Mrs. Shaw Chides the Suffragists

Tells Them They Are Wrong in Adopting Militant Tactics, but They Decide to Stand Pat.

(From a Staff Correspondent.)

DES MOINES, Oct. 29.—(Special Telegram.)—Dr. Anna Shaw, national president of the equal suffragists, who reached Des Moines today, told the Iowa state convention of suffragists that they had done wrong in adopting the English militant methods to further their cause. She told them such methods would not work in America and the cause would be damaged by their actions. Mrs. Julia Clarke Hallam of Sioux City, who was today elected president, says they propose to carry out the militant methods anyway, in spite of the adverse advice of the older and more conservative leaders. Mrs. Mary Craig of Allison was elected vice president and Mrs. Margaret Sutton of Corydon was elected secretary.

George Wilcox, the Osceola farmer struck by an Urbankade interurban car at the Union depot here a week ago, died at Mercy hospital early today. He was 30 years old and did not regain consciousness after an accident. His wife was with him when he died. He was a well-to-do farmer and the body will be taken to Osceola for interment.

W. L. Livingston, attorney for Leroy Ware of Corydon, who was convicted of criminal acts in relation to the Corydon bank, arrived in Des Moines at 8 tonight to get legal advice from the supreme court to keep Ware from being sent back to the penitentiary. Ware was paroled by the State Board of Parole. Today Judge H. M. Towner ordered him sent back on the claim that the crime for which Ware was convicted having been committed before the State Board of Parole law took effect, the board has no authority to parole him. The board has exercised such authority many times, and this action of Judge Towner raised an important question of law.

In chambers at Ottumwa Judge Smith McPherson issued an order that the Des Moines Water company must allow the city to examine its books. The order was filed with Clerk McArthur of federal court here today.

Creston Observes Its Anniversary

Thriving City of the Present Founded by Burlington Railroad Forty Years Ago.

CRESTON, Ia., Oct. 29.—(Special.)—Last night the fortieth anniversary of the founding of Creston was held in the Union county court house and was largely attended by old timers and representative citizens. The evening was spent in speeches and a movement was inaugurated for a "booster" campaign, and committees appointed to start the movement. It was also decided to plan for a big homecoming meeting next fall. The early history of this place shows it was founded by a corporation, and that corporation was the Burlington railroad. The company realized it was a convenient place for their business, and a division station, and had faith it would make good. Forty years ago, there was neither wood, stone, coal nor water here. Now there are all of these and much more in the way of improvements.

The first plat surveyed for the city, was filed by the late S. H. Mallory of Charleston, October 30, 1869, and the petition to the district court, asking that the town be incorporated was filed June 20, 1871. Of the citizens who signed the petition but three are still living, and all reside here—C. S. Rex, Nate Corey and W. T. Maxwell. Mrs. Henry Pfeiffer, has the distinction of having been a resident of the locality, before the plat of the city was made. Having come with her parents here before October 30, 1869, and has lived here continuously ever since. Her father, Patrick O'Brien, built the first house here and lived here until about a year ago when he removed to St. Joseph where he is in the employ of Burlington railroad. At present Creston claims between ten and twelve thousand inhabitants.

High Mark in Tax Levy.

MARSHALLTOWN, Ia., Oct. 29.—(Special.)—The tax levy against property of the first class in the city of Marshalltown for the year 1910 is 28 mills on the taxable value of one-quarter of the assessed value. This means a tax of 23 per cent on the real value. This levy sets a new high mark, higher by 6 mills than any similar levy in the history of the city has ever been. The levy this year was 16 mills, 12 mills less than the levy for the coming year. The increases are due to big raises made in the levy for city purposes by the city council.

Mrs. Perkins Makes Gift.

IOWA CITY, Ia., Oct. 29.—(Special.)—Mrs. Elizabeth Forbes Perkins, widow of the founder of the Burlington railroad system, has given $50,000 to establish four perpetual scholarships at Harvard for students from Iowa. One of these must be held by a resident graduate of the Burlington high school, two are open to graduates of high schools anywhere in the state, and the fourth is to be filled by a graduate from any Iowa college or university.

Iowa News Notes.

MASON, J. A. Harris, alias Arthur Johnson, a man who is accused of fatally wounding Mayor Corman of Cedar Rapids while in the act of robbing his home, was placed on trial here today. Mayor Corman died a few days after he was wounded.

ALLISON—Funeral, the 1-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hyde, filled the contents of a bureau drawer at the home of her parents, which contained some medicinal tablets containing poison, ate them and died as a result of the poisoning today. When it was discovered what the child had eaten she was beyond medical help.

IOWA CITY—Minus the dark dances the sophomore cotillion in the University of Iowa will be given on December 17. The committee in charge of the affair, the faculty will not be so attractive as it was with the dark dances has decided to give the party. The party will be held in the ball room from Case college and Cornell to attend the formal.

IOWA CITY—E. S. H. (rank of Casey, Ia., was yesterday promoted to lieutenant in the University of Iowa regiment by Lieutenant Morton C. Mumma, the new commandant. Carl H. Byer of Des Moines is cadet quartermaster and cadet captain. E. C. Gilbert of Des Moines was appointed to first lieutenant rank and also ranked as adjutant of the first battalion.

GLADENBROOK—Lester stretched across the grave of his mother in the German Methodist cemetery here, the body of Frank J. Heintz, a well known resident of this place, was found today after a search of thirty-two hours. Death resulted from an accumulation of carbolic acid. He disappeared from his home Tuesday night, but it was not until today that the relatives thought to look in the cemetery. Heintz suffered paralysis

CORYDON—The closing chapter in an old time romance has just been enacted here in the death of Mrs. Amanda Fitzgerald, aged 96 years, the slave wife of H. W. Fitzgerald. It all happened yesterday in the early "forties" when Mrs. Fitzgerald was a beautiful mulatto slave girl and lived in southern Missouri. Her mother "Aunt Rosie" was a full blooded African, and Mr. Fitzgerald was a "poor white." He loved the beautiful mulatto girl, and bought her and her mother from their owner, and afterward married the young woman. They all came north to Wayne county, Iowa and have resided there ever since. When the war broke out in 1860, Mr. Fitzgerald was one of the first to enlist, and served during all the four years. He was honorably discharged. His death occurred about five years ago.

5 Changes, Sir!

—the collar has everything to do with an overcoat's appearance—change the collar and you've apparently changed the overcoat.

—the "Sampeck" Imperial Overcoat for young men has a remarkably clever convertible collar—just think! it's a collar that changes into FIVE different shapes.

—thus, you differentiate your appearance to that extent—five changes of collar styles means a departure from "sameness."

—this cut shows the collar buttoned up for blustery weather—the other four changes are JUST as satisfactory.

—we've this "Imperial" coat in several prices—some higher than $20—but it's the $20 style we are interesting upon you here.

—at $20 we'll sell an "Imperial" in one of those particularly appealing gray or greenish fabrics; touched up with fancy cuffs; vertical pockets; big buttons, etc.

—and you'll fall right in with the "full cut" that the "Sampeck" people have imparted to "Imperials."

Just ask to see $20.00 "Imperials" for young men
