

AFFAIRS AT SOUTH OMAHA

Coroner's Jury Listens to Testimony of Death of Harry Long.

TWO MEN HELD FOR ASSAULT

Police Who Injured John Doll Must Stand Trial—Holds on Paving Will Be Tabulated Soon.

"We, the coroner's jury, sitting inquest over the body of Harry Long, lying dead, express our judgment in the case in that we hereby find Harry Long came to his death by a gunshot wound, and that he was shot by the hand of Wesley McBride on the 27th day of November, 1909, about the hour of 3 p. m., in the city of South Omaha, Douglas county, Nebraska."

This verdict was signed by W. P. Adams, foreman of the jury, and J. F. J. Ryan, R. W. Vetter, J. J. Martin and O. E. Bruce, following the coroner's inquest Friday at South Omaha over the death of Harry Long.

The examination of witnesses was conducted by the county attorney, James English, and the defense was represented by J. H. Van Dusen. The witnesses were Andrew and Louis Jounachiet, Fred Henderson, Lehigh McFarland, J. F. Marvel, Henry Elfelder, Dr. E. L. De Lanney and Captain P. H. Shields.

Andrew Jounachiet was with Wesley McBride and Harry Long from the time they left their homes until they had tramped over the river bottoms for some hours and had made a campfire in the willows opposite the foot of Missouri avenue. There he left the other two boys and returned home. They had spent the afternoon hunting and shooting at marks with the revolver which Wesley McBride carried.

Most of the time was spent shooting at bottles and tin cans. Wesley McBride and the Jounachiet boy left the home of the latter early in the afternoon and on the way met Harry Long and returned home with them from that point, but without any special invitation. On the sandbar near the place where the shooting occurred, Jounachiet said Wesley McBride said several times, "I'll shoot him!" indicating Harry Long.

Religion teaches that a man cannot give more than he has. The scientist after cold calculation says that the gift of a life cannot be more than a gift of $1,000. This is something for every person who loves his own life or somebody's else—to think about. The scientist adds that he must be in his prime, 20 years old, to be worth $1,000.

When Jounachiet last gave them, Harry Long had kindled a fire and was gathering dry wood to keep it going, and Wesley McBride was seated by the fire. Fred Henderson and Lehigh McFarland discovered the body of Long about 3 p. m., while they were hunting rabbits in the willows. When they came upon the body they were first attracted by seeing the hat and shoes. They approached the boy and found him lying on his face with his hand pressed on one of the wounds in his cheek. He was dead, but the fire was still burning and seemed to have been recently kindled. They saw no one about the body.

On the ground for a distance of thirty feet were marks and evidence showing where the boy had twice fallen and finally crawled along on the ground. On the trees up to the height of four feet were blood stains also indicating that the boy had been on his feet part of the time. These two boys gave the alarm. Officer Marvel corroborated the circumstances of the finding of a body and told of tracing foot marks on the sandbar leading finally toward South Omaha.

Louis Jounachiet said he and another boy met Wesley McBride about 4 o'clock and that he was pale and asked if he looked pale. He told them he was ill and went on toward home.

Elfelder told of finding the gun in what appeared to be a washing machine on the back porch. He gave the gun to Wesley McBride, also. De Lanney conducted the autopsy.

P. H. Shields told that on the way to the police station Wesley McBride told of the shooting and said the first shot was an accident.

The attorney for the defense did not enter into any lengthy cross-examination of the witnesses. The jury made up its verdict in a few minutes.

J. H. Van Dusen, representing McBride, was the only one appearing, neither Wesley McBride nor any member of his family being present.

Probable Outcome.

County Attorney English said after the hearing: "This is one of those interesting cases which cannot be passed over lightly and of course there will have to be a hearing before the courts. I presume a complaint with the proper charge will soon be filed. It will probably be second degree murder. In that case the boys will have a hearing on the present state of the boy's mind after the preliminary trial, or if mental affliction is to be the defense that may be advanced at the trial before the district court."

