FIREMEN PRAISED FOR WORK

Quick Action at Police Barn Blaze Saved Heavy Loss.

SPECIAL MEETING FOR FRIDAY

Board to Decide How to Replace Burned Equipment—Limits of Restricted District Fixed—Soloism Remonstrances.

Whether to buy a new fire and police alarm system and automobiles or wagons for the police department, to take the place of the vehicles destroyed by fire last week, will be considered at a special meeting of the Board of Fire and Police Commissioners Friday morning.

A new alarm system for the fire and police departments was recommended by City Electrician Michaelson several weeks ago. The board has asked the Nebraska Telephone company to submit a new contract as soon as possible.

Several agents for automobile firms have made offers to equip the police department with automobiles, and they have been requested to attend a meeting Friday morning, at which time the matter will be considered.

The members of the fire department were commended for their prompt action in responding to the fire alarm at the barn within three minutes after the alarm was turned in and had the fire under control within thirty minutes.

Praise for Firemen.

In a letter to the Board of Fire and Police Commissioners, Chief of Police J. J. Donahue asserted that only by prompt action was serious damage to the city and county jail averted and that the damage would have been several times greater had the fire department failed to respond in such short time.

Chief Donahue recommended that F. S. Baenick, the chauffeur, who was severely burned, be allowed full pay while off duty on account of his injuries and it was agreed.

John D. Burns, a member of hook and ladder company No. 1, resigned as a member of the fire department. Mr. Burns joined the force several months ago and his appointment had not been confirmed by the board of commissioners. A report was filed charging him with being late for roll call and absenting himself from duty, but was not considered.

Fireman David Lee of hook and ladder company No. 1, was fined $5 because he failed to come up and respond to an alarm November 12.

Fireman Lewis Selby of fire company No. 11 has been promoted to the position of junior captain in place of Junior Captain Frank Johnson, who left the service several weeks ago. Captain Johnson left the department without notice, Selby has been acting as junior captain ever since.

District Set Apart.

People who have a questionable character or who are engaged in objectionable business will be given thirty days to move in the district east of Fifteenth street by the Board of Fire and Police Commissioners.

This action was taken by the board at the meeting last night after having received a number of complaints from respectable people, who object to the people of immoral character living in the residence district. Some of this class of people have been reported living in practically every part of the city and disturbances frequently occur which disturb the peace of the community.

A resolution pertaining to the action was adopted by the commissioners last night and the people will be given until December 23 to comply with the order.

The members of the police department enforcing the order and will force those coming under its scope to comply with the order of the commissioners. The people will be arrested should they refuse or fail to comply with this order.

The Board of Fire and Police Commissioners has not the authority to grant a license to extend beyond the expiration of the municipal year, which is on May 31. This is alleged by the temperance workers of the city, who filed objections against the application for renewal of the license of eighty-two saloons with the fire and police commissioners last night.

That applications for license are not signed by the requisite number of bona fide residents and freeholders is another one of the allegations made by the reformers.

The character of the applicant is attacked in every instance. M. J. Ledy, who signed the remonstrances alleges that the applicant does not have a good reputation nor a good standing in his respective community. Every applicant is charged with violating the stock law within the last year by failing to close the saloon at 3 o'clock, and the objections allege that the applicants have failed to file the proper bond or to properly publish their applications as required by law.

One hundred and twenty applications for saloon licenses for the year 1910 have been filed with the board of commissioners, and objections have been filed against eighty-two of this number. Two hundred and fifty licenses were granted for the year of 1909.

Concert Marks Church Jubilee

Thomas J. Kelly and Choir of First Methodist Church Give Request Program to Many Auditors.

Jubilee week, commemorating the wiping out of the indebtedness of the edifice, is on in earnest at the First Methodist church. Thomas J. Kelly, the organist and choirmaster, and the vested choir of the church gave a request program, which drew many of the most exacting musical critics of the city to hear it and which gave every satisfaction. Those taking part in the entertainment, in addition to Mr. Kelly, were Walter Dole, H. G. Jensen, Louis Loring, Miss Blanche Bollen, Miss Ethel Frey, Mrs. Verne Sillier and Mrs. Kelly. A feature was the closing number, "Ring Out Wild Bells," by Gounod, arranged for full choir by Mr. Kelly, and which was given in a manner eliciting unqualified praise and applause.

The recital was given with interest by the fact that yesterday the mortgage and bond held for some time against the First Methodist church was received from the Northwestern Mutual Life insurance company of Milwaukee, thereby wiping out the last vestige of encumbrance on the Davenport street edifice.

At the church this evening Rev. Dr. Frank Crane, a former pastor, will give an address, which, like the recital of last evening, will fill the church to its capacity.

CITY COUNCIL PROCEEDINGS

Ordinance Taxing Subways and Alley Viaducts is Passed.

M'GOVERN HITS AT HACK FARES

Question of What Amount City Should Allow Election Officers Is in Dispute and Pay Held Up.

