

GOOD BEEF IN REACH OF ALL

Vice President MacKenzie Makes This Statement in Speech to Stockmen's Convention.

JASTRO SPEAKS ON SAME LINE

President of Association Says There Is No Danger of Shortage.

ONLY CHOICE CUTS ARE HIGH

"It Is Mistake to Urge Farmers to Enter the Cattle Business."

TARIFF METHODS ARE DISCUSSED

Mr. Jastro Says Present Methods of Determining Rates Is System of Polite Theft—Duty on Hides Is Defended.

DENVER, Jan. 11.—President H. A. Jastro of the National Live Stock association and Murdo MacKenzie of Trinidad, Colo., the vice president, denied this afternoon that there is any danger of a shortage of beef in the United States.

In address before the association this afternoon they declared that as long as $300,000,000 worth of beef is exported from America each year, there is no danger of a shortage.

"The price of beef in Chicago is regulated by the price received by our surplus cattle shipped abroad," said Mr. MacKenzie. "The howl that present prices are putting beef beyond the reach of the poor man is unwarranted. It is true that if the consumer demands the choice cuts he must pay for them, but good beef is within the reach of all."

"Had it not been for the increase in value of their lands, cattlemen could not have continued in the business at prices that have prevailed in the past. At present prices, stockmen are just beginning to realize fair return on their investments. What we would advocate is better cattle, not more of them. It is a terrible mistake to urge farmers and homesteaders to enter the cattle business."

A resolution requesting the breeders association and range associations of the country to combine to improve the breed of range cattle was adopted.

At the formal opening of the convention Governor Shafroth and J. W. Springer welcomed the delegates.

"Game of Polite Theft"

"The present system of making a tariff bill is a game of polite theft," declared H. A. Jastro, retiring president of the National Live Stock association, in his annual address before that body today.

"The representatives of one interest assure the representatives of the other interests that if you will let us have what we want in the way of duties we will treat you likewise. The only science of method involved is to get all they want."

"The widespread dissatisfaction with the farcical revision of the tariff last summer, the continued Mr. Jastro, said the well-grounded and growing belief on the part of the consuming public that the favors of the protective system were unequally distributed and were in many instances fostering gigantic monopolies, has, I believe, instilled new life into the proposition to have our tariff laws and duties investigated by a nonpartisan commission."

"The American people are looking to the tariff as one of the potent causes of the increased cost of living. They do not believe that a great many of the necessities of life need a protection of from 50 to 200 per cent, and here they will insist upon a thorough readjustment upon a comprehensive and intelligent plan with a view to the interests of the consumer as well as the manufacturer."

Turning to the hide and leather schedule of the present law Mr. Jastro asserted that the claims for protection are not because of a scarcity to supply the home demand, but was predicated upon the desire of the leather trusts to buy native hides on the same basis that they could buy the Mexican, Argentine and Canadian hides."

Mr. Jastro said the last year had been exceptionally free for the stock raisers of the west and he was of the opinion that a continuance of the present basis of values seemed quite probable. The decline of exports of beef cattle and fresh beef, he said, was a thing to be deplored, but rather it was a matter for rejoicing that it was a home market for an increased proportion of such products.

Mr. Jastro said that there was no occasion for the slightest apprehension of a shortage in meat products.

BLAME PLACED ON "LABOR TRUST"

Manufacturers Say Unions Are Cause of High Price of Living.

SPRINGFIELD, Mass., Jan. 11.—LARGE responsibility for the higher cost of living was paid by John Kirby, Jr., president of the National Manufacturers' association, upon what he called the "labor trust" in an address here today.

Mr. Kirby's address was largely a reply to a recent imputed attack upon his organization in an article in the National Civic Federation Review. He said:

"There is general complaint about the high price of the necessities of life, various reasons being assigned for the same, chief among which are the tariff and the capitalist trusts, while as a matter of fact the primary cause of the constantly advanced prices of commodities, of all kinds lies at the door of the labor trust, a cardinal principle of which is to raise wages and restrict production, neither of which can fail to diminish the purchasing power of the dollar and when working together they doubly depreciate its value."

