cramble, with Attorneys Galore, Before Three Equity Judges for Big Fortune.

Hearing of the Creighton will case on its nerits began in district court this morning. The three judges on the equity side, Redick. Troup and Estelle, are sitting together and attorneys galore are present representing the trustees, the heirs and the state of Nebraska, which appears by intervention.

The suit is on apeal from the decision of udge Lealie in county court, the trustees being the appellants. The bequest to the working girls' home is the point involved. A point in the case supposedly settled was reopened as soon as the hearing began. Some weeks ago the appelless, who are the heirs, argued that the district court Wilcox, Henry Kleser, Rev.
