CONNELL CALLS FOR HELP

Health Officer Wants Physicians to Aid Against Diphtheria.

SAYS EPIDEMIC MAY BE GREAT

Anxious for People to Understand that Diphtheria Exists and Will Become Dangerous Unless Properly Checked Now.

"There will be 1,000 to 5,000 cases of diphtheria in Omaha, and we will have a disastrous epidemic on our hands unless we take very rigorous precautions," said Health Commissioner Connell. "We took fifty-six cases from the Kellom school last week, and we have taken eleven cases from the Saunders school for examination. "Physicians, with a few notable exceptions, are not co-operating with this department as they should. For instance, after an examination of a child, when called by the parents, I should think it is not the proper thing to assure the parents there is no danger just because there are few constitutional symptoms and the child does not appear sick. This is for the reason that no doctor can diagnose diphtheria. Indications may be wrong or may be right and to say there is not diphtheria existing is a mistake easily made. But the culture tube never makes a mistake. So physicians should reserve their judgment until they have taken a culture tube.

Existing Condition Serious. "In spite of impressions to the contrary, this department has never established quarantine until a culture tube showed the presence of diphtheria. The existing condition is mighty serious as to number of children involved, but it is not so serious as present as to the character of infection. It must be borne in mind by every body that this nasal diphtheria is exactly the same thing as the disease that kills in forty-eight hours; that is, it can develop into the worst form of the disease if not stamped out in time. It is very hard to make parents realize this, when the child is not so sick as to be noticeable, and they wonder why we send the young ones home from school; but they should not be allowed to attend while the danger of infection exists. Diphtheritic infection attacks any membrane, and while in the nasal form there is not the same chance for absorption into the system as in the pharynx, it can and will develop just as malignantly if neglected. Constitutional symptoms are not as pronounced in the nasal form as in the other, but the two are identical in their nature."

Turning to a pigeon hole, the health commissioner produced eleven reports of diphtheria cases from Omaha physicians that came into his office Tuesday and Wednesday. It was then that he requested the public be warned of the possibility of a serious epidemic and asked for better co-operation from the general run of physicians.

Connell Still Asleep.

"I have been trying for a long time to secure health inspection in the schools," said Dr. Connell, "and The Bee has strongly advocated it, but it seems impossible to get the council to wake up and follow in the footsteps of every city in this country that amounts to anything." The health commissioner is today going through the Saunders school thoroughly and will remove every pupil who shows infection.

India Will Send an Exhibit to the Corn Show

Far Away Land Will Display Grain and Also Famous Pictures of Mythology.

India is to make an exhibit at the National Corn exposition. Thus the scope of the big show reaches from "Greenland's" icy mountains to India's coral strands.

Srinivasa H. Contractor, custodian of the government exhibit for India, has just closed an arrangement with the exposition management for space where this exhibit will be shown, and it will be shipped at once from Bombay, India. Besides the grain exhibits, the India booth will show many pictures illustrating Indian mythology. These are the paintings which attracted wide attention in the last Franco-British exposition, in the Imperial International exposition and other exhibitions of world interest held in Dresden, St. Petersburg, Winnipeg and Edinburgh.

Mr. Contractor, who brings the exhibit to Omaha, is a member of the Royal Geographical society, a fellow of the Scientific society and has won, on this exhibit, a string of medals from the world's fair in Chicago to those awarded by the Liverpool Colonial Products exposition. His honors have come not only from the exposition management, but the Society of Science and Letters of Great Britain, the Fine Art society of Madras and similar organizations, which had their attention called to his exhibits.

Woman in Nightgown Runs Down Street

Escapes from Hospital and Gives Husky Officer Hard Race to Catch Her.

A woman attired in a nightgown raced up Farnam street. Half a block behind a rotund police officer was hitting his best gait in heated pursuit. The chase began at the Omaha General hospital, Fourteenth and Capitol avenue, when Mrs. L. Steinberg of Tenth and Harney streets, under treatment for mental derangement, escaped. She slipped through a window, down on a shed and out into the alley. The policeman overtook the fleet-footed woman at Thirteenth and Farnam streets. There the blushing officer with his charge draped in robe de nuit boarded the ambulance bound for the hospital. The adventure pleased the patient greatly. She was content to return. "Can be depended upon" is an expression we all like to hear, and when it is used in connection with Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy it means that it never fails to cure diarrhoea, dysentery or bowel complaints. It is pleasant to take and equally valuable for children and adults. Sold by all druggists.