Two Poles Arraigned.

While waiting for the coroner's jury in the Long case, the county attorney submitted a complaint and arraigned Joe Szurek and Joe Lala, on charge of assault with intent to do great bodily injury. They were charged with assaulting John Doll on the night of November 25, and fracturing his skull, beside laying open the brain, with a hatchet. They were said to have been increased against Doll because the latter had had the other boys arrested for beating and assault in connection. They were tried in the former suit before Judge Caldwell and fined $25 and costs. The animus originating in the trial and the previous quarrel stirred them up to the last attack against Doll while he was seated at

Fat Women, This Month Should Interest You

This kind of weather is the very kind fat people should take advantage of and remove their fat without any fear of exhausting themselves. For every druggist, no matter where you live, carries a box of the famous Marmola Tablets, just the same as the world-renowned Marmola Prescription, and take one of these tablets after each meal. These tablets will stop all fat-making, and the beauty of them lies in the fact that they will not leave marks on your face, and they will not harm anyone. No matter whether you eat at home or away from home, your Marmola Tablets can always be carried and you will thus be free from any worry about that which you eat. These tablets will stop all fat-making, and the beauty of them lies in the fact that they will not leave marks on your face, and they will not harm anyone. No matter whether you eat at home or away from home, your Marmola Tablets can always be carried and you will thus be free from any worry about that which you eat.

LAND MEN MUST GO TO JAIL

Richards, Comstock and Others Lose Out on Their Appeal.

LAWYERS NOT DECIDED AS YET

Defendants' Only Recourse Now is to Carry the Case to the Supreme Court of the United States.

ST. PAUL, Minn., Dec. 4.—Bartlett Richards, president of the Nebraska Land and Feeding company; Will G. Comstock, vice president of the same concern, and Charles C. Jameson, the secretary and treasurer, with a number of others who were interested in illegal land transactions, were sentenced today to serve jail terms ranging from six months to one year and pay fines of from $500 to $1,500, according to the opinion in the case here today handed down by Judge Hook of the United States court of appeals. The cases came to the appellate court from the United States district court of Nebraska.

The Nebraska Land and Feeding company ran their cattle on what is known as the Spade ranch in Nebraska and controlled several ranges and herds at one time, as much as 300,000 acres of land, much of it belonging to the government, under fence.

R. S. Hall, the principal attorney for the defendants in the Richards, Comstock, Jameson and Triplett cases, has not been officially advised of the decision of the circuit court of appeals.

"I do not know what we shall do," said Mr. Hall, "until we can see the decision. All we know is from the press dispatches. We are completely at sea in the present status of the case, as I have not heard a word from St. Paul relative to the matter."

W. F. Gurley, of Gurley & Woodrough, attorneys for T. W. Huntington, Amel B. Todd and Fred Hoyt, said:

"We do not know from the press dispatches whether our clients are included in the decision, affirming the Comstock and Richards cases. Consequently we do not know what further action we shall take."

"We have heard nothing further regarding the case," said United States District Attorney Goss, "but appears in the press dispatches. I do not know that the Huntington, Todd and Hoyt cases are included in the decision, although the issues involved were exactly the same as in the Comstock, Richards, Jameson and Triplett cases. We have wired to St. Paul to get further information as to the full scope of the decision, but owing to the absence of Clerk Jordan, we have not yet received a reply."

The court of last resort.

"The only recourse now left for the defendants included in the decision is to apply to the supreme court of the United States for a writ of certiorari, which is a measure equivalent to an appeal from the decision of the circuit court of appeals. Whether this will be done is a matter that remains wholly with the attorneys for the defendants."

The argument for the appeal before the circuit court of appeals in May was participated in on behalf of the defendants by Judge John Leacy of Wyoming, C. J. Hughes, Jr., of Denver, present United States senator from Colorado, by R. S. Hall of Omaha, the principal attorney for the defendants, and by District Attorney Charles A. Goss and Special Assistant Attorney General S. R. Rush.