Mr. Kirby then recites the formation of the Civic Federation as a national organization by the late Mark Hanna, speaker of its purpose and says:

"It is sincerely believed by many of the organization would accomplish wonders in solving the so-called labor problem and for those thus minded I have nothing but commendation."

"It soon developed, however, that the affairs of the organization were being managed in the interests of the American Federation of Labor, and Samuel Gompers, its president, promptly became its commander-in-chief, and with Mitchell and Eastley as

Penciled Note from Roosevelt to Mrs. Johnson

Ex-President Writes to Widow of Former Governor Expressing Deep Sympathy.

ST. PAUL, Jan. 11.—Written with pencil on a sheet of notepaper, a letter was received today by Mrs. John A. Johnson, from ex-President Roosevelt, under date of November 16, stating that he had just heard of the death of Mrs. Johnson's late husband and offering her his sympathy.

"I am very glad to hear of your death, my dear Mrs. Johnson. I am sure that you were a most worthy and upright woman, and as one of those American people as a whole, he is a loss to us all; a loss to good citizenship."

"With assurance of my profound sympathy and respect, believe me, very sincerely yours, THEODORE ROOSEVELT."

Seth Bullock for Pinchot's Place

President May Offer Forestry Job to Present United States Marshal.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 11.—In casting about for a successor to Mr. Pinchot to head the forestry service it was reported today that President Taft might offer the place to Seth Bullock, United States marshal for South Dakota. Albert F. Potter, designated as the acting head of the service, seems to be the leading candidate, but there are persistent rumors that the president may decide on an entirely new man.

Mr. Bullock is in many respects as close a friend of former President Roosevelt as is Mr. Pinchot. He was once chief of the forest rangers in the Black Hills and is thoroughly familiar with the whole subject of forestry.

The political situation in South Dakota has been giving the president some concern of late and Mr. Crawford and Gambell have been frequent callers at the White House. Bullock has been designated for reappointment as marshal for South Dakota. His term expires this month.

Suspension for Offending Brokers

Believed Action Will Be Taken by New York Stock Exchange Today

NEW YORK, Jan. 11.—Final action in the Rock Island episode of December 27 last, will be taken by the governors of the stock exchange tomorrow. The offending members have put in their defense and it is understood there is some division in the committee concerning the severity of the punishment to be inflicted, but it is believed in one case at least suspension for not less than six months or perhaps a year will be imposed.

The exchange deny that the matter has been the subject of correspondence with Governor Hughes, but the report of the White committee on the operations of the stock exchange, which will be taken up at the session of the legislature, is expected to influence materially tomorrow's action.

Big Merger of Cement Plants

Companies Owned by George E. Nicholson May Be Combined.

KANSAS CITY, Jan. 11.—Negotiations are in progress for a big cement merger. The present plans embrace the merger of what are known as the Nicholson plants at Iowa, Kan.; Dallas, Tex.; South Pittsburg, Pa.; Des Moines, Ia., and plants at Independence and Neodesha, Kan.

George E. Nicholson of Kansas City, of the Nicholson interests, admitted today that negotiations as outlined were in progress, but he could make no statement at this time.

Boy Saves Five Lives

BLOOMINGTON, Miss., Jan. 11.—Harry Hilden, 14 years old, comes near holding the record for his age as a life saver, it is believed. When young Hilden yesterday went to rescue Theodore Ryan, aged 12, after the latter had twice sunk beneath the waters of Biloxi bay it was the fifth time that he has saved a person from drowning.

Commander Deserts Troops and Colonels Fight Alone

It was a down-hearted bunch of colonels that went leaderless to the dedication ceremony at the new armory of the Omaha National Guard company Monday night.

RELIEF GRANTED HOMESTEADERS

House Passes Martin Bill Extending Time for Establishing Residence to Next May.

AID TO MANY WINTER BOUND

Congressman Kinkaid Puts Nebraska in Measure.

HITCHCOCK AND LAND OFFICE

Omaha Representative Invited to Prove Charges He Has Made.

