SOLDIER BOY IN HIGH PLACE

With the little money he had saved from his war service and by studying hard at night after his day's work on the farm, he was soon able to teach school in the summer time and read law in the winter time. In those days the law student pursued his studies, not in some well appointed law school, but under the direction of some well read attorney of his acquaintance who was glad to give him the use of his office library, and to assist him in every way possible, especially if he was a promising young man who could afterwards be pointed to with pride by his benefactor.

Many of the most successful lawyers and strongest jurists had been educated in this way, and in connection with this self-education there is another well founded theory that the self-educated men, the men who had to work out their education little by little, making their own way in the world, learning practical lessons from rugged experience, are the best equipped when they come to apply themselves and to put their knowledge into practice.

Beginning in Nebraska.
Coming to Nebraska in 1871, Judge Barnes taught school, until 1873, when he was admitted to the bar at Ponca, in Dixon county, where he practiced law until 1875, when he was elected district attorney for the Sixth judicial district. At the end of the first term he was re-elected, and when Judge E. K. Valentine resigned his place on the district bench to become a member of congress, Judge Barnes was appointed in his stead as district judge.

At the expiration of that term he was re-elected for a term of four years. The Sixth judicial district then consisted of sixteen organized counties, together with all the unorganized territory lying west of it. Only three of the counties could be reached by railroad, and the travel from one county seat to another with the regular court work that belonged to the judge's office made it an arduous task to keep up with the business. The early acquired habit of hard work and strict attention to business stood him well in hand at this time, and the record stands to his credit.

CONSTIPATION THE CAUSE OF DISEASE

Nature's Own Remedy.
Constipation is not only disagreeable, it is dangerous. It allowed to become chronic it will prove the forerunner of disease. Nature intended the bowels to move regularly once a day. The delicate stomach and bowels are the keystone of the physical organization and should be kept in normal working order to preserve health. When the bowels become sluggish they require a natural and harmless laxative. Too often they are permanently damaged by powerful drugs taken to force action. In the famous Natural HUNYADI JANOS water, Nature herself has provided her own harmless laxative, which can be relied on for quick and sure results. It is tempered on arising will, within an hour, move the bowels gently and copiously. A bottle costs but a trifle and contains many doses. Look out for unscrupulous druggists who will substitute unless you ask for HUNYADI JANOS.

BLEACHED FLOUR GETS JOLT

Speakers at Bakers' Convention Rap Artificial Whitening.
OMAHA MAN ESPECIALLY SEVERE
E. Farnell Declares Process Injures Quality of Bread, with Noxious Results to Consumers of Oven Product.

Bleached flour, which had its inning at the forenoon session of the convention of the Nebraska Master Bakers' association, got a severe scolding at the afternoon meeting at the hands of E. Farnell of Omaha, a bread maker of wide experience, and Mrs. P. J. Burnett of the domestic science department of the Woman's club. Several members of the association also took sly shots at the artificially whitened products during the discussion following the addresses.

"As a manufacturer of millions of loaves of bread a year I am absolutely opposed to the bleaching of flour," said Mr. Farnell. "I have made tests and I want to ask the millers who favor bleached flour this question: Does it permit the use of inferior product of low grade in short patent flour? I am not going to answer that question, but I want the millers to tell us."

"I recently made a trip to the Canadian northwest and found all the mills up there doing away with the bleaching process because it enables unscrupulous millers to pass inferior product without detection. It also to a large extent affects the flavor of bread. The flavor of bread today is not what it was a few years ago before they began bleaching the flour."

"A number of bread manufacturers of my acquaintance got together to discuss the reason why they were unable to turn out bread of as good flavor as they did formerly. They found that it was because the millers had been giving them bleached flour. It produces a bread of dry, harsh taste which will not remain fresh twenty-four hours. The result of this is that people must eat the bread while it is too fresh and this is not good for them."

"I believe the best baker's bread I have ever eaten any place I have eaten in Omaha, but lately I have found it is not bleaching. This is because of the careless bleaching of the flour."

