Fashionable Women Go In for Furs Instead of Gowns

It early became evident this season that local women would follow the lead of New Yorkers, Parisians and the rest of the rich costumes. Every dressy occasion since the weather has warranted, and some when the weather has not, has afforded ample proof that furs and not gowns would be emphasized. The elaborate afternoon costume that for several seasons has been the order at formal afternoon affairs has given way in a surprising number of cases to the tailored costume, but with it are worn furs that make up in pretentiousness what the simple costume may lack. As a matter of fact many of these tailored suits do service for morning shopping and other occasions, but the furs represent a small fortune. They are fairly extravagant in many cases. The furs will be by far the most elaborate part of several of the trousseaus this winter and instead of the handsome carriage costumes with the beautiful carriage coat that was the vogue not long ago, the rich fur motor coat has come in to delight all who can afford it and make the rest miserable with envy. Some of these are made of full length sealskin, broadtail or pony skin. As for the shoulder and hand pieces the muffs have grown huge and the collars proportionately smaller.

Miss Florence Cole of Utah Wednesday evening at her home. The rooms were decorated in red and white. The guests were Misses Florence Cole, Hallie Jones, Ina Fitzgerald, Kathro Lusk, Mae Jones, Ruth Stacy, Mary Tobin, Beas Jones, Georgia Beerman, Mary Carpenter, Alice Davis, Florie Jones, Gladys Thompson, Messrs. Miss Helen Niels was hostess yesterday at the meeting of the Thursday Kensington club. The members present were Misses Nell Ennell, Anne Brown, Mabel Hodgins, Russell McKelvy, Theresa Robbins, Myra Whidden, Lois Alleman, Helen Niels.

Pleasures Past

Social Events of Note at Which Congenial People Meet and Enjoy Themselves to the Utmost.

Miss Grace Slabaugh celebrated her fourteenth birthday this afternoon by giving a Mother Goose party at her home. The little hostess represented Mother Goose and wore a bright red petticoat with flowered overdress, a high red hat and large spectacles. Her youngest sister, Eleanor, was the old woman who lived in a shoe. A large shoe, large enough for the little girl, represented her home. All of the little guests came in costume and a jolly afternoon was spent by the children. Those present were Misses Rita Chabot, Dorothy Black, Virginia Offutt, Lois Robbins, Eleanor McGilton, Elizabeth Carr, Mina Garrett, Doris Alken, Florence Russell, Harriet Sherman, Anna Clark, Emma Haymer, Eleanor Slabaugh, Grace Slabaugh, Masters Rankin McBride, John McDonald, Jarvis Offutt, Charles Hall, Phillip Chase, Edward Schurig, Alfred Schurig, J. O. Yelzer, Jr., Charles Belman, John Reed, Clarence Darlow, Merrill Aldy and Porter Durkee.

Wedding Bells

The wedding of Miss Blanche Ehrlich, daughter of Mr. Herman Ehrlich, and Mr. Fred S. Seligson of Kansas City, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. Seligson of Omaha, was celebrated Tuesday night in the Japanese tearoom of the Roblaux at St. Joseph. Mo. Mendelssohn's wedding march was played for the processional. Miss Helen Rothenberg of Kansas City and Julian Harris of Omaha entered the room first carrying yellow satin ribbons which formed an aisle for the bridal party. Miss Selma Rothenberg of Kansas City, who wore a white frock trimmed with Valenciennes lace, and yellow satin ribbon sash, carried the ring in a yellow chrysanthemum. Mrs. Lou Wessel of Chicago, the matron of honor, was gowned in salmon colored satin, trimmed with embroidered bands, and carried a shower bouquet of ferns. Miss Cora Berlinger of Kansas City, maid of honor, and Miss Erna Hadra of Omaha, bridesmaid, were attired in princess gowns of yellow crepe de chine, trimmed with silver lace. They wore gold slippers and carried yellow chrysanthemums. The bride entered with her father and was met before an embankment of palms by the bridegroom, Rabbi Louis Bernstein read the marriage service. The bride wore a princess robe of white satin with lace overdress. Her long tulle veil was fastened by a cluster of lilies of the valley and she carried a cascade bouquet of the same flowers.

