Held on Suspicion of Misleading Girls

G. B. Penn is Arrested and One Young Woman Found and Sent to Detention Home.

G. B. Penn, a traveling man, whose mother is said to be on her death bed at 218 South Twentieth street, was arrested yesterday by Detective Dunn on the suspicion of being connected with the white slave traffic, examined by the county attorney and detained for the present, though placed under no formal charge.

One girl, Beadie Martin, in whom he was said to have an interest, was found and placed in the detention home. A book containing the names of fifteen girls was found in Penn's possession.

The police understand girls were to be sent or taken to Kansas City. Investigations are being made which will result in Penn's discharge or retention on a formal charge.

NEW THINKERS TO MEET HERE
Will Hold Convention in Omaha in 1911, Say Delegates Back from Nevada.

Nebraska delegates to the convention of the National Association of Suggestive Therapists at Nevada, Mo., have returned home with the information the convention will come to Omaha in 1911. Nevada was selected as the meeting place for next year, but Omaha was promised for the year following. Alfred Tomson, one of the Omaha delegates, says the convention was one of the best the association has ever held.

The thirty-one Nebraska delegates, which was the largest delegation present from any state, met together while there and formed a state association with State Senator Akers of Scott's Bluffs as president, Mrs. W. H. Cowgill of Lincoln vice president, and Dr. T. Z. Magarrell of Omaha secretary-treasurer. A district association for the northwestern states may be formed for the purpose of holding annual conventions.

The association favors drugless methods of treating diseases.

PLAN OF JAPANESE BANQUET

Bryan and Haller Will Speak and General Manderson Preside.

SOCIETY WOMEN TO TAKE HAND

They Will Be Entertaining Japanese Women in Picturesque Style While Commercial Club is Honoring Commissioners.

W. J. Bryan and Frank L. Haller will be the speakers at the banquet to be given at the Commercial club in honor of the Honorary Commercial Commissioners of Japan on the evening of November 22. Announcement of some of the details of the event have been given out at the Commercial club.

Ex-Senator Charles F. Manderson will be the toastmaster and the 150 members of the reception committee will be present in addition to a few public officials. Following the toasts by the Nebraskans Baron Eithei Shibusawa will respond to a toast in Japanese, which will be translated, and Baron Kusuda, one of the most prominent educators in Japan and a professor in the Peers college at Tokyo, will respond in English.

Baron Shibusawa is the chairman of the commission and is at the head of one of the two largest banking houses in Japan. He was the first to establish a bank under the present stock plan in the empire in 1873. The institution is known as the Dai Ichi bank of Tokyo.

During the day the eminent Japanese will be shown points of interest in the city, taking in the Union Pacific shops, the McKeen Motor Car works and the water works at Florence. While they are thus engaged a special committee of society women will be entertaining the six women of the party. The Japanese women wear their native costumes and the functions for them will be very picturesque.

The names of the women are Baroness Shibusawa, Baroness Kusuda, Madame Koyoko, Madame Takai, Madame Midzuno and Miss Takamashi.

Three Months Trial Over Ring

Long Litigation Fought Out for the Possession of a Valuable Diamond.

Three months' litigation centering on the ownership of a sparkling diamond was ended in court when Justice George C. Cookrell rendered judgment for $15 in favor of Abraham Isaacson against the Novelty Skirt company, Herman Krause, however, the secretary of the skirt company, is wearing the gem on his finger that was formerly in the possession of Isaacson.

The story had its first inning in September when Isaacson borrowed money on his ring, which he valued at $25. Isaacson was then given a position by the Novelty Skirt company as the company's agent in St. Joseph, Mo. It proved to be a poor business venture and Isaacson decided to give up his work. He then sought to recover his ring, then in the possession of Krause. To his dismay he learned that the company had given him credit on its books for $25 worth of goods which he was supposed to have taken with him to St. Joseph.

TRIAL WAITS TILL JUROR GETS BROKEN LEG MENDED

Case Delayed Only Half an Hour, When Man is Back in His Place.

Jurors are late sometimes because of this or because of that and the excuse are generally hackneyed as those of a school boy.

But R. G. Van Ness, 1410 South Eighteenth street, had a new and valid one.

Mr. Van Ness is one of the twelve men hearing the suit of Elizabeth Keuff against David Brand over an automobile accident. Thursday night, while on the way home, he had a little accident, and it was this which made him late next morning.

Judge Day explained it to the jury: "Mr. Van Ness has a wooden leg," said the court, "and last night while on the way home he broke it. He sent it at once to a doctor to have the fracture mended to Pentz, but they have been late this morning in sending home his leg and, of course, Mr. Van Ness is not able to navigate well without it."

