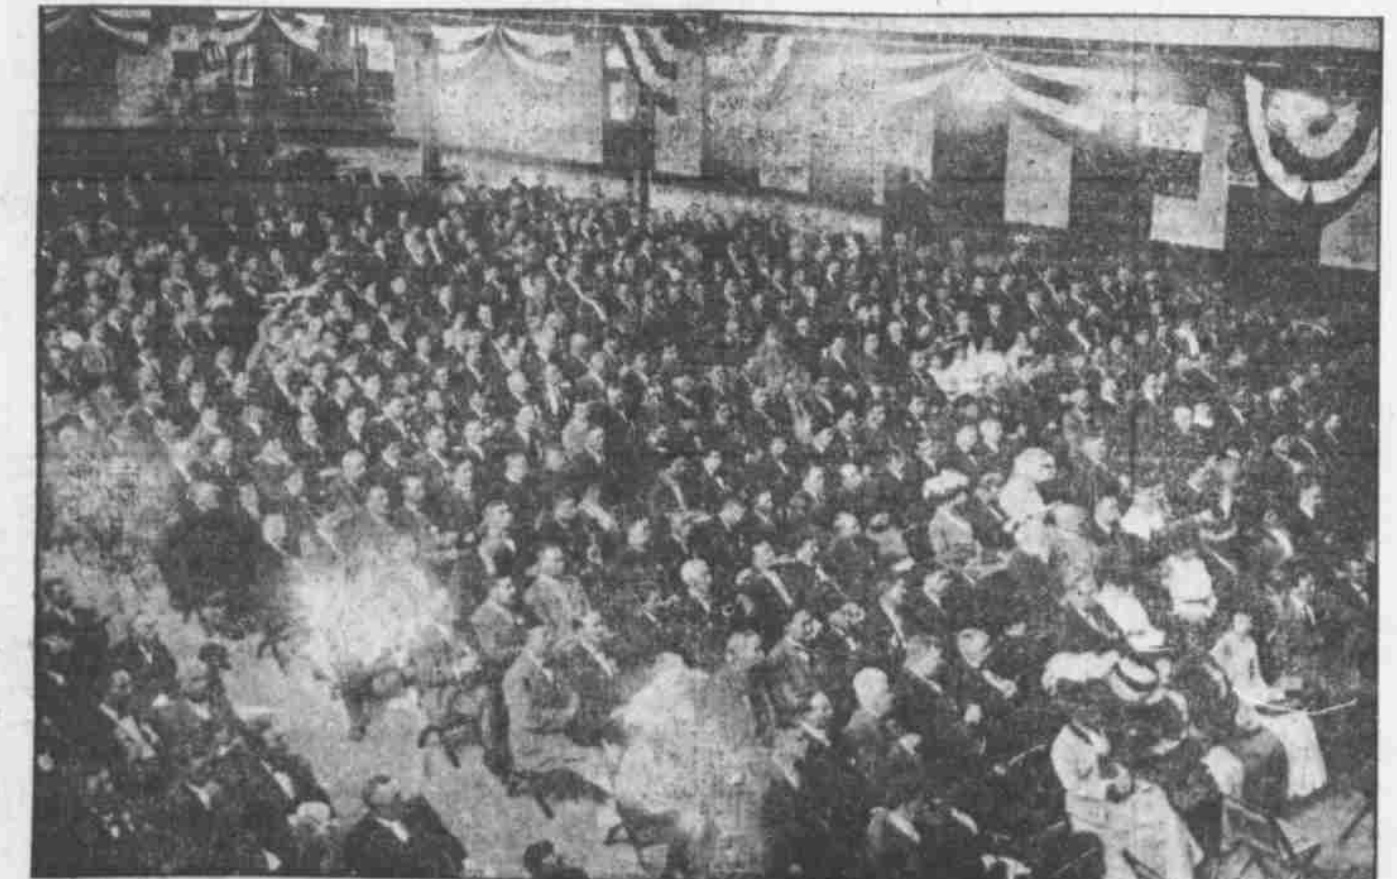

Judge Lee Estelle acted as grand mufli of the evening and had a pat story to tell on each of the speakers. F. P. Miller of Seattle said that for four years he had been anxiously awaiting for the night when he could be initiated into Ak-Sar-Ben, and now that the wish of his life was granted, he felt that he had seen it all.

John A. Kline of Cleveland, grand chaplain of the Eagles, told several good stories which made a hit with the visitors as well as the home folks.

J. H. Crosby of Cedar Rapids assured the Knights of Ak-Sar-Ben that the Eagles were more than grateful for the way Omaha and the Knights had accorded them such a royal welcome.