Miller Named Miller in Defense.
The attack on the whitening process brought C. J. Miller, a miller of Lincoln, to his feet in defense. He declared bleaching did not deceive the bakers because while it is whiter the quality of it would come out in the baking test. It was not injurious, he said, because it had been determined that in order to take a fatal dose of the poison one would have to eat 3,000,000 pounds of bleached flour bread at one sitting.

Mrs. F. J. Burnett of the Woman's club added a word on the subject when she rose to discuss "The Housekeeper's View of the Bakery."
She and the women who are studying in her department have talked over the bleached flour question and we want the unbleached flour. We don't care if it has a little color to it."

Mrs. Burnett delivered her address from a chair and was loudly cheered even when she scored the bakeries for some of the practices she objected to.
The other papers read at the afternoon session were "Advantages of Organization," by M. J. Mulroy of Dubuque, Iowa, president of the national association, and "System and Cost Accounting," by August C. Jung of Joplin, Mo., which was read in Mr. Jung's absence by Secretary Jay Burns.

Will Re-elect Old Officers.
The association without doubt will be officiated by the same men next year who have been at the helm this year. A motion was passed under the head of nominations for office, naming as candidates all the present officers. The election will be held this morning and as there is but one set of nominees there probably will be no contest. The officers are as follows:
President, George F. Wols. Fremont.
Vice president, P. F. Peterson.
Secretary, Jay Burns, Omaha.
Treasurer, P. W. Yager.

The convention next year probably will be held in one of the smaller towns of the state.
At the close of the regular session the Balty Order of Pretzels held a session in Eagles' hall, at which a Nebraska "baking" was organized. William H. Korn, Master Big Twist, of Davenport, Ia., presided.

"Nebraska wheat for Nebraska bread" was the slogan at the morning session and the ears of that popular cereal must have burned fiercely for all the good things said about it by the speakers.
Prof. E. G. Montgomery of the University of Nebraska gave the product of Nebraska wheat fields a boost when he declared, while not quite up to some other wheats in color, the Nebraska variety had a flavor peculiarly its own. The rounder eastern corner of the state, he said, had too much rainfall to produce a good, hard quality, but the middle section was ideal for wheat raising.

Congress Delays, Indians Suffer

Wisconsin Winnebagos Lose Crops and Their Annuity Funds Are Held Up.
(From a Staff Correspondent.)
WASHINGTON, Oct. 20.—(Special Telegram.)—The Indians of the Wisconsin Winnebagos tribe recently have had reason to believe that their annuity money is being held up needlessly, and that theirs is the lot of all who suffer from departmental red tape. The congressional committee now engaged in council with these Indians is looked to for aid, since, owing to crop failures, the tribe is in poor shape to face the winter months, and perhaps at this time it will be shown to the needy ones that the withholding of their annuity payments, which are usually made in November, is the result of congressional action and that little help can be extended when such an edict goes forth.

"During the second session of the sixtieth congress a resolution was passed authorizing a congressional investigation of the affairs of the Indians in Wisconsin. Pending final report of the committee, which is headed by Senator LaFollette, the secretary of the interior and the office of the commissioner of Indian affairs have had to suspend approval of any roll, making of allotments and timber contracts for the Indians of that state. The Winnebagos trust fund amounts to $250,000 and belongs to the Nebraska and Wisconsin branches of the tribe jointly. The act of March 2, 1900, authorized the payment to the Nebraska branch of its share as soon as a new enrollment of Wisconsin Winnebagos is made, and it also provides that the funds to the credit of the Wisconsin Indians shall be held in the treasury pending further legislation. Therefore, congress did not authorize the paying over of the entire amount held in trust for these Indians. Out of this situation came the rumor that the annuity payment had been discontinued. As congress has provided that the money shall draw interest at 3 per cent, and that the interest for the first six months will not be available until January 1, 1910, the annuity distribution must go over until that time."

The application of C. B. Mills of Clinton, Ia., E. M. Duros, Charles Gilmore, H. L. Halvorson and H. H. Hall to organize the First National bank of Sioux Rapids, Ia., with a capital of $100,000, has been approved by the comptroller of the currency.
The Omaha National bank of Omaha has been approved as reserve agent for the First National bank of Shelby, Neb.
George W. Honn has been appointed rural carrier for route 3 at Oxford and Charles W. Robinson rural carrier for route 1 at Truro, Ia.