By a vote of 11 to 1, the city council on Tuesday evening passed the ordinance to tax all subways and viaducts under and above public streets and alleys in the city of Omaha that now exist or may hereafter be constructed. Councilman Berka alone voted in opposition to the ordinance. The city, he explained, but believes the amount fixed, 2 cents of assessed valuation of the lots tapped by subways, is too high. To carry out the provisions of the ordinance, the city engineer will locate and measure all subways and the building inspector will perform a like duty as to viaducts or bridges connecting buildings.

Councilman McGovern introduced an ordinance, which was referred, providing for repeal of an existing ordinance permitting the city to employ a contractor for hauling travelers between the Union and Burlington stations. The new ordinance would permit a charge of 10 cents only for any distance under a quarter of a mile.

Election Officers' Pay Undecided.

Comptroller Lobbeck desired to have the council arrange to pay judges and clerks of the court $2 an hour for the day of their attendance for serving at the last election. The school board and the county have already paid $2 each to the election officials, and the point was raised that the city should only pay $1, thus making the $3 amount of the ordinance the matter went over until next meeting.

The judiciary committee will consider an ordinance introduced by Councilman Berka providing that the building inspector have the names of streets painted on poles adjacent to street corners by the terms of a resolution passed the city clerk is also to get busy with street signs, the same to be stenciled on rubbish boxes now owned by the city. This resolution also instructs the committee on public property and the city engineer to make a list of buildings now appearing on the boxes, as to the revenue accruing to the city, if any.

The rubbish boxes also came up in a resolution by McGovern, instructing the street commissioner to remove a box in front of the store of G. Shubert on the northeast corner of Fifteenth and Harney. Mr. Shubert objected to the box because it bore an advertisement of a fur sale by another store. The resolution was passed, after some joshing.

Protect Prisoners, Insure Buildings.

Resolutions by Councilman Burmeister and Kugel were passed, the one directing the committee on public property and buildings to report on the advisability of having fire shutters placed on the new jail and the other directing the same committee to consider and report on the matter of having all city buildings regularly insured.

An ordinance appropriating $5,000 from the general fund for the use of the Fire and Police board in replacing the burned equipment of the police patrol barn was referred to the committee on finance and raised to the committee on finance.

An ordinance to create garbage districts and to provide for licensing garbage gatherers and letting contracts for the work was sent to the committee of the whole.

The council passed the Brucker ordinance to create two weeks' time for the building inspector to issue permits for building steps of buildings beyond the lot line into the sidewalk space. It is to be retroactive, and will not disturb any steps now existing.

Open Trolley Twenty-Second.

A statement was made toward the opening of Twenty-second street, from Howard to Dodge, by the property owners depositing $5 toward paying the expenses of appraisal. Appraisers will now give the matter consideration and report to the council.

City Engineer Craig asked the council to establish some rule for the issuing of permits to maintain storage tanks for gasoline and other combustibles on or under the sidewalks of the city. Automobile garages are continually asking for such permits, and the city engineer pointed out that at present his authority in the matter is not clearly defined. The committee of the whole will consider and act on the communication at its next meeting.

City Electrician Michaelson asked the council to devote a portion of the money to be received from occupation tax to ornamental street lighting, and the committee of the whole will pass on the request later.

The Corn Exchange bank was granted permission to build a new stairway entrance for its new building on the corner of the Farnam street front, just above Fifteenth street, which will extend over the alleyway to the sidewalk line.

The council will have its meeting chamber renovated and put in sanitary condition by the vacuum process.

At the Theaters

"A Gentleman from Mississippi" at the Boyd.

"A Gentleman from Mississippi," a play in four acts by Harrison Rhodes and William H. Langdon. Junior senator from Mississippi. James Lackaye "Bud" Haines of the New York "Star" Horatio Peabody, senator from Pennsylvania. Fletcher Harvey James Stevens, senator from Mississippi. Hal De Forrest Virginia Pearson, representative from Mississippi. Fred J. Adams Randolph Langdon, son of Senator Langdon. Virginia Pearson, daughter of Senator Langdon. Dick Cullen of the Chicago "Globe" Colonel Beverly Stansman of Illinois. J. P. Winter Clerk of International Hotel. Charles Bannon Colonel J. D. Teiler of Gulf City. Frank Hartwell Mrs. Spangler. Olive Harper Carolina Langdon, Senator Langdon's daughter. Virginia Pearson Hope Georgia Langdon, Senator Langdon's daughter. Minnette Barrett Adella Butterworth, Senator Stevens' secretary. Adelaide Wise

Without remarkably strong dramatic qualities, this play by Messrs. Rhodes and Langdon is sufficiently refreshing in its quality to afford a very exacting audience. The transplanting of unsophisticated southern planters from their native soil to the political gardens of Washington during an important session of congress has furnished the theme for many a good comedy. The present one does not fall short in comparison with the others in the delightful characterization of the honest, easy-going native of the south who finds his backbone just in time to assert himself when the crisis comes.