BAR COMMITTEE HOLDS SESSION

H. W. Breckenridge in Washington for Meeting of Executive Body—Canon of Legal Ethics to Be Drafted.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Jan. 11.—(Special Telegram.)—The house today passed the Martin bill extending the time for certain homesteaders to establish residence upon their lands. Through the efforts of Representative Kinkaid, the bill was so amended as to include Nebraska. The bill provides that all persons who have made homestead entry in Nebraska, South and North Dakota, Wyoming, Idaho, Minnesota, Montana, Colorado, where the period in which they were or are, required by law to make entry under such declaratory statement or establish residence expired or expires after December 31, 1909, are granted until May 15, 1910, within which to make such entry or actual settlement and establish residence upon the lands so entered by them. There is a provision that this extension of time shall not shorten either the period of computation or of actual residence under the homestead law.

Homestead settlers upon the public domain in the states named are granted a leave of absence from their land for the period of three months from the date of approval of the act, provided the period of actual absence under this act shall not be deducted from the full time of residence required by law.

Hitchcock Must Prove Up. The house committee on public lands at its meeting today decided to invite Representative Hitchcock of Omaha, to appear before the committee and substantiate, if he can, certain allegations he has made against the administration of the general land office.

Ralph W. Breckenridge of Omaha is in Washington to attend a meeting of officers and executive committee of the American Bar association Saturday, as guests of Charles Henry Buelter, clerk of the supreme court of the District of Columbia, who is a member of the association. Among those in attendance are President C. F. Loboy of Portland, Mr. and Mrs. Loboy, and Fred W. Lehmann of St. Louis. Ex-President Frederick E. Wadsworth of Albany, treasurer of the association and Mrs. Madhams; Ralph W. Breckenridge and Mrs. Breckenridge of Omaha; John H. Hinkley of Baltimore and ex-Secretary Lynn Helm of Los Angeles.

At a meeting of the executive committee a proposition was submitted at Detroit making necessary the appointment of the committee to draft canon of ethics for the international support for the construction of the Chin-Chow-Pu-Taitakhar railroad—the United States secured the adhesion in principle of Great Britain and China without, however, their definite acceptance of the plan.

It is believed the second part of the memorandum has the better chance of success and it is assumed the United States figures that if this is accepted it will eventually entail the acceptance of the first part of the theory that the junction of two parallel roads will prove necessary sooner or later.

The Associated Press is informed in an authoritative quarter that the European press is wrong in emphasizing the political side of the American propositions, which are described here as the outcome of a long and friendly consideration of all interests concerned and as in no way directed against Japan.

The Temps in its issue today intimates it possesses information showing that Secretary Knox's proposition for the neutralization of Manchurian railways was not an identical note to the powers, as announced, but that it varied at different capitals, notably at St. Petersburg.

New Premier for Austria. VIENNA, Jan. 11.—The proposed cabinet of Dr. Ladislaus Von Lukacs having failed to meet the approval of Emperor Francis Joseph, the latter in an audience today entrusted Count Khuen Von Hedervary with the responsibility of forming a new ministry.

PENSION FOR MRS. CLEVELAND

Usual Allowance of Five Thousand a Year to Be Made to Present Widowed Wife.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 11.—A pension of $5,000 a year is due Mrs. Grover Cleveland, according to precedent, and Senator Root today presented to the senate a bill making the grant. The amount is the same as was allowed the widowed wives of former presidents.

Commander Deserts Troops and Colonels Fight Alone

In some of the tailor shops are left over from winter, many pretty patterns of medium weight worsteds.

The tailors are announcing that they can make these up into early spring garments at reduced prices.

Turn to the classified pages and look over the list of tailors, and what they have to say. They are not rushed now, and are able to turn out orders without delay.

Uncle Jim Proposes to Find Out What Kind of an Animal is Responsible. From the Des Moines Register and Leader.

FRANCE TO FOLLOW RUSSIA

Will Stand By Ally in Manchurian Railroad Affair.

NO POLITICS IN KNOX NOTE

Contents Were Discussed Among Various Interests Before Promulgation of Neutralization Plan—Not Aimed at Japan.

PARIS, Jan. 11.—France's position relative to the proposal of the United States for the neutralization of Manchurian railways was defined semi-officially today as follows:

As France has no political interest in the question except to remain loyal to its ally, Russia, and to do nothing which might offend Great Britain and Japan, when those three powers have reached an agreement, France will follow in their wake. If later an international financial syndicate is formed, France will participate upon the condition that it is afforded a basis of absolute equality with the most favored nations.

