TORONTO'S TRAMWAY SYSTEM

Suggestive Facts on Street Railway Management and Methods.

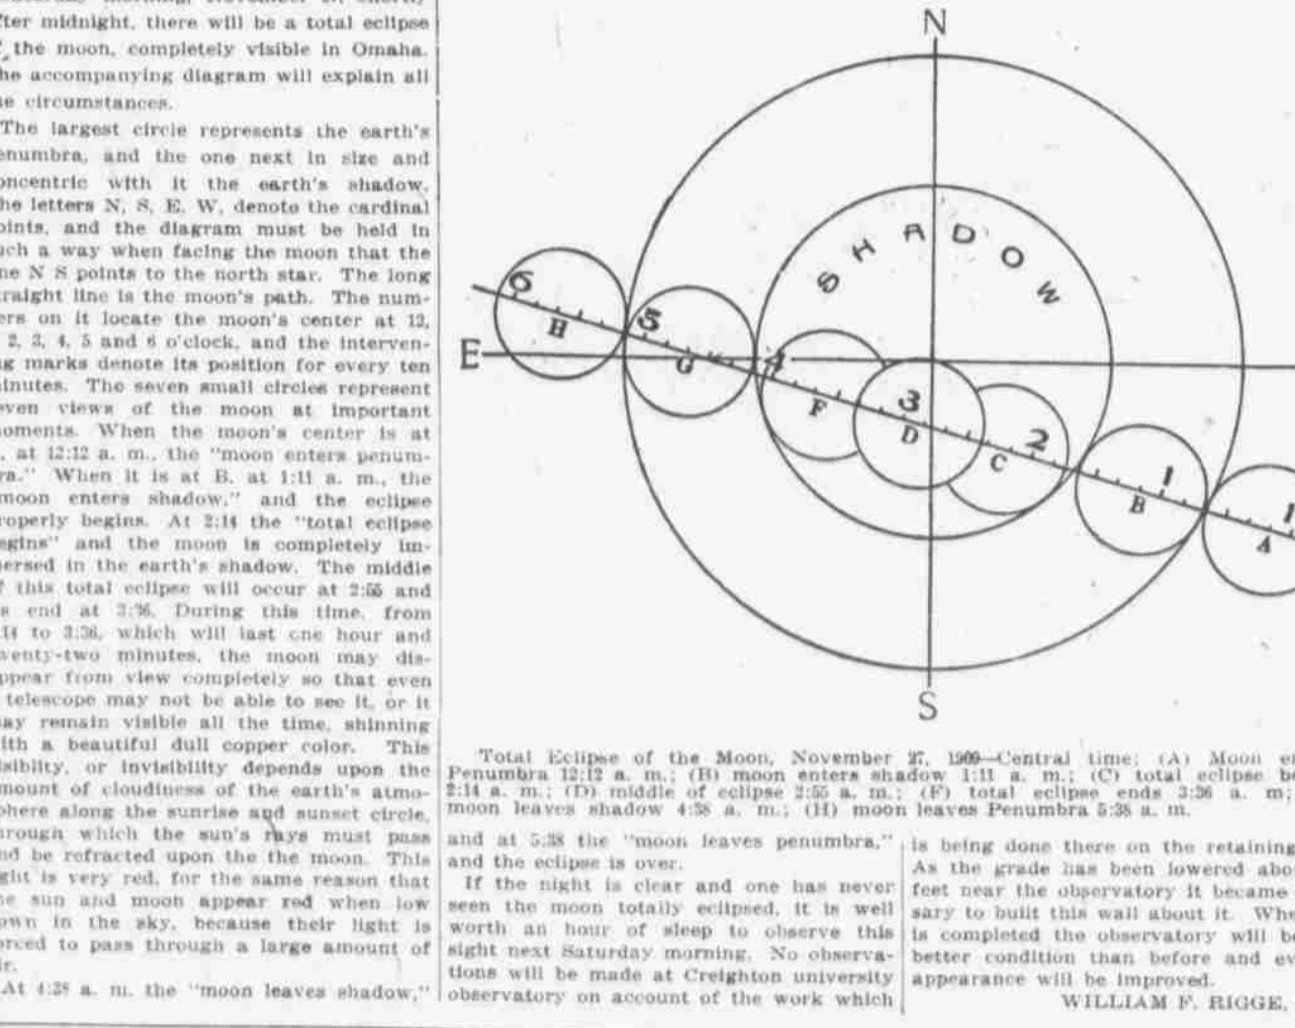

REVENUE DERIVED BY THE CITY

Plant Profitably Operated Under Municipal Lease—Territory Covered, General Service and Pay of Men.

