MUST TUNNEL TO THE POLE

Not a Point on the Surface, an Aged Mormon Says.

WHY ARCTIC EXPLORERS FAILED

This World Not One Sphere, but Three Joined by Necks—Ten Lost Tribes of Israel in Topmost.

SALT LAKE CITY, Oct. 28.—Neither Commander Peary nor Dr. Cook reached the North pole. It will not be necessary for geographical societies or Arctic clubs to quarrel over them. The absolute north, so far as this globe is concerned, has not yet been arrived at by any one. Only after a great deal of digging into the earth at the bottom of the Polar sea will any one get there. Men may go straight north to a point ninety degrees from the equator; but they will not yet have reached the North pole, the absolute north, because that point is not on the surface of the earth at all, but beneath it.

All this is stated on the authority of Matthew W. Dalton, an aged Mormon living at Willard, Utah. Mr. Dalton has written a pamphlet to demonstrate that the accepted theory of the formation of the earth is error. Instead of our living on an independent and individual sphere the earth is one of the three spheres lying in a direct line, this globe in the middle, and connected at the north with a smaller globe and at the south with a second.

Mechanics of the Belt.

The three are connected by two narrow necks, probably 300 miles in diameter. The curvature of the earth is arrested and reversed as it approaches the poles and swells into the rising contour of the smaller spheres to the north of the North pole and to the south of the South pole.

The axis of the three globes is simply a continuation of the axis of our own world, but it extends from the furthest southern extremity of the southern globe, through that, through our own world from pole to pole, and so through the northern sphere to its northern extremity. The revolution of all three is identical, from west to east diurnally. Sunrise and sunset follow other on the smaller globes just as they do on this on which we live; and the three travel through space together.

Easy Enough.

Now, any man who can reach a point ninety degrees from the equator north can go on to the northern sphere. Arrived at the point ninety degrees from the equator he has already passed the climax of cold and of difficulty. If he were to keep straight to the north he would in the next day's march find a higher temperature. Presently he would travel across parallels of latitude constantly enlarging, because the girth of the globe he would then be on increases toward its own equator. And in a month he would be on open water and vegetation producing land. And then he would be in the temperate zone of the northern sphere.

Then he would find the ten lost tribes of Israel.

And then he would find the ten lost tribes of Israel. They came across Europe in the distant time and traveled north and north-always north. They left a few of their people in what is now Scandinavia, but the major portion of the tribes perished and crossed the slender neck of land connecting this globe to the north and there found the haven promised them from the days of Abraham. And there they have multiplied and replenished the earth and some time they are coming again to prove their existence there and the fulfillment of prophecy. All this Mr. Dalton explains.

Because that globe is further away from the sun than our world it will be slightly less warm.

The equatorial regions will probably correspond to the temperate zone on our world. But there is a region approximately 1,000 miles in breadth and entirely encircling the smaller sphere in which all sorts of life can be maintained in abundant comfort. The rays of the sun will be little less vertical there than here, but really the sun's distance from the earth is out of proportion to the small distance between us and the surface of the sphere to the north.

DANGER IN THE CITY JAIL

That is, Colored Man Known by That Word is There at Present.

Harrison Talbert, a negro known to the police as "Danger," has been apprehended after a search that lasted for six months, to answer a charge of grand larceny.

It is charged by the detective department that Talbert snatched a pocket book, containing $70, from a man on South Twelfth street one night last spring. Talbert disappeared immediately after the robbery. His home is in South Omaha.

COKE TO CURE SMOKE EVIL

New Fuel Will Be Tried by Illinois Central in Locomotives.

ORDER OF PRESIDENT HARAHAN

Experiment Will Be Made in the Railroad Yards in Omaha and Chicago to Abate the Nuisance.

Coke will be used exclusively on all switch engines on the Illinois Central lines provided experiments now being made in the yards at Chicago and Memphis prove successful.

President J. T. Harahan, in a circular letter issued to superintendents of traffic, calls attention to the experiments ordered in the Chicago yards, the outcome of his trip of inspection over the road from which he has just returned. All locomotives on the Illinois Central yards in Omaha will be fired with coke if the scheme proves feasible.

One of the greatest advantages in the burning of coke, states Mr. Harahan, is the abating of the smoke nuisance. The fuel gives the maximum of heat with the minimum of smoke. In a large city where there are large railroad yards smoke from hundreds of locomotives becomes a serious menace. Mr. Harahan believes this can be curtailed by the use of coke. It will mean a slight additional expense to the railroad owing to the cost of hauling.

Coke for the trials will be obtained from the Birmingham, Ala., district. With the blast furnaces at that town running full blast it is possible the demand for coke will exceed the supply and the company will have to draw on other sources. Gary, Ind., is mentioned as another source of coke, but as this point is not on the lines of the Illinois Central it will not be tapped unless necessity makes the action necessary.

Then All Suburban Trains.