It is learned that before submitting the note, which consists of two separate portions—first, China's repurchase of the Manchurian roads through means of an international financial syndicate, and second, international support for the construction of the Chin-Chow-Pu-Taitakhar railroad—the United States secured the adhesion in principle of Great Britain and China without, however, their definite acceptance of the plan.

Chances for Second Part. It is believed the second part of the memorandum has the better chance of success and it is assumed the United States figures that if this is accepted it will eventually entail the acceptance of the first part of the theory that the junction of two parallel roads will prove necessary sooner or later.

The Associated Press is informed in an authoritative quarter that the European press is wrong in emphasizing the political side of the American propositions, which are described here as the outcome of a long and friendly consideration of all interests concerned and as in no way directed against Japan.

The Temps in its issue today intimates it possesses information showing that Secretary Knox's proposition for the neutralization of Manchurian railways was not an identical note to the powers, as announced, but that it varied at different capitals, notably at St. Petersburg.

COMMITTEE WILL HOLD BACK A FEW CENSUS SUPERVISORS

All but Four or Five of President's Appointees Will Be Reported Favorably.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 11.—All but four or five of the 329 supervisors of the census appointed by President Taft will be favorably reported to the senate. The committee on the census, of which Senator La Follette is chairman, met today and decided on this action.

The several cases of nominations of supervisors not ordered reported result from protests filed with the committee by senators. In each of these instances hearings will be held by subcommittees.

MRS. MORSE WILL DEVOTE TIME TO ATTEMPT TO FREE HUSBAND

Wife of Ice King Announces that Popular Petition and Legal Means Will Be Used.

NEW YORK, Jan. 11.—"I will devote my entire time to freeing my husband," Mrs. Charles Morse declared today. Mrs. Morse is back at her home on Fifth avenue from a visit to her husband, who is serving a term of fifteen years in the federal prison at Atlanta, Ga. She intends, she says, to invoke every possible legal means to secure the former banker's release.

Ex-Kearney Man Jailed in Denver

R. J. Coddington Jailed in Denver Pending Explanation of Disappearance of Bank Stock.

DENVER, Colo., Jan. 11.—(Special Telegram.)—R. J. Coddington, cashier of the Grand Valley State bank, at Grand Valley, Colo., and formerly of Kearney, Neb., was placed in jail last night on a warrant charging misappropriation of $3,000 to $5,000 belonging to the bank and to R. O. Watson of Rifle, Colo., a stockholder.

When the bank was organized three years ago Coddington went to Grand Valley from Kearney to be cashier. He helped dispose of the stock, but a block which had been held by Watson was not placed. Recently it was found in a Denver bank, where, it is alleged, Coddington secured a loan on the stock.

Kills Son and Slays Himself

Iowan Also Tries to Murder Wife Who Will Recover from Wound.

BAXTER, Ia., Jan. 11.—James Linder killed his son Arthur, aged 14 years, wounded his wife and then committed suicide here today. No cause can be assigned. He had been to town during the day and upon his return he seized a shotgun and began firing. His wife, who was not fatally wounded, rushed to the telephone and notified neighbors, who only arrived in time to see Linder end his own life.

COMMITTEE WILL HOLD BACK A FEW CENSUS SUPERVISORS

All but Four or Five of President's Appointees Will Be Reported Favorably.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 11.—All but four or five of the 329 supervisors of the census appointed by President Taft will be favorably reported to the senate. The committee on the census, of which Senator La Follette is chairman, met today and decided on this action.

The several cases of nominations of supervisors not ordered reported result from protests filed with the committee by senators. In each of these instances hearings will be held by subcommittees.

MRS. MORSE WILL DEVOTE TIME TO ATTEMPT TO FREE HUSBAND

Wife of Ice King Announces that Popular Petition and Legal Means Will Be Used.

NEW YORK, Jan. 11.—"I will devote my entire time to freeing my husband," Mrs. Charles Morse declared today. Mrs. Morse is back at her home on Fifth avenue from a visit to her husband, who is serving a term of fifteen years in the federal prison at Atlanta, Ga. She intends, she says, to invoke every possible legal means to secure the former banker's release.

