ONE COUNCILMAN OUT OF WARD

Deputy State Veterinarian Busy Making Tuberculosis Tests—Death of Mrs. Anna Paulsen—Inquest Postponed.

The special session of the committee of the whole council Wednesday afternoon resulted in a compromise of the difficult problem of redistricting the city of South Omaha to make seven wards. In this matter two objects were sought in the main. The first was to make the wards as nearly equal in size as possible and the second to make them equal in population.

Some Things You Want to Know

The American Congress—Cleveland Versus Congress.

The prestige of the office of president of the United States owes much to Grover Cleveland. That distinguished democrat in his first administration, succeeded in firmly establishing the independence of the executive from the legislature.

Mr. Cleveland came into office in March, but he was very, very slow in the work of removing republican officeholders and replacing them with democratic "patriots." The "patriots" did not like to wait, but Mr. Cleveland knew what he was about. Against the wishes of a majority of his party, he called a special session of congress to meet August 7 for the purpose of repealing the purchasing clause of the Sherman act.

Cleveland came into office in 1895 as the first democratic president since the Civil war. The new administration was supported by an enthusiastic majority in the house of representatives, but the senate was republican by a majority of eight. Under the old tenure-of-office act the president was required to report suspensions from office to the senate for its approval.

The east fought the west and south in the upper chamber. The debate dragged on for weeks. The democrats once agreed on a compromise measure, only to have it dropped back from the White House with a demand for unconditional repeal.

When the senate bill got back to the house for concurrence in some slight amendments, an attempt at a filibuster was made. Said a contemporary reporter: "Crying Bryan of Nebraska stood like Horatius at the bridge, with his quiver full of dilatory motions."

TRAINOR REPLIES TO JUDGE

Says County Board Spent Only Tenth What Estelle Said.

AMOUNT $2,000 INSTEAD OF $25,000

Denies that Commissioners Wasted Money on Office of District Clerk—Detention Home Expenses Are High.

Declaring that the county commissioners expended a little over $2,000 instead of $25,000 on the office of the district clerk, County Commissioner P. J. Trainor has given out a statement replying to Judge Estelle, who made the charge that the larger sum had been expended. Mr. Trainor declared: "Responding to the remarks which Judge Estelle made from the bench, I wish to state that I have always been in sympathy with and supported the juvenile court, the Detention home, which the county recently constructed with a capacity of fifty children. Because the home was filled shortly after it was occupied the commissioners called the superintendent of the Detention home and the juvenile court judge into conference to see if they could not find a way to provide homes for at least a part of the children, so we could make room for other delinquent children, or cut the expense which the county and taxpayers would have to pay."

POPULATION NOT YET KNOWN

It remains for the council committee to examine the sources of information to see whether any great discrepancy in population is found in the new territory. The only means of estimating at present is the record of the tax commissioner and the school census. Between the two a fair estimate should be easy to make. The Fourth and Seventh wards will be found most of the floating population and it is in these wards that the greatest difficulty in estimating the districts will arise. Care was taken by the council not to throw any councilman out of the present councilman would be. This may be taken as an indication that all the present councilmen propose to become candidates for re-election. The only case in the above plan where a councilman was put out of his ward was that of John Hasbrouck, member from the Fourth ward. He will be shifted to the Seventh ward by the new arrangement. It is thought however that the change will be greatly to his advantage, as he is a resident of the west side and the new ward contains a very large part of the railroad tracks. In times past this artificial division of the city has worked a division of political interest also.

TUBERCULINE TESTS IN DAIRIES

For several days the deputy state veterinarian has been in South Omaha making tuberculin tests on cows. The city has about thirteen dairymen whose herds are kept in and about the limits of the city. The South Omaha city council recently passed an ordinance requiring all dairymen to submit to a test. One or two of the dairymen refused to do so. The ordinance came out fortunately, but one dairyman of the city had every animal of his herd condemned. This will be a serious blow to a man of small means and will probably mean that his business will close down. All the cows which respond to the tuberculin test will be sent to a slaughter house for immediate slaughter under the conditions of government inspection.

