Good and Batten Have Conference

Democratic Candidate for Judge is Closeted with Anti-Saloon Worker.

(From a Staff Correspondent.)

LINCOLN, Oct. 28.—(Special.)—Judge B. H. Good, who is a candidate on the democratic ticket for supreme judge and who has been trying for both the saloon and the anti-saloon vote in Nebraska, took up his headquarters in the private office of Governor Shallenberger this afternoon and held some important conferences.

Among those who called at the office of the governor while Judge Good was holding forth was Rev. Samuel Zane Batten, pastor of the First Baptist church of this city and energetic in anti-saloon agitation. After the conference Rev. Mr. Batten was asked if he had seen Judge Good.

"Is he in town?" was the answer.

When assured that Judge Good was in the city and that he and Rev. Mr. Batten had been together in the office of the governor, Mr. Batten said he had seen Judge Good at a distance.

"Did you discuss turning over to Judge Good the anti-saloon vote of the state?" was asked.

"Did you not know that the temperance people decided yesterday that they would make no endorsement officially? A person has a right to support whoever he pleases as an individual, has he not?" said Mr. Batten.

Immediately after Rev. Mr. Batten left the office of the governor, Dr. Hall, democratic national committeeman, was called over the telephone and asked to come to the governor's office as soon as possible. Upon his arrival Dr. Hall was ushered into the private office of the chief executive for a conference with the nonpartisan democratic judicial candidate.

Having secured the endorsement of a Bohemian paper as a liberal candidate and also the endorsement of a Polk county paper as a prohibitionist, this conference today in the governor's office is taken to mean that Judge Good intends to bring to bear every possible pressure to secure the anti-saloon vote, without permitting the other side to know it. It was, of course, impossible to discover just what proposition was made to Judge Good or what suggestions he made.

JUDGE GOOD AS DOUBLE DEALER

Plays Temperance in York and Liberal in Other Counties.

YORK, Neb., Oct. 28.—(Special.)—The many acquaintances of B. F. Good, democratic nominee for judge of the supreme court of Nebraska, here in York county are acquainted with the various kinds of ward politics that he uses to secure his election. In the first place when making his campaigns for district judge of this district he has used every means to secure votes and in several campaigns seemed to ignore his fundamentalism on the same ticket. Here in York, a temperance city, when he made

Superintendent Asks to Have Accountant Check Up the Books.

ALDRICH OUT FOR GOVERNOR

Senator Announces Platform on Which He Will Appeal to Republican Voters at Primaries Next Year.

(From a Staff Correspondent.)

LINCOLN, Oct. 28.—(Special.)—At last blowoff is about to come at the insane asylum at Lincoln. Superintendent Woodard has asked for the state accountant to examine the books of the institution at the institution. This request, coming after six or eight months of war between the superintendent and the bookkeeper, means one of two things—either Felix Newton, the bookkeeper, is to be fired or the governor intends to throw the harpoon into the superintendent.

Bright and early this morning Superintendent Woodard came to the state house and made his demand for the state accountant to at once come to the asylum and investigate it, and a few moments after he left Felix Newton rushed into the governor's office for a private conference with Secretary Farnham.

Whether the steward, Horace Bishop, is going to be dragged into the controversy remains to be seen, but it has been reported at the state house that the steward and the bookkeeper are at odds and he may also come in for a checking up during the blowoff.

State Accountant Tulleys refused to go out and investigate the institution at the invitation of the superintendent until Auditor Barton had given him orders to do so.

Inasmuch as the vouchers for the institution have not yet been filed with the secretary of state, it is taken to mean that Superintendent Woodard intends to discharge a number of employes, but he does not want the fact to become known until after election. In fact there is evidence to indicate that he has already requested the resignation of Newton, though the same was successfully withheld running for the office of district judge in this district.

BODWELL ENTERS A DENIAL

Former County School Superintendent Testifies in Paul Case.

DENIES EVERY CHARGE MADE

Admits Going to Florence and Being Told by Paul of His Intention to Name Him in Divorce Suit.

E. J. Bodwell of Beatrice took the stand in the Paul divorce hearing this morning to deny the charges which have linked his name with that of Mrs. Paul. The former Douglas county superintendent of schools entered denial in whole and in detail of the allegations of the plaintiff and of the evidence given against himself.

"Were you ever in any room at the Millard hotel, or at any other hotel, with Mrs. Paul?" he was asked.

"I never was."

"Did you ever meet her in any place except her home at Florence?"

"I never did," replied the witness.

After questions with regard to meeting Mrs. Paul and Mrs. Nichols in front of certain stores the witness was asked:

"Were you ever alone with Mrs. Paul at any time in your life?"

"It was not," said Bodwell.

His Visit to Paul.

Cross-examination had to do with a visit of his to Florence, March 22, this year. He testified that he called on Paul then and that Paul then told him there would be a suit and that Bodwell would be a party.

"You know," asked A. W. Jefferis, "that I was Paul's attorney?"

"Yes."

"You know also that I had been a friend of your for years?"

"Yes."

"Then why did you not come to see me?"

"I was conscious," answered Bodwell, "that there was nothing in this and I thought that if there were any intention to try to involve me that you would come to see me."

"You expected me," asked the lawyer, "to come and hunt you up?"

Bodwell repeated his former answer.

Bodwell Falters Briefly.

One question on cross-examination made the witness, who was perceptibly nervous, falter for the smallest part of a second. This was when Jefferis asked him why he had gone to Florence that day.

But he answered that he had wanted to take a street car ride with his niece and had wished to see the pump station.

Ed H. Walker's examination was not thorough when the court rose at noon. His testimony concerned itself so far with the meeting of Mrs. Paul and Mrs. Nichols in Council Bluffs.

Mrs. Paul ended her fourth day's appearance on the stand before Bodwell was called. Her last testimony was with regard to a "widow's veil," which Mrs. Gunn said she wore down to Omaha several times before she and Paul separated.

Mrs. Paul explained this as not a widow's veil, "but a little chiffon affair" which she had borrowed to furnish up a shabby hat.