POLITICIANS GO TO COVER

Those at Lincoln Meeting Wonder What They Did There.

SOME CANDIDATES FOR PLAN

Others Say Now They Attended Merely as Friends of Pinchot and Not to Denounce Anybody.

(From a Staff Correspondent) LINCOLN, Jan. 11.—(Special.)—The state capital is watching a number of self-styled "progressive" republicans cutting for cover following an indignation meeting yesterday at which several inflammatory speeches were made.

The "progressives," self-styled, are divided into several classes since the meeting of yesterday. The "genuine progressive" and the "progressive" and the "stand pat progressive." The stand pat progressive is the progressive who stands pat on the action of the meeting of yesterday. He is hard to find.

Now then, John C. Fremont McKesson has the reputation of staying put. So when he became a progressive, those who know him knew that he could be relied on to insure until the cows come home. Also it is known that McKesson is no slouch of a politician. So, when the progressives, or rather the "genuine" progressives, found their names were really in the paper and they did not know how the public would take their action, it was natural they should call on McKesson and ask for a verification of what they really did at that meeting, when the progressives, or rather the "genuine" progressives, found their names were really in the paper and they did not know how the public would take their action, it was natural they should call on McKesson and ask for a verification of what they really did at that meeting, when the progressives, or rather the "genuine" progressives, found their names were really in the paper and they did not know how the public would take their action, it was natural they should call on McKesson and ask for a verification of what they really did at that meeting, when the progressives, or rather the "genuine" progressives, found their names were really in the paper and they did not know how the public would take their action, it was natural they should call on McKesson and ask for a verification of what they really did at that meeting, when the progressives, or rather the "genuine" progressives, found their names were really in the paper and they did not know how the public would take their action, it was natural they should call on McKesson and ask for a verification of what they really did at that meeting, when the progressives, or rather the "genuine" progressives, found their names were really in the paper and they did not know how the public would take their action, it was natural they should call on McKesson and ask for a verification of what they really did at that meeting, when the progressives, or rather the "genuine" progressives, found their names were really in the paper and they did not know how the public would take their action, it was natural they should call on McKesson and ask for a verification of what they really did at that meeting, when the progressives, or rather the "genuine" progressives, found their names were really in the paper and they did not know how the public would take their action, it was natural they should call on McKesson and ask for a verification of what they really did at that meeting, when the progressives, or rather the "genuine" progressives, found their names were really in the paper and they did not know how the public would take their action, it was natural they should call on McKesson and ask for a verification of what they really did at that meeting, when the progressives, or rather the "genuine" progressives, found their names were really in the paper and they did not know how the public would take their action, it was natural they should call on McKesson and ask for a verification of what they really did at that meeting, when the progressives, or rather the "genuine" progressives, found their names were really in the paper and they did not know how the public would take their action, it was natural they should call on McKesson and ask for a verification of what they really did at that meeting, when the progressives, or rather the "genuine" progressives, found their names were really in the paper and they did not know how the public would take their action, it was natural they should call on McKesson and ask for a verification of what they really did at that meeting, when the progressives, or rather the "genuine" progressives, found their names were really in the paper and they did not know how the public would take their action, it was natural they should call on McKesson and ask for a verification of what they really did at that meeting, when the progressives, or rather the "genuine" progressives, found their names were really in the paper and they did not know how the public would take their action, it was natural they should call on McKesson and ask for a verification of what they really did at that meeting, when the progressives, or rather the "genuine" progressives, found their names were really in the paper and they did not know how the public would take their action, it was natural they should call on McKesson and ask for a verification of what they really did at that meeting, when the progressives, or rather the "genuine" progressives, found their names were really in the paper and they did not know how the public would take their action, it was natural they should call on McKesson and ask for a verification of what they really did at that meeting, when the progressives, or rather the "genuine" progressives, found their names were really in the paper and they did not know how the public would take their action, it was natural they should call on McKesson and ask for a verification of what they really did at that meeting, when the progressives, or rather the "genuine" progressives, found their names were really in the paper and they did not know how the public would take their action, it was natural they should call on McKesson and ask for a verification of what they really did at that meeting, when the progressives, or rather the "genuine" progressives, found their names were really in the paper and they did not know how the public would take their action, it was natural they should call on McKesson and ask for a verification of what they really did at that meeting, when the