TORONTO, Ont., Nov. 11.—(Special Correspondence.)—In view of the present street railway agitation in Omaha, a few first hand facts in connection with the Toronto system, which has so often been referred to during the debate over the proposed reduction in fares and other reforms in Omaha, may not be out of place. It has often been asserted that Toronto has achieved the most nearly ideal conditions with regard to the street railway service and its relation to the public to be found on this continent, or, for that matter, in the world. It must be admitted that the situation does not present to the superficial observer such attractions as warranted the enthusiasm with which it has been cited as an example worthy of all emulation, and especially recommended to Omaha for guidance in dealing with its problem of street railway administration. Whether this first impression will be sustained after experience or deeper study is not exactly in point. The information gathered here as to the local attitude of the public brings out a considerable divergence of opinion exists as to whether the local street railway administration is so unimpaired. But, so far as I have been able to pursue my inquiry, the preponderance of opinion is in favor of the Toronto system. To some extent this attitude is due to the intense patriotism of the Toronto people, who have developed along with other attributes of a magnificent city a civic pride that can match up with anything that might be offered by the United States in the line. I have talked with city officials, with the officials of the street railway company, with citizens in many walks of life, and with a number who have traveled extensively in the States, and so have received a varied lot of opinions, but in a general way they all converge to the one central point—that the Toronto method of dealing with the street railway is far and away above anything the United States can offer. It is not perfect, but with true British pertinacity—perhaps I ought to say pertinacity born of British heritage and developed in Canada—the people are sticking to the matter of reforming the street railway company and its local administration and service, to the end that in time it will be perfect in its very detail.
Courteous Employees.
The greatest change that impresses the visitor from the United States, perhaps, in connection with the local street railway service, is the uniform courtesy and politeness with which the employees of the

Total Eclipse of the Moon

Saturday morning, November 27, shortly after midnight, there will be a total eclipse of the moon, completely visible in Omaha. The accompanying diagram will explain all the circumstances.

Total Eclipse of the Moon, November 27, 1909—Central time: (A) Moon enters penumbra 12:12 a. m.; (B) moon enters shadow 1:11 a. m.; (C) total eclipse begins 2:14 a. m.; (D) total eclipse ends 2:36 a. m.; (E) moon leaves shadow 4:38 a. m.; (F) moon leaves penumbra 5:38 a. m. is being done there on the retaining wall. As the grade has been lowered about ten feet near the observatory it became necessary to build this wall about it. When this is completed the observatory will be in a better condition than before and even its appearance will be improved.
WILLIAM F. RIGGE, R. J.
both inside and outside the rails, is paid for by the city, and is kept in repair at the public charge, but experience has proven that the annual charge of $500 per mile more than covers this item of expense.
The portion of the gross receipts payable to the city annually under the agreement with the street railway company is as follows:
Up to $1,000,000..... 8 per cent
From $1,000,000 to $2,000,000..... 10 per cent
From $2,000,000 to $3,000,000..... 12 per cent
All over $3,000,000..... 15 per cent
The expense of the upkeep of the system, as well as its equipment and extension, is borne by the company. The city has the right under the agreement to order extension, to designate the number of cars that must be used to avoid overcrowding, and may do a great many other things that seem strange to one who has been accustomed to the methods that prevail in the United States. Just at present a very interesting dispute is in progress of adjustment in the courts. The city has ordered the building of fifteen miles of additional trackage and the supplying of 100 additional

Construction and Power.

A detail of the company's operation at present may be of passing interest in Omaha. The gutted wire of girder rail, such as is now being put down in Omaha, is being abandoned here. All the system was laid with it, but it is being taken up and a T rail is being substituted. The girder rail did not fall in any particular incident, but it is thought not heavy enough for the traffic, and the substitution is expected to secure better service from the track, and less noise and greater smoothness in operation. This and other details of construction are worked out between the city engineer's office and the operating department of the company. The city has the right to pay over any of the company's proposals in this regard. Another factor is that the power for the trolley lines is obtained from Niagara falls, and is brought in here over eighty miles of wire. It has proven very reliable and much cheaper than the steam-generated power, although I was not given the exact figures as to its cost.

Eating an Apple.

"Do you know what you're eating?" said the doctor to the girl.
"An apple, of course."
"You are eating," said the doctor, "albumen, sugar, gum, malic acid, gallic acid, fiber, water and phosphorus."
"Hope those things are good. They sound like good things."
"Nothing could be better. You ate it unadvised, rather too much meat at dinner. The malic acid of apples neutralizes the excess of alkali matter of the meat, and too much meat, and thereby helps to keep you young. Apples are good for your complexion, for their acids drive out the noxious matters which cause skin eruptions. They are good for your brain, which those same noxious matters, if retained, render sluggish. Moreover, the acids of the apple diminish the acidity of the stomach that comes with some forms of indigestion. A larger percentage than any other fruit or vegetable retains the essential nervous matter of the brain and spinal column. Oh, the ancients were not wrong when they extolled the apple the food of the gods—the magic restorer of youth to which the gods resorted when they felt themselves growing old and feeble. I think I'll have an apple," concluded the doctor.—New York Tribune.
