KANSAS CITY DAY IN TRIAL

Witnesses from Kawville Testify to Show Prisoners Were There.

WOMEN WHO LIVED THERE TALK

Witnesses Identify Men Who Boarded at Their Homes Before Robbery, as They Knew Them Well.

Yesterday afternoon was Kansas City day in the trial of the Overland Limited mail robbery case. The principal import of the evidence was to show that the five men, Matthews, Torgenson, Woods, Grigware and Shelton were in Kansas City, Mo., during the early part of April, that they left there for a short while, returned again to Kansas City, and left there finally about May 15, the week preceding the robbery of the train at Mud cut in Omaha.

The five men took rooms for a week at a time in Kansas City, though they were not always rooming at the same house, rather dividing their stay among several different rooming houses.

The principal witnesses of the afternoon were Kate Snell, Mrs. S. E. Whitfield of 111 West Twelfth street, Belle House, Effie House, Mrs. C. M. Smith and Mrs. Dora Hiles of 285 East Twelfth street, all of Kansas City.

Rented to Two of Them. Kate Snell was in charge of a rooming house on Twelfth street and had rented a room to Grigware and Torgenson. The latter was known as Fred Derf, one of his aliases. She knew Grigware quite well and visited the theater once or twice with him, and had also corresponded with him after he left Kansas City finally, the letter being mailed from Omaha. She had frequently seen Shelton, Woods and Matthews, as the men often exchanged visits.

Mrs. S. E. Whitfield had also seen all of the men except Shelton, and had rented rooms to Grigware and Torgenson, though at the time she did not know their names, other than as Frank and Fred. She said they had represented themselves as brothers and she understood their names to be Gordon, Woods and Matthews and had visited the two men at her house and she saw them several times.

Belle House was a waiter in a restaurant and saw all of the five accused men frequently in Kansas City and was more or less familiar with them. She was especially friendly with Torgenson, whom she called Fritz. Dan was the name applied to Woods and Matthews had been given the name of "Bully Red" by her. She, too, had received a postal card from Torgenson after the first time he left Kansas City in April, and on his return he asked for the postal card and destroyed it. The last time she saw him was about May 15.

Talked to All But Shelton. Effie House of 1308 Harrison avenue had seen and talked with all of the "boys" except Shelton several times during their stay in Kansas City, but did not see any of them in Kansas City after May 15. Belle House was recalled and testified to seeing an automatic pistol in Torgenson's possession and that he took it from his grip and showed it to her on one occasion.

Mrs. C. M. Smith said she had seen Woods and Shelton early in April and that they had rented a room of her. Mrs. Dora Hiles of 285 East Twelfth street had seen Matthews, Grigware, Shelton and Woods on several occasions at her rooming house, but met them only casually. The train yesterday brought in several witnesses from Ogden, Spokane and Colorado Springs to testify in behalf of the government. Several witnesses are also here for the defense, to assist in putting up an alibi for at least two of the accused men.

Officer Hell on Stand. The first witness of the afternoon was Officer Joseph A. Hell, who recovered the two grips from the Iler annex rooming house on Friday, May 23, which are alleged to belong to Shelton, and which he left in his room on his hurried departure from the Sinsbold rooming house in the old Iler annex, when he heard the newshybs calling out extras relating to the arrest of Grigware, Woods and Torgenson.

It is thought that these two grips will figure prominently in tying up Grigware and Shelton in the case, and it may be brought out that Shelton was the fourth man who escaped by jumping down the bank the night of the arrest of Grigware (Gordon), Torgenson and Woods.

Captain Mostyn identified a coat that was recovered with the mail sacks from the pockets of which he had taken a piece of gray cloth and a partly burned candle. Judge T. C. Munger, who is presiding at the trial has given repeated warning to spectators in the court room regarding making any expressions of approval or dissent during the examination of witnesses, and has announced that he will impose a fine or jail sentence for contempt upon any one violating this order.

Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Marsh gave a Hal-low'e'en supper Sunday evening in honor of Miss Myra Whidden, who has returned from an extended stay in Seattle. A large Jack o'lantern was in the center of the table, and at each place were red and candlesticks. Covers were placed for Miss Myra Whidden, Treas Robbins, Russell McKelvey, Nell Ennell, Messrs. Charles Needham, James Allan, Elston Dooley, Frank W. Baker, Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Johnson and Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Mars.

Mrs. Mel Uhl gave a luncheon party today at the Omaha club in honor of the out-of-town guests who came to attend the Wright-Cole wedding. American Beauty roses formed a pretty centerpiece for the table and the guest list included Mrs. E. Combie Smith of Kansas City, Mrs. Richard Forbes of Kansas City, Mrs. Edward Gordon of Denver, Mrs. David Cole, Mrs. J. E. Nushorn, Mrs. John Martin, Mrs. T. A. Fry, Mrs. Edson Rich, Mrs. Paul Simpson, Mrs. Fred Dale, Mrs. F. R. Straight, Mrs. Paul Gerber, Mrs. George Gillespie, Mrs. Edward Gill, Mrs. Joseph Polcar, Mrs. Frank Welty and the hostess. After luncheon, automobiles awaited the guests at the club and they rode to the home of Mrs. Uhl, where an informal musical afternoon was spent.

Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Ferris celebrated their twelfth wedding anniversary by giving a whist party at their home last evening. The house was decorated with a variety of cut flowers and those present were Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Hoover, Mr. and Mrs. John K. Bittering, Mr. and Mrs. T. L. DeVol, Mr. and Mrs. F. Osborne, Mr. and Mrs. T. D. Nelson, Mr. and Mrs. E. Haynes, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Allan, Mr. and Mrs. Richardson, Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Haynes, Mr. and Mrs. Nelson, Mr. and Mrs. McDonald, Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Ferris, Mr. Philip Heath.

A masquerade party was given at the home of Miss Fay Carter Saturday evening. The house was decorated in yellow and red chrysanthemums, autumn leaves and Jack-o'-lanterns. The evening was spent in dancing and games. The costume prizes were won by Miss Jeanne Lee, who was dressed as a Navajo princess, and Mr. Glenn Carter, who was dressed as a tramp. Those present were Misses Ruth Kinney, Martha Striker, Cordella McCulloch, Lura Brown, Jeanne Lee, Brownna Van Zant, Anna Sorenson, Burdette Summers, Clara Steffin, Mazy Clarkson, Nancy Hase, Maude Gunter, Fay Carter, Messrs. Fred Chapman, Charles Rossiter, Michael Dunphy, Harry Sigwart, Bob Turner, Paul Athens, Stuart Webster, Ord Von Dorn, Al Axford, Harry Hase, Hugh Wallace, Frank Rapp, Percy Hoffard and Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Carter.

Miss Ora Russell of Forty-third and Fort streets was surprised by a jolly party of friends Monday evening. Halloween stunts and a "country stroll" afforded the chief amusement of the evening. For refreshments the guests were seated at one long table lighted only by Halloween favors. In the party were Misses Genevieve Owen, Janet Carnaby, Oris Mae De Vor, Jessie Cushing, Ethelyn De Vor, Marion Fay, Ora Russell, Messrs. Ralph Donovan, George Carnaby, Harry Fay, George Noss, Robert Dougherty, George Boyden and Homer Russell.

Miss Helene Lowry gave a week-end Halloween party at her home. Halloween decorations prevailed throughout the house. Games, music and dancing afforded amusement. Those present were Misses Carrie Clawson, Mabel Slaven, Mildred Bryant, Cecil Taylor, Agnes Slaven, Helene Gentelman, Eunice Bryant, George Taylor, Irene Delehanty, Frances Delehanty, Clarissa McBrade, Helene Lowry, Messrs. Baron Butta, Frank Plombeck, Cranworth Coleman, James Duggale, Willie Rushton, Louis Vinquist, Richard Dugdale, James Coleman and George Broderick.