progressives, or rather the "genuine" progressives, found their names were really in the paper and they did not know how the public would take their action, it was natural they should call on McKesson and ask for a verification of what they really did at that meeting, when the progressives, or rather the "genuine" progressives, found their names were really in the paper and they did not know how the public would take their action, it was natural they should call on McKesson and ask for a verification of what they really did at that meeting, when the progressives, or rather the "genuine" progressives, found their names were really in the paper and they did not know how the public would take their action, it was natural they should call on McKesson and ask for a verification of what they really did at that meeting, when the progressives, or rather the "genuine" progressives, found their names were really in the paper and they did not know how the public would take their action, it was natural they should call on McKesson and ask for a verification of what they really did at that meeting, when the progressives, or rather the "genuine" progressives, found their names were really in the paper and they did not know how the public would take their action, it was natural they should call on McKesson and ask for a verification of what they really did at that meeting, when the progressives, or rather the "genuine" progressives, found their names were really in the paper and they did not know how the public would take their action, it was natural they should call on McKesson and ask for a verification of what they really did at that meeting, when the progressives, or rather the "genuine" progressives, found their names were really in the paper and they did not know how the public would take their action, it was natural they should call on McKesson and ask for a verification of what they really did at that meeting, when the progressives, or rather the "genuine" progressives, found their names were really in the paper and they did not know how the public would take their action, it was natural they should call on McKesson and ask for a verification of what they really did at that meeting, when the progressives, or rather the "genuine" progressives, found their names were really in the paper and they did not know how the public would take their action, it was natural they should call on McKesson and ask for a verification of what they really did at that meeting, when the progressives, or rather the "genuine" progressives, found their names were really in the paper and they did not know how the public would take their action, it was natural they should call on McKesson and ask for a verification of what they really did at that meeting, when the progressives, or rather the "genuine" progressives, found their names were really in the paper and they did not know how the public would take their action, it was natural they should call on McKesson and ask for a verification of what they really did at that meeting, when the progressives, or rather the "genuine" progressives, found their names were really in the paper and they did not know how the public would take their action, it was natural they should call on McKesson and ask for a verification of what they really did at that meeting, when the progressives, or rather the "genuine" progressives, found their names were really in the paper and they did not know how the public would take their action, it was natural they should call on McKesson and ask for a verification of what they really did at that meeting, when the progressives, or rather the "genuine" progressives, found their names were really in the paper and they did not know how the public would take their action, it was natural they should call on McKesson and ask for a verification of what they really did at that meeting, when the progressives, or rather the "genuine" progressives, found their names were really in the paper and they did not know how the public would take their action, it was natural they should call on McKesson and ask for a verification of what they really did at that meeting, when the progressives, or rather the "genuine" progressives, found their names were really in the paper and they did not know how the public would take their action, it was natural they should call on McKesson and ask for a verification of what they really did at that meeting, when the progressives, or rather the "genuine" progressives, found their names were really in the paper and they did not know how the public would take their action, it was natural they should call on McKesson and ask for a verification of what they really did at that meeting, when the progressives, or rather the "genuine" progressives, found their names were really in the paper and they did not know how the public would take their action, it was natural they should call on McKesson and ask for a verification of what they really did at that meeting, when the progressives, or rather the "genuine" progressives, found their names were really in the paper and they did not know how the public would take their action, it was natural they should call on McKesson and ask for a verification of what they really did at that meeting, when the progressives, or rather the "genuine" progressives, found their names were really in the paper and they did not know how the public would take their action, it was natural they should call on McKesson and ask for a verification of what they really did at that meeting, when the progressives, or rather the "genuine" progressives, found their names were really in the paper and they did not know how the public would take their action, it was natural they should call on McKesson and ask for a verification of what they really did at that meeting, when the progressives, or rather the "genuine" progressives, found their names were really in the paper and they did not know how the public would take their action, it was natural they should call on McKesson and ask for a verification of what they really did at that meeting, when the progressives, or rather the "genuine" progressives, found their names were really in the paper and they did not know how the public would take their action, it was natural they should