NO UNIFORM, NO BREAKFAST

Horrors! Mexican Bandmen Can't Eat in Traveling-Clothes.

MONTEREY'S SOLDIERLY FALLS

Valor of Military Succumbs Before the Bulwark of Convention.

iam, but, Oh, You Boogymen!

Monterey's brave soldiery has fallen before the bulwarks of convention. The Mexican National Military band, Twenty-third battalion, under command of Captain Victor C. Prescalo, stood its ground valiantly—but went hungry Monday morning following its arrival in Omaha, just because its baggage was delayed in arrival, precluding the change to formal dress. "Tengo hambre? Si señor." Bowing graciously the musicians refused most modestly to enter the breakfast room at the Rame in the uniform in which they had traveled. Breakfast in parade uniform! Horrors, no. Impossible. That was the best that Frank Vale, the interpreter to the bandmen, could get in reply to the proffers of the hotel management of a private room for their morning meal away from the curious eye. "Better hungry and a good and proper soldier, sir," was the general drift of the softly spoken answers. No it was that the Mexican National band did not breakfast until the belated baggage man arrived. The swartly soldiers passed a few remarks in their native tongue about him, too. They spoke, of course, in soft accents, but the meaning was clear. Then the noble Twenty-third battalion filed into the dining room at last and ate. The siege was broken. The Mexican musicians found their first day in Omaha a quiet one. The flying snowflakes kept them within doors at their hotels. It was a great day for letter writing with the bandmen. One or two of the Mexicans drifted over to the show and ventured to look about. Their report on the return to the lodging battalion in the hotel lobby must have been favorable for it brought many approving smiles. There is plenty of corn at the show to make a lot of tortillas.

SMALL BOYS STEAL MONEY

Gain Admittance to Store Through Window and Get 130 Pennies and Apples.

Joe Rooney, 11 years old, stopped in front of a grocery window and eyed the tempting apples and figs within. Then he noticed a little hole in the corner of the pane where a blow had chipped out a fragment. He fingered the edge of the little hole and a piece of glass, already cracked, came away in his hand. His fingers got back to the same place and another piece came away. Soon the hole was big enough for him to crawl through. He did so, leaving Archie Victor of the same age as "lookout." The boys were before Judge Estelle in juvenile court. The one who crawled in secured 120 pennies in the store and maybe an apple or two.

Dahlman Leaders Slated for Call

Members of Democracy Said to Be Due for Discipline—Delegates Named to Good Roads Congress.

Rumor about the city hall has it that Colonel Charles E. Fanning and other members of the Dahlman Democracy, who accepted appointments from Governor Shalenyberger, may find themselves called on the carpet for discipline. The governor has named Councilman Johnson and Colonel Fanning, among others, as delegates to the Good Roads convention soon to be held at Topeka, Kan. President Flynn, of the Dahlman club, would not discuss the matter when asked as to the possibility of such a proceeding. Joe Butler, assistant gas commissioner, admitted he had heard the question. "But I am not on the executive committee, or of the real inner circle," said Butler. "There is a difference in convention, as to their significance. Now, a waterways convention is not dangerous, from a political standpoint, and if a good roads convention is in the same class, Colonel Fanning can safely accept the appointment tendered him. I do not recall at this time whether or not the club has endorsed the good roads movement in its platform."

FALLS FROM PULLMAN CAR, SUES ROCK ISLAND LINES

Young Woman Blames Porter for Injuries and Wants Five Thousand Dollars in Damages.

Lightly she tripped down the steps of the sleeping car. The porter reached out and relieved her of her handbag. Then he caught hold of her forearm to steady her on the long, last step. But here something went wrong. The girl says it was the porter's clumsiness which caused the accident. At all events, she fell, she splashed into a mud puddle, ruined her gown, wrenched her ankle and damaged her temper. Then the porter made haste to get a rolling chair and the injured young woman whose name is Elsie Drinkall, was helped into it. The porter tried to reduce the swelling. "He pulled and manipulated her ankle," says the petition, and neglected to call a doctor or to furnish any hot cloths. "Wherefore Miss Drinkall is suing the Chicago, Rock Island & Pacific for $5,000 damages in district court."

SIMEON BLOOM PASSES AWAY

Lawyer of Thirty Years Residence in Omaha Dies of Heart Disease.