AMPLE ROOM FOR TEACHERS

Homes Will Supplement Hotels in Entertaining the Delegates.

INDUSTRIAL EXHIBIT EXTENSIVE

Most Elaborate Ever Made by State Association Will Be Presented at the Auditorium in This City.

(From a Staff Correspondent.) LINCOLN, Neb., Nov. 2.—(Special.)—The State Teachers' association will begin its sessions tomorrow. The industrial exhibit at the City auditorium is about all in place and is the most extensive exhibition of the kind ever made at a teachers meeting here. Many of the teachers are expected to arrive in the morning and to care for the crowds, the secretary of the Commercial club has called upon the citizens to open their homes to the teachers. The Lindell hotel, which is undergoing extensive repairs, has fitted up as many rooms as possible for the use of the teachers and the indications are there will be no need for any of the visitors being crowded or discommoded. Data on Railroad Laws. U. G. Powell and L. E. Wetling, representing the State Railway commission and the legal department of state, have returned from Chicago, where they went to take evidence and do some investigating preparatory to the taking of evidence in the railroad case next week in Omaha. Mr. Powell and Mr. Wetling have figured how they can turn the statistics of the railroad companies to the advantage of the state, and their visit to Chicago more than ever impressed them with the correctness of their ideas. The case to be heard in Omaha has to do with the constitutionality of the railroad legislation enacted by the legislature of 1907, including the 2-cent fare law and the reduction in freight rates.

M. W. A. Tuberculosis Home. Head Consul A. R. Talbot and other officers of the Modern Woodmen of America have gone to Colorado Springs for an inspection of the new tuberculosis sanatorium established by the order and to work out plans for its enlargement. Those accompanying Mr. Talbot were A. N. Bort of Beloit, Wis., chairman of the M. W. A. board of directors, and E. E. Murphy of Leavenworth, Kan., treasurer of the sanatorium. The institution was opened last January and now contains 127 patients. It has a group of central buildings, with tent colonies grouped about the grounds. Three of these colonies have been laid out already and the rest are under way. There is a larger waiting list of patients, as the sanatorium has not been able to take all whose applications were presented. The enlargement now in view will relieve some of the pressure. Five of the patients now being treated are from Nebraska. Officials Can't Sell to City. City Attorney Flansburg has officially informed the members of the city council that they cannot legally enter into contract with the city and sell it goods. This opinion came up as a result of the action of Alderman Hoppe in selling hardware to the city. Councilman Hardy objected to the payment of the bill and the city attorney was asked to decide the question, and he did. Dry Goods Jobbing House. The city of Lincoln, through its commercial club, is supporting for a wholesale dry goods establishment. The promoters agree to put in $250,000 if the people will give $200,000 more. Divorces Granted in County. During the month of October twenty-eight divorces were granted in the district court of Lancaster county. Of these thirty-two divorces were granted to women and two to men. The grounds upon which they were granted were as follows: For cruelty and non-support, eight; for non-support, six; for cruelty, six; for abandonment, eight. Because, as she alleges, Frank Patton two weeks after their marriage ceased to contribute to the support of Patton's wife, she applied to the district court for a divorce. She asserts that they were married in this city January 4, 1908, and during the two weeks that he supported her, she alleges he was guilty of cruelty. It is further charged that he abandoned her more than three years ago.

BOY HUNTER SHOOT HIMSELF

Henry Russell Sends Bullet Into Side, but May Recover. PULLERTON, Neb., Nov. 2.—(Special Telegram.)—Henry Russell, aged 17 years, while hunting met with a serious accident. The young man had shot a muskrat and reversed his gun to fish it out of the river. The hammer caught on something, the gun was discharged, the lead struck the boy in the left side just above the hip, tearing a great hole in the side. He was alone and when he regained consciousness he managed to crawl to his horse and buggy, and made his way home. His physicians hope for his recovery, as they think the intestines are not injured.