If the experiment proves successful with switch engines in Chicago all suburban trains running from Van Buren street to the outlying district will be fired with coke. The smoke nuisance in Chicago is a matter attracting considerable attention by reason of the many experiments made to do away with smoke. The Anti-Smoke league of Chicago is vigorously fighting offenders and gives Mr. Harahan a backing in his plan to abate the nuisance.

The Burlington lines in this district burn the Newcastle and Sheridan coals from Wyoming. This has been satisfactory and is not a "smoky" fuel. The Northwestern line uses Pocahontas "smokeless." Other lines will watch with interest the plans adopted by the Illinois Central.

SERVICE FOR GENERAL HOWARD

Memorial to Late Civil War Leader Will Be Held at Third Presbyterian Church.

Memorial services for the late General O. O. Howard will be held Sunday evening at 7:30, at the Third Presbyterian, Twenty and Leavenworth street.

Rev. William E. Todd, the pastor, was formerly associated with General Howard in the east and south and is familiar with all the details of his life. Mr. Todd is also a former captain of a uniformed camp of the Sons of Veterans, and is extending an invitation to all Grand Army men and members of the Union Veterans' union to attend the memorial services.

Judge Lee Estelle will preside and the principal address will be made by General C. F. Manderson, who was both friend and comrade to General Howard, having served as a commander with him in his eastern campaign. Special music is to be furnished by the Third church choir and orchestra.

ELKS AND G. A. R. OFFICIATE

IN FUNERAL OF L. N. GONDEN

Two Organizations to Which He Belonged Pay Tribute to Old Omahan.

The funeral of Louis N. Gonden was held from the Elks' lodge rooms in the Ware block at 2 p. m. Friday. Very Rev. George A. Beecher, chaplain of the lodge, conducted the services, which were under the ritual of the order. The Elks' quartet sang "The Vacant Chair." At the request of the family, Mrs. Clyde Rohrbough sang "The Holy City," a favorite song with Mr. Gonden.

PERMIT FOR NEW THEATER

Formal License Calls for Price of Hundred Thousand Dollars.

ISSUED TO J. L. BRANDEIS & SONS

Contract Stipulates Completion by February 22—M. Marius Gondard of Paris Does Sculpture Work.

A permit was issued Friday to J. L. Brandeis & Sons for the erection of the new Morris theater, on the northeast corner of Eighteenth and Douglas streets. The permit calls for a building of brick and stone, of fireproof construction, to be known as the American Music hall. The $100,000 is exclusive of the interior furnishings, which are to be quite elaborate.

The present calculation is that the new theater will be ready to open to the public February 22, 1910. E. C. Horn Sons, the architects and general contractors, have designed and built a great number of theaters all over the country and have the reputation of completing their work on time. Bridges & Hoye, local contractors, will rush the brick work on the building just as soon as the graders are out of the way.

Seating capacity for 1,700 will be provided in the new house, which will have chairs and scenery of the very best. Exterior and interior will be of the modern French type. Ten columns thirty feet in height will support an enriched entablature comprising the boxes and proscenium arch. The street front of the building will exhibit the scheme of a triumphal arch, to be executed in brick, stone and metal work. The lobby entrance will be protected by a marquis.

M. Marius Gondard of New York and Paris, a graduate of the famous Housard college, will do the sculpture work on the exterior. The Brandeis company and the Morris people promise that the Omaha American will be one of the most complete and elaborate vaudeville houses in the whole country.

HICKS GETS LIGHT SENTENCE

Pleads Guilty to Lesser Charge Than Bigamy and Goes Up for Three Months.

Fred Hicks, arrested on a bigamy charge through a housewife by wife No. 1, pleaded guilty to another charge, a statutory one, in district court and was sentenced to three months in jail by Judge Sutton. Hicks could not have been prosecuted for bigamy in Nebraska, for the alleged offense was committed in South Dakota.

While he has gained immunity so far as wife No. 1 and No. 2 are concerned his troubles may not yet be all over, disregarding the three months' jail sentence. Philadelphia authorities have a suspicion that he married some one there, too, and this is now being looked into.

ULTIMAUM OF THE IRON MEN

Union Workers Demand Closed Shop on Court House or Threaten Boycott.

Union labor iron workers again appeared at the court house Friday afternoon and told Commissioner Trainor that unless union iron workers were exclusively employed on the new building, it will be boycotted by union carpenters, painters and plumbers. Trainor promised to confer with Caldwell & Drake.

Waltham Watches

Don't Be Fooled

Buying a watch ought to be a serious business. If you pick up a catalogue issued by a mail order house and send on to Chicago or some other place for a watch, you are likely to be disappointed. The thing to do is to go to a jeweler; tell him you want a Waltham Watch. He will give you what you want; but before you pay him he will overhaul the mechanism, oil it up, get the watch in good running shape and keep it so for any reasonable length of time; and any watch bought from a responsible watchmaker or jeweler that does go wrong this Company will make good. We cannot, however, stand back of watches bought haphazard from the catalogues of mail order houses.