Mr. Lackaye has admirable qualities that commend him to his part as the new senator from Mississippi. He combines effectively and faithfully the rollicking good humor, the cordial hospitality, the sterling honesty and the simplicity of the southern planter used to the quiet ways of the plantation. He is at all times the southerner and never allows a false note to creep in. In the care free moods of the first two acts he is delightfully refreshing. In yet he becomes in an instant the sturdy champion of honesty in politics, matching his brains successfully with the so-called king of the senate, and the transaction is brought about naturally and truthfully.

Mr. Searle presents a more plausible newspaper reporter than is usually seen on the stage and as the senator's secretary and his chief support during the first carefree days of the session he accomplishes results in a very satisfactory manner. Fred J. Adams as a congressman is very effective and Misses Barrett and Pearson carry the parts of the Langdon sisters well. The rest of the cast is of sufficient quality to make a very satisfactory production of the play.

Three shallow love affairs creep into the plot without much excuse for being there, but as they occupy little time, the authors will be forgiven for laxness in letting them in.

The production is a delightfully entertaining comedy and deserves a larger house than it got last night. It will be here until after Thursday night, with matinees on Wednesday and Thursday.

DR. CRANE NOW LEADING CHICAGO CIVIC MOVEMENT

"Woodlawn Neighborhood Union" Name of Body Which Aims to Focus Welfare Work.

Dr. Frank Crane of Chicago, in Omaha this week to take an active part in the jubilee of the First Methodist church and who for three years was pastor of the local church, has sprung to the fore in a great civic movement in Chicago. Dr. Crane heads the so-called Woodlawn Neighborhood union, which has undertaken civic problems of great proportion.

From 1927 to 1928 Dr. Crane was in charge of the local pastorate. From Omaha he went to Worcester, Mass., where he occupied the pulpit for seven years, returning from the east to Chicago, where he is now pastor of Trinity church. Tonight he will deliver an address at the First Methodist church on "Ghosts" and on Thanksgiving day will preach at the morning service.

The prime object of the Woodlawn Neighborhood union is to unite the moral forces of the community, but this defines only in skeleton form the wide scope of the organization's efforts. The organization has as its membership role many of the most prominent residents of the Chicago suburb, with men and women of many denominations.

Various churches of the community, women's clubs, men's clubs and commercial organizations are identified with the union. In time it is the plan and the hope of those behind the movement to establish a public library, build a theater, establish a university, build an amusement palace for young people and to advance the interests of the various arts.

Dr. Crane has been closely identified with the organization since the inception of the movement. From October 1 to May 1 he is slated to deliver a series of Sunday afternoon lectures on the matter before the people of the community of Woodlawn. One of the prime movers in the union is William J. Lafferty, a layman in Christ's Episcopal church of Chicago.

FIRE WARDEN AFTER "BUG"

Deputy Gallagher Seeking Man to Question Him About Lincoln Sanatorium Laundry Fire.

The state fire warden is seeking "Jack" Wyatt, whom he wishes to question concerning the firing of the laundry of the Dr. Bailey sanatorium four days ago in Lincoln. Wyatt was thought to be in Omaha yesterday and he has been in the hands of the officers who were looking for other persons and took him in as a suspect. He made his getaway so quickly after release that suspicion was aroused and when Deputy Fire Warden Gallagher furnished a description of the man wanted, the officers concluded Wyatt had crossed the river at express speed.

Wyatt was employed for a week at the sanatorium when he was discharged. The same night the laundry of the institution burned and it was believed to be an incendiary fire. A horse belonging to the institution was found mutilated by a knife.

AFFAIRS AT SOUTH OMAHA

Assaults of John Dole Caught by Police and Put in Jail.

VICTIM RECOVERS CONSCIOUSNESS

Joe Scurzek and Joe Caja, who assaulted a fellow workman name John Dole last night, were arrested this morning by South Omaha authorities and are now in jail. Dole is seriously injured, but has at length recovered consciousness. He suffered fractures of the skull. The trouble happened at the home of Joe Madura.

The trouble had been brewing for some time and began when the two men broke a gun belonging to Dole. Dole and they had a quarrel and an assault followed, after which both men were arrested and tried before Judge P. C. Caldwell. The judge fined each $25 and costs. This case was determined yesterday afternoon. After the trial Dole went home and was quietly eating supper when the men entered and began a fierce assault upon him without warning. He was knocked down and struck on the head and body many times with clubs or pieces of furniture. When they had beaten him into insensibility they left and the police were called. Dole was first cared for. He was taken to the South Omaha hospital, where an operation was immediately performed to relieve the pressure on the man's brain. He partially recovered consciousness after the operation, but not enough to tell an intelligent story of the affair.

The South Omaha police and detectives spent all night searching for the two men. They were traced to Omaha and back, but were not found.

John Dole and the other two are Polish and are laborers in the South Omaha packing houses.
