FINDS LETTERS IN OWN HOME

J. S. Paul Insists Missives Were Secured at His House.

DEFENSE HINTS AT SOMETHING

May Have Information as to How They Came Into Possession of Plaintiff—Denies Charges Made Against Him.

Cross-examination of John S. Paul in his suit for divorce yesterday afternoon served to give hint that the defense has, or thinks it has, something important as to how Paul got those letters which Mrs. Paul wrote to her New York sister.

Paul's memory was poor as to where he found them, saying he "found them in the house," but would not say just where in the residence. Again and again counsel made him go on record as swearing that he had not got them outside the house.

Otherwise the cross-examination was not sensational or significant of sensations. General Cowin did, however, make the witness admit continuing to dwell and cohabit with Mrs. Paul after many alleged offenses of various kinds.

The case has now gone over to Monday, when the plaintiff will have three more witnesses. Another witness of yesterday was Dr. Ellis, whose examination was brief. He denied an allegation set up by Mrs. Paul, namely, that Paul declared on direct examination that his wife had unjustly accused him with respect to four Florence women. He named them. Three of them were in the court room at the time Mrs. Paul's charge was repeated and one was moved to tears at the accusation. Only one of the four women whom Mrs. Paul named has been a witness against her.

Paul testified that his wife used frightful language, which he quoted.

The plaintiff's testimony began with certain subjects covered by Mrs. Paul in the letters to her sister, in her answer, Mr. Paul denying that he had ever procured or thought of procuring a physician for an improper purpose, that he "always served his relatives first," and that these kin and kin had been dependent on him for support.

Then he began a history of his married life. One of the early topics was Mrs. Paul's asking him, he said, to make a will leaving all to her. Then came an assertion that she proposed to him to sell their home, move away and establish a house for improper purposes.

Next he told of various incidents with regard to her behavior toward him, and "one day I came home for luncheon," said he, "and was at table with the children when Jeanette—she is the youngest—said to me:

"Papa, you're a fool."

"What's that?" I asked.

"Mamma says you're an old fool."

"When a newspaper came into the yard containing the news of Paul's filing for divorce in July of this year, Mrs. Paul picked up the paper," said her husband, "and opening it to the article about the divorce, laughed and said: 'Isn't that too funny?'"

"What's funny, mamma?" asked her daughter, Mrs. Paul in some scorn and repeated: "It's just too funny for anything."

When his divorce suit became pending Paul had business troubles thereby, according to his story. He had a capital in his bank of $50,000 and deposits of $20,000.

"When people demand of him some difficulties and withdrew their accounts."

At this time Paul said he "couldn't sleep, couldn't eat, couldn't work. Was nervous and didn't know what I was doing."

The witness was nervous enough while on the stand.

Mrs. Paul leaned forward in her chair when her husband repeated the trade which ended with the words, "get out of this house."

Poor Man Comes to Awful Fate

Drugged, Robbed of Six Quarts of Whisky and Left in Low Resort.

J. H. Peterson, a traveling man from Tekamah, has reported to the police that he was robbed of six quarts of whisky and a suit case Thursday afternoon following a period of unconsciousness that overtook him on the street.

Peterson told the officers that he was on his way to Union station when suddenly he lost all reckoning. Friday morning, he says, he found that his felonious assailants, whoever they may have been, had drugged him and left him in a low resort. The police extended sympathy.

Three Sentenced on Murder Charge

Judge, in Passing Sentence, Comments on the Frequency of Such Crimes.

(From a Staff Correspondent.)

DES MOINES, Oct. 22.—(Special Telegram.)—Three men were sentenced to life imprisonment today for three separate murders. In passing sentence Judge Jesse Miller said if these sentences didn't stop the wave of murder passing over this section, jurors would be found who would inflict the death penalty. One of the men sentenced was John Smeltzer, who shot and killed Pollock Delmege some weeks ago, while Delmege sought to arrest him. The other two were negroes, James Watkins and William Webster.

In a financial statement made today by Secretary Simpson of the Department of Agriculture, the profits of this year's state fair are shown to be $29,223. The total receipts this year were $1,500 greater than last year, but the expenses were $1,000 greater. The total receipts would have been $200,000 greater, but for two rainy days. During the last year $15,000 has been put in on the grounds in improvements, of which $50,000 was from the proceeds of last year's fair. During the last three years, from the proceeds of the fair, $150,000 has been put into improvements in the grounds.

The appeal of John Junken, who murdered Clara Rosen in Ottumwa, was filed with the clerk of the supreme court today. The case will be on the January docket.

On the advice of her brother, Prof. A. E. Goodenough of Simpson college of Indiana, the police here today arrested Carol Goodenough, a 17-year-old girl, just as she was meeting Rev. John G. Lake, age 35, of Chicago, who has just returned as a missionary from Africa. He claimed to the police that he did not intend to marry the girl now, but has the permission of her father, who is a missionary in Africa, to marry her when of age, but that the brother refused him permission to see her at the Indiana home, so they came here to meet.

