Executive Greeted by Great Crowd from Blue Grass State.

HE RE-STATES HIS POSITION Waterways in Kentucky Should Be Made on a Local Basis.

CANNON ALSO RE-STATES HIS POSITION

Speaker Agrees with President on All Points Except First Stop at Hickman.

HICKMAN, Ky., Oct. 26.—After twenty-four hours on the Mississippi river, with a mile or so on the Ohio thrown in, President Taft arrived here shortly after 4 o'clock and made an address from a stand erected on the levee.

Tonight the excursion fleet of a dozen or more packets which the president is leading to the Lakes-to-the-Gulf Deep Waterways convention at New Orleans is proceeding down the big river.

President Taft is finding the river trip a bit resting and enjoyable. On the light-house tender, he is surrounded by a few members of his own party and is the guest of Commander E. H. Tillman, U. S. N.

Three Speeches During Day. In the three brief speeches he delivered with husky voice today at Cape Girardeau, Mo., Cairo, Ill., and here, Mr. Taft reiterated his position in favor of deep waterways where it can be demonstrated that the plan for their construction is feasible, necessary and can be carried to completion without a too great expenditure of money.

At Cairo the president was followed by Speaker Cannon, who declared that he approved President Taft's declaration in nearly every particular, and wished he could approve them in all.

PRINCE ITO IS ASSASSINATED

Japanese Statesman is Shot to Death in Railroad Station at Harbin by Korean.

REVENGE IS THE MOTIVE. Slayer Says He Had Personal Account with His Victim.

THREE COMPANIONS WOUNDED. Body Will Be Taken to Japan on a Warship.

FRAMER OF MODERN SYSTEM. He Was Recognized as Japan's Leading Public Man and One of World's Greatest Constructive Statesmen.

HARBIN, Manchuria, Oct. 26.—Prince Hirobumi Ito, former Japanese resident general of Korea and Japan's foremost statesman, was assassinated here this afternoon (Tuesday) by a Korean who had followed him here for the express purpose of killing him. The motive of the assassination was revenge. The assassin was arrested.

Almost immediately on his arrival here, and just as Prince Ito left the railroad car at the station, the attack was made upon him. The venerable statesman, accompanied by Russian Minister of Finance Kokovoff, was starting to inspect the guard of honor drawn up along the platform when a pistol shot was heard. Several more shots were fired in quick succession, the bullet striking the prince in the back. Prince Ito fell mortally wounded.

Revenge Motive of Crime. "I came to Harbin for the sole purpose of assassination Prince Ito, to avenge my country," the slayer told his captors. He also said he had a personal account with the great Japanese statesman, who during his stay in Korea had ordered the execution of several persons closely connected with the assassin.

Prince Ito was recognized as the leading statesman of Japan and it was he who after his study of the great nations of Europe and the United States compiled one of the best constitutions in the world.

He Took an Active Part in Big Campaigns of the War and Was Prominent in Civil and Army Affairs.

BURLINGTON, Vt., Oct. 26.—General Oliver O. Howard, one of the union commanders of the civil war, died at his home in this city tonight. Heart disease was the cause of the noted soldier's death. He was 79 years old.

General Howard was professor of mathematics at West Point, from which he had graduated in 1846. He asked for a leave of absence but this was refused him.

General Howard was in all the battles of the Army of the Potomac. At the battle of Fair Oaks he was twice wounded in the right arm and had to have it amputated. After the death of General MePherson he succeeded him in the command of the Army of the Tennessee. In Sherman's memorable march to the sea he was placed in command of the right wing, one of the two in which Sherman's forces were divided, and in this position he served until the close of the war.

General Howard saw considerable service since the war in Indian campaigns, leading the expedition against the Nez Percés in 1877 and against the Bannocks and Pitens a year later. In 1881 and 1882 he was superintendent of the United States military academy. In the latter year he was appointed commander of the Department of the Platte with headquarters at Omaha, where he remained until 1885, when he was made major general and assigned to the division of the Pacific. Later he was transferred to the division of the East, where he remained until he retired from the army.

