HALF-MINUTE STORE TALK

A man employed by this store recently attended a gathering of young fellows. During the evening some one referred to the various styles of headwear that had been worn there and wondered how many different hat styles were represented. Our employee ventured to remark that if he were a betting man he would wager there were more King-Swanson labels than any other. His remark was challenged and a count was taken. There were 52 hats—4 from out-of-town, 33 had our name inside and 15 were divided between other local stores. But the amusing part of it was, that two stores, much given to fronted hat talk in their ads, were not represented at all—still, it wasn't so very strange—men delight to wear our hats in public places.

Your Money Back On Demand

Why You Should Come Here for An Overcoat

Judging from the remarks made by scores of overcoat customers last Saturday—this is the only logical place for a man to buy a coat. Some of those men were hard to please—but we pleased them quickly. Some were hard to fit but we had no trouble. Some were economical, but they had been elsewhere and it was easy sailing for us. You may be equally as particular—and it would be well to remember that this store's overcoat assortment, being double any other stores, offers double the advantages to buyers—allow us to show you.

BOSTON BANKER SPENT LAST EIGHT YEARS IN MISERY

Carleton H. Hutchinson, a leading banker and broker of Boston, with offices at 8 Congress street, in that city, has recently come out with a very strong statement.

During these eight years I have been forced to go without solid food for five and six weeks at a time. I always had a sour stomach, was troubled with formation of gas, and led the usual miserable life of a dyspeptic. I was dull, tired, nervous and gloomy all the time, and was always constipated.

"I have taken Cooper's medicine a comparatively short time. For the past month I have not had the slightest sign of stomach trouble. I can eat anything with no bad effect whatsoever. I have a fine appetite, am gaining flesh very rapidly, am cheerful, full of energy, and my nervousness has disappeared. My bowels are in perfect condition for the first time in eight years.

"I don't hesitate to say that I would not take $50,000 and be back where I was. My relief and thankfulness is beyond description."

Boy Takes Girl's Part in School and She, in Turn, Defends Him.

PATROUS IN DOBBINS' TRIAL

Touching Story Shown in Love Between Prisoner and Wife—Patent, Trusting Woman Works for His Liberty.

A little girl, clad in a white and blue-checked gingham apron was sobbing at her bench in a tiny one-room school house down in Missouri. The school bully, a very naughty boy, had drawn a rude picture on her slate at recess and twitted her with it when the "teacher" discovered it. That bully came to grief and punishment after school at the hands of a solemn-faced lad with wavy hair they called "Becky." This boy didn't like to see little girls cry—particularly this one. That was many years ago.

Today that same little girl is standing up before the world as the protector of "Becky," who, in the meantime has come to be known as John R. Dobbins and who is on trial for larceny on the allegation that he acted a culpable part in the Mabray swindles.

NEW DESIGNS FOR POSTAL CARDS

HEADS OF MCKINLEY, LINCOLN, GRANT AND THE WASHINGTONS APPEAR ON STAMPS.

WASHINGTON? Nov. 22.—Designs for the new postal cards to be issued by the government have been approved by Postmaster General Hitchcock. The cards will be furnished to the Postoffice department by the government printing office, in accordance with a contract effective on January 1, 1910. On the ordinary card the head of the late President McKinley will appear as now, but a much better likeness of the martyred president has been selected. On the new small card, intended for index purposes, and for social correspondence, a likeness of President Lincoln will appear. The 2-cent international cards will bear a portrait of General Grant. A novel and pleasing innovation has been made for the double, or reply, postal card. On the first half will appear a portrait of George Washington, while the stamp on the second, or reply, half, will be a likeness of Martha Washington. The new cards will be more attractive in appearance than the old and will be of better quality.

RUM AND J. FROST KILLED HIM

Two Bad Ones Combine to Take the Life of Gus Austin, Says Inquest Jury.

The jury empaneled to inquire into the circumstances surrounding the death of Gus Austin, whose frozen body was found last Thursday near the Dundee school, brought in a verdict at the coroner's inquest that Austin came to his death by "freezing." The evidence tended to show that Austin had indulged in intoxicants and probably had fallen asleep near where his body was found. Marshal Tribblecock of Dundee and others testified and the cause of death was apparent.
