YESTERDAY WAS A RECORD BREAKER

At the Great Piano Sale Now in Progress at the Cori Piano Store, 1615 Farnam Street

Many Homes Were Made Glad by Yesterday's Purchases. Doubtless Today Will Bring Many More. Interest Grows Greater and Greater as the Sale Progresses. Only a Few More Days.

Their representative is here with instructions to sacrifice every instrument in order that it may be accomplished as speedily as possible. Among yesterday's sales were three beautiful uprights that went at $165.00, $187.00 and $225.00 each, prices varying according to style of case. The former prices were $275.00, $300.00 and $350.00. Several of the very highest priced pianos were sold at correspondingly low prices. It certainly is a grand opportunity to get the children's piano you have long promised and they have so long deserved. But you must hurry, stock's going fast. There are many fine makes and styles left. No home is complete without a piano. Its educational and refining influences are worth many times its cost. The first call this morning can secure a high grade piano for $165.00 that is worth $300.00. Don't miss it.

Out of town buyers should call or write as it is an opportunity of a lifetime. Of course wise buyers realize that an opportunity like this may never come again. Each piano marked in plain figures at a price that will sell it and sell it quick. No cost or profit is in any way considered. We have a large stock in the warehouse that our floors will not accommodate, therefore, they must go. Every piano fully guaranteed. Small payment down sends one to your home, small amount each month pays for it. It will be advisable to call before the best values are gone. Store open evenings.

DRY FARMERS AT BILLINGS

Fourth Annual Congress Meets There Next Week.

SCOPE OF THE WORK ENLARGED

Busy Program Marked Out for the Delegates Who Are Expected from All Over the World.

The fourth annual session of the Dry Farming congress is to be held at Billings, Mont., beginning October 26, and will continue for three days. This gathering will be attended by representatives of many states and nations which have the problem of arid land utilization to solve. From a beginning which concerned only the movement to amend the constitution and dry plains of Wyoming and neighboring states the congress has grown until it has assumed an international character.

In connection with the congress an exhibition of the products grown on land made productive through the science of dry farming will be held. The meeting will also feature the extension of the productive area in sections where it can supplement partially insufficient rainfall or irrigation water.

Broadly defined the purpose of the congress is to discuss and compare methods for the conservation of rainfall in the so-called arid regions by the tillage of the soil. Attention will be devoted not only to dry farming proper but to its adoption to the extension of the productive area in sections where it can supplement partially insufficient rainfall or irrigation water.

Aim of the Congress. The aim of the congress looks toward the advancement of an educational campaign calculated to result in the arid and desert regions of the world available as a source of food supply and the home of a great agricultural class.

At this congress a demand will be made for the more extended co-operation on the part of the national government and the states interested. An extension of the present system of experiment stations and the employment of a larger corps of field experts are among the demands to be urged by the congress.

A feature of note will be "Governor's Day," when the executives of many of the western states are expected to be present to address the congress on the economic problems and conditions in the arid area, as seen by statesmen. The congress is to number among its members not a few of the representatives of foreign nations. At the third congress delegates came even from Australia and the Transvaal.

The congress will not be allowed to grow dull with technicalities. The hospitable people of Wyoming are preparing many and varied entertainments. It will be a lively week in Billings. Excursions will show the visitors the practical demonstration of the commercial value of dry farming afforded by the rich valleys of Montana.

Beginning of the Congress. The organization took its beginning from the Trans-Missouri Dry Farming congress at Denver in January, 1897. This localized title was dropped at the third congress and now the organization is worldwide in its scope. The officers are representatives of foreign nations as well. Edwin E. Norris, governor of Montana is president of the congress and J. T. Burns of Denver is secretary-treasurer.

An annual of unusual attractiveness has been issued under the authority of the Montana State Board of Control. The booklet contains much of interest besides the formal facts connected directly with the congress. Generous illustrations depict the fields and crops of the Wyoming "dry farm."

GIRLS ORGANIZE A GLEE CLUB

Members of High School Society Will Sing for the Public.

A glee club which hopes after a time to give some public entertainments is being formed by the girls of the Margaret Fuller society at the high school. Miss Helen Buck, president of the society, is in charge of the new organization, and Miss Blanche Swenson will direct the training of the girls. The club will meet every week and about twenty girls will take part in it.

