FIVE YEARS VAIN SEARCH FOR STUDENT OF HISTORY

Lover of Clio Appeals for Companion in His Worship and Finds None.

Have people stopped reading history? Here's a man who loves history, but can't find anyone else with kindred passions.

For five years this man has sought in vain for a companion in research. Now, as a last resort, he has appealed to J. W. Miller, educational secretary of the Young Men's Christian association for assistance in his search.

And Mr. Miller has come to The Bee. He says if some real, earnest, ardent lover of history will address him he will introduce him to this disappointed, get hopeful lover of Clio.

INSANE MAN NOT A FOOL

He Knows Who Took His Gold Ring and Tips Him Off to the Police.

Jack Rosch, a veteran in the county jail, has found that while Charles Wajda "may be crazy, he is no fool."

Wajda, an insane prisoner, awoke from a nap to find that a much valued gold ring had been taken from his finger. He remarked that Jack had been to friendly and, on his hint, the suspected man was searched.

Jack had the ring tucked away in his clothes and now he may look between the bars of the county jail into the penitentiary.

A warrant charging Rosch with larceny from the person, a felony, has been filed in police court.
