Falls from Train and Disappears

Old Man is Lost from Car and Searchers Fail to Find Him.

GRAND ISLAND, Neb., Dec. 16.—(Special.)—The local Union Pacific officials and detective officials are completely baffled over the disappearance of a passenger from train No. 1, west bound, Tuesday night. An aged man, a stranger here, it is believed, bought a ticket for Sidney, Neb. From the description given of him by the passengers and Conductor Peterson, he appears to have been under the influence of liquor, a fact not noticeable when he boarded the train, he having been in the open air for the warm air of the car seemed to affect him after the train started. After the conductor had passed him and got to the third car back, he was notified by the passengers that the old man had got up from his seat, wandered back, had gone out into the vestibule of the car, and had not returned, and that the vestibule door was open. Conductor Peterson investigated a thorough search of the train, but no trace of the man could be found. At Gibson he filed a message to the dispatchers here, relating the incident and it was decided here to send a switch engine, caboose and crew up the track. No trace, even of blood, could be found along the track anywhere from three miles west of this city to Wood River. Inquiry was made all night at the houses along the way, but no trace of the man could be found.

It is believed that in his condition, he fell from the train, was uninjured and possibly still in a dazed condition wandered to some farm house further away from the track. At all events, not a trace has been found of him and it is stated as positively certain that the old man opened the vestibule by mistake and fell or jumped off the fast moving train. Even his name was not learned.

Militia Company at Auburn.

AUBURN, Neb., Dec. 16.—(Special.)—Adjutant General John Harrison of Lincoln was here yesterday conferring with the business men of the town about the advisability of organizing a company of National Guard. He had a meeting of a large number of business men at the Commercial club, at which a committee was appointed to ascertain the wishes of the community in regard to organizing a com-

Governor and Attorney General Confer on Anti-Saloon Protest.

NO DECISION IS REACHED

Chief Executive Says He Desires to Give Testimony Further Consideration—Judge Dean for Congress.

(From a Staff Correspondent.) LINCOLN, Dec. 16.—(Special.)—Governor Shallenbarger and Attorney General Thompson conferred this afternoon over the application of the Anti-Saloon league and Elmer Thomas for the removal of the mayor, police board and chief of police of Omaha for non-enforcement of the liquor and gambling laws. No decision has yet been made by the governor. "I have not decided yet what will be done," said the governor. "The attorney general and I conferred about the matter this afternoon, but I desire to give the testimony further consideration."

Judge Dean for Congress.

Judge J. R. Dean, a democrat, who was appointed to the supreme bench by Governor Shallenbarger and who was a democratic nominee for re-election at the late election and had not the support of many democratic leaders, is to be trotted out again.

From the most reliable sources it was learned today that as soon as he leaves the bench the first of the year Judge Dean will be groomed for the democratic nomination for congress in the Sixth district. The democratic leader who is doing the besting said the democrats usually look out in Custer and Dawson counties, but that Judge Dean was so strong in those counties that he would have no trouble in getting them away from the republicans. No official statement has yet come from Judge Dean.

Albert Watkins is trying to interest the business men of Lincoln and of the state in a plan whereby he believes the state can get a new capitol, more room for the university and at the same time not destroy the present state house.

"We certainly need a new capitol," said Mr. Watkins, "and the crowded condition of the state university is very deplorable. I have suggested to several of the business men, to J. E. Miller, to A. W. Field and to others, and they seem to think the plan a good one, to secure a new capitol, to some of the additional Lincoln, probably Franklin Heights, and on that construct a new capitol."

Historically Named.

General Grant Martin is the proper name of the deputy attorney general. Mr. Martin is usually referred to as "Grant-Martin," but when his full name is used it is General Grant Martin, and the deputy attorney general is proud of the name.

"I was named during war times," said Mr. Martin, "and my people were great admirers of General Grant. So I was named General Grant Martin. When I entered college the president said: "What is your full name?" "General Grant Martin," I replied. "Well, that don't go here, young man," he said. "I will register you as G. Grant Martin."

COMMISSIONERS IN SESSION

Pickard of Douglas on Committee to Revise State Drainage Laws.