DEMOCRATIC SLATE MAKING

Bryan to Make the Race for Senate the Latest Gossip.

SHALLEMBERGER FOR GOVERNOR

Fine Italian Hand of the Peerless Seen in the Sidelighting of Metcalfe and Switch of Shallenberger.

(From a Staff Correspondent.)

LINCOLN, Oct. 19.—(Special.)—As the judicial campaign draws to a close attention is being directed to the campaign for the nomination of officers next year and every indication points to the candidacy of Governor Shallenberger for a re-nomination and for Mr. Bryan for the United States senate. Some months ago Governor Shallenberger had practically decided to be a candidate for the senate and leave the democratic gubernatorial track clear for Mayor Dahlman. In those days Richard L. Metcalfe was being industriously groomed as at senatorial candidate and the associate editor of the Commoner undoubtedly had the bee in his bonnet. But something happened. Metcalfe suddenly decided he was getting too much political advertising for a successful author, so he wrote an open letter to the effect that he was not a candidate for any old office and was not fighting Mayor Jim or any other democrat who was an aspirant.

On the heels of that straw began to blow from the executive office tending to show that Governor Shallenberger would be satisfied with a trial for a second term. This has all indicated to those who are observing democratic politics that Mr. Bryan himself intends to head the democratic ticket a year from now. No one else could have sidetracked Metcalfe, and neither could W. H. Thompson or anyone else have scared Shallenberger off the track.

Shallenberger's friends insisted on him being the candidate for the senate on the ground that he is stronger than Bryan, having received a larger vote in the presidential campaign in the last election. These friends insist if there is a ghost of a chance for a democrat then the glory should belong to Shallenberger, but there were others opposed to Shallenberger, and at least around the state house the belief is strong that Mr. Bryan himself has been the master hand to brush aside the governor and his associates. It is said, in recollection to his fate because he believes now that Mayor Dahlman has lost some strength in Omaha by reason of his conduct in the strike and therefore he will be able to capture another nomination. So the governor appears no longer afraid.

More Time for Burlington.

The Burlington railroad has until next Friday afternoon to decide whether to flip the Barton act which provides for the installation of telephones in depots. Several towns have filed complaints with the Railway commission because the Burlington has no telephones in its depots at these points and the hearing was set for this afternoon. James Kelly, attorney for the Burlington, came before the commission this afternoon and announced that the question was now before the higher officials of the road and by Friday he would be able to announce a definite policy in the matter. For that reason the commission put over the hearing.

Needham Chosen Moderator.

At the annual meeting of the delegates from the Congregational churches today O. M. Needham of Albion was elected moderator for the coming year and Rev. S. H. Buell of Grand Island the assistant moderator. This evening a reception was held in the church for Chancellor and Mrs. Avery.

Officers for Odd Fellows.

The grand lodge of the Independent Order of Odd Fellows this afternoon elected the following officers: Grand patriarch, J. F. Carson of Lincoln; Grand senior warden, Captain J. Marks of Omaha; Grand high priest, E. H. Newhouse of Red Cloud; Grand junior warden, S. R. McFarland of Madison.

Masourides Files Appeal.

John Masourides, the Greek who killed Officer Edward Lowry at South Omaha last February and who was sentenced to be executed January 18, has appealed his case to the supreme court. His attorney, J. M. Macfarland and Sullivan & Rait, filed the transcript of the evidence in the case in the court today.

Records of Fires.

A. V. Johnson, state fire commissioner, has received reports of 25 fires since July 2, when the office was opened. The reports of fires, each giving the amount of the loss, the insurance and value of the property destroyed, together with particulars of the fire and its cause of origin.

No Funds Say Regents.

Because the State university regents have failed and refused to locate the two experimental stations in western Nebraska under the act of the last legislature, which appropriated $5,000 for one and $15,000 for the other, to be paid out of the temporary university fund, B. K. Bushes has filed an original action in the supreme court asking for a mandamus to compel the regents to comply with the law.

Suit for Interest by County.

BEAVER CITY, Neb., Oct. 19.—(Special.)—Of the ninety cases on the district court docket this term, nine are for divorce. The most important matters are the suits of the county against the former county treasurers for interest on county moneys deposited in excess of the bonds of depository banks. The suits are not criminal, and are brought more to test the law than for other reason. Court will continue during the week. Judge R. C. Orr presiding.