General Howard was a scholar and a lawyer as well as a soldier. At Burlington, as a young man, he was the recipient of his fellow students, who graduated with high honors and kept up his cultivation of learning and literature. He was a doctor of laws of several American universities and for years was a chevalier of the French Legion of Honor. He has written several books, chief among which are "Chief Joseph of the Nez Percés in Peace and War," "Life of Count Agenor de Gasparin" and "Donald's School Days." He has also written many magazine articles on military subjects after his retirement.

Taft Turns Down Plans for Dinner; Reporters Wild

Newspaper Men Released Stories of Event that Did Not Take Place—Kept from Wires.

CAPE GIRARDEAU, Mo., Oct. 26.—There was one incident of the trip of the presidential party down the Mississippi river last night that newspaper men will remember. What with his strenuous day in St. Louis yesterday and his strained throat, President Taft was completely tired out, and an hour after the boat left the city he sent word to the governor's boat, the St. Paul, that he would have to be excused from attending the banquet arranged for him and them until later in the trip.

Elaborate plans for the feast had to be changed in a few minutes, and there was much hurrying and confusion. The viands intended for the banquet were put back in the refrigerators and the servers were given a lonely and frugal repast.

Not the least amusing feature of the incident was the frantic efforts of the newspaper men to send out "killa" on their elaborately detailed stories of the banquet, including several of the governor's speeches. They begged in vain to get ashore at some telegraph station, the called loudly to people on the bank that the president was ill, hoping that in this way a warning word would get to the offices. All devices were in vain, however, and the stories of the dinner had to stand.

After summing a venire of fifty-two federal petit jurors, the examination of which occupied just twenty-four hours, these twelve men were selected shortly before noon Tuesday to try the case.

J. C. Robinson, a seedman of Waterloo, Charles F. Martin, a retired farmer of Benson, William Schroeder of Schuyler, a farmer, J. McNamara, a retired farmer of Winona, Melvin E. Seelye, a retired farmer of Fremont, C. W. Eckerman, collector and salesman of the Payne Investment company, Omaha, E. C. Marston, carpenter, 2421 Templeton street, Omaha, and W. A. Burgess of the Burgess-Grandon company, Omaha.

Walter L. Davis, hardware merchant of Waterloo, G. H. Rose, salesman, 3524 Lafayette street, Omaha, Eugene K. Kays, farmer of Springfield, Nelson B. Smith, farmer of Homer.

The remainder of the panel of ninety, drawn for the term, were excused from further service by the court and were discharged.

Shelton Laughs at Goss. District Attorney Goss then submitted the statement of the government's side of the case to the jury, following the reading of the indictment.

D. W. Woods said the closest attention to the opening statement of Mr. Goss and seemed particularly interested in that portion of the statement relating to the finding of the masks, guns and other paraphernalia of the robbers near the Brown Park school house. Grigware also manifested considerable interest in this part of the statement. Matthews, if at all interested, remained perfectly stolid and gave no sign.

The reference to the four or five men being seen at Fremont the afternoon, preceding the robbery, caused Shelton to manifest considerable levity, which was checked with sharp asperity by his attorney.

Interested spectators in the courtroom, which was as usual crowded, were the father and brother of Grigware from Spokane. The defense made no introductory statement to the jury, preferring to let the government show its hand and then proceed along its line of defense accordingly.

Court resumed at 2 o'clock, following the noon recess, and some brisk legal sparring was indulged in by Mr. MacFarland for the defense objected to the government witnesses being permitted in the courtroom during the taking of testimony by the other witnesses. It was apparent that this would exclude some of the government officials who are members of the court. A compromise was finally effected, permitting the federal officials who were witnesses in the case to remain in the courtroom. All others were excluded.

Engineer Tells Graphic Story. The first witness was A. R. Melickolm, engineer of the Overland Limited. He told a graphic story of the holdup. How his attention was first directed to the man with a gun by his reflection in the glass of the cab window. The firebox door was open, throwing a strong light on the bandit. As the engineer turned the bandit looked an automatic pistol into his face and informed him that he meant business. A moment later a second bandit slid down off the tank into the cab and, covering Fireman Prowl ordered him to hold up his hands. At the same time covering
