The Havelock Problem.

J. H. Humpey manager of the Traction ompany, says that it is not sufficient to have an officer at Hayelock to precent in toxicated men from boarding the cars, for it frequently happens that men get aboard toxicated the cars apparently sober, but that after the several drinks they may have crowded down just prior to starting cityward get to working, they become decidedly drunk. He told the mayor how recently he came in on a car, and noticed several men apparently sober on the rear platform but that soon after the car was started they became intoxicated and got into a fight. Some of them were knocked off the platform in the mill. He got off and ran back, as he knew another car would be along shortly, and had to drag some of them off the track.

It was stated, in the course of the conference, that the company has to have protection and that it is a question of dollars and cents with it, for not only has it two or three law suits on its hands growing out of that character of business, but a good many former patrons of the company have quit riding the cars because of con tact with that class of traffic. It was also stated that the company must either get protection or endeavor to have Havelock go dry this year.

He has assumed the position that as the county is a party to the actions the question is not the same as would be involved where a witness testifies in cases where both plaintiff and defendant are different in the separate hearings. He argues that if a man can be allowed separate fees for each examination he might testify in ten cases in one day as well as in two and would receive for his services $20. NE baby born every three and one-half minutes every day in the year is the way New York City did her share in 1907 toward the propagation of the human species. Deaths occurred only at the rate of one in five and one-third minutes, and from that it will be seen that the big city would be able to grow with considerable rapidity, even if immigration ceased. Accidents last year resulted in 3,919 deaths; there were 284 murders and 711 suicides. There was a marriage every eight and one-third minutes. The largest single cause of death was consumption, which had 8,999 victims. Organic heart diseases caused 7,237 deaths.—Human Life.

So it seems that organic heart trouble is next to "consumption" in the cause of death-and yet people will continue to drink coffee when the ablest men in the medical profession have time and again stated that "caffeine in coffee is frequently the direct cause of organic heart trouble."