In the trial of the case in Omaha, the defendants, Richards, Comstock, Jameson and Triplett, were fined $500 each and sent to jail for eight months in all; Huntington and Todd $1,000 each and three months in jail and Hoyt $1,000, and remain in jail until the fine was paid.

The men, along with P. M. Walcott and James Reid, were indicted by the grand jury in the Douglas county jail; Jameson and Triplett were first indicted in Omaha, Nebraska, in the years 1904 and 1905. Richards, Comstock, Jameson and Triplett were tried together, and Hoyt, Todd and Huntington together.

Messrs. Richards and Comstock were fined $1,000 each and sentenced to one year in the Douglas county jail; Jameson and Triplett were fined $500 each and sentenced to serve eight months in jail; Huntington and Todd $1,000 each and three months in jail and Hoyt $1,000, and remain in jail until the fine was paid.

The men, along with P. M. Walcott and James Reid, were indicted by the grand jury in the Douglas county jail; Jameson and Triplett were first indicted in Omaha, Nebraska, in the years 1904 and 1905. Richards, Comstock, Jameson and Triplett were tried together, and Hoyt, Todd and Huntington together.

Messrs. Richards and Comstock were fined $1,000 each and sentenced to one year in the Douglas county jail; Jameson and Triplett were fined $500 each and sentenced to serve eight months in jail; Huntington and Todd $1,000 each and three months in jail and Hoyt $1,000, and remain in jail until the fine was paid.

The men, along with P. M. Walcott and James Reid, were indicted by the grand jury in the Douglas county jail; Jameson and Triplett were first indicted in Omaha, Nebraska, in the years 1904 and 1905. Richards, Comstock, Jameson and Triplett were tried together, and Hoyt, Todd and Huntington together.

Messrs. Richards and Comstock were fined $1,000 each and sentenced to one year in the Douglas county jail; Jameson and Triplett were fined $500 each and sentenced to serve eight months in jail; Huntington and Todd $1,000 each and three months in jail and Hoyt $1,000, and remain in jail until the fine was paid.

The men, along with P. M. Walcott and James Reid, were indicted by the grand jury in the Douglas county jail; Jameson and Triplett were first indicted in Omaha, Nebraska, in the years 1904 and 1905. Richards, Comstock, Jameson and Triplett were tried together, and Hoyt, Todd and Huntington together.

Messrs. Richards and Comstock were fined $1,000 each and sentenced to one year in the Douglas county jail; Jameson and Triplett were fined $500 each and sentenced to serve eight months in jail; Huntington and Todd $1,000 each and three months in jail and Hoyt $1,000, and remain in jail until the fine was paid.

The men, along with P. M. Walcott and James Reid, were indicted by the grand jury in the Douglas county jail; Jameson and Triplett were first indicted in Omaha, Nebraska, in the years 1904 and 1905. Richards, Comstock, Jameson and Triplett were tried together, and Hoyt, Todd and Huntington together.

Messrs. Richards and Comstock were fined $1,000 each and sentenced to one year in the Douglas county jail; Jameson and Triplett were fined $500 each and sentenced to serve eight months in jail; Huntington and Todd $1,000 each and three months in jail and Hoyt $1,000, and remain in jail until the fine was paid.

The men, along with P. M. Walcott and James Reid, were indicted by the grand jury in the Douglas county jail; Jameson and Triplett were first indicted in Omaha, Nebraska, in the years 1904 and 1905. Richards, Comstock, Jameson and Triplett were tried together, and Hoyt, Todd and Huntington together.

Messrs. Richards and Comstock were fined $1,000 each and sentenced to one year in the Douglas county jail; Jameson and Triplett were fined $500 each and sentenced to serve eight months in jail; Huntington and Todd $1,000 each and three months in jail and Hoyt $1,000, and remain in jail until the fine was paid.