DEATH OF MRS. ANNA PAULSEN

Mrs. Anna Paulsen died Tuesday night at the South Omaha hospital, where she had been under a doctor's care for a short time. She was 59 years old and had been a resident of the city for many years. She was the wife of Jacob Paulsen and the family residence was at Fourteenth and O streets. The funeral will be held Friday at 1 p. m. from the city chapel. Jacob Houck will conduct the services. The interment will be at Laurel Hill cemetery. Mrs. Paulsen is survived by her husband and one daughter, Mrs. Dora Ahlers.

COMPANY BLAMED FOR DEATH

Coroner's Jury Holds that Street Railway is Responsible for Killing of Arthur Gross.

Negligence on the part of the Omaha and Council Bluffs Street Railway company is held by the coroner's jury to have been responsible for the death of Arthur Gross, 15 years of age, who was badly injured by being crushed by one of the company's construction trains Monday afternoon that he died two hours later. The coroner's jury was empaneled Tuesday afternoon, but took no testimony until Wednesday, when its session continued for several hours. After deliberating but a short time the jury brought in its verdict. Young Gross, who was the son of R. Gross, a retail grocer at 323 South Thirtieth street, was out driving in a little cart. He was thrown in front of a rapidly moving street railway car, and badly mangled. He died at the Swedish hospital. In the case of Jake Sampson, found dead Tuesday afternoon in a lodging house on Douglas street, a coroner's jury Wednesday afternoon brought in a verdict of death by heart failure.

Watch—Two Lovey Doves Will Occupy This Nest, Advertiser's Bridal House.

Miss Roxey Jeanette Wills, a sister of ex-Police Surgeon Wills, and Charles Bracy McDonald, son of the late ex-Sheriff McDonald, were married Wednesday at Madison. They returned to Omaha, where they are well known and have many friends, to go to housekeeping at 2225 Lake street. Great was their astonishment when they awakened Thursday morning to find some of their friends had perpetrated a joke upon them. On the roof of the domicile was a huge swan sign, bearing the words in large letters: "Watch—Two Lovey Doves will occupy this nest." Mr. McDonald and his bride are taking the joke good-naturedly, but at that, they would like to find out who was responsible for it, as they may be in a position some day to return the compliment. In the meantime the neighborhood is enjoying a big laugh.

Some Officials Can Only See Lights That Are Dark—Complain Soren Mortensen.

Soren Mortensen of 2015 Dorcas street, has filed with the city clerk a letter to the city council, in which he uses a queer combination of language to criticize the city fathers and the city electrician. Mr. Mortensen says that he has been in his neighborhood often for "six nights out of six chances to illuminate" and intimates that some city officials can only see lights that are habitually dark on the few occasions when the said lights are on duty.

NEW YORK AS A RAILWAY AND STEAMSHIP TRANSFER POINT

And the Value of the Hotel St. Regis to Through Travelers and Tourists.

Local on the eastern threshold of the American continent, with railroads stretching to it from every part of the United States, and with steamer lines branching from it to the eastward and traversing every one of the "seven seas," New York can rightly claim to be the greatest passenger transfer point in the Western World. Through travelers coming to New York generally spend a day or two in the metropolis before proceeding, and desire a hotel where can be obtained the fullest amount of comfort and rest. Such is the Hotel St. Regis, at Fifth Avenue and Fifty-fifth Street, conveniently situated, having its own electric cab service, and making a specialty of catering to through travelers. Arrangements can be made in advance with the Hotel St. Regis to meet incoming passengers, transfer them and their baggage to the hotel, and convey them to their outgoing station at a stated time, leaving them every moment of their intervening time free and unhampered by travel considerations. The St. Regis is known as "America's finest hotel," and is all that that name implies. Its cuisine is equal in all respects to the very best foreign restaurants, while its restaurant charges are no higher than those of other first-class hotels. Room rates are likewise moderate: $3 and $4 a day for a large, handsomely furnished single room; $5 a day for the same with private bath or $6 for two people; and $12 a day and up for a splendid suite consisting of parlor, bedroom and private bath.