For the Future

Events of Interest That Are On the Local Social Calendar That Promise Much of Pleasure.

Mrs. J. E. Baum has been hostess at a series of delightful luncheons and dinner parties at her spacious home on Harney and South Thirty-sixth streets. A pretty and simple decoration of American Beauty roses has been used at each of these affairs. Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Baum, entertained at a bridge dinner at a party last evening, when covers were placed for fifty guests. Mr. and Mrs. William Deere Hosford have issued invitations for a 9 o'clock coffee to be served Tuesday evening in honor of Miss Moffitt of New York City.

Personal Gossip

Where the People Are, When They Are Going and When They Expect to Return Home.

Mr. and Mrs. Jerome Magee are making a brief visit in Chicago. Mrs. Ralph E. Sunderland and son, Dean, have returned from Colorado. A son was born Wednesday morning to Mr. and Mrs. John T. Cooper, entertained at a party last evening, when covers were placed for fifty guests. Miss Elizabeth Bruce of Harlan, Ia., is the guest of Mrs. F. R. Elson. Miss Dorothy Morgan has gone to St. Joseph, Mo., where she is visiting friends and relatives. Mr. Isaac Douglas will leave Friday for Chicago and Milwaukee, where she will remain a week. Mrs. Ben Cotton has returned from a visit with her cousin, Miss Noland of Farmington, near St. Louis. Miss Evelyn Rouse of Baltimore, the popular guest of Miss Brownie Bess Baum, will leave Tuesday for her home in New York City. Miss Harrison of Sioux City, who has been the guest of her cousin, Miss Marie McShane, left this week for Los Angeles, Cal., where she will spend the winter. Complimentary to Mrs. David Mercer, guest of Mrs. W. F. Gurley, Mrs. D. M. Vinsonhaler entertained a few friends informally at a bridge luncheon at her home on West Harney street today. Mr. Herbert Meyer, who has been visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Moritz Meyer, left last evening for his home in New York City. He was accompanied by his sister, Miss Miriam Meyer, who will continue her medical studies at New York. Miss Miriam Patterson entertained informally at luncheon today at the Omaha club in honor of Miss Evelyn Rouse of Baltimore, Md., guest of Miss Brownie Bess Baum. Yellow chrysanthemums decorated the table and covers were placed for eight.

Woman's Work

Activities of the Organized Bodies Along the Lines of Undertaking of Concern to Women.

One of the most important events in state club circles in many years is the application made last week by the Home Economics association to the Nebraska Federation of Women's clubs. Mrs. W. G. Whitmore of Valley is president of the home economics association, which was organized three years ago and is also chairman of the household economics committee of the State Federation of clubs. About 100 women are enrolled in the former organization, which has been worked up under difficulties, but which is gradually and surely gaining strength. The members are the wives of farmers and have come together at meetings to auxiliary to the sessions of organized Agriculture held in January of each year at the state farm at Lincoln. Miss Rosa Bouton of the domestic science department of the University of Nebraska has had a material part in effecting and fostering the women's organization and both she and Mrs. Whitmore are hopeful of wide results from it. Its object is practically what is hoped for by the commission on country life and its recent alliance with the State Federation of Women's clubs promises to materially strengthen its work. The state teachers' association will probably also be asked to co-operate and can undoubtedly contribute valuable assistance. The home, the school and the club are the alliance that has accomplished so much in every community and it is hoped to bring these three into closer association in the rural districts. It is Mrs. Whitmore's hope to organize in every school district, four such organizations already being in existence. The men, too, must have an important part in these organizations. In the several counties women's clubs of Nebraska have figured conspicuously as auxiliary or associate members. Discussing the purposes of the association, Mrs. Whitmore said: "We realize that unless some element of sociability enters into life of the farm it is likely to become monotonous and it is the aim of the association to provide a social system that shall be at once educating, uplifting and a force to hold young men and women on the farms." The success of such a plan has been demonstrated admirably in several country women's clubs and in the alliance of the two state organizations the club women with their wider experience in organizing, will be of material assistance in organizing the country women. Mrs. F. H. Cole, president of the state federation, is giving the most hearty co-operation. Discussing it, she said: "So many of our club women in the towns of the state and on our farms are college women. As many of the townswomen have lived on farms, they are especially fitted to assist in the country organizations."