The men, along with P. M. Walcott and James Reid, were indicted by the grand jury in the Douglas county jail; Jameson and Triplett were first indicted in Omaha, Nebraska, in the years 1904 and 1905. Richards, Comstock, Jameson and Triplett were tried together, and Hoyt, Todd and Huntington together.

Messrs. Richards and Comstock were fined $1,000 each and sentenced to one year in the Douglas county jail; Jameson and Triplett were fined $500 each and sentenced to serve eight months in jail; Huntington and Todd $1,000 each and three months in jail and Hoyt $1,000, and remain in jail until the fine was paid.

The men, along with P. M. Walcott and James Reid, were indicted by the grand jury in the Douglas county jail; Jameson and Triplett were first indicted in Omaha, Nebraska, in the years 1904 and 1905. Richards, Comstock, Jameson and Triplett were tried together, and Hoyt, Todd and Huntington together.

Messrs. Richards and Comstock were fined $1,000 each and sentenced to one year in the Douglas county jail; Jameson and Triplett were fined $500 each and sentenced to serve eight months in jail; Huntington and Todd $1,000 each and three months in jail and Hoyt $1,000, and remain in jail until the fine was paid.

LAND MEN MUST GO TO JAIL

Richards, Comstock and Others Lose Out on Their Appeal.

LAWYERS NOT DECIDED AS YET

Defendants' Only Recourse Now is to Carry the Case to the Supreme Court of the United States.

ST. PAUL, Minn., Dec. 4.—Bartlett Richards, president of the Nebraska Land and Feeding company; Will G. Comstock, vice president of the same concern, and Charles C. Jameson, the secretary and treasurer, with a number of others who were interested in illegal land transactions, were sentenced today to serve jail terms ranging from six months to one year and pay fines of from $500 to $1,500, according to the opinion in the case here today handed down by Judge Hook of the United States court of appeals. The cases came to the appellate court from the United States district court of Nebraska.

The Nebraska Land and Feeding company ran their cattle on what is known as the Spade ranch in Nebraska and controlled several ranges and herds at one time, as much as 300,000 acres of land, much of it belonging to the government, under fence.

R. S. Hall, the principal attorney for the defendants in the Richards, Comstock, Jameson and Triplett cases, has not been officially advised of the decision of the circuit court of appeals.

"I do not know what we shall do," said Mr. Hall, "until we can see the decision. All we know is from the press dispatches. We are completely at sea in the present status of the case, as I have not heard a word from St. Paul relative to the matter."

W. F. Gurley, of Gurley & Woodrough, attorneys for T. W. Huntington, Amel B. Todd and Fred Hoyt, said:

"We do not know from the press dispatches whether our clients are included in the decision, affirming the Comstock and Richards cases. Consequently we do not know what further action we shall take."

"We have heard nothing further regarding the case," said United States District Attorney Goss, "but appears in the press dispatches. I do not know that the Huntington, Todd and Hoyt cases are included in the decision, although the issues involved were exactly the same as in the Comstock, Richards, Jameson and Triplett cases. We have wired to St. Paul to get further information as to the full scope of the decision, but owing to the absence of Clerk Jordan, we have not yet received a reply."

The court of last resort.

"The only recourse now left for the defendants included in the decision is to apply to the supreme court of the United States for a writ of certiorari, which is a measure equivalent to an appeal from the decision of the circuit court of appeals. Whether this will be done is a matter that remains wholly with the attorneys for the defendants."

The argument for the appeal before the circuit court of appeals in May was participated in on behalf of the defendants by Judge John Leacy of Wyoming, C. J. Hughes, Jr., of Denver, present United States senator from Colorado, by R. S. Hall of Omaha, the principal attorney for the defendants, and by District Attorney Charles A. Goss and Special Assistant Attorney General S. R. Rush.

In the trial of the case in Omaha, the defendants, Richards, Comstock, Jameson and Triplett, were fined $500 each and sent to jail for eight months in all; Huntington and Todd $1,000 each and three months in jail and Hoyt $1,000, and remain in jail until the fine was paid.

