Features of the Trading and Closing

Prices on Board of Trade.

CHICAGO, Nov. 24.—Profit-takieng in the December delivery offset to some extenct the effect of unravorable crop reports from Argentina, and light receipts in this country, and caused considerable weakiness at times. Final quotations were 'sc lower to 'sc ligher, compared with the previous close. Corn and oats closed steady and provisions firm.

The liquidation of December holdings by a leading long was one of the chief features of trading in the wheat market, and, as a result of this selling pressure, the premium of this option over May was cut down materially. A report that a leading clevator interest had purchased in the neighborhood of 1,000,000 bushels of Duluth and Nebraska wheat to be shipped here for delivery on December contracts, was partly responsible for the heaviness of the nearby option. The market displayed considerable firmness as the start, owing to strength of shorts based on wet weather reports from Argentina. A rather weak tone than developed, owing to the profitating in December, but the market again became quite firm, because of renewed buying by shorts prompted by the small-content of the contract of the contracts, was partly responsible for the heaviness of the nearby option. OMAHA, Nov. 28, 1998.

Labies were not of an influencing character this morning.

The movement from the country shows signs of increasing and the demand will have to pick up or cash values will likely suffer some losses.

There was a much easier tone to the options because of the assurances that the December deliveries will easily be handled, as terminal houses have accumulated considerable available contract wheat.

Corn traders are watching the wheat market chosely and the weather conditions are the real influencing factors.

Wheat opened fauly strong but grew weak with some fair offerings and some reports of larger acceptances by country sellers. Professional traders were inclined to bear the market owing to the steady advance prices have had.

Corn held steady on higher receipts and fair demand. Cosh corn brought a shade better prices than yesterday, and offerings were very light had roads are keeping country shipments back, and the present movement should increase.

NEW YORK. Nov. 24.—The contrast of the wide movements in opposite directions of few stocks today did not conceal the unsettlement in the speculative sentiment over the issues presented in the Standard Oil case.

A feature was the alteration in the attitude of corporation authorities toward the policy of moving for repeal or modification of the policy of moving for repeal or modification in the state of the Sherman anti-trust law. Link change was accompanied by intimations from Washington that the views of the administration regarding changes in the law had been modified in face of the corporation. It was street that so if effective a weapon asked the power of the corporation. It was such that the views of the corporation in the set of the corporation and the prevented by the Sherman law caused to any efforts to change it.

Large seculative activity centered in the corporation of copper producers would be offered to any efforts to change it.

Large seculative activity centered in the proper seculative activity centered in the soling pressure to be reduced in that going pressure to be reduced in that going pressure to be reduced in that soling pressured to the new stock at parting factor against the tone of depression elsewhere in the market. The buying of the stock was concentrated and said to come from banking interests connected with the company. The extreme depression shown by New York Central was attributed to the announcement of subscription rights for stockholders to the new stock at parting factor against the tone of depression elsewhere in the market. The buying of the stock was concentrated and said to come from banking interests connected with the company. The strong showing made by the Southern Pacific in its annual report made that stock in demand and gave it a period of strength. CATTLE—Receipts were quite liberal this morning, 21 cars being reported in, a very liberal run for this time in the week and for the day preceding a holiday.
The supply of desirable beef steers was extremely small and anything that would satisfy buyers sold in fair season at prices not materially different from those that prevailed yesterday in fact, the general market on desirable stuff was quoted about steady. As a matter of course inferior, trasny grades were slow, as they have been of late.

Cows and helfers seemed to be in pretty fair demand and they sold at about steady prices, there being very little change in any direction.

The worst fecture of the trade was the demoralization prevailing in the stocker and feeder division. The very soft, sloppy 3 feed ewes units.

and feeder division. The very soft, sloppy weather and liberal receipts, together with the intervening holiday, all combined to render the demand far from active, even at prices that were very much lower than prevalled last week. It would be safe to quote medium to pretty decent kinds of cattle 204-00 lower than last week's high time, with the trade very duli even at

SHEEP—As far as quantity was concerned, today's supply of live mutten differed but little from yesterday's limited quots of offerings. Receipts consisted largely of fed stuff; in fact, practically everything on sale bore evidence of move or less "warming up"

Packers made no secret of wanting the more finished kinds of killers, both sheep and lambs, and bought freely of this class of stock from the opening. Anything strictly good commanded good, strong rices, as a rule, some toppy fed lambs selling at $7.50. The demand for common, shortfed stock was very poor, however, and thirty and forty-day offerings proved to be dull sellers at steady to somewhat assier figures. It is a risky policy to cash in unfinished 'fed' stuff at any time, and more capecially at a time of the year when the feeder outlet is narrowing. Packers take the shoddy, warmed up classes only under protest and generally are able to come pretty close to naming their own figures. In view of this fact, feeders throughout the corn belt are urged to keep back any "green" supplies until they have been put in a suitable finished condition. Compared with the close of last week, the best grades of killers are selling on a good, strong basis, with common shortfed kinds steady to perhaps a shade