Remedies are Needed

Were we perfect, which we are not, medicines would not often be needed. But since our systems have become weakened, impaired and broken down through indiscretions which have gone on from the early ages, through countless generations, remedies are needed to aid Nature in correcting our inherited and otherwise acquired weaknesses. To reach the seat of stomach weakness and consequent digestive troubles, there is nothing so good as Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, a glyceric compound, extracted from native medicinal roots—sold for over forty years with great satisfaction to all users. For Weak Stomach, Biliousness, Liver Complaint, Pain in the Stomach after eating, Heartburn, Bad Breath, Belching of food, Chronic Diarrhoea and other Intestinal Derangements, the "Discovery" is a time-proven and most efficient remedy.

The genuine has on its outside wrapper the Signature

You can't afford to accept a secret nostrum as a substitute for this non-alcoholic, medicine of known composition, not even though the urgent dealer may thereby make a little bigger profit. Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets regulate and invigorate stomach, liver and bowels. Sugar-coated, tiny granules, easy to take as candy.

SOLVING THE BEEF PROBLEM

Corn Show Will Teach People Science of Cutting and Buying.

SHORTAGE MOSTLY DUE TO WASTE

Producers' Association Conducting Campaign of Education to Correct Abuses that Are Menacing and Aids Corn Expo.

Solution of the "shortage of beef" problem is to have a large place in the scheme of education promulgated by the domestic science department of the National Corn exposition in Omaha in December. How to treat cattle and how to treat meat so as to improve and perpetuate the breed and increase the production and domestic utility of the beef are the principles to be fostered.

The Beef Producers' association is going to co-operate with the National Corn exposition in this important work. General Manager Sturgess of the exposition is in receipt of a letter from Fred F. Johnson of Denver, assistant secretary of the association, advising him of the eager desire of that association to aid the exposition in this undertaking. The work will be promulgated largely through the domestic science department, of which Miss Jessica Besack of Columbia university is dean.

"It's a Grave Problem. Both General Manager Sturgess and Secretary Johnson are endeavoring to impress on the people the importance of this work.

"Beef shortage is a graver problem than people realize," says Mr. Sturgess. "It will take a systematic course of education to solve the problem. Not only is it necessary to increase and improve the breeds of cattle, but it is equally as important, if not more so, to teach the people who use meat, how to buy it and how to use it. We waste too much of a beef. We know nothing but two things, the loin and ribs. Every part of the beef is good and should be used and must be used if this problem is ever solved. And we propose to set in motion a system of education that will sweep over this country and end in a tidal wave of enlightenment and the ultimate solution of the problem, which today is really menacing."

Campaign of Education. Along these identical lines Mr. Johnson, in his letter to Mr. Sturgess, says: "Apparently the country is confronted by a shortage of beef."

"The object of the Beef Producers' association is to conduct a campaign of education to encourage breeding and feeding of cattle. If the people are familiar with the situation it must certainly result in putting a stop to the indiscriminate slaughtering of calves and spaying of heifers. Here in the west cows are already advancing very rapidly and I would not be surprised if next spring cows are not worth as much as steers."

"I believe the threatened shortage is much more serious than appears on the surface at the present time."

"We are arranging as part of our campaign to inaugurate some publicity work to educate the beef customer. You know that the average American labors under the idea that all there is fit to eat on a beef carcass is the loin and ribs. We are interesting the domestic science schools of the country in devising recipes for cooking and preparing the cheaper cuts of the beef. The prices of loins and ribs is advancing so steadily that unless something of this kind is done the large majority of the people will have to stop eating meat soon."

Squatters Must Get Off Streets

People Who Are Obstructing Thoroughfares Are Advised by City Engineer to Move.

City Engineer Craig is going to reclaim the streets of Omaha for the public, so far as possible.

"There are possibly seventy-five to 100 cases this city where fences, houses, sidewalks, gardens and other obstructions have been found in the streets," says the engineer. "We have served notices on about all of the obstructionists that they must get out of the streets and the city legal department is co-operating with us in the effort to remove them."

"In the paved street area, for instance, the roadways have been narrowed, but that doesn't mean that the width of the street has been reduced. In many cases, however, we find that the sidewalks have been pushed out, or new walks laid further out into the gutter. Next, the sidewalk is moved out to the walk and a claim to possession is set up. In some cases squatters have gone in and built shacks right in the middle of the street, or have fenced in the highway and where this was done twenty or more years ago we may have some trouble. Next, along about 1887, if I remember correctly, a law was enacted, which makes it impossible for anyone to acquire ownership in public property by the squatter sovereignty method."

