FRUIT LOADS SHOW TABLES

Apples Predominate, but Other Kinds Are Exhibited.

MONDAY THE OPENING DAY

Annual Display of National Horticultural Congress Will Be Well Attended by Experts from Distance.

The smell of the apple is in the air. The Auditorium is already redolent of the fragrant odor of the luscious fruit of varied hues and the perfume which permeates the air within the immediate vicinity of that big building is notice sufficient in itself that the second annual fruit exposition of the National Horticultural Congress is high in fact that it will be open to the public next Monday morning. Needless to say that with the opening of the big fruit show so close at hand the Auditorium was a busy place yesterday and will be until the gates are thrown open to the public Monday morning. Several of the larger exhibits have already been unloaded and are being installed and the same is true of the individual and smaller displays. The work of the decorators is practically complete, although Chairman Wilcox of the decoration committee and his henchmen will be putting the finishing touches to the general scheme today and possibly part of Sunday.

With the immense tables and pyramid stands in place it is already possible to form some idea of the magnitude of the show this year and indications are that it will eclipse that of last year, both in quantity and quality of the displays. With the experience gained from the first exposition the management this year has been able to better arrange the space for the displays and every inch of floor has been apparently utilized to the very best advantage.

Exhibit from Texas. The exhibit of the Texas Citrus Growers' association, with headquarters in Houston, has been assigned what might aptly be termed the place of honor, as its interesting display will occupy the center of the Auditorium. This exhibit of the semi-tropical products of that section of the country is in charge of C. S. Canada and E. F. Stockwell, and they, like the rest of the exhibitors on the ground, were busily engaged yesterday in installing their display. Features of this display from the country are in charge of C. S. Canada and E. F. Stockwell, and they, like the rest of the exhibitors on the ground, were busily engaged yesterday in installing their display. Features of this display from the country are in charge of C. S. Canada and E. F. Stockwell, and they, like the rest of the exhibitors on the ground, were busily engaged yesterday in installing their display. Features of this display from the country are in charge of C. S. Canada and E. F. Stockwell, and they, like the rest of the exhibitors on the ground, were busily engaged yesterday in installing their display.

Nebraska Well Represented. Nebraska will take a prominent place in this year's fruit show and its representatives were busily engaged yesterday installing the splendid exhibit from that state. The exhibit is in charge of C. E. Marshall of Lincoln, secretary of the Nebraska State Horticultural society, and C. H. Barnard of Table Rock, Neb. The display, which will occupy over 500 square feet of space, will include apples of many varieties, pears, grapes, nuts and other fruits. This exhibit will occupy the two long tables directly to the right of the main entrance. Idaho, which made such a splendid showing last year, is here with another splendid exhibit. The exhibit from this state will, it is expected, be the largest to be shown here this year. It is in charge of J. E. Carr of Council Bluffs, and it will occupy the entire space under the gallery on the north side of the Auditorium building proper. Mr. Carr was anxiously looking yesterday for the arrival of the last three cars containing the Idaho exhibit. They are expected to reach here this morning.

Prof. W. N. Hutt of Raleigh, N. C., arrived yesterday with the exhibit from that state. Prof. Hutt is state horticulturist and the exhibit of which he has charge, while not so large as that from other states, will be a most interesting and attractive one. The first of the Colorado exhibit arrived yesterday. Apples are the only fruit from that state unloaded thus far. Superintendent Reed received word yesterday that a fine exhibit from Durango, Colo., is scheduled to reach Council Bluffs today or Sunday. The Durango display will consist of twenty-seven boxes of apples and will be placed with the display from that state.

Visitors from Idaho. Word was received at the National Horticultural congress headquarters yesterday that Captain J. H. Shawhan of Payette, Idaho, vice president of the congress, and A. E. Wood, also of Payette, vice president of the Idaho association, were expected to arrive in Council Bluffs Saturday.

Prof. C. P. Closs and wife, with the Maryland state exhibit, are due to reach the city this morning. Mr. and Mrs. Closs were in charge of the Maryland exhibit last year and made many friends during their brief sojourn in Council Bluffs.

S. W. Fletcher director of the University of Virginia, is expected here some time today with the exhibit from that state. The Union Pacific and Illinois Central railroads will each have a big and instructive exhibit of the fruits, vegetables and other like products grown in the territories traversed by their great railway systems.

Iowa is expected to take a prominent place in its display of vegetables, and products which might be termed "near fruit," as well as its apples, of which it can probably show more varieties than any other apple growing state.

Superintendent Reed plans to move the headquarters of the National Horticultural congress and his office force this morning from the Merriam block to the Central fire station, where he and his assistants will occupy part of the main room on the ground floor during the week of the exposition.

The program of the exercises at the opening of the exposition on Monday morning has not yet been announced by President W. S. Keeble, who has this matter in charge, but probably will be some time today. The complete program of the twelve concerts to be given by the Liberal band has been received by Superintendent Reed and it indicates that a week of rare enjoyment is in store for lovers of good music. The band concerts by this famous organization promise to be a most attractive feature of the week's exposition.

