GOOD IS COING IT ALONE

Boosts Himself at Expense of Other

Democratic Candidates.

Kno wa Dean Was to Be Left to His Own Resources, But Thought Good and Sailtvan Would Pull Together.

From a Staff Correspondent.) LINCOLN, Oct. 12 -(Special.)-Judge B. F. Good, democratic candidate for supreme judge, will no doubt have to explain to his political committee when the democratic leaders discover the kind of ifterature that he or some one of his friends is sending out in his behalf. The literature which is being circulated attempts to build up Judge Good at the expense of his colleagues on the democratic ticket.

It is more evidence of the split democratic party.

On a printed sheet, which is being cir culated in the interest of Judge Good. there are sixteen editorials and clippings from newspapers. All of these clippings and home-made editorials speak well of the Wahoo candidate and two have scant mention of Judge Sullivan and one mentions Judge Dean. These two were printed evidently on the circular because they boost Judge Good just a little more than the other two candidates.

As an example of how Judge Good feels toward Judge Suffivan, the judge who resigned from the bench after serving one day, after having been appointed by Gov-ernor Shelden, is the following item at the head of the pircular credited to no paper:

"Judge Good is the ablest democratic juriet and their best man for the supreme We regard him as preferable to Judge Sullivan."

Who the "we" refers to it is impossible to tell by the circular, for no credit is given the item, leaving the read to infer that Judge Good himself is authority for the statement that he is "preferable to Judge

Every indication pointed to the double-cross of Judge Dean by both Sullivan and Good, but the circulation of literature solely in the interest of Judge Good is the first evidence to come to hand that Judge Good had concluded to hustle for himself and pay no attention to either Sullivan or Dean. morning bought the brick building at 217-219 North Eleventh street for $18,000. Work will he started immediately to prepare the building for a labor temple. One ground floor room will be used for a labor headquarters, billiard and reading room and one store room will be rented. On the second floor there will be three rooms for the use of various unions and a hall 50x60 feet.

Surplus in Treasury. State Treasurer Brian received $36,000 from various counties today and he has no state debt to which to apply the money. At the present rate of collections the treasurer of the opinion the state will be able to take care of its chilgations as they become due without having to register any warrants. Then if the present general fund levy is sufficient there will be no oecasion for any further state debt during

The State Association of Photographers began its annual meeting tonight with headquarters at the Lindell hotel., Tomorrow the photographers will be formally on exhibition at the art hall at the university. The program tonight consisted of shop talk and a feed with music thrown in.

Compromise with Traction Company. The city of Lincoln and the Lincoln Traction company is about to get together again in some kind of an agreement. The company desired to pay some $40,000 back taxes out of future earnings before the city got its share and it wanted also to have its heating plant pay an income on $71,000. The latest agreement is for the company to pay its $80,000 taxes out of past earnings and the city agrees to permit the company to each 7 per cent on a valuation of $2.190,will pay the city 2 per cent on its gross earnings. After that, when the company has taken out its 7 per cent, the earnings above that sum are divided between the city and the company.