Guy Liggett is Sued for $15,000

Held Responsible for Death of John M. Campbell by the Widow.

Guy H. Liggett has been sued for $15,000 in district court by the widow of the man killed in an automobile accident when Liggett was driving the car. Mrs. Mary Campbell, who was the wife of John M. Campbell, who was the administrator of his estate. Her petition avers that her husband met death through Liggett's carelessness last August. It recites that Liggett was an experienced driver, that he caused his car, an electric, to trail a street car and that he not only knocked Campbell down when the latter got off the street car, but that Liggett's car struck him a second blow, which was the cause of death.

"THE LARGEST PIANO HOUSE IN THE WEST"

DOGGOE DAN BUTLER, AND CITY CLERK ADMITS IT, TOO

But Just the Same He Objects to Serious Business Being Interrupted by Howls.

"Speaking of 26, the dog that kept the telephone hot," said City Clerk Butler, "I have ascertained that he is high bred in fact, traces his pedigree plumb back to the Adam and Eve of his tribe. So some of his idiosyncrasies may be thus accounted for."

"But here's a new one. A blustering man telephoned in that a big Newfoundland dog was bothering him to death. I asked him in what way he thought this office was responsible. 'Well, he's trespassing,' the man said. Then says I, 'Can't you forgive him his trespass,' and he intimated that he heard enough of that at church and didn't want any of it from the city hall. The man, I discovered, was raising a howl simply because the dog was occupying the front porch of a vacant house he owned—that is, the man owned the house, but not the dog and I don't think the dog would own the house the man put up. 'Yet, that's neither here nor there. I have eaten a hot dog myself on divers occasions, and a warm man doesn't saw much wood in my nervous system. 'But there's Judge Berka, councilman from the First ward, whom Lee Bridges, councilman from the Second ward, says is 'cool, calm and dispassionate,' even when fattering reduced fare, ordinances. The judge is master of all the wiles of diplomacy, yet here he assigns me the delicate task of making this coup de nickel, without a diagram, too. I must perforce, because of being popular with the voters, take up the task of framing proper and felicitous notes to the burgomasters of twenty-five cities, and find out how they handle fares, passengers, ordinances, permits and time cards on their street railway systems. And with all this, the council bats out a home run on every veto I read from his honor and kicks a goal on me when Goodley Brucker is away. There is no council discipline like there used to be when Frank Moores was king, and if I were a spiritualist I'd wager the big game of Saturday that the silent air of this architectural pile was blue and noisy above our earthly heads on a few occasions recently."

"But, any way, Dan," said the philosopher of the city hall, "it's not at all a bad thing to be mixing with the mighty, even if a dog breaks in occasionally."

"Oh, doggone it all," snapped Butler, with a dangerous look.

"Doggone you," said the philosopher. "I guess it is, all right," said Butler, and went back to his den in one end of the big barn he works in.

PRISONERS SUFFER IN COLD

City Jail Occupants Have Sirens—Time with Mr. Jack Frost.

The dilapidated condition of the city jail has forced the prisoners into a state of siege from the cold. Missing windows and loose fitting leaves the holdover open to every wandering draught. Wednesday night most of the bedding was taken from the bunks and stuffed into the chinks to keep out the cold winds.

"We have several prisoners who were actually suffering from the cold," declared Captain Mostyn. "Those old windows are in such shape that they can't well be repaired."

"There is only one cure for the conditions that exist at the city jail," said Chief Donahue, "and that is a new jail."

The present jail building was originally a school house. It was erected in the '70s

WHY MANY WOMEN SUFFER FROM CONSTIPATION

The Natural Remedy.

The delicate and intricate character of the female organs makes them most susceptible to irregularity, and it is most important that each one should be kept in condition to perform its duties in a normal manner. When womanhood is performing the functions peculiar to her sex there is a decided tendency to sluggishness of the bowels. Nature then requires a gentle assistant. No powerful and expensive remedies which are so drastic as to damage the tender lining of the bowels and do more harm than good, but a pure and harmless laxative, such as HUNYADI JANOS Water, the famous Natural Laxative, is a most desirable and safe remedy. It is a natural and gentle laxative, and it is a natural and gentle laxative, and it is a natural and gentle laxative.

At all Drugists—but look out for un- unless you ask for HUNYADI JANOS.