"The Sunny Side of Broadway." That nifty song show, "The Sunny Side of Broadway," will appear at the Star theater matinee and night Sunday. The book, lyrics and music of the piece have been overhauled by Boyle Westfolk, the author, and as a result the piece is brilliant throughout. A number of new songs have been introduced, and new humorous situations developed. Notable among the new songs is "I'm a Devil," in which a devil and his dancing partner is introduced by the chorus. The music of this song has a quaint, weird turn. The most ambitious of the new songs is "Beware of the Garden of Love," an imaginative ballad with imaginative music and scenery.

Elaborate scenic effects are provided for "When It Rains," the finale of the first act. A humorous song introduced is "Under the Pappas Plant," with the pappas plant (which it is) intact. Other new songs are "Every Town Has a Post-office and a Wise, Wise Gal," and "Cupid's Love Song."

The principals in the cast this year are Max Bloom, Al Harrison, J. E. Caughlin, Mary Monroe, Carolyn Ryan, Nan Ryan, Alice Sher, Don Clark, Mort Franklin, the Wents brothers and Ed Allen. The Dancing Pippins and a large chorus complete the company.

PLAN TO IMPROVE BROADWAY

Mayor Maloney Presents Proposition to Accomplish Result.

Mayor Thomas Maloney is in the fore again with the proposition to repave Broadway, which has nearly as many ruts in it as a plowed field. He has had City Solicitor Kimball prepare a petition to be circulated among the owners of Broadway property between Scott street and the crossing between Main and Fourth streets, asking for the repavement of that portion of the thoroughfare. Unless something happens the mayor will circulate the petition today so as to have it ready to present to the city council at its meeting Monday night.

The petition as drawn by the city solicitor at the mayor's instance, calls for repavement of the central portion of the street with vitrified pressed brick on a six-inch concrete base, while the gutters on both sides of the street for a space of four feet from the curbs, are to be repaved with the granite blocks with which Broadway is now paved.

It has been suggested to use some asphalt filler for both brick and stone, and when the petition is circulated, the sentiment of the property owners interested will be sounded as to this. The filler would add slightly to the cost, but would make a pavement which, it is claimed, would be practically noiseless and much more durable than when a filler is not used.

The councilmen are in favor of the improvement if the property owners want it, and if the petition receives the necessary number of signers, it will undoubtedly be ordered.

The American Congress. Great political interest centers in the coming session of Congress. The tariff legislation enacted at the special session caused a sharp division in the ranks of the Republican party, which was reflected by a similar split among the Democrats. Senator Aldrich and Speaker Cannon, the heads of the majority organizations of the two Houses, will be attacked by the insurgent Republicans and militant Democrats, and the ensuing struggle will make one of the most important chapters in the history of American legislation. Apropos of this extremely important political situation, FREDERIC J. HASKIN will write for this newspaper a series of twenty-one articles reviewing the history of the American Congress from the foundation of the government. These letters will tell the story of the great Congressional battles between opposing forces in the government, and will include interesting anecdotal accounts of historic struggles between the White House and Congress. Jackson, Tyler, Johnson, Cleveland, and Roosevelt locked horns with Congress, and the stories of those combats are full of interesting incidents. Our correspondent will also tell of the development of the rules under which the Senate and House of Representatives do business; he will explain concisely and succinctly the rise of the power of the Speaker and the evolution of legislation by committees. These letters will be strictly non-partisan; they will deal in facts rather than opinions, and they will be illuminated with a wealth of anecdote concerning the careers of many prominent Americans from the days of Jefferson and Hamilton to those of Aldrich and La Follette. The reader will find them interesting for their relation to the contemporaneous news, and valuable for their educational and historical qualities. BEGINNING TUESDAY, NOVEMBER 23

MURDER MYSTERY CLEARED

Madison, Wis., Jeweler Killed Three Years Ago Victim of Jealous Wife.

WOMAN IN INSANE ASYLUM

Daughter Who Aided in Concealing the Body Makes Confession After Mother's Mind Breaks Down.

CHICAGO, Nov. 13.—Henry Brodenheyer, a jeweler of Madison, Wis., who was found dead near his home in the summer of 1906, and who was believed to have been murdered by a robber, was killed by his wife, Margaret, now a patient at the Dunning, Ill., insane asylum. This is the confession made today by the daughter, Clara Brodenheyer, to Assistant Chief of Police Schuetzler of Chicago. The girl, who is 15 years old, related how she had aided in disposing of the body and how the crime had driven her mother insane. The confession followed months of investigation conducted by Chicago detectives after Mrs. Brodenheyer and her daughter had come from Madison to Chicago to get away from the scene of the crime.

Miss Brodenheyer, who swooned in Schuetzler's office after the confession, was removed by order of Assistant Chief Schuetzler to the home of friends. She has not been arrested and probably will not be prosecuted because of her confession.