The men, along with P. M. Walcott and James Reid, were indicted by the grand jury in the Douglas county jail; Jameson and Triplett were first indicted in Omaha, Nebraska, in the years 1904 and 1905. Richards, Comstock, Jameson and Triplett were tried together, and Hoyt, Todd and Huntington together.

Messrs. Richards and Comstock were fined $1,000 each and sentenced to one year in the Douglas county jail; Jameson and Triplett were fined $500 each and sentenced to serve eight months in jail; Huntington and Todd $1,000 each and three months in jail and Hoyt $1,000, and remain in jail until the fine was paid.

The men, along with P. M. Walcott and James Reid, were indicted by the grand jury in the Douglas county jail; Jameson and Triplett were first indicted in Omaha, Nebraska, in the years 1904 and 1905. Richards, Comstock, Jameson and Triplett were tried together, and Hoyt, Todd and Huntington together.

Messrs. Richards and Comstock were fined $1,000 each and sentenced to one year in the Douglas county jail; Jameson and Triplett were fined $500 each and sentenced to serve eight months in jail; Huntington and Todd $1,000 each and three months in jail and Hoyt $1,000, and remain in jail until the fine was paid.

The men, along with P. M. Walcott and James Reid, were indicted by the grand jury in the Douglas county jail; Jameson and Triplett were first indicted in Omaha, Nebraska, in the years 1904 and 1905. Richards, Comstock, Jameson and Triplett were tried together, and Hoyt, Todd and Huntington together.

Messrs. Richards and Comstock were fined $1,000 each and sentenced to one year in the Douglas county jail; Jameson and Triplett were fined $500 each and sentenced to serve eight months in jail; Huntington and Todd $1,000 each and three months in jail and Hoyt $1,000, and remain in jail until the fine was paid.

The men, along with P. M. Walcott and James Reid, were indicted by the grand jury in the Douglas county jail; Jameson and Triplett were first indicted in Omaha, Nebraska, in the years 1904 and 1905. Richards, Comstock, Jameson and Triplett were tried together, and Hoyt, Todd and Huntington together.

Messrs. Richards and Comstock were fined $1,000 each and sentenced to one year in the Douglas county jail; Jameson and Triplett were fined $500 each and sentenced to serve eight months in jail; Huntington and Todd $1,000 each and three months in jail and Hoyt $1,000, and remain in jail until the fine was paid.

The men, along with P. M. Walcott and James Reid, were indicted by the grand jury in the Douglas county jail; Jameson and Triplett were first indicted in Omaha, Nebraska, in the years 1904 and 1905. Richards, Comstock, Jameson and Triplett were tried together, and Hoyt, Todd and Huntington together.

Messrs. Richards and Comstock were fined $1,000 each and sentenced to one year in the Douglas county jail; Jameson and Triplett were fined $500 each and sentenced to serve eight months in jail; Huntington and Todd $1,000 each and three months in jail and Hoyt $1,000, and remain in jail until the fine was paid.

The men, along with P. M. Walcott and James Reid, were indicted by the grand jury in the Douglas county jail; Jameson and Triplett were first indicted in Omaha, Nebraska, in the years 1904 and 1905. Richards, Comstock, Jameson and Triplett were tried together, and Hoyt, Todd and Huntington together.

Messrs. Richards and Comstock were fined $1,000 each and sentenced to one year in the Douglas county jail; Jameson and Triplett were fined $500 each and sentenced to serve eight months in jail; Huntington and Todd $1,000 each and three months in jail and Hoyt $1,000, and remain in jail until the fine was paid.

The men, along with P. M. Walcott and James Reid, were indicted by the grand jury in the Douglas county jail; Jameson and Triplett were first indicted in Omaha, Nebraska, in the years 1904 and 1905. Richards, Comstock, Jameson and Triplett were tried together, and Hoyt, Todd and Huntington together.