Simeon Bloom, an attorney, and resident of Omaha for thirty years, died Monday morning of heart disease. He was 62 years of age, and is survived by three brothers, Lafayette of Cincinnati, Elijah of Minneapolis and Adam E. of Detroit. Funeral services will be held at 4 o'clock Tuesday afternoon at the Cole-McKay chapel, and the body will then be taken to Cincinnati for interment. Simeon Bloom was one of Omaha's best known members of the bar. He was at one time associated with the late Champion S. Chase and gave service in the United States navy. At the time of his death he was a member of Grant post, Grand Army of the Republic, and also of the B'nai B'rith Jewish society. Mr. Bloom was president of the Omaha Philosophical society and served one term as a member of the board of education. His law offices were located in The Bee building.

OMAHA CORN EXPO GAVE CHICAGO LAND SHOW IDEA

Gate City is Pioneer in Industrial Displays, Says Lee Haney of Colorado Midland.

Lee Haney of Denver, advertising agent of the Colorado Midland road, passed through Omaha Monday enroute to Colorado from Chicago, where he has been in charge of an exhibit at the United States Land and Irrigation exposition, which closed there Saturday. The Colorado man declares that the educational work of the exposition will be productive of much benefit for the entire west, especially the irrigated states included in the reclamation act. "Omaha is the pioneer city in industrial shows of this character," said Mr. Haney,

"and the brains which planned the Chicago exposition were stimulated by certain ideas which originated here. Tons and tons of descriptive literature were eagerly carried away by visitors to the Chicago show, and from the number of questions asked by interested persons, we of Colorado know that we have accomplished great results for our country, where we have opportunities and happy homes to exchange for population and good citizenship. I stopped here for the express purpose of inspecting the Corn exposition, of which I have read so many years, but never visited. Incidentally, I hope and expect to pick up a few pointers from your hustling people along the lines of good exploitation, feeling and knowing that I have come to a pretty good school in such work." Mr. Haney, who is an ex-newspaper man, secured some splendid stories in several Chicago dailies, telling of Colorado's resources.

Choose Jurymen for Negro's Trial

Little Son of Man Murdered at Viaduct in Court and Watches Progress of Case.

Henry R. Frankland's 13-year-old son, Edward J. Frankland, sat in the courtroom of Judge Sutton and listened to the securing of a jury to try Thomas Johnson, a negro, for the murder at the viaduct. Beside the boy sat F. A. Gilbert of Chicago. Mr. Gilbert is a stepson of the man who was found with his head all but severed from the body, near Union station October 13. Johnson's fate may hang on the admissibility of a confession he is said to have made to the authorities. If this goes to the jury the prosecution may be successful in its attempt to have the death penalty inflicted. If not because the evidence is otherwise circumstantial, the extreme punishment of the law may seem too drastic to the twelve men who shall be chosen to decide the case.

If A Thousand People

Told you that a certain thing had done them world's of good, mentally and physically, wouldn't you feel it worth while to investigate the matter thoroughly, to find out how it might affect you?

We have received thousands of testimonials from people who have voluntarily written us of the benefit derived from quitting coffee and using

POSTUM

The majority of these people had no idea that coffee caused their headaches, stomach troubles, bad nerves, etc., etc., until after the change—often at the suggestion of a friend who knew about Postum—then they understood.

Ask a friend if coffee agrees, and if the aches and ills come from coffee—investigate!

"There's a Reason"

Postum Cereal Company, Ltd., Battle Creek, Mich.

DIDN'T KNOW That Coffee Was Causing Her Trouble.

So common is the use of coffee as a beverage, many do not know that it is the cause of many obscure ills which are often attributed to other things. The easiest way to find out for oneself is to quit the coffee for a while, at least, and note results. A Virginia lady found out in this way, and also learned of a new beverage that is wholesome as well as pleasant to drink. She writes: "I am 45 years old and all my life, up to a year and a half ago, I had been a coffee drinker. About ten years ago, I had dyspepsia so bad that often the coffee I drank would sour on my stomach and I could not retain it. "Severe headache and heart weakness made me feel sometimes as though I were about to die. After drinking a cup or two of hot coffee, not knowing it was harmful, my heart would go like a clock without a pendulum. At other times it would almost stop and I was so nervous it did not like to be alone, and the pity of it all was, I did not know that coffee was causing the trouble. "Reading in the papers that many persons were relieved of such ailments by leaving off coffee and drinking Postum I got my husband to bring home a package. We made it according to directions and I liked the first cup. Its rich snappy flavor was delicious. "I have been using Postum about eighteen months and to my great joy, digestion is good, my nerves and heart are all right, in fact, I am a well woman once more, thanks to Postum."