Brodenheyer, who was 42 years old, had aroused the jealousy of his wife. She satisfied herself of his infidelity and decided to kill him. She lured him to an abandoned slaughter house on an old farm near Madison, under the pretense of looking over the property. There she shot him, once behind the right ear and once in the forehead. He died almost instantly. The daughter encountered her mother, hastening from the slaughter house. Her mother said that Brodenheyer had committed suicide, but when the girl accused her of killing him, Mrs. Brodenheyer confessed and asked her daughter to aid her in concealing the crime. They found a rope, fastened it around Brodenheyer's neck and attempted to strangle the body over a raft, but the rope broke and they dragged the body into the roadway and concealed it behind a clump of bushes.

Mother and daughter returned home and next day Mrs. Brodenheyer reported to the police that her husband had left home with a strange man in a buggy. The Madison police discovered the buggy several days later and it was believed by them that Brodenheyer had been killed by the stranger, but failure to find any trace of this man prompted the Madison authorities to ask aid of the Chicago police.

A few months after the tragedy Mrs. Brodenheyer said her husband's store and she and Clara came to Chicago to live. Chicago detectives kept track of them and they made visits to the house, one of them paying especial attention to the daughter, hoping to gain her confidence. They had suspected her mother. The woman's mind finally became a wreck. Five weeks ago she was adjudged insane and the daughter's breakdown and confession followed.

Prosecuting Attorney Vroman Mason and Sheriff John Halbach of Madison, Wis., who came to Chicago today to aid the police in the solution of the mystery, accompanied detectives to the Dunning asylum and interviewed Mrs. Brodenheyer. They told her that her daughter had confessed her crime. Without a betrayal of emotion the woman confirmed the confession and said she killed her husband because she believed he had been guilty of infidelity. Because of her adjudgment for insanity Prosecutor Mason declared that she probably never could be tried for the crime.

Get Together Club.

CRESTON, Ia., Nov. 12.—(Special.)—At a meeting held at the court house Tuesday night an organization was effected to be known as "Creston's Get Together Club." Over 200 enthusiastic representative citizens were present and ninety-three became charter members. It was agreed to incorporate the organization and it is proposed to have a cash fund or its collateral of $10,000 in the treasury to work with, the object being solely for the betterments and self-interest of the city.

One Regiment to Go.

CRESTON, Ia., Nov. 12.—(Special.)—Captain Ochsleger of Company I, Fifty-fifth infantry, Iowa National Guard, has been notified by Adjutant General Guy Logan that the Fifty-fifth has been detailed for duty with the army, in joint maneuver camp for the coming year, providing a regiment is sent from Iowa. All company commanders are instructed to enlist their strength to the minimum of fifty-eight men and if possible to the maximum of seventy-eight. The veterans of the Spanish-American war of the Fifty-first are planning to compile a history of the regiment, and have sent out blanks to every living member of the regiment, and hope they will be filled out and mailed to headquarters at once, so that at the next annual reunion, to be held at Red Oak in April, a complete history of every man may be had.

No Relief for North Branch.

CRESTON, Ia., Nov. 12.—(Special.)—A communication recently received from F. E. Buda, passenger traffic manager of the Burlington, by the railroad commissioners says that no relief can be afforded north branch towns on the Creston & Cumberland line at present, that the income from this line at present is not sufficient to warrant added expense of regular passenger traffic. He says no formal complaint has ever been made to the State Railroad board, but complaints had been made to officials of the company by patrons of the road, and as all branch service was now receiving attention, he had taken up this matter himself and thinks it impossible to make any improvement at present. From this it is inferred that until some formal complaint is filed with the commissioner the north branch towns will have to accept the inevitable. But recently the committees from those towns have been busy and have laid a formal complaint with the commissioners. Just what action may be expected later is hard to predict.

Pleas of Guilty Will Be Entered in Murder Cases

Five Defendants Will Get Prison Terms, Brink Getting New Trial and Life Sentence.

BASIN, Wyo., Nov. 12.—(Special Telegram.)—The second of the Ten Sleep murder cases came to an abrupt end Friday afternoon, and following a conference of attorneys with the prisoners, an agreement was reached whereby all of the five men accused will enter pleas of guilty and receive penitentiary sentences. George Saban and Milton Alexander will enter a plea of guilty to murder in the second degree, and will receive sentences of twenty years each. Eaton and Dixon will plead guilty to manslaughter and each receive three years. Brink, already convicted of murder in the first degree, the only penalty for which is death, will be allowed a motion for a new trial, and will enter a plea to the charge of murder in the second degree and be sentenced to the penitentiary for 2 1/2 years. The compromise arrived at was largely due to the efforts of State Senator George B. McClellan, a prominent cattle owner and politician, and to Milo Burke, a wealthy cattle man, and to the handling of the case by H. S. Ridgely, senior counsel for the defense. Brink offered to let the verdict against him stand if his comrades would benefit by it, but they refused the offer and declared that unless Brink's life was spared there could be no compromise.