Messrs. Richards and Comstock were fined $1,000 each and sentenced to one year in the Douglas county jail; Jameson and Triplett were fined $500 each and sentenced to serve eight months in jail; Huntington and Todd $1,000 each and three months in jail and Hoyt $1,000, and remain in jail until the fine was paid.

The men, along with P. M. Walcott and James Reid, were indicted by the grand jury in the Douglas county jail; Jameson and Triplett were first indicted in Omaha, Nebraska, in the years 1904 and 1905. Richards, Comstock, Jameson and Triplett were tried together, and Hoyt, Todd and Huntington together.

Messrs. Richards and Comstock were fined $1,000 each and sentenced to one year in the Douglas county jail; Jameson and Triplett were fined $500 each and sentenced to serve eight months in jail; Huntington and Todd $1,000 each and three months in jail and Hoyt $1,000, and remain in jail until the fine was paid.

17th and Howard Streets CHRISTMAS READINESS IN FURNITURE This Easy Payment Plan of The Central is different from all others. We give you every consideration at all times. It isn't the old-fashioned credit plan, but a method of doing business, which makes dealing with The Central a pleasure. Any arrangements you make with us are strictly confidential. Just Select What You Want and Charge It. You pay less at The Central and the credit privilege for the asking. CASE BURNER We sell such celebrated lines as Garland, Metal, Colchash, etc. Prices as low as $19.50 King of Ranges Placed absolutely on free trial in your home. High grade at a low price. $29 TO $60 Roman Seats In oak and mahogany finish; 18 inches high, top 12x20 inches. Plush-covered seat trimmed in gold, each $1.25 HEATERS All sizes, for heating a room to which a hot water radiator is connected over door, inside and outside. Also sizes for heating a room with asbestos lined tubes. Ranges for $21 TO $4.25 Well made of white wood, full size, two 50-lb flour bins, two drawers and molding board, each $2.90

CENTRAL-Complete Home Furnishers

Seventeenth and Howard Streets

TOPICS OF THE DAY OF REST

United Brethren Church to Be Dedicated Sunday.

GUESTS AT IMMANUEL BAPTIST Missionaries Elmore and Wife of India to Take Part in Services, Also Rev. Henry Williams—Church Notes.

The United Brethren church at Nineteenth and Lothrop streets will be dedicated Sunday, December 12. The morning service will be at 10:30; evening, 7:30, and a meeting for men at 8:30. Bishop W. M. Wackley of Kansas City, Mo., who was present at the opening of the church a little over a year ago, will have charge of the dedication program. Those who heard the bishop at the opening will want to hear him again. A hearty welcome is extended to the people of Omaha to attend any or all of these services.

Rev. Henry Williams, district secretary of Des Moines, and Rev. and Mrs. W. T. Elmore of India will be guests Sunday at the Immanuel Baptist church, Twenty-fourth and Pinkney streets. Missionary Elmore is a Nebraska boy, a seminary classmate of Pastor McDowell. Rev. and Mrs. Elmore have just returned from India after nine years' service there.

Missionary Elmore will deliver an address at the morning service on "The Work Among the Telugs" and in the evening will talk on "India's Call to America." Mrs. Elmore will talk during the Sunday school at 10:30.

The musical service at the North Presbyterian church on Sunday, December 5, will be as follows: MORNING. Anthem—Consider and Hear Me. ... Carl Pfeiffer and Soloists. ... Horatio Parker and Soloists. ... Mrs. J. Stanley Hill, director.

Irving Stueger Cooper will give a series of free lectures under the auspices of the Omaha Theological society, beginning December 20. These lectures will be free to all who are interested and the place of meetings will be announced later.

Mr. Cooper is a deep student and handles his subject well. Among the subjects will be "Psychic Phenomena," "Reincarnation," "Karma," "The Masters and Their Relation to Humanity," etc.