call on McKesson and ask for a verification of what they really did at that meeting, when the progressives, or rather the "genuine" progressives, found their names were really in the paper and they did not know how the public would take their action, it was natural they should call on McKesson and ask for a verification of what they really did at that meeting, when the progressives, or rather the "genuine" progressives, found their names were really in the paper and they did not know how the public would take their action, it was natural they should call on McKesson and ask for a verification of what they really did at that meeting, when the progressives, or rather the "genuine" progressives, found their names were really in the paper and they did not know how the public would take their action, it was natural they should call on McKesson and ask for a verification of what they really did at that meeting, when the progressives, or rather the "genuine" progressives, found their names were really in the paper and they did not know how the public would take their action, it was natural they should call on McKesson and ask for a verification of what they really did at that meeting, when the progressives, or rather the "genuine" progressives, found their names were really in the paper and they did not know how the public would take their action, it was natural they should call on McKesson and ask for a verification of what they really did at that meeting, when the progressives, or rather the "genuine" progressives, found their names were really in the paper and they did not know how the public would take their action, it was natural they should call on McKesson and ask for a verification of what they really did at that meeting, when the progressives, or rather the "genuine" progressives, found their names were really in the paper and they did not know how the public would take their action, it was natural they should call on McKesson and ask for a verification of what they really did at that meeting, when the progressives, or rather the "genuine" progressives, found their names were really in the paper and they did not know how the public would take their action, it was natural they should call on McKesson and ask for a verification of what they really did at that meeting, when the progressives, or rather the "genuine" progressives, found their names were really in the paper and they did not know how the public would take their action, it was natural they should call on McKesson and ask for a verification of what they really did at that meeting, when the progressives, or rather the "genuine" progressives, found their names were really in the paper and they did not know how the public would take their action, it was natural they should call on McKesson and ask for a verification of what they really did at that meeting, when the progressives, or rather the "genuine" progressives, found their names were really in the paper and they did not know how the public would take their action, it was natural they should call on McKesson and ask for a verification of what they really did at that meeting, when the progressives, or rather the "genuine" progressives, found their names were really in the paper and they did not know how the public would take their action, it was natural they should call on McKesson and ask for a verification of what they really did at that meeting, when the progressives, or rather the "genuine" progressives, found their names were really in the paper and they did not know how the public would take their action, it was natural they should call on McKesson and ask for a verification of what they really did at that meeting, when the progressives, or rather the "genuine" progressives, found their names were really in the paper and they did not know how the public would take their action, it was natural they should call on McKesson and ask for a verification of what they really did at that meeting, when the progressives, or rather the "genuine" progressives, found their names were really in the paper and they did not know how the public would take their action, it was natural they should call on McKesson and ask for a verification of what they really did at that meeting, when the progressives, or rather the "genuine" progressives, found their names were really in the paper and they did not know how the public would take their action, it was natural they should call on McKesson and ask for a verification of what they really did at that meeting, when the progressives, or rather the "genuine" progressives, found their names were really in the paper and they did not know how the public would take their action, it was natural they should call on McKesson and ask for a verification of what they really did at that meeting, when the progressives, or rather the "genuine" progressives, found their names were really in the paper and they did not know how the public would take their action, it was natural they should call on McKesson and ask for a verification of what they really did at that meeting, when the progressives, or rather the "genuine" progressives, found their names were really in the paper and they did not know how the public would take their action, it was natural they should call on McKesson and ask for a verification of what they really did at that meeting, when the progressives, or rather the "genuine" progressives, found their names were really in the paper and they did not know how the public would take their action, it was natural they should call on McKesson and ask for a verification of what they really did at that meeting, when the progressives, or rather the "genuine" progressives, found their names were really in the paper and they did not know how the public would take their action, it was natural they should call on McKesson and ask for a verification of what they really did at that meeting, when the progressives, or rather the "genuine" progressives, found their names were really in the paper and they did not know how the public would take their action, it was natural they should call on McKesson and ask for a verification of what they really did at that meeting, when the progressives, or rather the "genuine" progressives, found their names were really in