Keneaw Wants Water Works.

HASTINGS, Neb., Oct. 19.—(Special.)—An election will soon be held in Keneaw, the second town west of Hastings on the Burlington, for the issue of $20,000 for the establishing of a water system. Keneaw has been growing rapidly in the last few years and a city water plant there is now regarded as an imperative necessity. A number of additions to the town have recently been laid out and lots in these outlying parts are being rapidly disposed of.

Judges for Poultry Show.

HASTINGS, Neb., Oct. 19.—(Special.)—G. H. Rhodes of Topeka, W. C. Ellison of Minneapolis and S. Johnson of Fairfield, Ill., have been chosen by the officers of the state poultry association as judges for the forthcoming state exhibition by that association, to take place here in the third week of next January.

More Money for Church Schools

Presbyterian Synod Discusses Plans to Raise Funds for Hastings and Bellevue Colleges.

MINDEN, Neb., Oct. 19.—(Special Telegram.)

The session of the Presbyterian synod Monday revolved around educational questions, which seem to have centered about the colleges at Bellevue and Hastings. Both these institutions are in need of much better support than has been accorded them by the churches of the state. There was a checkered record in the question of their needing a more generous support. The University of Omaha was represented by its Vice President P. P. Maynard, D. D., and the presidents of each of the colleges spoke for their interests. The entire day was devoted to a full and exhaustive discussion of all the problems involved and resulted in the appointing of a commission which is to investigate the matter and report back to the synod at an adjourned meeting to be held in Kearney December 7.

This commission is composed of the following: Box Butte presbytery, Rev. C. G. Glavin; Hastings presbytery, Rev. Y. P. Bogus of Alliance; Omaha presbytery, President W. M. Davidson, superintendent of the city schools, and Rev. M. V. Higbee; Niobrara presbytery, Rev. F. P. Wigton and Rev. Samuel Eight; Hastings presbytery, Rev. F. G. Kanaver and Rev. Clarence Kearney; Kearney presbytery, Rev. Mr. Bovard of Central City and Rev. Mr. Graham of Grand Island; Nebraska City, Rev. W. W. Lawrence of Lincoln and Elder Fred D. Mason of Lincoln.

The judicial commission appointed to consider and adjudicate the matter of the minutes of the Omaha presbytery relating to the minutes of the New North church in Omaha reported dismissing the case finding that the action of the local presbytery was sufficient and final. President Stuckey of Bellevue college and President Turner of Hastings college addressed a popular meeting on the general subject of Christian education.

Club Case Goes Over.

PENDER, Neb., Oct. 19.—(Special.)—The case pending against the attendant of the Pender Liberty club for selling liquor without a license has been continued awaiting the decision of the supreme court in a similar case. Members of this club who are influential farmers and business men are disposed to fight the case and since their stock has been seized by the sheriff, have reopened their club rooms to their patrons upon an agreement of attorneys for their prosecutors until the supreme court hand down its opinion in another case almost identical with this one.

Another Demonstration at Kilpatrick's

On Wednesday morning, October 20th, we have arranged for a demonstration of La Camille Front Lace Corsets, by Madame Bell, of New York City.

These, are, in our judgment, the best and most satisfactory front lace corsets ever made—adaptable to your figure, accentuating your good lines and repressing faulty lines, designed to add grace and style to the appearance and, what is perhaps more important, be absolutely comfortable. The art of proper corseting is worth knowing whether you buy now or not. Allow Madame Bell to give you a fitting, and you will be convinced that all that has been said of this charming corset is true.

We want the ladies to know more about our new section for children's wear. As an attraction we offer Wednesday, a special purchase of children's coats—samples—at just about one-half regular price; sizes 2, 3 and 4; some satin lined, some fur trimmed; usually sold at $10, Wednesday $5.00.

A very special offering in Silk Petticoats, deep flounce, colors and black, at $4.95 each.

Be it known also, we have a complete assortment of the Magic Adjustable Belt Skirt from $1.50 up.

And here's a one day special from our new and greatly enlarged suit department. 300, or about that, of ladies' Suits and Dresses? man-tailored broadcloths, tweeds, worsteds, panamas, etc., usually $37.50, Wednesday, $28.75. New designs, new fabrics and elegantly made. Come early in the morning for best attention.
