The Bee gained 44 per cent in paid want ads last weck as compared with the same week of 1909. The next best gain of an Omaha paper was only 14 per cent.

This gives the competitor credit for all indecent ads and frauds, such as clairvoyants, etc., refused by The Bee; help wanted, run free; ads run after people moved away from town; ads run after they had been ordered out; Sunday ads run over on Monday; useless headings to spread space, and any old thing run in to make a showing and fool people.

Such remarkable gains are made merely because Bee want ads reach the most readers and bring best returns.

Plan Under Way to Consolidate Clerical Jobs

Clerkship of Southern Iowa Federal District Will Probably Be United as Formerly.

(From a Staff Correspondent.) DES MOINES, Jan. 25.-(Special Telegram.)-It is expected that there will again be a consolidation of the clerical positions in the southern Iowa federal district following the resignation of Clerk E. R. Mason of the circuit court. The plan is to have Clerk McArthur of the district court also appointed for the circuit court. For many years Mason was clerk of both courts, but for political reasons the offices were separated. A small party of newspaper men from Steak she found at 50 dents a portion and Indiana came to Des Moines today and will roast lamb and roast beef at 35 cents. been responsible almost entirely for the destruction of a large water main on Grand avenue and Twelfth street last night. The water main broke and permitted a torrent of water to flow out, filling the street and adjacent cellars, as it was several hours before it could be stopped temporarily. Investigation showed that the main had been rotted until it burst easily. The water company insists it was due to electricity. Governor Carroll has returned from Washington, where, he reports, the convention of governors was a great success. They were entertained by the president, and decided upon meeting again in the fall to consider matters of interest in the states. Taft and Cannon at Dartmouth last night addressing the Dartmouth College alumni, in the presence of their new president, Ernest Fox Nichols, praised the value of a small college and paid a tribute to Speaker Joseph G. Cannon, who had preceded him in speaking. Mr. Cannon had said that he bowed to the president, a son of Yale, Mr. Ro-sevelt, a son of Harvard, Andrew Jackson and Abraham Lincoln, who had not had the advantage of a college education, and that he himself might be a little jealous because he had not had such an advantage, the meanness in me, which both my enemies and friends say I have." The president referred to the speaker as "my friend, Uncle Joe," and called attention to his tribute to Abraham Lincoln and said: "When we hear that mellifluous voice, sometimes full of English and sometimes full of Esperanto, we are carried back to the magnificent days of Daniel Webster. Great must be the country that can pro duce a man without a college education, who can deliver such a tribute as he paid here tonight to Andrew Jackson and Abra-

The president declared the small college was one of the bulwarks of the nation and leaded for more of the spirit of fraternity throughout the lifetime of college men. Among the other speakers were the French and the British ambassadora.

MONEY FOR SMALL COLLEGES

Dr. D. K. Pearson Says He Will Give Away Several Millions.

Any Other Millionaire Alive-

Rich Men.

Suggestion to Other

CHICAGO, Jan. B .- After having given nore than $4,000,000 to various struggling colleges in many parts of the country, Dr. D. K. Pearsons, almost 30 years old, an-nounced last night that he intends to give away every cent he possesses before he dies. Dr. Pearsons is reputed to be worth many millions. "I am having more fun than any other millionaire alive," he said. "Let other rich men go in for automobiles and steam yachts. I have discovered, after having endowed forty-seven colleges, located in twenty-four states, that giving in the most exquisite of all mundane delights. On my 90th birthday, on April 1 next, I am going to have a squaring up with all the small colleges I have promised money, and serve notice now that, beginning then, am going on a new rampage of giving. intend to die pennilees. I am going to live ten years longer, and during that time I expect to do nothing but give away money.

The Joy of Civing. "I have given money to twelve colleges in the south. I don't think any of my other gifts have given me quite the satts faction these have given. It is fine to alt here and feel that the south fittoks it is being made a better south by a blamed old abolitionist like me. It sweetens them, I tell you. It makes them feel better. "Another pet of mine is Guilford college in North Carolina. There's where Speaker Cannon was educated. It's a Quaker institution and I like it. I mave $50,000 to the Montpeller seminary in Vermont a little while ago, because that's where I went to school 75 years ago and because its president came to me and said they were little broke. I think lots of the little col-leges out west and I shall keep my eye that way also. Not long ago the president of Whitman college in Washington told me he was very much in need of $12,600. I don't think I ever felt better in my life than when I wrote him out that sheck. "I don't say these things in a boastful spirit, but merely to suggest to some other millionaires an easy way of having a good
