WIFE HEIR TO MILLION

Iowa Man, Formerly Foundling, is Relative of Mrs. Ida Flagler.

WILL SHARE IN HER PROPERTY

Relationship Established After Long Investigation and Acknowledged by Former Wife of Oil Magnate.

ROCKFORD, Ia., Nov. 18.—(Special.)—To be brought to Iowa from New York City a homeless, penniless waif, and to return to New York City thirty years later as one of three heirs to an estate valued at $1,000,000, is the peculiar and fortunate turn the affairs of William W. Taylor, of near here, has taken in a little more than a quarter of a century.

Thirty years ago Taylor was penniless, homeless and friendless; today he is the legal heir to one-third of the estate of Mrs. Ida Flagler, the ex-wife of Henry M. Flagler, former Standard Oil magnate, railroad owner and builder of the Florida East Coast railway. Mrs. Flagler died last Saturday in New York City.

Thirty years ago William W. Taylor, with a carload of other equally penniless children, was brought from New York City by a founding society to northern Iowa. He was then 11 years of age, and he found a home with a big-hearted farmer living near here. On the farm he was reared, until he reached manhood, then he learned the harness maker's trade in Mason City. He was frugal of his earnings and by savings he got together enough to enter the business for himself.

But all his frugality and carefulness in saving and business might not have availed Taylor anything insofar as the fortune is concerned, had it not been for the girl he married. She was Nora Shanks, the daughter of a prosperous Portland township farmer, and with a woman's curiosity she became determined to find out the facts regarding her husband's past.

Relationship is Established. The investigation she instituted resulted after years of search in positively establishing the fact that her husband was a nephew of Mrs. Flagler. This was conclusively proven six years ago, and ever since then Mr. Taylor has received an annuity of $5,000. The other two heirs are brothers of Mr. Taylor. They were also waifs and were brought with their brother to Iowa and given homes.

Mrs. Flagler was a young woman of Philadelphia when she married Henry M. Flagler in 1888. Several years afterwards she lost her husband. At that time the Flaglers were living in Florida, and in 1901 the Florida legislature passed a bill which made incurable insanity of four years' duration legal cause for divorce. Ten days following the passage of the bill Flagler filed a petition for divorce, which was granted two months afterwards. In a short time he married Miss Lillian Kennan, but when he proposed divorce he settled upon the first Mrs. Flagler a fortune of $400,000.

For many years Mrs. Ida Flagler had been constantly attended by Dr. Carlos F. McDonald, who had been her custodian. Her nephew, Mr. Taylor, visited her at many different times after their divorce relationship was established, and at times, he has said, he found her rational.

Mrs. Flagler was seriously injured in an automobile accident, which resulted a few days later in her death.

Mr. Taylor and wife are now in Spokane, Wash., where they are spending the winter. They plan to return to Iowa in the spring.

BIG QUESTIONS FOR CONGRESS

examination made by the experts of the Department of Agriculture in the slaughter houses are upon the throat glands of hogs. These throat glands show the presence of tuberculosis when the disease exists so plainly that there can be no question as to the condition of the animal and every one so affected must be condemned. The reason for this, it is the belief of the veterinarians, supported by the bureau of animal industry, that human health might be endangered were such carcasses permitted to be made into human food, and it is held that the milk from a cow known to be suffering from tuberculosis is equally dangerous, especially in view of the fact such milk is frequently fed to infants. For this reason it is proposed that the pure food law be extended so as to compel the manufacturers of dairy products which are to be used in interstate commerce to prove through federal inspection that the animal from which the food products are produced are free from this disease.

Many of the states have on their statute books laws for the destruction of meat cattle, and particularly dairy cattle, which show signs of the disease. It is urged that there should be federal inspection on the same lines and that the public should be protected from the possible danger of a transmission of disease just as they are protected under the federal pure food law from adulteration and the addition of poisonous material in all other food products.

LIFE TERM FOR FIVE MEN

to be vindicated. The jury had declared the accused men guilty and there was no other recourse but to pass sentence. He thereupon sentenced each of them to hard labor for life in the federal penitentiary at Leavenworth.

The attorneys for all the defendants then gave notice that they would appeal the case to the circuit court of appeals.

Back to Jail in Irons. The prisoners were re-shackled after sentence and taken into the office of the United States marshal prior to their return to jail where they will be held until Sunday when they will be taken to Leavenworth under a strong guard to begin their life sentences.

Attorney Macfarland accompanied the prisoners into the marshal's office for a conference with his clients and asked to see Woods, not recognizing him with his mustache missing. Woods was standing directly in front of the attorney and remarked:

"Hello, Mr. Mac, I am Woods."

"Why, excuse me I thought you was one of the deputies."

Woods laughingly remarked: "I wish some of the other fellows would make that mistake."

Nicaraguan Has Americans Shot to Death

Zelaya Gives the Order of Execution and it is Believed to Have Been Carried Out.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 18.—Two Americans, Leonard Grace and Leroy Cannon, captured while serving with the revolutionist army in Nicaragua were sentenced to death by President Zelaya's orders and it is believed the sentence has been carried out.

The cruiser Vicksburg has been ordered to proceed at once to Corinto and the gunboat Des Moines will go to Port Limon. The meeting between President Taft and the new minister from Nicaragua, Isidoro Hazaes, has been indefinitely postponed.

The news as to the two Americans reached the state department last night from the American consulate at Managua, and stated that their capture had been followed almost immediately by a death sentence.

The consul immediately appealed to President Zelaya to commute their sentences and his answer was "I will see." Later on after a further appeal, Zelaya said "the sentence is final."

A dispatch received today at the state department says the men undoubtedly have been executed. On this information the secretary of state asked the secretary of the navy to order the Vicksburg to proceed to Corinto for the purpose of protecting Americans and American interests.

The Des Moines is now at Colon, about 100 miles from Port Limon, which it can reach within ten hours, steaming under forced draught. The Vicksburg is on the Pacific coast at San Jose de Guatemala, nearly 200 miles from the Nicaraguan coast and will be able to reach Corinto at about the same time the Des Moines arrives at Port Limon.

The execution of the Americans is believed to have taken place at or near El Corinto, which is in the immediate vicinity of Greytown.

The brutality of the Nicaraguan government in ordering the execution of these two Americans who happened to be found in the revolutionist army, without trial of any sort, is likely to result in this government's taking drastic measures.

President Taft upon receipt of this news was so incensed at the action of President Zelaya that he immediately announced that he would have no communication whatever with the new Nicaraguan minister and that official was so informed.

At the Nicaraguan legation it was stated that no news of the execution of two Americans had been received from the Zelaya government.

Court Decides River Boundaries

Iowa Supreme Tribunal Fixes Them on Lines that Excludes Bayous and Sloughs.

(From a Staff Correspondent.)

DES MOINES, Nov. 18.—(Special Telegram.)—The supreme court has put an end to a long controversy over what constitutes the Mississippi and Missouri rivers with relation to the enforcement of the fish and game laws. The court held that the bayous and sloughs along these rivers are not to be regarded as parts of the rivers, but within the meaning of the law the rivers are confined to that part which forms a common boundary and over which there must be concurrent jurisdiction. To hold otherwise would be to place the state