Uncle Sam Acquires Farmer.

GRAND ISLAND, Neb., Nov. 2.—(Special.)—Henry Ahrens, a farmer of the eastern part of Buffalo county, was arraigned before United States Commissioner Cleary on the charge of destroying rural mail box, and was bound over to the federal district court under bond, to appear at the next term in this city. The arrest is said to be another chapter in a long feud between Ahrens and his neighbor, Fred Steinko. On a former occasion Steinko had Ahrens arrested on the charge of shooting at a younger brother of Steinko's, but upon trial in the district court of Buffalo county Ahrens was acquitted. Steinko alleges that Ahrens continues the alleged molestations.

Woman Dies Suddenly.

SARGENT, Neb., Nov. 2.—(Special.)—Mrs. William Hall, who lived three miles west of here, died very suddenly Thursday. In the party were Misses Genevieve Owen, Janet Carnaby, Oris Mae De Vor, Jessie Cushing, Ethelyn De Vor, Marion Fay, Ora Russell, Messrs. Ralph Donovan, George Carnaby, Harry Fay, George Noss, Robert Dougherty, George Boyden and Homer Russell. Miss Helene Lowry gave a week-end Halloween party at her home. Halloween decorations prevailed throughout the house. Games, music and dancing afforded amusement. Those present were Misses Carrie Clawson, Mabel Slaven, Mildred Bryant, Cecil Taylor, Agnes Slaven, Helene Gentelman, Eunice Bryant, George Taylor, Irene Delehanty, Frances Delehanty, Clarissa McBrade, Helene Lowry, Messrs. Baron Butta, Frank Plombeck, Cranworth Coleman, James Duggale, Willie Rushton, Louis Vinquist, Richard Dugdale, James Coleman and George Broderick.

PIONEER OF PLATTE VALLEY

D. W. White, Formerly Toll Bridge Tender at Camp Clark, Dead. BRIDGEPORT, Neb., Nov. 2.—(Special.)—The remains of D. W. White, a pioneer of the North Platte valley, took place here under the auspices of the Bridgeport Commercial club, of which he had always been an active and enthusiastic member.

Mr. White was 77 years of age and had resided at Camp Clark for twenty years, where he conducted a general merchandise business and had charge of the Camp Clark toll bridge across the North Platte river, on the overland trail between Sidney and the Black Hills. When the Burlington built from Alliance across to Denver in 1890 and the town of Bridgeport was established, Mr. White came here with his stock of goods and engaged in active business until about a year ago, when he closed out his interests here and moved to Denver, where he was actively engaged in business at the time of his death, October 29. No pioneer of western Nebraska was better or more widely known or took a more active interest in the welfare and progress of the locality in which he lived than D. W. White. His wife preceded him in death about one year ago. He leaves no children, but few relatives and a host of friends.

Wedding Hours

WEDDINGS never go out of fashion, but the fashion in weddings changes from time to time. There was a day when no bride in her senses would wear pearls on her wedding day or get married on a Friday.

Today most brides are willing to clap on all the pearls they can get, and last year there were two or three brides in good society who chose Friday for their wedding day.

"No luck at all," was the superstition attached to Saturday weddings as late as half a dozen years ago, and then one or two brides more courageous or less superstitious than the average got married on Saturday, setting an example which has been followed with growing frequency.

A well known caterer said that his list of orders indicated that there would be many more afternoon than noon weddings during November at least, and that a reason for this in his opinion was that the collection at a noon wedding, if one did the thing in correct style, must be more substantial, consequently more expensive, than the collection served at an afternoon reception. It has come to pass that a skimpy wedding breakfast is one of the unforgivable sins.

The seated breakfast is the more elegant of course, but unless a house is large it is almost impossible to place tables to seat 100 persons—and a smaller breakfast places it in the class of a family affair.