Then Ralph W. Breckenridge and W. J. Connell, the opposing attorneys, each thought he saw a chance to playver the jury and remarked in chorus to being "very well satisfied to go on with these eleven intelligent men," but the court waited half an hour and Van Ness arrived.

Visitation Day is Proclaimed by the Mayor

OMAHA, Oct. 28. 1909.—To the People of Omaha: The Omaha Church Federation set aside Saturday, October 30, 1909, as Visitation day. Its purpose is to gather information and to give each church an accurate record of the people who desire to affiliate with any particular church, thereby giving the Christian workers an opportunity of coming in closer touch with their people. Volunteer workers representing all denominations will visit each house in our city on Saturday.

Records of this information will be kept where all can consult them. A great many Christian people hardly ever church, they become careless, change residence and drift away. A record of this kind will help the ministers. They can drop in on you occasionally and remind you. The chances are that you will go to church and when you get there you will be inspired by the music, the prayer or the sermon, and will leave, wondering why you did not go to church oftener. You will find "forms" in the daily papers for you to fill out. These can be handed the visiting workers or you can give them the information and they will fill out the cards.

Visitation day is a united Christian effort, it is endorsed by all the churches of Omaha. Therefore ask that each and every one give them this information they are seeking to obtain.

JAMES C. DAHLMAN, Mayor.

Faces Death With Secret Concealed

A. Soderberg Dies at Hospital Without Disclosing Aught but His Name.

The mystery of a man who faced fatal illness and death without disclosing more than a name and age is that which surrounds the demise of A. Soderberg, who died at Immanuel hospital Friday morning. Several days ago this man appeared at the hospital dangerously ill. He was admitted, but treatment was of no avail.

Officials of the hospital decline to disclose the cause of death and at Swanson's undertaking establishment, where the body is held, it was said the certificate of the physician in attendance had not been filed.

It is known that Soderberg has a sister, one Mrs. Richards, at Chadron, Ia., and that he was 72 years old. His effects and the appearance of the body indicate that he was a farmer.

NOVEMBER LISTS ARE OUT

The New Records of the Edison Phonograph Are Received and on Sale at All the Stores Handling Them.

Victor Herbert, the eminent composer-conductor, who is at present engaged in writing for Oscar Hammerstein an American grand opera, "Nautona," in which Mary Garden will perform the chief role during the coming season, contributes a medley of selections from "Little Nemo" to the November Amberol (four minutes) record list for the Edison phonograph. In addition to leading his famous orchestra for these records he is also acting in the capacity of supervising critic during the recording of the better class of musical records other than his own. The November list of Amberol records is unusually attractive and offers a splendid variety for selection. Sousa's band renders his "Stars and Stripes Forever March" in characteristic style; Albert Spalding, the brilliant young violinist, contributes a most artistic interpretation of Sarasate's "Gypsy Airs." A captivating violin and guitar arrangement of the "Carnival of Venice" is the offering of the famous Olivetti Troubadours. Edgar L. Davenport, America's foremost sheetmusicist, recites "Lascia," in faultless manner, and Will Oakland, the popular counter-tenor of the Cohan and Harris minstrels, renders "Just Before the Battle, Mother," a descriptive war ballad with pleasing effect. The remaining fourteen numbers comprise band and orchestra selections, some songs and piano, vaudeville and monologue—all by the well known Edison artists.

The standard (two-minute) list is also well balanced. Sousa's band is heard in "Powhatan's Daughter March," Cal Stewart describes Uncle John's visit to the opera, Oily Oakley, England's premier banjoist, displays marvelous skill in one of his own compositions, and Grace Cameron sings, "Oh, Doctor," a funny con about that just now has vogue. Will Oakland, Manuel Roman, Ada Jones, Earlward M. Favor, Byron G. Harlan and Ed Meeker contribute popular selections, as does Arthur C. Clough, a recent valuable acquisition to the studio staff. The balance of the list is well rounded out with orchestra and band numbers, a quartette, two duets, a sacred selection and a clever vaudeville offering by Ada Jones and Len Spencer.

COSGROVE GOES TO GET TIPS

Deputy Comptroller Will Visit Cities Where Occupation Taxes Are in Operation.

Deputy City Comptroller Cosgrove will start the coming week on a trip to various cities where occupation taxes are collected from public service corporations. He will visit Des Moines, St. Louis, New York and other places, to interview the city accounting departments and the public utilities' commissions. All forms in use, both by the cities and the companies will be collected by Mr. Cosgrove, and from these suitable blanks will be drawn up to fit the Omaha situation.

"I do not think there is any need for calling on outside assistance," said City Comptroller Loback. "Every city seemingly thinks it necessary to call in experts from other cities at high prices, but personally I believe we can take the blanks used in other cities, and with an additional man of good accounting skill accomplish the work of figuring and collecting the new occupation taxes."