Mr. Cooper leaves for India in the early spring and it will be some time before the people of Omaha will have another opportunity to hear him.

The party scheduled for December 7 at the residence of Mrs. Dr. P. T. Condon, 1821 Blinney street by the women of the Columbian circle of Sacred Heart parish has been postponed indefinitely.

An exceptionally fine lecture on "Syria and Palestine" will be given Sunday evening, December 5, by Charles A. Payne of Milwaukee. Mr. Payne, who has become famous as a traveler and lecturer, has recently returned from the Holy Land with 100 unique and wonderful lantern slides. The lecture will be free at the First Congregational church, corner Nineteenth and Davenport streets, at 7:45 p. m.

At the Calvary Baptist church Sunday morning Mrs. J. Stanley Hill will sing the solo, "Come Unto Me," by Bischoff. The pastor will begin a series of services Sunday evening on modern life problems, the first to be on "Books and Prayers." The Sunday evening services at this church during the winter will be evangelistic.

The second of the series of Sunday evening organ recitals at Trinity cathedral will be given by Ben Stanley on the Sunday at 7:30 and in connection with evening prayer. The recitals occur monthly on the first Sunday evenings of the month.

The officers and teachers of the Kountze Memorial church Sunday school evolved a novelty at a recent meeting in the shape of a "Sunday school party" that was given in the parlors of the church Friday evening last. It was very largely attended and the hilarity was unbounded, and the pastor is requesting a vote as having more of that

17th and Howard Streets CHRISTMAS READINESS IN FURNITURE This Easy Payment Plan of The Central is different from all others. We give you every consideration at all times. It isn't the old-fashioned credit plan, but a method of doing business, which makes dealing with The Central a pleasure. Any arrangements you make with us are strictly confidential. Just Select What You Want and Charge It. You pay less at The Central and the credit privilege for the asking. CASE BURNER We sell such celebrated lines as Garland, Metal, Colchash, etc. Prices as low as $19.50 King of Ranges Placed absolutely on free trial in your home. High grade at a low price. $29 TO $60 Roman Seats In oak and mahogany finish; 18 inches high, top 12x20 inches. Plush-covered seat trimmed in gold, each $1.25 HEATERS All sizes, for heating a room to which a hot water radiator is connected over door, inside and outside. Also sizes for heating a room with asbestos lined tubes. Ranges for $21 TO $4.25 Well made of white wood, full size, two 50-lb flour bins, two drawers and molding board, each $2.90

17th and Howard Streets CHRISTMAS READINESS IN FURNITURE This Easy Payment Plan of The Central is different from all others. We give you every consideration at all times. It isn't the old-fashioned credit plan, but a method of doing business, which makes dealing with The Central a pleasure. Any arrangements you make with us are strictly confidential. Just Select What You Want and Charge It. You pay less at The Central and the credit privilege for the asking. CASE BURNER We sell such celebrated lines as Garland, Metal, Colchash, etc. Prices as low as $19.50 King of Ranges Placed absolutely on free trial in your home. High grade at a low price. $29 TO $60 Roman Seats In oak and mahogany finish; 18 inches high, top 12x20 inches. Plush-covered seat trimmed in gold, each $1.25 HEATERS All sizes, for heating a room to which a hot water radiator is connected over door, inside and outside. Also sizes for heating a room with asbestos lined tubes. Ranges for $21 TO $4.25 Well made of white wood, full size, two 50-lb flour bins, two drawers and molding board, each $2.90

CENTRAL-Complete Home Furnishers

Seventeenth and Howard Streets

TOPICS OF THE DAY OF REST

United Brethren Church to Be Dedicated Sunday.

GUESTS AT IMMANUEL BAPTIST Missionaries Elmore and Wife of India to Take Part in Services, Also Rev. Henry Williams—Church Notes.

