OREGON PLAN UNAMERICAN

System to Let Minority Rule, Says Senator Beach of Portland.

THAT STATE IS SICK OF DEAL

Republicans Are Aroused to Revolt and Former Nebraska Hopes This State May Escape Similar Results.

"Nebraska, I hope, may never have the same experience with the Oregon plan of electing senators by own state has had. But I fear with the statute on your books the experience will be a bitter one."

"If there ever was a system devised to let the minority rule in a better fashion than this, I have never heard of it. Oregon's experience has already aroused the republicans to revolt and next year they will hold assemblies that are really conventions and will suggest candidates for office who will be real men. A state with a normal republican majority of between 30,000 and 40,000, I think, will never again let the minority dictate its officers."

In this way State Senator Seneca C. Beach of Portland, Ore., on his return from a trip to Chicago, gave expression to his sentiments on the "Oregon plan," which will soon be tried in Nebraska. Mr. Beach formerly lived in Nebraska, running the Stromberg's Restaurant in 1881. He is president of a printing firm in Portland.

Portland in State of Revolt.

"Portland has already revolted," continued Mr. Beach, "and with the selection of former United States Senator Joseph Simon for mayor, the coast city sees hope for better things. The business interests of Oregon, since the crisis for the 'ideal' in politics, have suffered tremendously. This is no fancy. With the initiative and referendum it has been possible for one section of the state to pass a law directly antagonistic to a law passed by another section making it illegal absolutely to do any thing in Oregon if laws passed by the people are observed and involving in uncertainty the large amount of capital in this one line. Capital hesitates to run any risk when similar laws may be passed again affecting other industries. 'The harm is done in our primary system by democrats who vote as republicans in the primaries, putting up weak candidates on the republican side to be knocked down at election. I have the names of 5,000 men, have to be democrats, who voted the republican primary ticket for Calkins when Chamberlain's name was not even on the ballot and was written in. The democrats had no more than twelve names on the state and county tickets, showing they cared nothing for any office save senator.

Taking the Pledge. Weak-kneed republicans were induced to sign statement No. 1 on the primary ticket pledging support for the people's choice for senator. They would do this rather than force the people to have confidence in their own discretion or pledge themselves for their party candidate. Then, when by democratic aid a weak republican like Calkins was put up, the vote went to Chamberlain, who in the tariff fight was seventy-five times absent when important votes were taken. Chamberlain was popular, having been twice governor, but his record since being elected senator has made the people sick. The people, unthinkingly, are too prone to vote for the chimerical in politics. They see Utopia ahead and chase after it. Oregon voters have the initiative and referendum, the recall and almost every other form of populism until they are satisfied."

Senator Beach knew Governor Shallenbarger as a boy when he lived in Polk county and helped entertain him on his recent visit to the coast with his staff.

DATA ON STREET CAR AFFAIRS

Answers to City Clerk Butler's Inquiries Are Coming from Other Cities.

City Clerk Butler is beginning to receive answers to the list of questions he sent to forty or more cities, asking for data on street car company regulation and fares. The letter from the city clerk was sent out in compliance with a resolution of Judge Berka, councilman from the First ward, who insisted the council should have such information before acting on the ordinance for a reduction of street car fares. Most of the cities answering so far have sent in copies of their ordinances, which will have to be read and analyzed. The Kansas City clerk sent a copy of the new ordinance over which the council and the street car company are still quarreling. Other cities, like St. Louis, answer the questions briefly, without bringing in details from the ordinances. As yet the answers received are few in number.

New York Life Building Changes Name New Year's

It Will Then Be Called After the Omaha National Bank, Its New Owner.

Omaha people, who for eighteen years have been calling it the New York Life building, will have to get used to a new name after January 2, for on that date the big ten-story structure at Seventeenth and Farnam streets will be rechristened by the officials of the Omaha National bank, which has bought it and it will thereafter be the Omaha National bank building.

Already tenants in the building are preparing to have the change made on their new supplies of letterheads and advertising matter. At first it is expected some confusion will result on account of these conservative ones who will still insist on calling the present location of the bank by the old name. The bank officials do not anticipate that the confusion will be very long continued, however, for the old building will be in the hands of new owners and will be by them renamed.

The Omaha National bank will take possession of the building December 31, and on the day following, New Year's day, the formal change of name will be made. It is expected that the contract for the remodeling of the first floor of the building to accommodate the banking rooms will be let within the next ten days.

CUDAHY'S LIVERPOOL MAN

R. W. Nickerson, Here to See Company, Says No Discrimination Against Yankee Meat.

R. W. Nickerson of Liverpool, England, representative of the Cudahy Packing company, is in Omaha on his biennial visit for conference with the Cudahy company. "There is no significance to my visit that could in any way concern the public," said he. "I am merely here for conference with the company, which we have every two or three years."

