National Show of Shorthorn Men Will Abolished-Governor 'Goes Soon to Washington for Meeting.

(From a Staff Correspondent.) EINCOLN, Jan. H .- (Special.) -- Gover-Shallenberger returned from Denver today with a bunch of prize money for the state fair live stock shows attached to his belt This was secured from the board of diregions of the Short Horn Breeders' association, to which the governor was elected this summer.

The governor secured $1,500 for prize money for Nebraska short born breeders. and a like amount for lows. But better than that, according to the governor, the abolished the national show at Minneapolis This show received $2,500, and by reason this large amount that fair drew better ex higits than any of the other states. Min nesota was placed on the same plane as the other states, and hereafter will have no advantage over them. The Nebraska prize for short horns was increased $700, and there was a general increase for Nebrasks exhibitors of $1,000.

While in Denver a dinner was given it honor of Governor Shallenberger, at which were present, among others, Governor Shafroth, ex-Senator Patterson, ex-Goyernor Thomas, the attorney general and the surveyor of Colorado.

Governor and Mrs. Shallenberger will leave tomorrow for Washington to attend the meeting of the governors of the several states. Before going the governor will set a date for the hearing of the charges against the mayor of Norfolk filed under the Sackett law

Governor Shallenberger was not disposed to give out any definite statement about his intentions regarding the senate. "Out in Colorado I was asked many times if Mr. Bryan was to be a candidate for the senate," he said. "The people there seem to be very much interested in Mr Bryan's intentions," The governor said he had not been able to enlighten the in quirers regarding the intentions of the First presidential candidate.

END OF CHAMBERLAIN CASES

Dismissal of Prosecution in Nemaha County Believed to Mark Close of Litigation.

TECUMSEH, Neb., Jan. 15 .- (Special.)the embezzlement case in the Nemaha district court against Charles M. Chamberlain of Tecumseh, ex-cashler of the failed Chamberlain bank, has been dismissed. The case was dismissed upon the request of Hugh La Master, county attorney of Johnon county, and upon the request of the Board of County Commissioners.

It can be safely predicted that this action s "the beginning of the end" in Chamberlain litigation. There are other case against the accused, but it is quite likely that in time they, too, will be dismissed.

Row Over County Printing. BROKEN BOW, Neb., Jan. 15 .- (Special.) -The new Board of County Supervisors is ow in session. Ben Morris of Ansley was re-elected chairman. The only new face on the board this year is that of George Dewey, former county clerk, who succeeds James Lee of Herwyn. The other newly elected members succeed themselves. The board started in with a tangle in regard to awarding the county printing. Eleven papers throughout the county petitioned the board to distribute the printing and give all a chance. Editor Purcell of the Chief acted as representative and read resolutions adopted by the editors of those publications

After talks by Editors Carson and Beal of the Republican and Beacon, a motion was made to give all of the legal work to the Beacon. This resulted in a letter being read from the Sargent Leader-one of the petitioners-which, while not making an The first marriage ceremony performed actual bid, quoted bed-rock prices in county by County Judge Holcomb after taking his printing. HALF MINUTE STORE TALK

When we read some of the "ads" ap-When we read some of the "ads" appearing in Omaha papers—we are reminded of the fable of "The crow who tried to crow." His motives were excellent, but he wasn't built for the part. He still looked like a crow and he didn't sound like a rooster. He had ambition, but he couldn't measure results by that. He mistook the desire for the fact. Lots of stores base their advertising on the magnitude of this store. They are so desirous of scilpsing this store that we sometimes think they are sincere in thinking they do. Come to the Big Bargain Carnival

The eager crowds that attended the first couple days of our bargain event, and which set a new sales record for Omaha and was unprecedented, even for us, have now given way to crowds somewhat diminished in numbers but none the less appreciative of the values to be had.

Hundreds of people have waited for this particular time, knowing that with such great numbers of every size and the various kinds of garments offered by us they stood but little chance of being disappointed and in no danger whatever of buying too quickly.

We can say to all who have waited thus long, come in -we have more variety to begin our second week than was involved in any other sale on its first day. Not two or three tables of Half Price garments, but an entire floor on which to seek the garment you are looking for.

Involved in this sale are distinctive suits which eliminate the custom tailor as a necessity for well dressed men—suits authoritative in style, perfect in fit, dependable in construction and faultiess in finish.

Overcoats, Raincoats, Etc., at Half Prices

We're adjusting our stock of outer garments. All small lots, incomplete lines and broken sizes, have received their "walking papers"—and already the procession has started. No matter what sort of garment you're in need of—a dressy light coat, a rainy day coat, a dressy overcoat or one of those popular military or storm coats, you'll find one here to meet your fancy. We'll open next season with all new coats if honest reductions will turn the trick.

Child's Suits and Overcoats at Half Price

Parents who have from past experience come to the conclusion that a sale of little fellows' clothes means an outpouring of undesirable styles and colors would do well to investigate our offerings. Six months is the age limit on our boys' stock—none in this sale have reached it. Our reductions make it almost certain that none will remain with us to exceed four months. Half price now and all new garments for next season is but following a preconceived plan of ours. Forestall regret by bringing your boy in today.