FREMONT, Neb., Dec. 16.—(Special.)—The Nebraska Commissioners' and Supervisors' association had interesting sessions yesterday, the district court room being filled when the president called the meeting to order. E. K. Turner spoke on "The Promotion of Public Welfare." County Superintendent Matzen spoke on "County Rest Rooms." Prof. Matzen has taken much interest in the matter of the county providing in the court house rooms where country people could make their headquarters. The cost of maintenance of such a room, he said, would be very light. It should be supplied with some reading matter and contain all toilet conveniences. Rest rooms, he said, are maintained in ten court houses. The plan was generally approved by all the county superintendents in the state. The first one was opened at Aurora, in Hamilton county, in 1886 at a cost of not to exceed $200.

In the afternoon Joe C. Cook, county attorney of Dodge county, spoke on "Drainage Laws." He gave a brief outline of drainage legislation since the organization of the state. He criticized the new laws severely as denying citizens their legal rights and as arbitrary, arbitrary and unjust. J. P. Hanson, secretary of the Fremont Commercial club, replied and explained that all of Mr. Cook's objections had been thrashed over by the legislature and the law approved by the supreme court. There was considerable further discussion on the question and in the opinion of some of the members a few amendments were desirable, and a committee consisting of Keyes of Holt, Rector of Dodge and Pickard of Douglas was appointed to report at the next meeting such amendments as might be desirable. Oscar Pickard of Douglas closed the afternoon session with a talk on "Good Roads."

In the evening the visitors enjoyed a banquet at Turner hall.

Pigman Takes New Office.

BROKEN BOW, Neb., Dec. 16.—(Special.)—County Clerk Joe Pigman sprang a surprise on the office force yesterday when he resigned and turned over the reins of authority to Clerk-elect William Osborne, who has been his deputy the last four years. Mr. Pigman says he was prompted to take this step in order to give more attention to his coming duties as census director of the state congressional district. As he will have under him about 20 workers, the position warrants immediate attention. Offices have been fitted up in the Bash block and operations will be directed from there.

William Osborne, the present incumbent, is as well known as his predecessor and quite as popular. O. O. Burnett of Callaway, as deputy, will not enter upon his official duties until the first of the year.

Hastings Juror is Disqualified

Venueman Discovers He is Important Witness when Case is well Under way.

HASTINGS, Dec. 16.—(Special.)—After serving through one day as a juror in the case of Maugut against Mouser, involving possession of real estate property occupied by the defendant, John W. Shaw announced to Judge Cochran in the district court, yesterday that he was disqualified by reason of having had previous knowledge of the issues raised. Mr. Shaw was dismissed from service and the attorneys were asked to try the case with the remaining eleven jurors.

The dismissed juror had information which made him valuable as a witness for the defendant and the plaintiff's attorney declined to proceed with the trial unless the defendant would agree not to put him on the witness stand. The defense would not waive the privilege, so the entire jury was discharged as the case went over until the next term of court. Mr. Shaw, instead of being a juror, will be one of the defendant's principal witnesses. The point on which he has information, and which is said to be vital in the case, was not mentioned in the attorney's opening statement, nor in their examination of witnesses.

Mr. Shaw did not know that he was conversant with any of the issues involved until evidence bearing on the point was brought in after the trial was nearly finished. The case has been pending in the courts here for a number of years. L. D. Mouser, the defendant, claims that he received the property in exchange from Mr. Madgett for a half interest in two patents, one on a mouse trap and the other on a clothes line stretcher. Neither Mouser's mouse trap nor the stretcher is now being manufactured, although it is claimed that both are excellent devices.

Senator Dietrich is Better.

HASTINGS, Neb., Dec. 16.—(Special Telegram.)—Former Senator C. H. Dietrich, who is at the Methodist hospital in Omaha, is slightly improved in health. His condition of corporations, are here temporarily imperative. His physicians have forbidden him to transact any business for a considerable time and his wife and daughter, accompanied by the latter's husband, Commissioner Herbert Knox Smith, of the bureau of corporations, are here temporarily looking after his affairs. Mr. Dietrich has been given power of attorney to conduct the senator's business pending his recovery.

HALF-MINUTE STORE TALK

Col. W. F. Cody was recently asked by a representative of Apparel Gazette whether clothes appealed to or influenced him in life. He replied: "I should say clothes did. I employ 1,500 people and I want my men to be (and they are) a credit to me. I don't want some one to see a slovenly, ill-dressed man and say he must be one of Buffalo Bill's men. I do not want my men to dress flashily or joutily, but in a neat, dignified way, and I pick my men, to a great degree, on the way they dress." That good, general clothes, such as this store sells, are a great help to any man couldn't receive an endorsement from a better authority than "Buffalo Bill."