Big Returns from Farms.

LOGAN, Ia., Oct. 22.—(Special.)—Last year Mr. William Stirts made his farm of 100 acres between Magnolia and Logan produce $50 per acre, this year Mr. Stirts expects the farm to surpass last year.

Misses Finley, a farm east of Logan, produced nine wagon loads of sweet pumpkins and $100 worth of potatoes on one acre of his farm this season. Raglan township fruit growers of Harrison county, in raspberries, have put the corn growers and potato growers out of commission, comparing net receipts for one year for one or two acres. From $100,000 and at the rate of $100 per acre and over are reported in raspberries alone.

Body of Bishop Arrives.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 22.—The body of Bishop Seth Ward of the Methodist Episcopal church, south, who died at Kobe, Japan, on September 24, arrived from the orient today. Burial will be at Houston, Tex.

The Overcoat with the Quintuple Collar, $20

It's for young men—33 to 40 chest—it's called the "Imperial"—its collar may be changed to any one of 5 open or closed effects—and the "Sampeck" people make it.

It comes in grey or greenish overcoating—it's full cut—has fancy cuffs—vertical pockets—it's the swaggiest, handiest "Broadway" garment ever offered at an "Omaha price."

It's an appeal to youngish tastes and a constant "coat challenge" at this figure—$20.

"Aggressive"—that's the word that best describes our larger selling powers.

Very "Cleverest" Suits at $20

We make so "YOUNG MEN'S CLOTHES" of course—the term "cleverest" ceases to attract the older ones—but it's music to the young fellow who delights in the very "fizziest" fabrics and modes of make up. We wish young men who wear $20 to see the suits we offer in fancy or plain serge; in fancy chevrons and the like; in the newer greens, or latest stone and smoke greys. These have every up-to-date style in fancy plaided over the garments—they're peerless, premier, unexcelled at $20.00.

If you've a boy, have him clad here—get a Knickerbocker suit with two pairs trousers at $5.00

Hardy Oak Soled Shoes for Boys

That's the sensible kind—and get them with orthopedic lasts so that the boy is comfortable. We have them in velour and box calf, or patent leather—at $2, $2.50 and $3—according to size.

THREE MEN SENTENCED TO LIFE IMPRISONMENT

Judge Miller, at Des Moines, Breaks Record in Acting Upon Three Cases.

DES MOINES, Ia., Oct. 22.—Three men convicted of murder in the first degree were sentenced to life imprisonment in the state penitentiary at Fort Madison by Judge Jesse Miller in today's session of criminal court. It is said this has never before occurred. The convicted men were John Smeltzer, who shot Detective Frank Delmege, James Watkins, who shot John Weaver and William Webster, who shot George Taibot.

Sioux City Carmen Held Up.
SIOUX CITY, Ia., Oct. 22.—(Special Telegram.)—The police are looking for two men who, near the home of the Good Shepherd, last night took possession of a Court street car and, at the point of revolvers, took $15 from O. Carlson, motorman, and $20 from C. Norberg, conductor. The men wore masks, and one entered the rear door and one the front door. They threatened the street car men with death upon the least resistance.

Co-Ed and University Coats & Dresses Galore

THE COATS. The snappiest "Co-Ed" coats are like this illustration, with long reverse collar of velvet and three-button fastenings. Materials are diagonal chevrons in two toned effects, in green, dark red, navy blue, rose and mixtures. Then, too, the same modeled "Co-Ed" may be had in superb broadcloth.

THE DRESSES. "Co-Ed" or University dresses are at their best here—we show the two-piece kinds with separate, full pleated skirts. Waists elegantly tailored and fasten on shoulder and down the side; finished with bias fold.

Materials are serge, shepherd plaids, diagonals, etc. in navy, red, brown or plain rears, chambrays or whites.

Garments of this character when worn by "small women" must be built FOR small women—or the slightest inappropriate line becomes exaggerated—therefore be sure to select the dress EXHIB where perfect fitting is the rule.

At $22.50, $25 and Upward to $27.50 At $20, $22.50 and Upward to $25

A Better Made, Better Styled Girls' Coat—Even Though Priced at $10

We've higher priced coats than the $10.00 ones, of course—but to show that our $10.00 are comprehensive ones, adjusted to every purse, we cite in this instance, POPULAR PRICED coats for girls—a "Ten Dollar" line.

Heron's brand is one of the most used trimmings on this season's girls' coats and the range of sizes at $10.00 includes "Yankees"—8 to 18 years.

Don't make a final selection before seeing the style, imitation make up, the superior materials and trim used in the juvenile garments shown here. These prestige points are carried out in the $10.00 coats.

Ladies' Shoes of New York Make "Tony" Kinds at $4, $5, $6

This season's usages demand short forepart lasts and we show them—in bronze, in dull leather, or patent leather. Each pair an exhibit of what the dearest New York makers are turning out.