NEW FALL GOWNS.

Caring for House Plants

LIVING plants too much water is one of the principal reasons why many persons cannot make them thrive indoors during the winter. For over the hole a bit of broken pottery is laid, which will hold in the soil, while permitting superfluous water to run off. This will equalize moisture if water is put on every day, that is, too great wetness will be prevented.

Under no condition must a root be put into a metal receptacle or in any vessel through which there is no chance for water to evaporate. All vases must be in pottery that is made for the purpose, for without such evaporation the plants cannot thrive. Pots themselves may be placed in fancy receptacles of brass, copper or wire, without the slightest injury to roots.

Attention must be given daily, however, that water is not left standing in the bottom of such jars, for should the pots be permitted to remain in it, continual wetness will infallibly cause rot. Every other day the fancy holder must be looked into and any water it contains poured off. When this condition has existed the pot will not require more water that day, for the root is already damp.

A good rule for watering is, each day to pour over as much water as the soil will soak up. Any that runs through into the saucer may be rejected later.

As to the temperature for plants, it must be even. They require air, but a cold wind blowing directly on them will kill, and it is extremely probable that if the thermometer is allowed to fall to a marked degree in the room the growth will perish, even though the draught may not have been a direct one. The ordinary steam heated room is an impossible place for plants, because the temperature is kept at an unhealthy degree. The plants might really regulate the heat for themselves by that in which house plants flourish—if it agrees with flowers it is apt to be correct for them. If it becomes necessary to change the temperature at night the pots must be removed and not returned in the morning until the air has become that to which the plants are accustomed.

room and library is one of the hopes of the future and the council will be asked to make several improvements that will contribute to the beauty of the town. To this end members will attend the council meetings that the club may be kept in touch with the business of the town and so be able to judge intelligently what is possible and practical.

Four new members in addition to the ten charter members were admitted to the club, the membership limit being sixteen for this year.

The December meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Robert Olmsted.

SWEETMEATS FOR CHRISTMAS

Inexpensive Gift that Should Please Even the Most Fastidious Friend.

An attractive box that will please your wealthiest friend may be made by filling an appropriate box with the following stuffed fruits and nuts. Take the puffed, that is, the whole figs, and pour boiling water over them, letting them stand until cool enough to handle. This cleans and plumps them. Cut half way round length of fig and push sides out to make nice cavity line very thin with fondant and fill with chopped nuts (English walnuts or pecans) and close edges by laying a small roll of fondant the length of out. These stuffed figs are delicious.

Take the best layer raisins and cut into small clusters, leaving on the stems as much as possible. Cut the raisins from stem to stem and remove seeds, place a piece of pecan nut meat in seed cavity and close with fondant, which to give variety may be colored pink or green or any color one chooses.

Do not plan to fix too many of these, for each box for it is tedious work, though the result fully repays the labor. Stuffed dates may be added if one wishes. Fill odd spaces and corners with sugared pecans made by cooking one cup of sugar and one-quarter cup of water one minute after it boils, then add the nut meats, and stir continually until they sugar; spread out to dry so they will not adhere to each other.

A box daintily packed with these sweets will prove an acceptable gift to those who have so much you don't know what to buy them. An easy fondant: White of one egg and its own bulk of cold water, beat until begins to stiffen, then gradually add confectioner's sugar until of consistency to handle nicely. One egg will take about one pound of sugar.

SALAD FOR CHRISTMAS TIME

Concoction Attractive to Look At and Delicious to the Taste.

An attractive way to utilize tomato jelly for a Christmas salad is to form it in what is known as a "border mold." This may be in one large mold for the entire party, or in small individual molds, as may be preferred. Inside the border may be heaped dressed celery mixed with diced green peppers and apples or any other favorite salad mixture of which the housekeeper knows the family are fond. Let feathery little pieces of the celery show prettily above the border, and for this choose the green leaves rather than the

What a lady said:

Yesterday a lady came into our store for certain articles. She had with her a quantity of yarn. Upon learning that we sell the famous "Utopia" yarn she was much surprised, and said: "Why, I was told there was no better yarn made than what I have just purchased at another store, but here I find your 'Utopia' yarn of a much higher quality than any I have ever seen and at just the same price as inferior grades. 'Utopia' is no word and fine, while the other is so hard and stiff. I shall buy 'Utopia' yarn hereafter." Try this brand from

Mrs. Phipps Tells Story of Woman with Dynamite

Mrs. Phipps, who is charged with attempt to extort money, lies at point of death.