"Trade matters are progressing favorably in England and I guess we are getting our share. There is nothing to be said about any discrimination against American meat products in England and none exists that we are aware of."

GRADING OUTFITS ARE SCARCE

Dirty Moving Gangs Are So Busy that the Contractors Call in Valia.

The scarcity of grading outfits, which has been retarding one or two big jobs of dirt moving in and around Omaha, is about to be broken by the annual fall return of the railroad grading outfits. These big concerns, which go out on the plains west and north to take heavy contracts, drift back eastward in the fall in time to take contracts for the winter. Several of these have returned to relieve the situation, which had become threatening. One firm which has a large all winter job,

Third Tragedy in Whitney Family

Two Sons and Mrs. F. B. Spear Meet Accidental Death—Mother Active in W. C. T. U.

Mrs. Frank B. Spear, who met with death by being thrown from an automobile while enroute from Diller to Lincoln Thursday morning, was the daughter of Mrs. D. L. Whitney of Topeka, Kan. Mrs. Whitney was, for many years, one of the leaders in the Woman's Christian Temperance union work in Nebraska and since her removal to Topeka, about eight years ago, has been prominently identified with the Woman's Christian Temperance union in that state and expected to be present at the convention now on in Omaha, but the tragic death of her only daughter has prevented her presence here.

An extremely sad feature in the death of Mrs. Spear, is that this is the third sudden death in Mrs. Whitney's family. Two sons have within recent years died either suddenly or by accident, and Mr. and Mrs. Whitney are now bereft of all their children.

COY BRIDEGROOM OF EIGHTY DEFTLY SIDESTEPS ALIMONY

Ulrich Tolstedt Proves that Age Does Not Blunt the Point of Financial Acquisitiveness.

Ulrich Tolstedt, a coy young bridegroom of 83 years, at odds with his wife, appears to have been a fairly astute man. It now appears that when he and Mrs. Tolstedt, who is said not to have been his first helpmeet, fell out, he quietly sold his land in Iowa and Omaha, and, turning it all into cash to the amount of $30,000, went to parts unknown. Thus he sidestepped any alimony should this eventuate.

Also he started suit to replevin an automobile from his wife, bringing suit against her in her name before they married. Why he used this name, "Nellis Kerby," has not been made clear, unless he feared to make legal acknowledgment that she was his wife. This is not very satisfactory, for it is not disputed that he married the woman who is 28, forty-five years his junior.

The auto replevin suit went against the octogenarian in county court, Judge Leslie holding that Tolstedt gave it to his wife.

PHYSICIANS BECOMING FAMOUS

Austro-American Doctors Gaining Fame by Their Wonderful Success in Treating Chronic Ailments Which Have Baffled Other Physicians and Which Other Methods of Treatment Have Failed to Cure

The scientific "New Method" treatment which the Austro-American Doctors are using is proving a boon to those suffering with chronic diseases who come to them for treatment.

Hundreds of seemingly hopeless cases have been completely cured, and the fame of these doctors has spread so that many people have come hundreds of miles to consult them. And in doing so, they have made no mistake, as all cases curable have been accepted and cured—those incurable have been frankly told so, and the case rejected without fees, as the Austro-American Doctors make no charge, for consultation and examination. Note what Charles S. Hardy of Sloan, Iowa, has to say after two weeks' treatment:

Sloan, Iowa, October 12, 1909.

Gentlemen: I wish to thank you and also let the public know about your treatment. I have been a sufferer since April, 1908, from pains in my side, hip and back; suffered from rheumatism for four years. I have been in the hospital and also treated by local doctors, but I must say, I have never received from any of them the benefit that I have from you. I came to you two weeks ago, and am steadily improving. When I came to you I could hardly walk or bear any person to touch my body—today the soreness is almost gone. I am stronger and in a few days will go to work. Anybody suffering as I did, ought, in justice to themselves, call on you and take your specific remedies and treatment. I will cheerfully let any person know, who may write me, all about my case.

CHARLES S. HARDY, Sloan, Iowa.

Mr. Hardy's case is only one of the many whom the New Method Treatment has helped. It will pay those suffering with paralysis, rheumatism, goitre, gall stones, epilepsy, diseases of the liver, kidney, stomach, blood or any chronic or nervous disease of men or women, to call on the Austro-American Doctors. They are located at Suite 425, Range Building, Fifteenth and Harney, just opposite the Orpheum Theater. The great diacetician, Dr. Milan, gives personal attention to all patients.