The United Brethren church at Nineteenth and Lothrop streets will be dedicated Sunday, December 12. The morning service will be at 10:30; evening, 7:30, and a meeting for men at 8:30. Bishop W. M. Wackley of Kansas City, Mo., who was present at the opening of the church a little over a year ago, will have charge of the dedication program. Those who heard the bishop at the opening will want to hear him again. A hearty welcome is extended to the people of Omaha to attend any or all of these services.

Rev. Henry Williams, district secretary of Des Moines, and Rev. and Mrs. W. T. Elmore of India will be guests Sunday at the Immanuel Baptist church, Twenty-fourth and Pinkney streets. Missionary Elmore is a Nebraska boy, a seminary classmate of Pastor McDowell. Rev. and Mrs. Elmore have just returned from India after nine years' service there.

Missionary Elmore will deliver an address at the morning service on "The Work Among the Telugs" and in the evening will talk on "India's Call to America." Mrs. Elmore will talk during the Sunday school at 10:30.

The musical service at the North Presbyterian church on Sunday, December 5, will be as follows: MORNING. Anthem—Consider and Hear Me. ... Carl Pfeiffer and Soloists. ... Horatio Parker and Soloists. ... Mrs. J. Stanley Hill, director.

Irving Stueger Cooper will give a series of free lectures under the auspices of the Omaha Theological society, beginning December 20. These lectures will be free to all who are interested and the place of meetings will be announced later.

Mr. Cooper is a deep student and handles his subject well. Among the subjects will be "Psychic Phenomena," "Reincarnation," "Karma," "The Masters and Their Relation to Humanity," etc.

Mr. Cooper leaves for India in the early spring and it will be some time before the people of Omaha will have another opportunity to hear him.

The party scheduled for December 7 at the residence of Mrs. Dr. P. T. Condon, 1821 Blinney street by the women of the Columbian circle of Sacred Heart parish has been postponed indefinitely.

An exceptionally fine lecture on "Syria and Palestine" will be given Sunday evening, December 5, by Charles A. Payne of Milwaukee. Mr. Payne, who has become famous as a traveler and lecturer, has recently returned from the Holy Land with 100 unique and wonderful lantern slides. The lecture will be free at the First Congregational church, corner Nineteenth and Davenport streets, at 7:45 p. m.

At the Calvary Baptist church Sunday morning Mrs. J. Stanley Hill will sing the solo, "Come Unto Me," by Bischoff. The pastor will begin a series of services Sunday evening on modern life problems, the first to be on "Books and Prayers." The Sunday evening services at this church during the winter will be evangelistic.

The second of the series of Sunday evening organ recitals at Trinity cathedral will be given by Ben Stanley on the Sunday at 7:30 and in connection with evening prayer. The recitals occur monthly on the first Sunday evenings of the month.

The officers and teachers of the Kountze Memorial church Sunday school evolved a novelty at a recent meeting in the shape of a "Sunday school party" that was given in the parlors of the church Friday evening last. It was very largely attended and the hilarity was unbounded, and the pastor is requesting a vote as having more of that

17th and Howard Streets CHRISTMAS READINESS IN FURNITURE This Easy Payment Plan of The Central is different from all others. We give you every consideration at all times. It isn't the old-fashioned credit plan, but a method of doing business, which makes dealing with The Central a pleasure. Any arrangements you make with us are strictly confidential. Just Select What You Want and Charge It. You pay less at The Central and the credit privilege for the asking. CASE BURNER We sell such celebrated lines as Garland, Metal, Colchash, etc. Prices as low as $19.50 King of Ranges Placed absolutely on free trial in your home. High grade at a low price. $29 TO $60 Roman Seats In oak and mahogany finish; 18 inches high, top 12x20 inches. Plush-covered seat trimmed in gold, each $1.25 HEATERS All sizes, for heating a room to which a hot water radiator is connected over door, inside and outside. Also sizes for heating a room with asbestos lined tubes. Ranges for $21 TO $4.25 Well made of white wood, full size, two 50-lb flour bins, two drawers and molding board, each $2.90