DENVER, Nov. 12.—Seized with violent convulsions during her trial for alleged attempt to obtain $100,000 from Mrs. Genieve Chandler Phipps on the threat of death by dynamite, Mrs. Allen F. Read lies at the point of death at the home of her sister, Miss Jennie Campbell, tonight. The trial will probably be suspended pending her recovery.

Mrs. Phipps, the complaining witness, again took the stand today and was cross-examined by Mrs. Read's attorneys. In answer to questions by Attorney Waterman regarding methods by which Mrs. Read had secured an interview with her, Mrs. Phipps said that Mrs. Read had told her that a spy in the Phipps household, who was endeavoring to secure material for a sequel to Joseph Medill Patterson's "A Little Brother of the Rich," had been placed there by Henry Phipps of New York, an uncle of her divorced husband, Lawrence Phipps, in the effort to prove that she regarded money far beyond her children and that she was an unfit person to have the custody of her two daughters.

In spite of the grilling cross-examination Mrs. Phipps adhered strictly to the story which she told yesterday on direct examination. She again told the story of how

ORPHEUM STRONG ON SONGS THIS WEEK

Has Clever Bill of Lyrics, While Other Shows Housers Tend Towards the "Straight Dramatic."

Peculiar thing, this show business! The Orpheum had no song hits at all last week, while musical productions abounded at the other theaters. This week the situation is reversed and there are plenty of fine lyrics passed over the boards at the Orpheum, while the other houses have none.

Quite a variety of songs, too. There are sentimental kinds, racy kinds, and topical kinds, and every one is on sale tomorrow, promptly as usual, at The A. Hospe Company, 1613 Douglas street.

Here's the list—paste it in your hat if you sing—or, pass it over to sister if she sings.

"Grandma," "Sadie Salome Go Home," "Good Bye, Mr. Caruso," "My Southern Rose," "Glow Worm," "I'm Glad I'm Married," and "I'd Rather be a Lobster Than a Wise Guy."

The posted ones will also be glad to know that The A. Hospe Company has received a liberal supply of the "Red Snyder" hits, as follows: "Pansy, do Moon Am Shining," "Pretty Things You Saw," "Good-bye, Girlie," "I'm Going to Do as I Please," "Beautiful Eyes," and the "Wild Cherry Rag." The latter is now also published as a song.

All at 30c per copy tomorrow, excepting operatic pieces, which are 30c.

Mrs. Read had proposed to return the amount she attempted to force from Mrs. Phipps by insuring her life for the same amount and committing suicide by dynamite while visiting a marble quarry.

Mrs. Read was surrounded by alienists this morning and should she be able to face the tribunal tomorrow her attorneys will introduce the plea of insanity.

What the Market Affords for the Sunday Dinner

as the new raisins and currants are coming in now and apples are at their best. Every well equipped store closet has its jar of mince meat and if properly put up, this mixture may serve for other purposes than pie filling. For puddings it is especially fine and when the juice is carefully drained off it makes a delicious ingredient in the fruit breads so popular as a breakfast accompaniment.

Potatoes sold wholesale in Omaha this week for 30 cents a bushel.

The farmers and other who have quantities to sell made this price, but the grocers continue to sell them around 30 and 40 cents a peck.

Eggs continue high, the "guaranteed" selling at 40 cents a dozen, "strictly fresh" at 35 cents a dozen and "other" eggs at 30 cents a dozen.

Creamery butter is 35 cents a pound package, but other good dairy butters may be gotten from 25 to 30 cents a pound.

Fears, the kind for preserving or stewing for sauce, are in market just now and sell from 40 to 50 cents a peck. These will not last much longer and the woman who has not yet done her preserving will do well to get at it.

This is a good time to put up mince meat.
